R. O. Dulaney Named Most Outstanding Citizen of 1930

R. O. Dulaney, builder of the Petroleum and Sinclair skyscrapers and president of the Chamber of Commerce, Saturday was named honor guest of the Exchange Club's annual Golden Deed Banquet.

Dulaney's selection as the guest of honor entitles him to a place in the club's "Book of Golden Deeds" and distinguishes him as the most outstanding citizen of 1930. The club's selection was disclosed in an announcement Saturday by S. Scott Teel, president.

The date of the banquet and the place it will be held have not been decided but it is tentatively planned for about the last week of April or the first week in May, Teel said. The club's program and arrangements committee will meet Monday at 12:15 p. m. at the Fort Worth Club to decide on the time and place of the affair. Dr. I. C. Chase is the chairman.

This is the seventh year that the club has held its "Golden Deed" banquet. Amon G. Carter was the honored guest at the first banquet in 1925. In 1926 the club honored the late Maj. K. M. Van Zandt. The next year the city manager, mayor and members of the City Council were named as a group. In the past three years the honored men have been Jesse Jones, Houston capitalist and publisher, who has built a number of Fort Worth office buildings; John P. King, manufacturer, and W. C. Stripling, merchant.

"Flowers for Living."

As in the past, the theme of the banquet program this year will be, "Flowers for the Living."

Richard Otto Dulaney was born in Fannin County, July 28, 1882. His father, Thomas Jefferson Dulaney, also was a native of Fannin County. Mr. and Mrs. Dulaney had 10 children, eight of whom still are living.

The elder Dulaney was a farmer for many years in Fannin County, later establishing a grocery store and cotton gin which his sons helped to operate.

When Dulaney was 10 the family moved to Cornish, Indian Territory, a section which later became the southern part of Oklahoma. The town of Cornish was named for the Indian from whom the townsite was bought.

His experiences and those of his brothers and sisters growing up in the wild country where the Indians considered every white person an intruder, would fill a good-sized book. He had more than his share of thrills as a youth. Soon after arriving at Cornish, Dulaney's father established a store and cotton gin.

When Dulaney was 21 he married Stella Allred. Mrs. Dulaney is a cousin of Attorney General Allred. Until his marriage, Dulaney had helped his father around the gin but had not saved any money and did not have a cent of his own. With the financial aid of a friend, Dulaney went into the hardware business in a modest way at Cornish. He stayed with it two years and took a job as cashier in the bank. He was a banker for one year.

All the while Dulaney had real estate "leanings" and made it a point while he was in business to pick up several small tracts of land. After leaving the bank he gave all of his time to dealing in land. In 1902 the government announced the plan of having the Indians file on land, each Indian being allowed 100 acres as a home and an additional 100 acres "surplus."

Government agents had to file for many of the Indians who, of course, had no idea what it was all about. Most of the Indians never had any other idea than that the land belonged to them in the first place, Dulaney explained, and could see no use in "filing on their own land."

After the Indians received their homesteads many of them had no use for the land. One did not need 100 acres to put a teepee on. But there was one thing the Indians did "savvy" and that was money. Rattle some silver coins and you had his interest at once, Dulaney recalled.

Indians Collected.

So it was that land trading began between the Indians and the white "intruders." Also about that time the government empowered the Indians to collect $5 a year from every white person for his right to live in Indian Territory.

"And if they did not pay off the Indians very unceremoniously carried them across Red River and told them to stay there," Dulaney said.

The youthful Dulaney became quite a land trader and in 1907, at the age of 25, he was named mayor of Cornish. Officials of the independent towns were named by the Government, and the office of mayor also carried with it the title of justice of the peace.

However, the "extra office" of justice kept the young officer busier than his duties as mayor. His was the only court that Cornish had. It was his duty, and a very precarious one at times, what with bands of outlaw Indians, renegade whites and halfbreeds running at large and "shooting up the town" periodically, to sit in judgment in various misdemeanor cases.

"You see, each of those Indian Territory towns had a corporate limit, and if a lawbreaker could get outside that limit before an officer caught him he had escaped," Dulaney recalled. "It was about half a mile from the center of town to the line and I've seen some mighty exciting races. If our man got away we would find out when he was going to be in town again and lay for him. Then there would be another race."

Recalls Wild Days.

In November, 1907, Oklahoma became a State and Dulaney's term as mayor and justice was automatically ended.

"My, but those were wild and wooly days," Dulaney recalled. "It was a penitentiary offense to bring liquor into Indian Territory but they brought it in just the same."

Dulaney continued his dealings with the Indians until 1913 and had bought and leased a considerable amount of land. Oil operators entered Oklahoma and soon afterward the discovery well of the Healdton field was brought in.

Jake Hammon and John Ringling of circus fame, built a railroad through that part of the country. It was about a mile north of Cornish and the town of Ringling, named for the circus magnate, was established.

Dulaney unwittingly played an important part in the establishment of Ringling. He unknowingly sold Ham-

MOTHER, ILL, NEEDED FOR DEFENSE CASE

Parent Would Testify on Events Preceding Fatal Stabbing of Wife, Claim.

Defense lawyers probably will seek a second continuance when the murder trial of Charles A. Fooshee is called in Criminal District Court Monday morning. The case was postponed recently when a defense witness was absent.

Fooshee is charged with stabbing to death his wife, Billie, last Dec. 14 in front of a dance hall on the South Side. The couple was estranged.

Charles Mays, one of the defense lawyers, said Saturday that it is likely a continuance will be sought Monday because of the illness of the defendant's mother, Mrs. A. M. Fooshee, 114 East Annie Street. She is said to be an important witness as to events of the few months preceding the killing. Mays said Mrs. Fooshee is in a Fort Worth hospital.

The State will be ready for trial, according to Will R. Parker, assistant district attorney. The death penalty will be asked.

The State will contend that Fooshee, actuated by jealousy, waited in front of the dance hall until his wife came out with another man. The stabbing is supposed to have taken place then. Mrs. Fooshee was removed to a nearby hospital, but died within a few minutes.

The defense theory of the stabbing will conflict in its essential particular—who did the stabbing—with the prosecution's conception of the affair. Fooshee will contend that he and another man got in a difficulty, and that during this some one else stabbed Mrs. Fooshee.

Several supposed eyewitnesses are expected to be produced by each side. About 50 witnesses, including some to testify as character witnesses for the defendant, have been summoned. A special venire of 250 will be available for jury selection.

Orchestra Secured For Casino Opening

Ted Wilmot and his 11 Gloom Chasers will furnish music for dancing at Casino Park, on Lake Worth, during the pre-season opening festivities Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. They will come here direct from the Ritz ballroom at Wichita, Kan., after engagements at some of the leading dance clubs of the country. These three nights will be the only appearance of the Gloom Chasers here, Manager George T. Smith said Saturday.

A new orchestra will be brought here for the other two pre-opening week-end engagements. The park will have its formal opening for the entire season Friday night, May 1. At the week-end festivities the attractions along the Boardwalk will be open.

Painters, decorators and carpenters are rushing to completion the reconditioning of the park, getting ready for the first week-end opening. Manager Smith believes an attendance record will be set this year.

Several new rides will soon be received here and assembled as new attractions for 1931.

Requests already are being received for loge reservations at the dance pavilion by private parties.

Decision on Bond Law Is Expected

Decision by the Texas Supreme Court on the constitutionality of a new law giving Texas cities of more than 100,000 population the right to issue special assessment bonds is expected before the court adjourns for the Summer, George Kemble, assistant city attorney, said Saturday.

Kemble has just filed a motion for rehearing of a test case involving the validity of special assessment bonds for the widening of South Main Street here.

The court recently held invalid an act of the Legislature giving Fort Worth the right to issue such bonds. Another act, increasing the scope of the law to include all cities over 100,000 population, was passed immediately and it is upon the basis of this new act that the rehearing is sought.

NO APRIL FOOL JOKE

What was an April fools' joke in 1930 isn't necessarily an April fools' joke in 1931, Corporation Court Judge Haddaway opined Saturday.

A Fort Worth motorist appeared in traffic court in response to a warning to answer to an April 1 overparking ticket.

"I got one like this last year, your honor," the defendant explained, "and it turned out to be a joke. Somebody had got hold of some blank tickets."

"This one isn't any joke," said the judge. "Pay the clerk $1."

mon and Ringling the townsite. It happened like this:

One day before the railroad was hardly more than a speculation, a farmer drove into Cornish in an old wagon drawn by a scrawny team of horses. He confided to Dulaney that he wanted to buy a farm for his boys. Dulaney let him pick out what he wanted and sold him the land at the low figure that farm land brought at that time. Soon afterward came the railroad and the new townsite was located right in the center of the "farm" Dulaney had sold. During the period of construction, a distinguished looking man drove up in a big automobile. Dulaney recognized his "farmer" client.

Citizens of Cornish, including Dulaney, raised quite a fuss and several serious shootings were narrowly averted in clashes between the new town faction and those who held out for the sentimental attachments in Cornish. The "railroad town" won, however, and Cornish faded out of the picture. Dulaney moved to Ardmore in 1916.

Interested in Oil.

He had become interested in the oil business, having had an important part in getting together leases for the first well, so in 1916 he leased 80 acres, organized the Fort Ring Oil and Gas Company, Inc., and drilled his first well. It was a producer. A mile away from the first well he drilled another and struck oil again. In 1917 he sold his Healdton holdings for $100,000.

Dulaney did not wish to tempt fortune much farther but the federal income tax, passed about that time, left invested capital untouched, so he looked about for new ventures. He went to Electra and brought in a well that marked an extension to that field. Almost simultaneously he brought in a gusher at Duncan, Okla. Deciding not to tempt his luck further in "wildcat" ventures, Dulaney sold an interest in his Electra holdings for $17,000 to Edward F. Swift, J. B. Googins and Floyd Holmes. The four of them organized the Planet Oil Company. Three years later the Planet sold out for $3,000,000.

Dulaney maintained his original company, the Fort Ring, a combination name taken from Fort Worth and Ringling, and still has a number of producing wells in Oklahoma. All during his oil dealings, Dulaney made frequent visits to Fort Worth. He made many friends here and transacted much of his business in Fort Worth, including a number of successful royalty deals.

Seeing this city as a likely field for permanent investment, Dulaney moved his family here in 1919, building a beautiful home at 1001 Elizabeth Boulevard.

Built Skyscrapers.

In 1927 Dulaney bought a corner lot at Sixth and Throckmorton Streets for $129,000 and erected the present Petroleum Building. In 1929 he bought the site of the old Fort Worth National Bank at Fifth and Main Streets, razed the old structure and built the present Sinclair Building.

Dulaney was elected president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce in February. He is a director of the Fort Worth Rotary Club and a member of the Fort Worth Club and the Glen Garden Country Club.

Dulaney is president of the Dulaney Investment Company, which controls the Petroleum Building; president of the Dulaney Building Company, which operates the Sinclair Building, and head of the Fort Ring Oil and Gas Company, Inc. He maintains his offices in the Sinclair Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Dulaney are the parents of five children, Mrs. J. W. Huffman, Miss Marie Dulaney, R. O. Dulaney Jr. and Miss Evelyn Dulaney, all of Fort Worth, and the youngest, Charles Dulaney, 15, a student in Culver Military Institute. There are two grandchildren, Ann Marie and J. W. Huffman Jr.

Dulaney has four brothers, Claude Dulaney, Yuma, Ariz.; John P. Dulaney, Ringling, Okla.; Luther Dulaney, Oklahoma City, and Thurman Dulaney, Ardmore, Okla., and three married sisters, all of Ardmore.

EAST TEXAS' AUGUST ALLOWABLE SET AT 268,753 BARRELS

WELLS IN AREA TOTAL 1,460 ON NEW SCHEDULE

Kilgore District Holds Lead With 629 Producers on 571 Units; Joiner Second.

The new proration schedule for East Texas during August accords the area allowable of 268,753 barrels daily from 1,460 wells, or 170 barrels per unit, according to Ray Richmond, umpire.

There are 1,470.5 units under production in the East Texas district divided 571 in the Kilgore pool, 403 in the Lathrop area and 496.5 in the Joiner region.

The total number of wells are divided 298 in the Lathrop area, 629 at Kilgore and 533 in the Joiner district.

Based strictly on a unit allowable, East Texas' outlet for August would be 254,185 barrels at the rate of 170 barrels per unit, but extra well allowances and special concessions granted increase the total to 268,753 barrels daily. Of the total allowable 5,100 barrels daily is assigned extra wells in units and 13,838 barrels daily is granted as special concession.

There are only 19 "dead" wells in the Joiner district, but the report did not include nearly 80 that have been forced to install pumping equipment to continue production.

duction tests on the northern edge of the Lathrop pool, indicate that the boundaries of the East Texas district in that direction are not far distant.

Water encroachment in East Texas, which during recent weeks has been of secondary interest in the face of rapidly mounting production, consummation of large acreage deals and authorization of trunk pipe lines, was reported Saturday to be more acute.

Water has appeared on the western flank, on the north and south of the entire area. Producers in the western part of the Lathrop pool, particularly those on either side of the Sabine River, have started showing water. Sinclair Oil and Gas Company's M. T. Cole lease and Magnolia Petroleum Company's M. T. Cole tract in west central Gregg County are both showing water in what petroleum engineers describe as "alarming quantities."

35 Wells Show Water.

There are now more than 35 wells in the Joiner, Kilgore and Lathrop pools showing water, an increase of 20 over the total six weeks ago.

One of the wells showing water prematurely on the northern end of the Lathrop, or Gladewater district, has gone entirely dead and operators were preparing to install pumping equipment. It is Stanolind Oil and Gas Company and R. M. Weaver No. 1 Everett, which started showing 18 per cent water after a brief open flow test. Choked to five barrels hourly, the well continued flowing oil with reduced water content, but last week was listed among the "dead" wells.

Several wells considerable distance from the western limits of the Kilgore pool, which were drilled below a recommended datum, have successfully plugged back above the water table and are expected to produce pipe line oil for some time. Western edge wells have such a thin stratum of sand at which to "shoot" even the assert that it will make its appearance in the central and eastern parts of the field as soon as sufficient oil is withdrawn from the common reservoir.

Of the northern extensions included in the week's activities, Becker et al. No. 1 Barrett appeared the most promising. The test encountered a second sand from 3,639-47 feet and was last reported heading at a commercial rate. Only a showing of oil was obtained from the upper sand at 3,607-21 feet. The test is in the B. W. Whitche survey, a half mile northeast of Eslick, and Little No. 1 Nicholson in Gregg County.

Trammel et al. No. 1 Mary Victory topped pay at 3,616 feet, but the saturation was reported best from 3,628-32 feet where drilling halted and operators set and cemented casing. It is in the E. A. J. Evans survey, south of Taxman et al. No. 1 Callahan, the most northern producer in Upshur County.

McMahon & McCullough No. 1 E. H. Hamilton in the M. Chandler survey, was showing oil and gas from sand at 3,751-56 feet. Total depth of the hole at 3,761 feet is 3,327 feet below sea level, which is thought to be near the water table.

has resumed drilling, expecting to test the 3,800-foot formation.

Wayne Hammon No. 3 J. H. Bradley, in the Sam Holloway survey, northwest of the Deep Oil No. 1 Munger, cored into the lime at 3,697 feet, showing traces of oil, but is drilling deeper in a sandy shale at 3,700 feet.

mean that there will be a series of pools, the new pool opened by Davis being separated from the townsite pool on the east, or the Cosden pool on the north.

Augmenting new locations along the Balcones Fault zone drilling for shallow oil and some headed for the Edwards, Ralph R. Lewis and others have spudded in their No. 1 Keith McGee several miles northeast of the old Luling pool and on a line with it and the Dale area. It is 600 feet from the east and south lines of the tract in the J. Pinchback survey with a faulted condition already proven by other wildcat test. It is on a Gulf Production Company lease and will be an Edwards lime test.

Camp and others on Humble Oil and Refining Company acreage on the Sue Denman land less than a mile southwest of the Darst Creek pool and on a line with the trend of that field is rigging up for an Edwards lime test. It is about half a mile north of the test the Humble drilled in the Guadalupe River bed and in the William Arrington survey, 450 feet from the south and 150 feet from the east line of the tract. There are no dry holes between it and the pool.

In Bastrop County, W. H. Champion is starting the No. 1 Ray a mile north of Elgin in the north part of the county and Allen has already started drilling his No. 1 Birmingham in the southwest corner of the county.

In Bell County J. W. Riley is starting No. 1 Chaffin, Fields and Lange are starting No. 1 C. S. White and Hartman Drilling Company is starting No. 1 E. L. Deaver.

In Milam County Taylor Production Company will start a test in western part of the county on a 1,500-acre block in hope of finding a serpentine plug.

In Eastern Bexar County, Witherspoon Oil Company has made location for No. 1 Anoil and the No. 1 Knapick north of the Cooksey pool. The company has taken over acreage from the Penn Oil Company and others who drilled the No. 1 Cooksey discovery well and Witherspoon will drill one test on each lease to determine the boundaries of the polo and to hold the leases.

J. E. Anderson is making a location in the western part of the county on Suburban Irrigation farms tract.

There is considerable interest in Northern Travis County south of the Chapman pool in Williamson and a number of new tests are scheduled.

Southern Crude Oil Purchasing Company and V. F. Neuhaus No. 1 Pettus which was reported as opening a new pool 15 miles northeast of the Pettus pool is plugging back. It developed water when tested. The sand was at 4,282-87 feet, but the ers specializing in these products report that buying continues on a hand-to-mouth basis.

Kerosenes, distillates and gas oils continue sluggish at unchanged prices, with buying confined to small lots for immediate shipment only. The so-called domestic burner oils, namely, gas oils having a zero cold test and a flash of under 190, were in demand, especially contract material spread over the burning season. Very little of the latter material is now available either for spot or deferred shipment.

The better grades of zero fuel oils were more freely purchased by the larger consumers and carlot marketers, both for storage and shipment spread over the Winter months. The high cold test grades continue sluggish, with the majority of buyers placing orders with refiners in the East Texas area, where the material is available at slightly lower levels than prevailing in other districts.

Bright stocks developed a slightly stronger undertone in sympathy with higher prices being quoted by Eastern refiners. Steam-refined stocks continue sluggish at unchanged prices. Paraffines were inactive with some refiners inclined to shade quotations on sizable inquiries.

Ruling prices in the Midcontinent, f. o. b. tank cars of 8,000 and 10,000 gallon capacity, basis Group 3 Oklahoma, are approximately as follows:

Refinery Gasolines—U. S. Motor 3½c to 3¼c a gallon; 60-62 400 ep., 3¼c to 3⅜c, 64-66 390 ep., 3¼c to 3⅜c; 64-66 375 ep., 3⅜c to 3½c, 68-70 360 ep., 3½c to 3⅝c.

Natural Gasolines—Grade A, 2¾c to 2⅞c a gallon; grade AA, 2½c to 2⅝c; grades BB and C, 2⅜c to 2½c.

Kerosenes—The 41-43 water white, 1½c to 1⅝c, 42-44 water white, 1¾c to 1⅞c a gallon.

Distillates and Gas Oils—The 38-40 prime white, 1⅛c to 1¼c a gallon; 38-40 light straw, 1c to 1⅛c; 32-36 light straw, zero cold test, under 190 flash, gas oil, 1c to 1⅛c a gallon; 32-36 dark ugi ½c to ⅝c a gallon.

Fuel Oils—East Texas 24-26 gravity, 85 to 90 cold test, 5c barrel f. o. b. cars refineries; Oklahoma 16 to 26 gravity, 17½c to 20c a barrel; Oklahoma 22-26 gravity, zero to 15 cold test, 27½c to 30c a barrel; 24-26 30c to 32½c; 26-30, 32½c to 35c; 28-30 zero, 35c to 40c.

Bright and Steam Refined Stocks—Low cold test 150-160 bright D, 12c to 14c; high cold test D, 10c to 12c; dark and olive green steam refined with the Magnolia Petroleum Company, whose officials, however, were not called during this investigation.

Both Underwood Nazro of the Gulf, and Sinclair, expressed opinions that the situation would eventually clear itself up without legislative aid. Neither set a term on the clearing of the situation, but it is considered reasonable that if either thought that East Texas would last a great while longer as a market wrecker they would perhaps be willing to see something done to attempt to stem the tide. Observers are inclined to believe that both think that the oil flood from the new area will pass with this season and the next bring a recovery in oil conditions which will match the depression reigning during the early part of this year.

Strong Market Seen.

Should these, and other oil men who have these views, prove right in their conjectures, there is no doubt of the strength of the oil markets next year, of course barring new discoveries. Older fields, fields where drilling and production have been held back, will have an inning which will be well worth while, for, outside of the new field, current production capacities are small beside the tremendous annual needs of the country at this time. And, discoveries are reduced to a remote likelihood by the extremely low level to which wildcat drilling has dropped in recent months.

The other side of the picture was presented to legislative committees by Col. J. Lewis Thompson, landowner and native of the Kilgore area, who pleaded with the Legislature for some machinery which would prevent the depletion of East Texas' oil heritage in one splurge, and on a "give-away" market.

Colonel Thompson's Views.

Colonel Thompson is of the school

all his neighbors do likewise. The penalty is that his neighbor, under present laws, can take and sell his oil unless he protects it by operating at full capacity, regardless of whether there is a market of it, or a place to put it.

Questioning of witnesses at the legislative session indicated that some legislators are indisposed to attempt stabilization of the oil business because the cotton, wheat and cattle growers businesses are in equal distress.

None of the witnesses pointed out that the stabilization of the oil business is the one hope of many farmers and ranchmen, whether his land ever produces. Lease bonuses and rentals have paid off the mortgages on many places which never produced. Most Texas acreage is possible producing land, and when things are all right with the oil business, the companies lease freely, and pay rentals freely. When conditions are as at present, many are allowed to go back to save paying rentals, and in other cases rentals are being reduced. Consequently the state of the oil business is an important consideration to the farmers of many legislative districts which as yet have never produced oil, and which, at first glance, may seem not to be directly interested in the plight of the oil business.

YATES POTENTIAL 2,127,360, OUTLET 70,000 BARRELS

Allowable production in the Yates pool of Pecos County for August was unchanged at 70,000 barrels daily from 402 wells. Twelve hour potential of all wells in the Yates pool aggregates 1,053,680 barrels, or 2,127,360 barrels daily.

Allowable is based 25 per cent on acreage and 75 per cent on potential. Under this method, each unit is allowed 101 barrels daily and the decimal used in calculating percentage of potential outlet is .047909.

WINKLER TO PRODUCE 48,000 BARRELS DAILY

Winkler County is scheduled to produce 48,000 barrels daily during August, according to a proration order effective during the month.

Potential production from Winkler County is gauged at 89,174 barrels daily from wells on 265 units.

Southern Crude Oil Purchasing Company and Westbrook-Thompson Holding Corporation have 185 of the producing wells with unit potential of 28,72 barrels daily and allowable of 15,591 barrels daily.

16,598 BARRELS SET FOR CRANE-UPTON DISTRICTS

Crane and Upton Counties will be permitted to produce 16,598 barrels daily during August of which 4,888 barrels daily will be obtained from the marginal well allowance of 12 barrels daily. Some of the wells will not produce their marginal allowable.

Deducting the allowable for marginal wells, a total of 11,710 barrels daily is distributed among properties on a potential basis.

There are 475 producing wells in the district capable of 41,534 barrels

POLING SAYS DEMOCRACY IS IN LIFE FIGHT

Speaker Claims Minority Of Wets Threaten U. S. Rule

SPEAKS AT CHURCH

Other Mass Meetings to Be Held Today and Tomorrow

American democracy will die at the hands of its own citizens if voters of the nation allow a militant minority of anti-prohibitionists to bring about repeal of the 18th Amendment, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Allied Forces for Prohibition chairman, predicted here today.

The New York dry campaigner addressed a men's luncheon today noon at the First Methodist Church. It was the first of a series of lectures scheduled for today and tomorrow, sponsored by Fort Worth prohibition leaders.

"Whenever a clamoring minority can achieve its purpose on the basis of arguments generally entered for repeal of prohibition, the Fifth Amendment with its guarantee of property rights is no more secure than the 18th Amendment," the speaker declared. "Then the Communist and the anarchist will have their day in the school of government.

Anarchy 'Greatest Crime'.

"I submit to you that murder is finally not the great crime. The great crime is anarchy which abrogates all law; which violates all order; which nullifies all security—anarchy, which is all inclusive."

Dr. Poling defended American youth wholeheartedly, and denied that prohibition has corrupted the younger generation.

"God pity the man who would build a general indictment on youth because he came in contact with a few cases of juvenile delinquency," he said. "We do not indict bankers when one banker, or several, default.

"Stop slandering youth. Let labor leaders, clergymen, senators and educators became constructive rather than destructive. Our boys and girls need today, not preachment and denunciations, but good examples."

Challenge Is Issued.

Dr. Poling challenged the claim that prohibition has produced the racketeer and the speakeasies. He assailed the pre-convention practice of what he termed "the few misrepresenting the many," and defended the 18th Amendment in its every aspect.

The Allied Forces chairman will address the final mass meeting at Central High auditorium tomorrow at 8 p. m.

Miss Norma C. Brown, Allied Forces secretary, spoke at a women's luncheon today at the Woman's Club.

Mass meetings were scheduled for 3 p. m. and 8 p. m. today at Central High.

"The racketeers and speakeasies were born in license and thrive in license," Dr. Poling said. "Prohibition presents an opportunity to destroy them. Recent strengthening of enforcement indicates their end is coming."

Prohibition is certain to be an issue in the coming presidential election, Dr. Poling believes, and the Allied Forces "have a fighting chance to keep both major parties from adopting a wet plank."

While refusing to predict who the successful candidate might be, the prohibition exponent said it was prohibition and not religion that defeated Alfred E. Smith in 1928.

"Smith polled more votes because of his faith than he lost," Dr. Poling declared.

Liquor Is Rapped.

Liquor is a depressant, rather than a stimulant, Col. Raymond Robins, social economist and member of the Poling group, contends.

"No one ever got anything out of liquor," he said. "It isn't a stimulant; it's a depressant. It dulls the nerve centers, and assures ruin for the man who has acquired the habit."

Others in the party are Oliver W. Stewart, vice chairman of the forces; Robert C. Ropp, chairman of Allied Youth; Harold Singer, executive secretary, and Dr. Ira Landrith, lecturer.

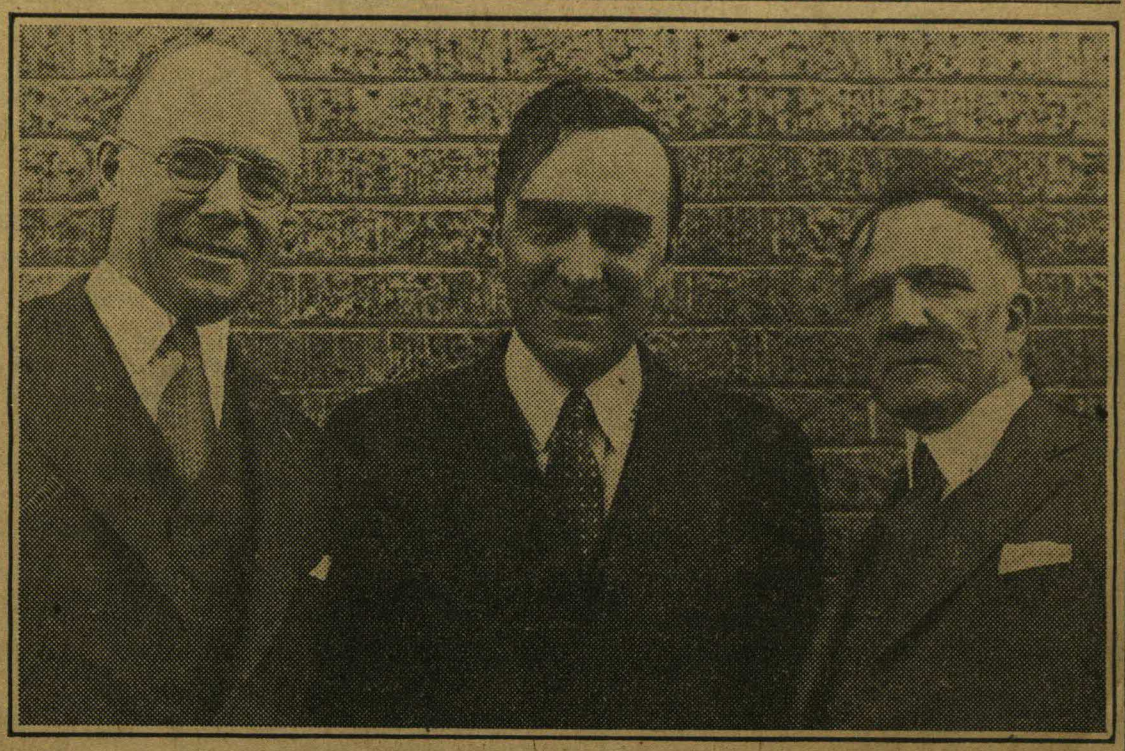
Cato Sells is chairman of the local reception committee.

Dr. Landrith will speak on Prohibition With a Haircut, at the Sunday afternoon mass meeting at Central High.

Stewart and Dr. Poling will address the Sunday night meeting at the same place. Mobilizing for Victory is Stewart's subject, while Dr. Poling will talk on We Believe in America.

The campaigners are making a tour of 587 cities.

PROHIBITION LEADERS IN CITY



Here are three leaders in the Allied Forces For Prohibition, here to conduct a two-day rally of dry advocates. On the left is Harold Singer, executive secretary and counsellor; Dr. Daniel A. Poling, chairman, and Col. Raymond Robins, social economist. All are from campaign headquarters in New York.

Family of C. C. Slaughter, Who Shot Self, Has Been Prominent in State

By United Press.

SAN ANTONIO, March 19.—Financial worries were blamed today for the suicide of Coney C. Slaughter, 54, former Pueblo, Colo., banker who served a term in Leavenworth penitentiary.

Slaughter, member of a family that has been famous in Texas ranching circles for three-quarters of a century, died two hours after he had been found shot Friday. Justice of the Peace John F. Shock returned a verdict of suicide.

Funeral services probably will be held Sunday at the family cemetery in Palo Pinto County.

Son of Cattleman

Living with him at the time of his death was Slaughter's mother, who came from Dallas about seven months ago. His father, W. B. Slaughter, was a widely known cattleman, and an uncle, the late Col. C. C. Slaughter, was prominent in Dallas business circles.

Slaughter gained more notoriety Jan. 31, 1925, when he walked away from the federal prison at Leavenworth where he had been serving a six-year term in connection with the wrecking of the Mercantile National Bank at Pueblo, Colo. He had entered the prison Aug. 20, 1923, accused of absconding with $300,000 in bank funds.

The bank had closed in 1915 and for eight years he had been a fugitive. During this time he liam Bryce after receiving a conditional offer from a Chicago bond firm to purchase the bonds.

"The offer is on condition a private sale is made, instead of receiving bids as required by the city charter," Mayor Bryce said.

The matter will be submitted to City Manager G. D. Fairtrace for advice on his return Monday from Chicago.

DEWEES RITES AT WEST POINT

Son of Fort Worther Dies Of Meningitis

Lieut. A. Ward Dewees, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dewees, 2412 Lipscomb, who died Thursday, was one of the few cadets to finish West Point before he was 21 years old.

He will be given a military funeral at West Point.

He dned at Fort Sam Houston of meningitis. He had been unconscious since Tuesday, when he was stricken.

An army flyer, Pierre Cabell, Dallas, a room-mate during the entire time at West Point, will be the official military escort from Fort Sam Houston to West Point.

Cabell flew from his station in the Panama Canal Zone to be escort.

Lieutenant Dewees graduated fifth in a class of 400 at West Point. He was stationed at Fort

Financial Difficulties of 'Smaller Dimensions Than Believed,' He Says

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—President Hoover said today that his personal investigation of the railway situation had shown that the financial difficulty confronting the roads "is of smaller dimensions than has been generally believed or reported."

In a formal statement, the President said it was estimated the railroads in 1932 would need between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 in loans. He said the railroads' own credit corporation would provide from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 of this, and that most of the bank loans would be continued "in the normal way."

Hoover emphasized that the chief problem was "to handle the situation as a whole so as to lay the foundations for restored employment on the railroads." He again pointed out that the railroads were one of the key industries in the nation's economic structure.

"The end to be obtained is one of increased employment on one hand and stability in the financial structure of the country on the other," said Hoover. "The coordination of programs and policies has been arrived at by the government and the railway agencies to effect these results."

CITY PLANNING THRIFT WEEK OBSERVANCE

Preparations are being made for the annual observance of Thrift Week here next week. Speakers before luncheon clubs, Hi-Y Clubs, Girl Reserve Groups, Parent-Teacher associations, church congregations, and other organizations will stress the need for this yearly personal financial inventory.

National Thrift Week is a movement for success and happiness fostered by the Y. M. C. A. and indorsed by 47 of the leading civic, industrial, educational and religious organizations of America.

Thrift Week will start Sunday, Benjamin Franklin's birthday. Sunday will be Share With Others Day. Monday will be National Thrift Day. Tuesday will be National Budget Day. Wednesday will be National Make-a-Will Day. Thursday will be National Life Insurance Day. Friday will be Own Your Home Day and Saturday Safe Investment Day.

10-Point Creed.

The National Thrift Committee offers again the 10-point financial creed which has been the basis of the observance since the movement was started some 15 years ago. The points follow:

Work and earn. Make a budget. Record expenditures. Have a bank account. Carry life insurance. Own your home. Make a will. Invest in safe securities. Pay bills promptly. Share with others.

Competent economists, the committee explains, are saying that vast fortunes always have been made at the tail end of economic depressions—that dollars just now have extraordinary value.

For instance, prices on the necessities and comforts of life are lower than they have been since the national thrift movement began. Intelligent buying now will yield exceptional results. Furthermore, it is pointed out, the prices of numerous investment securities are down to a place where they are especially attractive.

The committee urges the people to increase their faith in the fundamental soundness of this country and to take advantage of the opportunities which will tend to improve their personal prosperity.

Educational Campaign.

The National Thrift Committee is also conducting a year-round educational movement to promote good management in the business of living.

It is encouraging the making of life plans. Efforts are being made to minimize the disastrous results of recurring depressions, to eliminate some of the causes of the so-called "hard times" and to prepare millions to meet adversity squarely on their own feet.

Another objective is to increase the consuming power of the masses by showing them how to capitalize part of their earnings in order to enjoy an income besides that from personal services. In this way it is hoped to stabilize, in some degree, consumption during periods of depression.

Personal hygiene also will be promoted because that will aid efficiency. The committee also is working for a home ownership movement, reduction of credit losses of merchants and the banks and plans to make charity less needed.

LIONS SELECT COMMITTEES

Committees for the year's work were announced yesterday by President A. L. Talkington at a meeting of the Lions at The Texas.

Sam A. Justin was elected "lion-tamer" and V. C. Fowler "tail-twister."

PROHIBITION IS SUCCESS, SAY PASTORS HERE

Twelfth Anniversary Is Observed With Huge Services in Church

Staunch advocates of the Eighteenth Amendment, led by pastors of Fort Worth churches, observed the 12th anniversary of the enactment of the prohibition law Sunday and predicted a stern battle between opposing forces in 1932.

Meeting at the First Methodist Church auditorium, the leaders in the fight to retain liquor regulation as it stands planned a sweeping educational campaign for the support of temperance. Numerous charges against prohibition were refuted in forceful statements by speakers at the rally.

12 Years Success.

Prohibition has seen 12 successful years, despite the fact that enforcement has been lax, Dr. J. W. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, said in opening the meeting. Those who seek to break down sentiment in favor of the law by declaring there is more drinking now than before 1918 are either untruthful or ignorant, he added.

Dr. W. R. White, pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church, told the gathering the amount of liquor consumed today is 30 per cent less than before prohibition.

"Alcohol is the most bitter foe of the human race," Dr. White declared, "and to combat this common enemy, prohibition came as the most needed reform in the history of man.

"If you listen to barber-shop talk and the gossip around hotel lobbies and smoking rooms, you would think prohibition has gone to the bow-wows and that the 18th Amendment would soon be repealed.

"Thousands of wets leading the fight against the law are taking advantage of the economic crisis to get the amendment repealed or modified. Large income tax payers are attemtping to place the tax burden on the backs of the masses and the beer-drinking public.

Propaganda Used.

"Many good people have been literally swept off their feet by this maze of propaganda. We have a fight on our hands that will take the combined efforts of all thinking people."

Dr. White charged prohibition has never been given a chance by the American people. Critics have kept up a ceaseless fire on the law and the impossibility of enforcing it.

"Give us three more years of enforcement and we will stop the mouths of the reasonable opposition," he said.

Music for yesterday's meeting was directed by Brooks Morris. Rev. J. K. Thompson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, delivered the invocation.

The young man who fails to save at least a part of his earnings is like a business that fails to show a profit, economically a failure, declared H. C. Burke Jr., assistant vice president of the Continental National Bank, speaking before a Y. M. C. A. audience last night.

Burke's talk is the first of a series of weekly lectures planned for residents of the Y. M. C. A. dormitory.

Thrift, Burke continued, is a national necessity. If everyone spent everything he made, there would be no accumulation of capital for the expansion of commerce, for the building of schools, churches, hospitals, or for public improvements.

Capital consists of contributions of financially successful persons who have property values to tax, he said. There could be neither small nor large businesses without capital.

The schedule for other speakers is: Monday, Rev. W. R. White, "The Young Man and His Religion;" Feb. 1, Dr. Wilmer Allison, "The Young Man and His Mental Health;" Feb. 8 Dr. A. H. Flickwir, "The Young Man and His Physical Health." The series will be extended several weeks.

Thrift Week.

THE thing called "Thrift" has become of such importance in the evolution of gregariousness into civilization that it has taken for itself a portion of every domestic, industrial, economic and financial equation.

Within that field of importance it has become dignified by an annual "Thrift Week." The present one is the period of the 1932 observance of the idea.

Thrift is unfortunate in that it became crossed somewhere down the line with ordinary penuriousness. Just as the word "canny" has been turned into a term of ridicule of the Scottish race the companion word "thrift" has been permitted to become an epithet used by spendthrifts against the real fundamental of racial progress, frugality and conservation. If it were not that more people were thrifty than otherwise there would be no industry, none of the modern conveniences and nothing of the present standards of living.

Therein lies the viciousness of the propaganda against thrift by the class which pretends to despise it as a characteristic. Thrift is as much an art of spending as of saving.

Thrift has no place among miserly traits.

Thrift, carried to its co-operative limits, decrees that all transactions shall be mutually profitable.

Mr. Micawber's definition of thrift is complete. "Income twenty pounds, annual expenditure nineteen nineteen six, result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pounds ought and six, result misery." In addition to the personal element is the disturbed community balance. No strength can be added to the industrial fabric when a portion of the "weavers" is contributing too little while another group is giving it too much.

Buying to the best advantage is Thrift.

Being timely with purchases, construction work, repairs and what not is Thrift in another guise.

Knowing when to borrow is Thrift.

The use of credit is Thrift or its opposite—depending on the traits of the user.

Few people today but could invest at least half of their savings to better advantage than the returns from savings accounts. Hundreds of articles of permanent values are purchasable today at 50 per cent reductions of former prices. Thrift is taking advantage of all such. The lack of Thrift clings to the urge of hoarding.

Thrift is also psychological.

Thrifty persons talk Thrift in their ordinary community relations. They illustrate Thrift by their homes and dress. They reflect Thrift in their healthy attitudes toward people and conditions.

During this Thrift Week the obligation should be to learn the true definition of the word and then acquire the habit of practicing it.

In proportion to the individual application of Thrift there will be a collaborative Thrift develop in the communities and spread over the entire country.

Scared persons are not Thrifty.

Reckless persons are not Thrifty.

The Thrifty person buys as he should and saves to the true value of the savings account. Too much money injures trade relations. Too little money injures the individual.

Thrift is the happy, prosperous area just half way between the two.

...and Saturday.

SCOUT DRIVE IS OUTLINED HERE

Three-Day Convention of Texas Members Begins

A 10-year program that will enroll a boy membership of 1,300,000 and have a lasting effect upon the nation's thinking was outlined before 300 representatives of Boy Scout councils in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico as officials of the Ninth Region opened a two-day meeting at The Texas today.

The expansion program was explained by Arthur A. Schuck, New York, director of the Division of Operation, Boy Scouts of America, at the noon luncheon in the Crystal Ballroom.

Forty-four Scout councils are represented at the meeting. B. A. Rose, president of the Fort Worth Area Council, was presiding in the absence of Charles F. Roeser, regional chairman.

Three national officers were here for the meeting. Schuck and Harold F. Pote, director of personnel, addressed the luncheon meeting and Stanley A. Harris, director of inter-racial activities, was a guest of the Traffic Club at The Blackstone.

James P. Fitch, Dallas, regional Scout executive, is general chairman of the meeting.

City Manager George D. Fairtrace welcomed the scouters to Fort Worth and Rev. A. A. Hyde, Pampa, gave the invocation at the opening session.

Group meetings were scheduled for this afternoon. Exhibits, showing the work being done by Boy Scouts thruout the region, were laid out in booths on the top floor of the hotel.

The 10-year program, outlined by Schuck, is the most ambitious ever launched by the Scout organization.

It includes (1) improved methods of imparting the character building program, thru research and analysis; (2) plans to get the co-operation of other national bodies, such as churches, educational institutions, and civic groups; (3) adequate training facilities for scout work; (4) increase number of troops from 30,000 to 50,000; (5) increase tenure of scouting from 2½ to 4 years; (6) boy membership increased from 750,000 to 1,300,000.

For Younger Boys.

"The national council recently launched the Cub movement," Schuck said. "Over 900 Packs, including 27,000 Cubs, already have enrolled. This division is for boys between the ages of 9 and 11.

"We hope to increase the Cub membership to 500,000 in the next 10 years.

"It also is planned to increase the Sea Scout membership from 15,000 to 100,000. Fort Worth affords wonderful opportunity for this branch of Scout work."

There are 585 local councils in the United States, Schuck told the regional officers. This gives supervised scouting to the entire country, he said.

Wins Good Will.

"The organization has been built up to include 970,000 men and boys, all engaged in character building. Scouting has won the good will of the American people; it is on a sound financial basis, but now faces its greatest opportunity for service.

"This work comes in combatting the by-products of the economic depression. Disruption of homes, disregard for laws, and corruption in public office, are among the things Scouts hope to improve.

"These factors make it even more imperative that we carry on, and maintain our character building."

Officials Praised.

Regional Executive Fitch sung the praises of Fort Worth Scout officials and told of the progress made in this region last year.

"Despite the hard times, we closed 1931 with a slight increase in Scout membership," he said. "There are now 46,000 men and boys engaged in Scout work in the Ninth Region, and 1950 troops.

"Worth Ranch is the most completely equipped camp for Scouts in the region. Much credit is due Mr. Roeser and Clyde Penry for this great achievement."

Fitch commented favorably on the work of Scout Executive A. J. Fulkerson and the "far-sightedness of Fort Worth citizens in extending their area council to eight counties."

The counties include Denton, Cook, Parker, Wise, Palo Pinto, Tarrant, Somervel and Montague.

A water-front school at Lake Worth is planned for Scouts in this region next spring, Fitch announced. Definite plans for the event may be worked out at the meeting here.

Dinner Slated Tonight.

The men responsible for scouting will be recognized at a dinner this evening in an address by Pote. The dinner will start at 6:15.

Harriss will discuss Scouting for All Boys, and Schuck will speak on Preserving Our Equilibrium.

Friday's luncheon program will be held in conjunction with the weekly Rotary Club meeting at The Texas. Rose will preside at the joint gathering and Schuck will speak on Our Duty to Youth.

SCOUT HEADS TO MEET HERE

Three of the National Staff Will Convene With 300 Council Representatives.

Three members of the national staff of the Boy Scouts of America will attend the regional committee meeting to be held at scout headquarters here Thursday and Friday, A. J. Fulkerson, local scout executive, announced Saturday.

The three are Arthur A. Schuck, director of the national divisions of operations; Harold F. Pote, director of personnel; and Stanley A. Harris, director of inter-racial activities, all of New York.

Some 300 other representatives of scout councils in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico will be present. Charles F. Roeser of Fort Worth, regional chairman, will preside. Fourteen exhibits depicting council work will be set up for the meeting under the direction of Fulkerson. Sessions will open at 10 o'clock Thursday and continue until noon Friday. City Manager George Fairtrace will deliver the address of welcome.

Schuck will address a joint meeting of the scout executives and the Rotary Club Friday. Harris will speak to the Traffic Club at its noon meeting Thursday.

Schuck is a specialist in national and local financial and organization problems of the Boy Scout movement. A native of Brooklyn, he engaged in institutional work for several years before he entered the scout movement in Newark, N. J., as scoutmaster in 1913. From serving as volunteer scoutmaster and deputy scout commissioner and member of the Newark Council, he went to Lancaster, Pa., to become executive. He subsequently was executive of Chester County, Pennsylvania, Regional Scout executive and specialist in finance with the National Council. He became director of operations, division which embraces field, camping, health and safety, Sea Scout, registration, inter-racial and rural services, in 1931.

Harris organized a Boy Scout troop and became its scoutmaster in Frankfort, Ky., in 1907 before scouting had been organized in America. His troop was formed under the Aegis of British Scout authority. When scouting was organized in the United States in 1910, he was commissioned scoutmaster under the National Council. He was later state boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for Kentucky, national field commissioner with headquarters at Richmond, Va., for the Boy Scouts, scout executive at Washington, national field executive for the South and Southwest, assistant field director and finally (since 1926) national director of inter-racial activities.

THRIFT WEEK TO BEGIN TODAY

Fort Worth Pastors to Join in Movement; Civic Clubs to Present Programs.

National Thrift Week will be observed throughout the Nation beginning today, with ministers calling attention to the moral value of exercising reasonable care in management of economic affairs.

Fort Worth pastors will join in this movement, which will be given further impetus each day as some special subject will receive attention. The Business and Professional Women's Club will have a thrift program at its luncheon Tuesday noon at The Texas. Other civic clubs are expected to devote some time on their programs this week to this topic.

The following subjects will be stressed this week as follows: Today, sharing with others; Monday, thrift; Tuesday, budget; Wednesday, wills; Thursday, life insurance; Friday, home ownership; Saturday, safe investments.

The Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers is among the 49 organizations taking part in this movement, which is designed to make people more financially independent. The movement is fostered by the National Council of the Y. M. C. A.

The week appropriately begins today because this is the birthday anniversary of Benjamin Franklin, whose discussions on thrift were one of the features of his writing. This is seen especially in his famous autobiography.

Mrs. Sidney Gilmore, Sonora, chairman of the thrift program of the parents and teachers in this State, urges co-operation in the national thrift plan, which includes household budgeting, children's allowances, school thrift banks, time budget and conservation of health, talents, materials and energy.

Advice was given Saturday by Adolph Lewisohn, New York, honorary chairman, as follows, quoting an Associated Press article:

"Earn your money honestly; don't speculate too much; always be prepared to pay your obligations; save so that you will be comfortable."

He goes on to explain that "comfort" is more than knowledge of a parcel of bank notes in a safety deposit box. It includes acquisition of "that which is fine—the arts, music, culture," and the giving to others.

What sort of a man would Lewisohn consider thrifty?

"Calvin Coolidge," he chuckles.

But the answer is no more facetious than the question is vague, for he says, "Every man according to his condition. No hard and fast rule will he set, but thrift, he believes, should be for purposes other than mere accumulation. Be cautious, but not too cautious," he advised.

Older Boys' Conference Opening Sessions Draw 500 Representatives Of Northwest and Central Texas

Approximately 500 young men from 50 Central and Northwest Texas cities opened the annual bidistrict Older Boys' conference here Friday.

With delegates continuing to register Saturday morning, attendance was expected to increase to more than 550 delegates.

The first session of the conference opened at 3 p. m. All delegates were assembled in the First Methodist church, where Levi Reynolds, Dalhart, president, called the conference to order.

After an intermission from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. the second session was called and the conference continued until 9 o'clock, when delegates were at liberty after affairs of the first day.

Preceding the opening of the conference, all delegates were required to register and were assigned to homes of Wichita Falls. Housed in homes of Wichitans, many delegates were able to attend where otherwise they may have not, due to added expense.

J. N. Sherrill and W. H. Carter, Wichita Falls business men, were in charge of assignments of delegates to homes. Entertainment from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., registration hours, was provided by a committee of welcome, headed by Thomas F. Richardson.

Conference delegates are representatives of Hi-Y clubs and churches of towns in the double district which extends south to Austin, east to Greenville, north to the Oklahoma line, and west to include all of the Panhandle and South Plains. Towns with delegates here include Austin, Waco, Marlin, Temple, Corsicana, Waxahachie, Dallas, Sherman, Denison, Gainesville, Fort Worth, Greenville, Breckenridge, Cisco, Abilene, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Lubbock, Plainview, Floydada, Hereford, Canyon, Amarillo, Dalhart, Pampa, Clarendon, Memphis, Childress, Quanah, Vernon, Electra, Graham, Paris and Wichita Falls.

Important Features

Among the most important features of the first day were two "discussion group" meetings, one held after each session.

These discussions were primarily to give boys the opportunity of talking among themselves the aims and ideals of the convention they are attending. The aim, as selected in advance of the conference by the boys themselves, is to answer the convention theme: "What Do God and Christ Expect of an Older Boy?"

Lead by some 30 adult Y. M. C. A. and church workers in the group discussions, the youthful delegates delved into this subject with free discussion of the activities, ambitions and aims of boys their age. Groups were small to give each and every delegate the opportunity to express his own opinions at length on the subject at hand. Each group consisted of about 20 boys.

Following the opening of the conference by the bidistrict president, Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church, made the opening prayer.

Joe Witherspoon, Wichita Falls leader in Hi-Y work, delivered the address of welcome, to which Nelson McElroy of Waco responded.

R. E. Shepherd, Wichita Falls, selected several weeks prior to the convention as song leader, led in songs at both Friday sessions.

Seven addresses were delivered in the two Friday sessions, five during the afternoon, two at the evening session.

Five of the talks were by delegates to the conference. They were Hugh England, Plainview; J. W. Hankins, Childress; Charles Whittington, Amarillo; Beverly Howell, Fort Worth; and Roy Baker, Denison.

Fort Worth Speakers

The remaining two addresses were by adults interested in the progress of the convention. They were C. G. Fairchild and Herschel Gipson, both of Fort Worth.

All seven speakers adhered closely to the convention theme, although the adult speakers diverged slightly to parallel subjects. Mr. Fairchild inserted into his address the importance of attending summer Y. M. C. A. camp as a means of obtaining valuable training in Hi-Y and church work. Mr. Gipson talked on the knowledge, satisfaction and value obtained from reading books.

Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church here, opened the second, or Friday evening session with prayer.

Grover C. Good, Dallas, state boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was in general charge of all group conferences held after each session.

HENRY'S TALK THRILLS DELEGATES TO OLDER BOYS CONFERENCE HERE

Speaking of the World's Brotherhood conference held at Toronto, Canada, and Cleveland, Ohio, last summer, J. H. Henry, executive secretary of the state Y. M. C. A. thrilled the delegates at the Saturday morning session of the bidistrict older boys' conference, now meeting in Wichita Falls.

Because of Mr. Henry's address, it is considered likely that the theme of the 1933 conference of older boys will deal with "World Brotherhood."

Dr. A. B. Cunningham, instructor at Texas Techonological college, also spoke briefly before the early morning session, which was opened at 8:30 o'clock with prayer by Dr. George P. Horst, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. R. E. Shepherd, accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd, led the morning's singsong.

In the second division of the morning session, Judge Hal Lattimore of Fort Worth spoke on "What God Expects of the Older Boy as to Government." Charles Max Cole and H. G. Spruce, both of Dallas, followed Judge Lattimore with brief talks concerning the world's conference.

Two discussion group periods were held during the morning.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, 1932

THE OLDER BOYS CONFERENCE

The upcoming generation, we are told variously and often, is going to the demnition bow-wows at a fast clip. There is nothing new about it. Each succeeding generation of middle-aged folk has had the same idea about the youth it is raising. It was so in biblical times, it is so today and probably it always will be so, that the elder folk feel that the younger ones are a wicked and perverse lot. Today, we read something about a boy bandit, or we hear something about the prevalence of flasks at a young people's dance, and we shake our heads sorrowfully, and say that such things didn't happen in our youth, and what's the world a-coming to?

It is human nature to over-emphasize others' failings. One who looks for signs of decay is pretty apt to find them. One who looks for evidence that boys of high school age are irreverent, shiftless and intemperate can, without going very far, find boys to whom the adjectives may be accurately applied. It is easy to persuade one's self that the great majority of teen-age boys are like that and that there is no health in them. It is not so easy to find contradicting evidence, and human nature being what it is, we do not bestir ourselves to look for it.

Those who will take the trouble to make contacts with boys of high school age, and who will observe them intimately instead of casually, will presently find that the idea about them needs revision. They will find, it is true, a few boys who know too much about corn whisky, boys whose attitude toward the other sex is unwholesome, boys with distorted notions about citizenship and church and the life ahead of them. But they will find surprisingly few of these, after all. And they will discover so much that is fine and wholesome among the general run of boys that presently they are ignoring the less happy discoveries they have made. There is abundant evidence, if one will take the pains to find it, that this generation of boys, taken as a whole, has both character and vision to an extent that bodes well for the future.

Just now, Wichita Falls is host to an organization of boys of high school age, the Older Boys conference. They are much the same sort of boys that one encounters at a high school football game. They are a representative lot. They come from all sorts of homes and environments. If there are no flask-toters or drug store sheiks among them, because the organization doesn't appeal to that sort, the fact remains that these boys are the daily associates of the other kind in studies and school activities. What is the purpose of their organization? Broadly stated, it is to supplement the schools' training for citizenship by developing the right attitudes. It is not, in the generally accepted sense, a religious organization. Its appeal is to the boy's innate sense of right values. That is religion, of course, but it differs from the accepted definition of religion. And probably it touches some chords that Sunday school teacher and pastor could not touch.

There are some hundreds of the boys here. They are representing a good many thousand other boys of their age in high schools throughout Texas. The next time you feel pessimistic about today's boys, and are tempted to draw comparisons with the conditions of your own boyhood, try to recall if any such force as the Older Boys conference was at work in your youth, or even if there prevailed a spirit that would have made such an organization possible. It may alter your ideas.

Wichita Falls rejoices at the opportunity to be host to these youths. It is a tremendously significant thing that boys today can partake of the kind of fellowship that this conference affords. It makes one hopeful to know that boys are thus preparing themselves for the challenges that their day as citizens will offer.

second and third days of the conference. Among these are Dr. A. B. Cunningham of Texas Technological college; J. H. Henry, executive secretary of the state Y. M. C. A.; Judge Hal Latimore of Fort Worth, and Max Morrison of Tulsa, Okla.

The principal speaker at the chief session Saturday night at the Memorial auditorium will be Harry Hines, Wichita Falls, who will talk on "Utilizing Intangible Power."

Band Concert Tonight

Saturday afternoon will be taken up largely with matters of entertainment which include an automobile tour of the city, conducted by Frank B. Creighton, Wichita Falls Boy Scout executive, and a group of business men; and a Girl Reserves social later at the Junior college.

A band concert by Maskat Temple band, under the direction of Gerald Pond, will form a feature of the Saturday night session. A playlet, "Down to Earth," presented by Girl Reserves of Wichita Falls, also will be a major event of the Saturday evening session.

Conference officers for the next year will be elected at the Saturday afternoon session. These new officers will take office and preside during the final session of the convention Sunday morning. The conference is scheduled to close at 12:15 p. m. Sunday.

Leaders of the discussion groups will assemble at breakfast Sunday morning at 6:30 to make plans for continuance of group discussions after each session of the conference. These leaders include Grady Spruce, C. G. Fairchild, J. Floyd Smith, Windell McClellan, John Green, Pat Henry, Rev. F. A. Crutchfield, Thomas F. Richardson, J. L. Kimble, R. G. Cole, W. C. Instead of writing prescriptions for medicine he will place copies of music in the hands of his patients and confidently look forward to a cure.

He suggested:

MORE THAN 400 TEXAS YOUTHS REGISTERED DURING MORNING SESSIONS START AT 3 O'CLOCK

With more than 400 delegates registered at noon Friday, the annual Older Boys' conference of the Northwest and Central Texas districts was officially opened at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

All Friday sessions of the conference, sponsored in Wichita Falls by the Hi-Y club and the city churches, were held in the educational building of the First Methodist church.

The conference is the second of its kind entertained by this city during the last four years.

Levi Reynolds of Dalhart is president of the conference. He is also president of the Northwest Texas district, while Bill Middleton is president of the Central Texas district.

Registrations were unofficially begun Thursday afternoon, when conference workers and leaders arrived. The group, who will take part as discussion leaders and speakers, were guests at the home of John Boswell, manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, Thursday night.

Official registering began at 10 o'clock Friday morning under the supervision of Thomas F. Richardson, Hi-Y sponsor here, and Grover C. Good, state Y. M. C. A. boys' work secretary, who is in active charge of the conference.

The welcome committee which met the many delegates was composed of members of the Wichita Falls Hi-Y club, church leaders and conference heads. An information committee, formed by club mem-

Shoe Girls Win From Kansans

2/21/32

Walk-Over of the Girls' Major League scored a 39 to 21 victory over the Orpheum Cleaners of Wichita, Kan., Saturday night at Central High Gym. T. P. Coal and Oil of the Men's Major City defeated a picked team of Y. M. C. A. Church League players, 33 to 27 in a curtain raiser before the girls took the floor. The Orpheum team has been beaten but three times this year including the game of Saturday night.

Babe Haden led Walk-Over with 19 points while Newman was the best scorer for the visitors with nine. Haden was an All-American player last year, as was Mae Ceurvonst, pronounced Kervo, of the visitors, but of the two it was the local girl who showed more of that caliber Saturday. Walk-Over took the lead on the start but the visitors came back with a rush in the second period and went into the lead, 16 to 15, at the half.

Coach Bill Millican of the Shoe Girls sent Pepperpot Margaret Crane into the fray at the start of the third period and business began to pick up. She not only made 10 points, but passed superbly as well. The Walk-Over defense shone at all times, the guards intercepting many visitors' passes. L. Harrod of the Orpheums also did some excellent work on the defense.

WELFARE RELIEF WILL BE SOUGHT

Meeting of Agencies Held To Discuss Plans

The Community Chest will have to assume the relief work of the Welfare Department about May 1 unless more funds are appropriated by the city, or the Chest finances the department's work, according to a report to be submitted the council of Social Agencies by the City Welfare Board at 3 p. m. today.

The session was to be at the Chamber of Commerce, with A. B. Vera, president of the council presiding. W. T. Ladd is president of the board.

To Exhaust Funds.

"Welfare demands for the next two months are certain to exhaust the department's remaining funds of approximately $25,000," declared Dr. A. H. Flickwir, director of Public Health and Welfare, preceding the session.

"Nearly $50,000 has been spent for relief work during the first four and one-half months of the current fiscal year, and indications are that the service will continue to be 'taxed' for the next two or three months," he added.

Dr. Flickwir explained that the demands should drop considerably in May when unemployed migrate to the agricultural sections.

Last week, the department submitted a similar report to the City Council, asking an additional appropriation. Action was indefinitely delayed pending a study of the situation by City Manager G. D. Fairtrace.

Bill in Senate.

Efforts recently were made in the La Follette-Costigan Senate bill to get a federal relief fund of $375,000,000 for aid in cities where local funds had become exhausted. The bill was defeated, however.

The mayors of 305 cities replied to Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr.'s questionnaire on relief needs. They represented a population of more than 10,000,000.

Of the number 285 mayors reported their funds exhausted and their borrowing power gone. According to information received from Washington no report was received from Fort Worth.

FORUM TALKS ON DISARMING

M — 2/23/32

T.C.U. Professor Advocates Reduction to Minimum; Dr. Danforth Opposes.

Open forum talks by two speakers at the Y. M. C. A. last night on disarmament and national defense brought disparaging comments from opponents of each side during the round table discussion that followed the speeches.

W. J. Hammond, associate professor of history at Texas Christian University, advocated disarmament to the minimum requirements. He said he did not favor laying down all arms.

Dr. W. J. Danforth, representing the Fort Worth Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association, upheld national preparedness. Contending that military men do not want war and will do all in their power to avoid it, Dr. Danforth said the United States should not scrap a single battleship until European nations make a sincere move toward peace.

War Referendum.

Members of the audience questioned both speakers. Jack Davis, Central High School senior who walked in with a pile of books under his arms and with shirt sleeves rolled up, drew from Dr. Danforth an admission there would be no war if both China and Japan were disarmed.

"Then what is wrong with disarmament?" Davis asked amid laughter.

Danforth laughed with the audience and did not answer as he and the boy both sat down.

Professor Hammond quoted figures to show the enormous cost of the World War. He mentioned the efforts of the League of Nations to obtain world peace. He offered a plan for disarming to the minimum requirements for police protection of the home and fireside and warned that over-armament is a cause of war. The people should have the right to decide on war by a direct ballot, he said.

Europe Fully Armed.

Dr. Danforth fears the present peace conference is another dream of Utopia. He predicted peace will never come as long as people have different temperaments.

Declaring European nations are armed to the teeth, Dr. Danforth said less than one-half of 1 per cent of the citizens of the United States bear arms. He quoted the comparative percentage of other nations as follows: France, 15; Italy, 14; Poland, 6½; Rumania, 10; Jugo-Slavia, 10; Belgium, 7, and Greece, 8.

Warning against peace propaganda from Russia, Dr. Danforth said the United States must protect itself from within as well as from without. He declared there must be a sharp differentiation between hypocritical and traitorous peace talk and the deep desire on the part of Americans to cooperate in movements looking toward world peace.

The next open forum at the Y. M. C. A. will be on prohibition. Mike Tellinger was in charge of last night's program. [illegible]

NEW CHEST QUARTERS TO BE FILLED SOON

Eleven Agencies to Move This Week; Shoes Are Ordered

Eleven Community Chest agencies will be established in their new quarters, 1107 Commerce, by the end of the week, Dr. Henry G. Bowden, executive director, said today.

Jewish Charities and Boy Scouts were moving in their offices on the second floor of the Majestic Building today. The Red Cross and Fort Worth-Tarrant County Tuberculosis Society will move tomorrow.

The general chest quarters and the Social Service Exchange were the first to move.

Dr. Bowden has placed orders with the War Department for 200 pairs of shoes, to be distributed free from the Used Clothes Depot by chest agencies. The shoes will cost 25 cents a pair.

Actual distribtuion of $3,000,000 worth of surplus army clothing at reduced prices started this week, dispatches from Washington say. Clothing for almost 1,500,000 people is available in the 15 government depots.

Agencies Are Against Taking Relief Burden

Condemning as "short sighted" the city's welfare budget policy this year, the Council of Social Agencies yesterday let it be known its members will not willingly assume the burden should the city suspend its relief work when appropriations are exhausted.

Speaking without authority from the Community Chest directors, Jewel P. Lightfoot, president, declared on his own behalf he would be unwilling to "patch out" the city's welfare budget with any funds from the chest.

The social agencies council voted to send a committee to the City Council to ask that funds be found somewhere for carrying on the welfare work "adequately and efficiently" and to remind the body that "welfare work is as much a part of the city's business as anything else."

Mrs. Charles Scheuber suggested the City Council be reminded of the "solemn contract" made when the city took over the welfare department. It agreed then, she said, to appropriate adequate funds to carry on welfare relief work efficiently. She said that the buffeting of the poor from one place to another, as "is taking place now under the threadbare budget" of the city's welfare department is "outrageous."

W. T. Ladd, chairman of the City Welfare Board, and Dr. A. H. Flick-

AGAINST TAKING RELIEF BURDEN

wir, director of the Health and Welfare Department, objected to the social agencies group taking action on Mrs. Scheuber's motion. Ladd said that since no formal request that the Community Chest or agencies assume the city's welfare work had been made, it would be "putting the cart before the horse."

Dr. Flickwir, earlier in the meeting, however, had told the group in answer to questions, that the welfare department is now turning away worthy applicants and that grocery orders are being cut down so that the remaining funds can be spread out as long as possible. The $60,000 available for direct relief work will be exhausted by April 15, he said.

When Ladd objected to her motion, Mrs. Scheuber, Mrs. Clyde Lilly and E. J. Hosey asserted the city is not now "doing its job fully" and that the City Council should take steps immediately to prepare for the day when funds will be gone. Mrs. Scheuber said that if the city can borrow for other purposes it can borrow for emergency relief. Miss Margaret McLean, executive secretary of the Red Cross, explained her own and other organizations are spending 50 per cent more for relief work because of the cases turned from the welfare department to other agencies.

Lightfoot said the unappropriated fund of $47,000 in the chest budget, created for emergency unemployment relief, would be spent through member agencies of the chest. Dr. Bowden said that the agencies already are finding need for emergency funds and have obtained about $3,000 during the past two months through requisitions passed on by the emergency fund committee.

Lightfoot explained that these over expenditures and shrinkage in collections must come out of that $47,000, adding that he saw no reason "why the bounty of the people (as represented by the Community Chest) should be strained by the lack of a far-sighted policy on the part of the city."

The social agencies council re-elected four directors yesterday and heard a report from Mrs. J. W. Cooper, superintendent of the Used Clothes Depot. Directors retained for a three-year term are Dr. H. A. Merfeld, James T. Tuohy, Adams B. Vera and Miss McLean.

RACIAL CO-OPERATION NEGRO Y. M. C. A. TOPIC

M 2-15

Dr. W. C. Smith, of Texas Christian University faculty, and Rev. T. S. Boone, pastor of Mount Gilead Baptist Church, spoke on inter-racial co-operation yesterday at a meeting at the negro Y. M. C. A. Music was furnished by a choir from the T. C. U. faculty and by the junior choir of Mount Gilead Church.

The program was directed by S. H. Fowler, secretary of the negro Y. M. C. A.

Harry J. Adams, member of the Fort Worth committee on inter-racial activities, attended the meeting.

CITY WELFARE WORK MENACED

E 2-12

The city Thursday faced probable exhaustion of its welfare relief funds by April 15 without the prospect of another appropriation by the City Council.

Unless funds can be obtained by the welfare department from the Community Chest, the city's relief for destitute families will have to be stopped, it was said.

At the end of the first four months of this fiscal year, more than $27,000 of the year's $60,000 appropriation for relief had been spent. Officials estimated the remainder would not last beyond the middle of April, leaving unprovided for the period between April 15 and Sept. 30, the close of the fiscal year.

It was said negotiations with the Community Chest already have been started. City welfare funds have been drained heavily despite the fact that allowances for poor relief are one-third lower this year than last.

NAME CHARITY M GROUP TODAY

President Adams Vera of the Council of Social Agencies will appoint a "strong, well informed" committee today to appear before the City Council next Wednesday to urge immediate provision for carrying on the work of the Welfare Department efficiently.

Vera, authorized by the Council of Social Agencies Tuesday afternoon to send the committee before the City Council, said yesterday it is urgently necessary to take quick action toward caring for the worthy poor who are receiving insufficient help.

Vera expressed satisfaction that the Fort Worth Federation of Women's Clubs had taken similar action yesterday morning with regard to the city welfare budget. The federation passed resolutions requesting the City Council's immediate action to provide funds for caring for "hungry, worthy people."

The resolution was passed by the federation on recommendation of Mrs. C. W. Woodman, chairman of the social service committee, after discussion of the depleted welfare funds of the city.

Councilmen yesterday declined to comment on new appropriations for poor relief. The city's $60,000 appropriation for welfare relief will be exhausted by April 15, according to welfare officials. Mayor Bryce said he presumed the question of financial difficulties in the welfare division would be discussed at the next City Council meeting.

Directors of the Council of Social Agencies likely will meet at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon to elect officers, Vera said. He will not delay appointment of the welfare committee until the meeting, however, he said.

The council directors also will elect five new directors for the Community Chest.

SCOTT NAMED TO LEAD IN CITY'S FIGHT

Each Business Firm to Be Asked to Provide Job for at Least 1 Wage-Earner.

War cry against unemployment was sounded in Fort Worth yesterday afternoon as organization leaders moved toward a quick mobilization of their forces to join a nationwide campaign.

Walter B. Scott, former Chamber of Commerce president, was chosen head of a body which, according to plans, will include almost 400 organized groups in the city.

A committee, headed by Jack H. Hott, Chamber of Commerce manager, today will notify Scott of his selection and aid him in naming an executive committee to serve as the framework of the drive structure.

Part of National "Push."

The movement in Fort Worth was described by Walter L. Morris, temporary chairman, as a part of a national "push" to return 1,000,000 wage earners to work. A three-fold program is contemplated: Solicitation of every business firm to give work to at least one wage-earner; asking larger corporations to revise their working schedules, if necessary, to return laborers to jobs, and requesting residents to band in giving yard and repair work to unemployed men.

Those named to aid Scott, in addition to Hott, are Jack Rattikin, Craig Laine, Dr. A. H. Edens, Mrs. W. L. Leavy, Mrs. F. H. Witt, W. Steve Cooke, Miss Margaret McLean, Miss Gladys Pittenger, C. K. Fletcher, Dr. Henry G. Bowden, H. C. Wallenberg, J. J. Hurley, Ralph Squires, Lewis D. Fox, C. W. Woodman, L. L. Manchester, Holman Swor, A. J. Reinhard, J. B. Maclin, Morris, George Adams and Mrs. Charles Scheuber.

Representatives Pledge Aid.

Aid in hurrying the campaign to a successful close was promised by almost a score of organization representatives in brief comments upon the drive.

A. P. Barrett, keynote speaker and chairman for Texas of the Hoover antihoarding movement, called Fort Worth organizations and unaffiliated citizens to arms, declaring:

"We've paid enough for our economic stupidity. It is time for us to shake off this lethargy and sell our Nation back to ourselves!"

Current conditions are not desperate if every citizen will do his duty toward alleviating them, Barrett asserted.

"More Confidence Needed."

"We all have been a little giddy-headed and out of joint but we should be encouraged by the fact that Texas is richer in resources and possibilities than other sections," he said. "It is up to us now to take up the slack, to seek out those who have buried lifting power in sock and tin can and to teach friend and neighbor that our wealth is not in golden coin but in food, clothes, our work, children and the future. All that is needed is a little more fire, confidence, aggressiveness, salesmanship and love for fellow man. It is fitting that the American Legion, an organization of men who fought courageously and indomitably toward their objectives, takes the leadership in this movement."

Barrett declared the unemployment war will add impetus to the antihoarding movement in the State.

In addition to the American Legion, the unemployment drive is sponsored by the Legion auxiliary, the American Federation of Labor and the Association of National Advertisers.

Men, Ammunition Gathered Today for Depression War

Walter Scott to Marshal Forces for Attack on Unemployment in Fort Worth

Fort Worth civic leaders were assembling men and ammunition today, preparatory to firing a broadside against depression. Warfare will be centered upon one of the most menacing flanks of the enemy lines—unemployment.

Walter B. Scott, attorney, assumed his duties as permanent chairman of the War on Depression campaign here today. He was chosen unanimously to head the drive at a spirited meeting yesterday at The Blackstone.

Jack H. Hott, Chamber of Commerce manager, was named chairman of a committee to assist Scott in completing the organization. Procedure in the campaign likely will be left to an executive committee.

Walter L. Morris, temporary chairman, explained the movement as a nation-wide campaign to put 1,000,000 idle men back to work. The "man a block" plan, which proved successful in Rochester, N. Y., was mentioned among the various methods.

Under the Rochester plan, property owners in each block in the city agree to pay 50 cents each a week to a worker for improving premises. Factories and other public firms also would be asked to add one man each to their payrolls.

More than 400 organizations are eligible to assist in the campaign, it was pointed out.

All organizations and institutions represented at yesterday's rally pledged support in the campaign and speakers emphasized the need for it.

Those promising support in the drive include the CofC, Riverside Civic League, Trades Assembly, Red Cross, TCU, Kiwanis Club, Business and Professional Women's Club, General Ministers' Association, Rotary Club, U. S. Employment Service, Junior League of Women Voters, and American Legion, which started the movement here.

A. P. Barrett, state chairman for President Hoover's anti-hoarding campaiggn, sounded a high note of optimism in his keynote address.

"All we need is a little more fire, confidence, aggressiveness, salesmanship and love for our fellow man," he said. "Since this is a war, it is fitting that the American Legion take the leadership.

"We've paid enough for our economic mistakes. It's time for us to shake off this lethargy and sell ourselves, our city, state and nation back to ourselves. We should be encouraged by the fact that Texas is richer in resources and possibilities than any other section of the country."

Besides Hott, those appointed on the committee to assist Scott are Craig Laine, Jack Rattikin, Dr. A. H. Edens, Mrs. F. H. Witt, Mrs. W. L. Leavy, W. Steve Cooke, Miss Margaret McLean, Miss Gladys Pittenger, C. K. Fletcher, Dr. Henry G. Bowden, H. C. Wallenberg, J. J. Hurley, Ralph Squires, C. W. Woodman, Lewis D. Fox, L. L. Council of Social Agencies Names Tuohy as President

James T. Tuohy was chosen president of the Fort Worth Council of Social Agencies to succeed Adams B. Vera in the annual election meeting of directors yesterday afternoon.

A committee to ask the City Council for additional funds for the City Welfare Department chose Max Bergman as its chairman in a meeting that preceded the election.

Mrs. W. J. Danforth was elected vice president of the council and Mrs. Bob Barker, treasurer. Mrs. Danforth succeeds Miss Margaret McLean and Mrs. Barker replaces Mrs. Sam D. Hill.

Vera, Mrs. Barker, W. S. Margowski and Dr. A. H. Flickwir were chosen representatives of the council on the Community Chest board. President Tuohy is an ex-officio member of this group.

Council directors whose terms had expired were re-elected. They are Dr. Harry A. Merfeld, Tuohy, Vera and Miss McLean.

Other directors are A. J. Fulkerson, George J. Kreyenbuhl, Ralph Squires, Dr. Flickwir, Mrs. Barker, D. A. Cowan, Mrs. Hill, Miss Hattie Sidebottom, Jewel P. Lightfoot, Ernest Alexander and John W. Floore.

Bergman, as chairman of the council committee authorized in a council meeting early this week, will ask City Manager Fairtrace for an appointment with City Council for presenting the committee's appeal for greater Welfare Department appropriations.

Committee members expressed the belief that the burden thrown upon other agencies if the Welfare Department funds are exhausted will lead to "a desperate situation."

The committee made no attempt to estimate the sum necessary to carry on the Welfare Department relief work when present funds are spent.

The group was formed when the Council of Social Agencies became aroused at reports that Welfare Department funds will be exhausted April 15.

Bergman, introducing the plea to City Council, will call attention to a clause in the city charter stipulating that "adequate provision" must be made for the relief of the city's poor. The Welfare Department's budget this year was cut from about $100,000 to $60,000.

Chest Will Act Today On Aid to Feed Children

Executive Committee Meets This Afternoon; New Check of Needy Homes to Start.

To delve further into the problem of hungry children in Fort Worth schools and to act on the emergency committee's recommendation that the Community Chest appropriate at least $650 for temporary relief, the chest executive committee will meet at headquarters at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon.

The chest, together with Leonard Brothers, yesterday solved temporarily the problem of providing free lunches for 348 hungry children by offering to divide the cost until other satisfactory arrangements can be made. Their offer came in time for most cafeteria managers to issue the free lunches at noon yesterday.

As the temporary plan went into effect, other groups were making an effort to heal the situation for the remainder of the school term. Kiwanis Club directors met at The Texas and voted $336 to take over the feeding of 56 children at Peter Smith School. The club will launch its plan today with luncheon in the school cafeteria at which Kiwanians will be hosts. The Kiwanis relief work will be under direction of I. B. White, chairman of the underprivileged children's committee, and Walter Morris of the public affairs committee. Both urged other civic organizations of the city yesterday to follow their plan. Representatives of the Lions Club already had taken steps in that direction, though their plans are not yet complete.

So that equitable distribution of free lunches may be made when adequate funds are available, Ed F. Williams, business manager of schools, with the co-operation of parent-teacher groups, principals, teachers and school nurses, will begin a new check on needy homes today. He will discuss the survey with representatives of all parent-teacher associations at the Administration Building at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Dr. Henry G. Bowden, executive director of the Community Chest, said yesterday that if a thorough survey of "proven need" were presented to the chest executive committee, that body might assume more than temporary responsibility for the hungry children. The first application for aid presented to the chest came to his office yesterday afternoon from Mrs. J. O. Hughes, president of the Council of Parents and Teachers, he said.

Good Samaritans for the hungry children included besides the parent and civic bodies, churches and individuals yesterday. Elmer Renfro, chairman of stewards at the First Methodist Church, announced open collections at the church Sunday morning would be turned over to school authorities for the free lunch fund. The Women's Wesley Bible Class of Hemphill Heights Methodist Church decided to provide free lunches for a family of children at George Clarke School for the remainder of the term. R. W. Morley, 512 Bewley Building, shocked by reports of a school boy's fainting from hunger at Peter Smith School, agreed to deliver 30 bottles of milk daily to West Van Zandt School for the rest of the term and to make other contributions most needed.

Word that the Community Chest and Leonard Brothers had agreed to divide the cost of feeding hungry children for a time came to Denver Avenue School yesterday as a group of room mothers spooned out great mounds of beans, potato salad and meat loaf to 40 underprivileged children.

Denver Avenue parents were horrified two months ago when their children reported that poorly clad pupils were digging scraps out of the garbage can while more fortunate classmates ate warm lunch in the cafeteria. So the room mothers began preparing food each day, taking it to the lunchroom and serving it from two center tables. Other pupils joined in the work by dividing their lunches, leaving on the center tables the sandwiches and fruit they did not need.

The mothers were able to feed the pupils nutritiously and at small costs, but they rejoiced yesterday that hereafter the poor pupil may stand in line at the lunch counter as does his classmates. It will make the unfortunate class inconspicuous. Mothers who served yesterday were Mmes. J. R. Burford, E. F. Walker, B. C. Dunlap, E. J. Christiansen and H. B. Abbott.

Y. M. C. A. INSTITUTE WILL MEET AT ROME

ROME, N. Y., March 5.—The Intercollegiate Student Y. M. C. A. Institute will hold a statewide meeting here April 22-24, sponsored by the local Hi-Y. College men representing about 15 of the universities and colleges in the State are expected.

Scotland's latest census shows that nearly half the people live in one and two-room houses.

LAWYER WILL TALK ON TOUR OF RUSSIA

Frank I. Buckingham, Kansas City lawyer who has returned recently from an extended tour of Russia, will deliver an address at the First Methodist Church at 8 p. m. March 15. He will recite experiences of his trip and conclusions he has reached on Communism.

Buckingham will be in Fort Worth under the auspices of the Fort Worth Chapter of De Molay. He is a member of the grand council of the order. Now on a tour of the Middle West and Eastern States, he will deliver a series of addresses in Texas.

Buckingham's trip to Russia was made for De Molay and Frank S. Land, its founder and grand scribe, and came about because of a statement made by George Bernard Shaw to the effect that were he a youth he would live in Russia. As the head of an organization of young men 16 to 21 years old, pledged to good citizenship, Land desired to know firsthand whether or not there was foundation for the Shaw declaration. According to Buckingham, there was not.

The American Legion, department of Texas, has indorsed the talks as a part of the legion program against the spread of Communism. V. Earl Earp of Sweetwater, state commander, and Maj. Gen. W. E. Jackson of Hillsboro, a legion leader, have combined in a statement, asking all posts to support the De Molay chapters in their program with Buckingham. It is said some startling statements are made by the Kansas City lawyer and that he courts questioning after he makes his talks.

Talks on Sales

Vash Young, New York City, one of the Nation's leading insurance salesmen, who will talk on his rules for success Saturday night at The Texas.

TO TELL STORY OF HIS SUCCESS

Vash Young, New York City, one of the leading life insurance solicitors in the United States, will tell the story of his success before a Fort Worth audience at 6 o'clock Saturday night at The Texas.

Arrangements are being made for seating more than 1,000 persons in the Crystal Ballroom.

Young, well on the way to success as a high salaried employe of a publishing firm, took a long chance with the odds against him to enter the insurance filed. Not long ago he wrote, single handedly, the largest life insurance policy ever written on a boy—for $1,065,000. He annually writes more than $2,000,000 worth of insurance and is on the staff of the Equitable Life Assurance Society in New York.

One of five children, Young knew only poverty as a growing youngster. He was born in Salt Lake City 42 years ago. His mother died when Vash was 14 and his father followed the trek to the Alaskan gold fields, leaving his children in the care of Vash's grandmother.

He quit his first job as an assistant to a fruit peddler because a little girl snubbed him. He was a failure as a tailor's helper and as a drug store delivery boy. He did better as a solicitor for a weekly magazine and was Eastern advertising manager for a large house when he determined to make the "break" for himself.

Young will speak here as the guest of the Mitchell, Gartner and Walton Company of Fort Worth. Admission will be by card, which may be obtained without cost from the secretary of any luncheon club, from the Chamber of Commerce or the Salesmanship Club.

Missionary Scores Japanese Attack

Rev. Jerry O. Hanson of Taianfu, Shantung Province, China, who sailed from Shanghai two days before firing began there late in January, said yesterday that Japan has "justly earned resentment of the entire world" by its policy toward China.

Speaking before a group at the home of Rev. W. Irving Smith, 211 West Broadway, he declared that Japan had shown a complete lack of sportsmanship in firing on Shanghai to "throw a smoke screen for its seizure of Manchuria."

"Even in war," he said, "there should be some sportsmanship, and from Japan there has been none. The nation attacked China when it was still devastated by the worst flood in its history. Fifty million people were moved out of their homes after the flood last year. The nation was as crippled and as unfit for fighting as Japan would have been after the great earthquake of 1923."

Rev. Mr. Hanson, en route to New York to attend the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, North, has been a missionary to China for 29 years.

DRIVE FOR JOBS NEARS 200,000

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The war against depression, designed to find jobs for 1,000,000 persons, pressed on toward the 200,000 mark Wednesday after 6,994 men and women were put back to work in 101 communities Tuesday.

The grand total to date is 177,017.

Reports have been received so far from 1,135 communities out of the 6,230 in the country with a population of 1,000 or more. Sixty-three new ones were added to the list on the basis of the last returns.

Dry Crusaders Will Be Honored at Luncheons

Will Appeal for Continued Enforcement at Four Mass Meetings.

Prohibition crusaders, who March 19 and 20 will bring their appeal for continued enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment to Fort Worth through four mass meetings, will be honored with two luncheons and a banquet.

These arrangements were made yesterday at a luncheon conference between C. C. Hamilton, advance representative of the allied campaigners, and 74 friends of prohibition at the First Christian Church.

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, chairman of the allied forces for prohibition and editor-in-chief of the Christian Herald, will be the principal speaker at a luncheon March 19 at First Methodist Church. At the same hour women of the city will hear Miss Norma C. Brown, secretary of the prohibition campaigners, at the Woman's Club.

A young people's banquet will be given at 6 p. m. March 19 at First Christian Church, at which Robert C. Ropp and Harold W. Singer will speak.

Appearing in Fort Worth the first day will be Col. Raymond Robbins, Red Cross commissioner to Russia during the World War and member of the President's organization for unemployment relief, Miss Brown and Ropp. They will speak at Central High School auditorium at 3 and 8 p. m.

Second day speakers will be Dr. Poling; Oliver W. Stewart, veteran of many prohibition campaigns, and Dr. Ira Landrith, former president of Ward-Belmont College and chairman of the National Temperance Council.

Advance Agent

C. C. HAMILTON.

The idea for the national prohibition tour, reaching 587 cities in 48 States, was originated last Summer by friends of the Eighteenth Amendment, Hamilton explained at yesterday's luncheon.

"The speakers here plan to do two things," he said. "They intend to give an accurate picture of prohibition. After that they expect to take an enrollment of citizens who believe in the Eighteenth Amendment. An expression like that will prove a powerful argument when national conventions come to write their party platforms."

Jobs Drive Workers Encouraged by Reception Accorded Campaign

Success is being reported today by more than 200 workers in the campaign against unemployment in Fort Worth. The drive was launched on Wednesday noon at a luncheon.

An encouraging reception was reported by many of the workers who are seeking persons who will sign pledge cards to provide a specified amount of work for unemployed. The campaigners have been too busy seeing prospective employers to be able to make detailed reports to A. F. Townsend, drive chairman, or Charles G. Cotten, secretary of the emergency employment committee, at the Chamber of Commerce.

Majors of the five districts into which the city has been divided, said however, that many of their two-person teams are getting many names on cards. There are women workers as well as men.

Charles H. Thompson, Clyde Penry, Gaylord J. Stone, Lewis D. Fox and Dr. Abe Greines are the majors. Campaigners are visiting business houses and industrial plants only, as the residential sections will not be canvassed.

A sample pledge card is published elsewhere in The Star-Telegram today. Persons who wish to have a part in this vital movement will save workers time and energy if they will fill in the card and mail it as directed, Cotten said.

Workers will continue seeking pledges until they are satisfied there is no more work available in the areas assigned them. It may take them two days or a week or more, Jack

Signs Card to Assist Unemployed

"Sure, I'll sign a pledge card to provide work for some one," said C. E Shepherd, right, proprietor of the Parrent Garage at 1009 Commerce Street, when he was approached by E. J. Hosey, left, one of more than 200 workers who began a drive against unemployment Wednesday afternoon. Shepherd's card (insert) was the first one registered at headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce. It shows checks made opposite the kind of work to be provided. On the opposite side is a pledge that the signer believes money invested in providing work for the unemployed is urgently needed. Shepherd pledged to spend $100.

them occupied through the Summer it should make a lot of difference in conditions here," A. F. Townsend, general chairman, declared. "Several months' employment, even part time work, for those who have been idle for weeks and months is sure to help business generally as well as the individuals."

Townsend will meet the majors and captains of the canvassing teams Monday at 3 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce for a final checkup before the luncheon rally for all workers Wednesday noon at the First Methodist Church. Rabbi Harry Merfeld will be the chief speaker at the rally.

Townsend met with the campaign majors and other leaders Thursday noon at The Texas and assigned each major to a division. The divisions and majors in charge are: Division 1, Dr. Abe Greines; Division 2, C. H. (Charlie) Thompson; Division 3, Lewis D. Fox; Division 4, Gaylord J. Stone, and Division 5, Clyde Penry. In addition to the divisions City Manager Fairtrace was named as major in charge of canvassing city employes and Superintendent Green of the public schools was made a major to supervise the campaign in the schools.

At a meeting of the unemployed Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. the men were told by John Henry, Dallas, state Y. M. C. A. secretary, that world economic conditions must be improved before many jobs are created. The meeting was sponsored by the Job Finders League, which is working in co-operation with the employment committee. Other speakers were Dr. W. J. Danforth and George Willard.

The "Find Jobs" Campaign.

THE response to the organizers of the "Find a Man a Job" campaign in Fort Worth was most praiseworthy. Wednesday will be the first of a two-day campaign for making contact between 250 Fort Worth business men and the citizenship of the city.

The workers are going to ask each Fort Worthian if there isn't a job of work around the factory, the store, the warehouse, the garage, the office or the home that will give a legitimate out-of-work citizen of Fort Worth a chance to earn some money.

That there must be somewhere between 10,000 and 20,000 hours of "odd jobs" around the homes, yards and places of business of Fort Worth is a conservative estimate. Those who are helpfully inclined in such times as these doubtless can stretch one such chore into a chain of them that will cover some needed cleaning and repairing about the premises while giving Charity an earning power it deserves at every opportunity.

There is all the difference in the world between giving an out-of-work person a job and giving him a coin. The first is a re-charge of his self respect battery. The latter is a dole.

There is little need to fear that the so-called "panhandlers" will profit by the find-a-man-a-job drive. Jobs and panhandlers are extremely difficult of "contact." The job is a fixed entity while the panhandler is a variable. The man who wants the coin in preference to the chance to earn it will be alibi-stocked if encountered by any of the participants in the present drive.

It seems entirely reasonable to hope that the majority of homes in Fort Worth can supply an unemployed person with one hour's work at Spring cleaning. Five thousand of the homes should have a day's work. Half of the grand total should have some paint, some carpentry, some plumbing repairs or some ground cultivation.

The intent is the thing.

Thrift should be an item.

The man sent in answer to the signed card will work at an agreed price for the job. Those who are keen on close bargains will have an opportunity to do some bargain hunting.

The whole idea is to give as many idle men as many hours' legitimate work as possible.

Hunt a man a jom around YOUR place!

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will elect officers and effect a permanent organization May 29, J. E. Whitmore, chairman, said in a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Sixty members already have been added to the roster, he said. The membership committee reported that 25 firms have asked for membership blanks.

NEGROES STUDY PARLEY INQUIRY

Negro youths of Fort Worth have been set to work studying a list of questions prepared by S. H. Fowler, secretary of the negro Y. M. C. A., in preparation for the State Older Boys Conference at Houston, April 22-24.

Nearly 500 negro youths, representing schools, churches, young people's societies, Sunday schools, fraternal organizations, social clubs and college Hi-Y Clubs, are expected to attend the conference, which has for its theme youth's relation to business and religion. A delegation of 50 is expected to go from Fort Worth.

Samples of the questions Fowler has asked follow:

In the field of religions, what are the things the youth should or should not believe? Enumerate some of the vital principles and virtues of Christianity and estimate their significance.

When will boys and youths begin to build more rapidly toward a world brotherhood? What is our duty regarding race odiums and traditions that hinder our progress?

What would you consider the basis of modern prestige? Who or what would you consider the cause of this economic depression and distress? What economic plan would you offer as a way out? In our economic equation, do you feel the consumers' and the producers' interests are considered alike and humanly taken into account?

Are we facing a changing vocational life? Does efficiency defeat itself? Should money or character be lightly regarded or considered in the advancement and upbuilding of a race?

What games do you think Christians should or should not play? Do you think physicial activities vital to the well-being of Christians?

PROHIBITION SURE ISSUE, DR. POLING BELIEVES

Prohibition will be an issue in the coming presidential election, there is no doubt about it, in the opinion of Dr. Daniel A. Poling, New York, who arrived here Saturday morning with his party of speakers for the Allied Forces for Prohibition, to conduct a series of rallies in support of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"The only question about prohibition's part in the coming campaign is how much of an issue it will be," Dr. Poling declared.

Col. Raymond Robins, New York, social economist and the principal speaker on tonight's mass meeting program at Central High School, joined Dr. Poling in his views.

On Non-Political Tour.

Both admitted they had very definite personal views concerning the approaching election and about the proposed candidates but declined to comment in view of the fact that the campaign they are now conducting is "nonpolitical and nonpartisan."

All political groups and movements are merged in the campaign which the Allied Forces for Prohibition are conducting, Dr. Poling said.

The primary objective of the drive is to create such a strong sentiment for prohibition that it will be practically impossible for either party to write a wet plank into its platform, the dry leader declared.

"I do not believe a man should be elected simply because he is a prohibitionist," Dr. Poling said, "a lot of prohibitionists voted for Al Smith. A wet platform and a wet President would not necessarily affect congressional action. We have prohibition today not so much for what the drys did as for what the liquor traffic had done. Prohibition has not been given a chance yet, but we are getting results under the leadership of Col. Amos Woodcock. Look what happened to Legs Diamond and what is happening to Al Capone."

Denies Youth Corrupt.

Dr. Poling believes prohibition defeated the Democrats in 1928 but is convinced that Smith's faith polled more votes for him than it lost. He also believes that Smith polled more Protestant votes than his opponents polled Catholic votes. Dr. Poling has a ready answer to the charge that prohibition and bootleg liquor are corrupting youth. It is:

"Prohibition and bootleg liquor are not corrupting young people because they are not corrupt. You can not indict all youth for the mistakes of a few."

Dr. Poling is the father of eight children, three of whom are in universities. He quoted statements from officials of the larger universities in which they declared no cases of liquor poisoning were on record and that conditions are "infinitely better" than in former years. One of his sons, in discussing the campus behavior question, told Dr. Poling that "the only time the campus here goes wet is when the old grads come back."

150 Cities Visited.

The speakeasy was "born in license and thrived as such," Dr. Poling asserted. He credited prohibition with uncovering the speakeasy and driving it out. He said more charges of police "corrupting speakeasies" can be made than of speakeasies corrupting police.

Dr. Poling, a middle-aged, vigorous man, is bearing up well under the strenuous speaking schedule. He and his party have visited more than 150 cities and have about 300 more on their itinerary. He is general chairman of the Allied Forces and world president of the Christian Endeavor Union.

Colonel Robins and Miss Norma C. Brown, only woman member of the party, will speak at the high school auditorium tonight at 8 o'clcok. "The Constitution—Shall We Scrap It?" is Colonel Robins' subject. Miss Brown will speak on "Prohibition, the Weathervane of Civilization."

Prohibition Campaigners Arrive

Harold Singer and Robert C. Ropp will speak at a youth banquet tonight at 6 o'clock at First Christian Church. Dr. Ira Landrith will speak at 8 p. m. Sunday in the high school auditorium on "Bolshevism With a Haircut." At the final meeting Sunday night Oliver W. Stewart will speak on "Mobilizing for Victory," and Dr. Poling will speak on "We Believe in America."

Dr. Landrith will speak at the Broadway Baptist Church at 10:50 Sunday morning.

Colonel Stewart will speak at the Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock in the North Fort Worth Baptist Church.

Dr. Poling will speak Sunday at 11 a. m. at the First Baptist Tabernacle, Lipscomb and Morphy Streets.

OPEN-MINDEDNESS ON DRY LAW STRESSED.

Open-mindedness in dealing with the prohibition question was stressed by Miss Norma C. Brown, secretary of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, at a luncheon at the Woman's Club Saturday noon.

Declaring the union of dry forces imperative, Miss Brown, the only woman speaker with the campaigners, paid tribute to the work of 33 national prohibition organizations, and cited accomplishments of the Allied Forces group.

In giving the aim of the allied group, Miss Brown declared: "We have no time for frenzied discussion or vituperous attack on our opponents. We realize that many conscientious citizens do not agree with us on this issue. While we do not deny their right to battle for legal repeal, we challenge the alleged right to get rid of prohibition by defiance, violation and nullification. Until, if ever, the Eighteenth Amendment is repealed, it is the obligation of all to accept it, obey it, and stand for its enforcement.

It was this spirit, the speaker declared, that had made it possible for the campaigners to unite in communities they visited all old supporters of prohibition, and to bring in "great elements" of new strength into an organized whole.

LEGION NOT REPRESENTING MAJORITY, SAYS POLING.

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, speaking at luncheon at First Methodist Church Saturday, declared that the American Legion was acting as a powerful minority and not as a group of representative citizens in its action on prohibition at the national convention in Detroit last year. He said that "tens of thousands of Legionaires" are against it.

"I do not question the right of the American Legion to take this action," he said, "but I resent the charge of general drunkenness. That charge is not justified by facts. I deny that prohibition has corrupted American youth. I have seen drinking from hip flasks in public places. I have dealt personally with some miserably sad cases of juvenile delinquency in which booze has figured. But God pity the man who, on such a foundation, would build a general indictment."

Dr. Poling, the subject of whose address as Give Youth a Square Deal, declared that youth may be found increasingly earnest in its support of law enforcement and its opposition to law's nullification, modification and repeal.

"I submit to you," he said finally, "that murder is not the great crime. I submit to you that finally the great crime is anarchy which abrogates all law; which violates all order; which nullifies all security. Whenever a clamoring minority can achieve its purpose on the basis of arguments generally entered for the repeal of prohibition, the Fifth Amendment with its guarantee of property rights is no more secure than the Eighteenth Amendment."

DRY CAMPAIGN COSTS $431,000

The national campaign being conducted by the Allied Forces of Prohibition, representatives of which are in Fort Worth for a two-day series of prohibition rallies, will cost exactly $431,000, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, speaking chairman, told 300 men at luncheon at First Methodist Church yesterday.

The national drive to mobilize support for the Eighteenth Amendment began last June with a $431,000 budget itemized to the finest detail, Dr. Poling said. Money was borrowed to begin the work, he said, but contributions have been generous in all the cities where Allied Campaigners have conducted rallies.

Contributions to the budget fund were solicited at each of the rallies here yesterday. A similar plan will be followed today. Envelopes serving a dual purpose of pledge cards and blank checks were passed to each plate at the luncheon. Envelopes will remain sealed until a bonded representative of the Allied Campaigners meets with the Fort Worth committee some time tonight for an auditing, Dr. Poling said.

The drive, begun last June, will be concluded in June this year, just before opening of the Republican and Democratic national conventions. Expenses for the one year have included publication of a monthly magazine, advertising, dissemination of newspaper propaganda, radio addresses and the speaking tours, Dr. Poling explained. Those who contributed as much as $10 to the cause yesterday were given a subscription to the Allied Forces, the prohibition periodical.

The largest single contribution to the fund came from a woman in Virginia who gave $4,000, Dr. Poling told the group yesterday.

WET TRAFFIC IS DECRIED BY SPEAKERS

Nullification of Dry Law Is Denounced; Allied Forces to End Meetings Today.

Prohibition enforcement can be organized until commercial liquor traffic in the United States is dead, Col. Raymond Robins, Chicago, speaker for the Allied Forces for Prohibition, told a large audience at Central High School auditorium last night.

His address and that of Miss Norma C. Brown, secretary of the Allied Forces, closed yesterday's series of prohibition rallies. The Allied Campaigners will end their meetings here today.

Colonel Robins was introduced by Miss Grace Richardson, Y. W. C. A. secretary. Marvin H. Brown Sr. presided. Rev. S. H. Frazier opened the meeting with an invocation.

Colonel Robins told his audience that when a person declares a majority of this Nation's people is opposed to the American policy of prohibition but helpless because of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution he either is ignorant or untruthful. He asserted that the liquor traffic has been a "nullifying, violating and criminally selfish interest, trying to break down the Constitution and the public law of the land" and that the claim is now made that the Eighteenth Amendment should be repealed because it can not be enforced.

Nullification first appeared, he said, in an attempt to void the federal excise law known historically as Shay's Whisky Rebellion in Pennsylvania during Washington administration.

Robins asserted the first president set forth the true American constitutional doctrine when he declared in his farewell address: "The Constitution which at any time exists until changed by the authentic and explicit act of the whole people is sacredly obligatory upon all."

Being wiser than most historical political leaders, Robins continued, the founding fathers of this country provided a means for legal amendment of the Constitution so that it would meet altered economic, social and moral conditions.

The fact that the Constitution is the "people's law" and that it provides orderly and legal change and amendment "makes nullification and revolution always wrong in the United States," he said.

Selective Anarchy Described.

The speaker described as selective anarchy any choice of one portion of the Constitution for obedience and rejection of other portions.

President Lincoln, Robins asserted, denounced the policy of nullification when the question of enforcement of the fugitive slave law arose.

"What shall we say, my friends, of those in high places and low who sneer at the Eighteenth Amendment, violate and encourage nullification of the Constitution because of personal habit or custom, or ideas of States' rights, police power of sumptuary legislation, when Lincoln, who was giving his life to overthrow the institution of human slavery, upheld the integrity of the Constitution even when it seemed to run counter to the priceless freedom of the human soul?"

It has been said, the speaker stated, that the Eighteenth Amendment is responsible for the wave of crime and violence which has swept this country for the last eight years. He agreed that such a crime wave existed, but denied that the dry law was the cause of it. He laid the blame upon the war and its aftermath. "Every great war," he said, "has been followed by a wave of crime and violence."

The mass support behind this Government, however, the speaker asserted, is better than that behind the government of any other great country.

"Cowardly secession" was applied to the practice of persons who choose to obey some portions of the Constitution and not obey others.

He referred to the "arrogant group at the top and the criminal group at the bottom" which "dominate the wet than prohibition, but we must have faith in America. We must be a sober Nation to consider our problems."

"Prohibition is liberty with law," the speaker said. The speakeasy and racketeer are not products, he said, of prohibition, but merely have been uncovered by it. In support of his statement, Dr. Poling read a newspaper clipping in which it was reported the words "speakeasy" and "bootlegger" were in the language as far back as 1886. They were born in license, he averred.

Statistics Quoted.

Statistics which reported 25,000 licensed liquor retailers in New York City in 1916 and 6,299 illicit establishments or speakeasies existing in that year were quoted by the speaker. He said the greatest threat to the Canadian plan of governmental control of the distribution of liquor was illicit manufacture and sale.

"Prohibition does not prohibit because it is a mandatory law," Dr. Poling said, "A mandatory law must be enforced. Prohibition is the great American adventure. See it through."

"Repeal," he said, "is not the way out. The way out is the American way of forward march. Let us finish the work we are doing."

In condemnation of the "beer to bring back prosperity" plan, Dr. Poling asserted "no nation ever yet drank itself prosperous." He said that in the event the manufacture of beer was legalized it would create less than 500,000 jobs for the unemployed. Such a measure would also jeopardize the jobs of 400,000 persons now employed in soda fountains and soft drink establishments, he stated.

Says Poll Partial.

In reference to the Literary Digest poll, the speaker asserted his belief in the honesty of the vote, but said it represented maximum wet and minimum dry votes.

The speaker's statement, "prohibition has not corrupted young people because young people are not corrupted," was the signal for vigorous applause.

"Stop slandering our young people," he continued. "I would rather have my association with young people than be President. Young people are giving a greater return than our investment in them justifies, and were never more responsive to the call to sacrifice for ideals than today."

The issue of the corruption of youth by prohibition was characterized by the speaker as "offering young people upon the alter of repeal."

Discusses Wet Plan.

In a brief statement in introducing Colonel Stewart, Dr. Elliott declared that intemperance "is unsound from an economic point of view and our great leaders can not sit complacently by while prohibition is being undermined.

Colonel Stewart said the "wet" plan was not for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment but for the breaking down of the law supporting it.

"If the liquor traffic comes back, it comes back over the wreck and ruin of the Constitution. We are trying to re-enroll and bring back into the firing line men and women who believe in the amendment," he said.

Applause frequently halted both speakers.

Dr. James K. Thompson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, offered the invocation, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. C. O. Shugart, pastor of Central Methodist Church.

Envelopes for contributions to the campaign fund and pledge cards were distributed throughout the audience by Girl Reserves.

A committee to carry on the work of the campaign here was selected. It includes J. W. Stitt, chairman; J. B. Baker, Grover C. Cole, Fred B. Porter, A. E. Chambers, Edward L. Bean and Patrick Henry Jr.

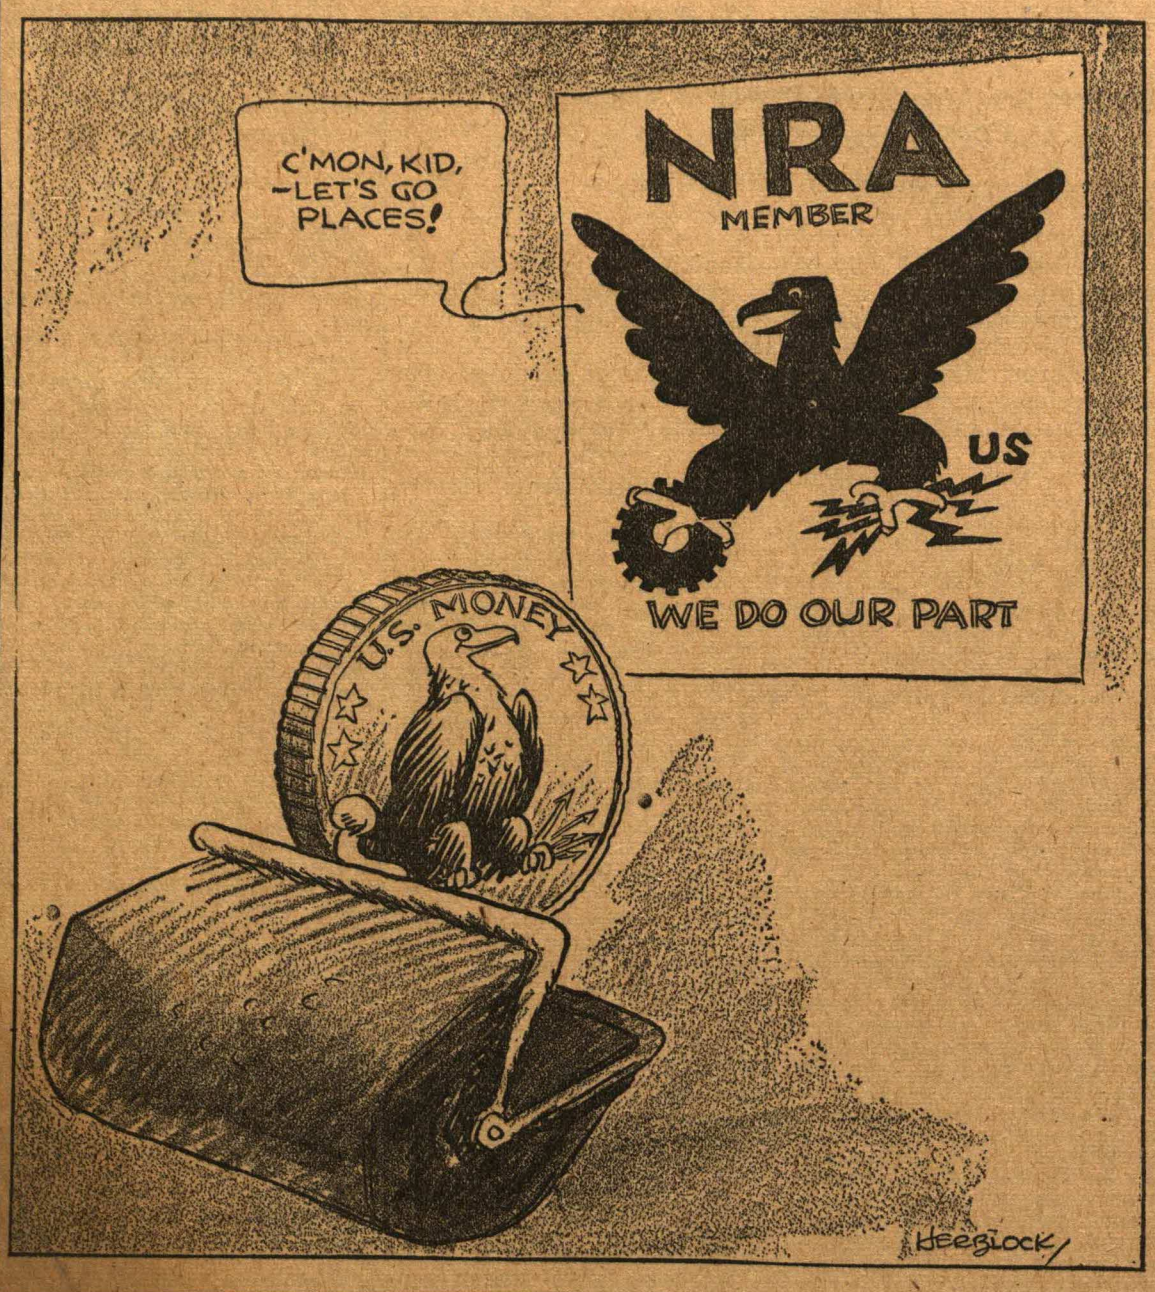
Leaves for Tulsa.

Dr. Poling spoke yesterday in Denton and left here last night for Tulsa.

Dr. Landrith made an urgent appeal to the women to vote in addressing the afternoon meeting at Central High School Auditorium. He was introduced by W. D. Smith.

Declaring men had created prohibition before women had a vote, Dr. Landrith placed the responsibility of keeping it on the women. "When a bad woman can vote, every good woman should vote," Dr. Landrith said.

Eagle Calling To Its Mate



Says Real Point Missed in President's Speech

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Editor, The Press:

JUST a few minutes ago I finished listening to the President's radio address. It was beyond doubt a masterpiece, and received its well deserved applause and approbation. At last we apparently have a President who will come out frankly to the people who elected him and tell them the truth.

In fact, at the conclusion of his speech, I remarked to a gentleman seated next to me that it was a wonderful speech. And he enthusiastically replied, "Yes, and he sure spoke the truth." Yes, and more truth than was recognized by perhaps more than 1 per cent of his listeners. Not the 1 per cent recognized the true key to the whole true speech.

The greatest truth he spoke was spoken very early in his speech. It was that the first important thing he did was to firmly establish the credit of the United States and that such firm establishment of United States credit was the very base of the national recovery program. That was truth, and very important truth, to those who can realize the truth in it.

[illegible] to point [illegible] til after June 12. And to those who can see it by now, they began to emerge to view on that date. And the President practically spilled the whole kettle of beans tonight in his reference to establishment of U. S. credit.

To whom was that gold and gold-backed currency called in? To the United States treasury, as people supposed? Of course not. It was called into the Federal Reserve Bank system which, contrary to the belief and understanding of the people in general, is not even a United States government institution.

But that gold movement and going off the gold standard by surprise, established the credit of the United States (with whom?) sufficiently to be the very basis of the National Recovery program. And the people are asked to cooperate in rebuilding the beautiful structure of national prosperity on the same false foundation so the same creditors can cash in again at their pleasure and pocket their profit.

Yes, it was a masterful speech, and true!

Urges End of Market Speculation.

Editor, The Press:

"The ceiling is no longer the limit."

Such the notice hung up in the Chicago Pit by the leading gamblers in the nation's food stuffs. You see, the gambling had become too dangerous and was creating too strong a stench, so strong that it might provoke an administration actually for government of, by and for the people to impose law prohibiting transactions in which there was not actual transfer of the foodstuffs, and even of stock certificates representing merely the tools of the game, and do the ivory or celluloid chips in poker.

What sense in Mr. Roosevelt's vastly increasing the taxation of all of us and paying rental to raisers of foodstuffs for their idle acreage in order to raise farm prices, when the Pit controls the prices? The Pit sees the point.

Posibly the Pit suspects that, before he will permit the gamblers to ruin his costly endeavors to get more money into the hands of our 40,000,000 of agricultural folks, President Roosevelt will demand just that prohibitory law referred to above. The temptation for him to so act must be strong, especially since the gamblers themselves announce that the play with the food raiser's prices has been too high and risky.

At present the Pit's reform movement has got as far as limitation of the fluctuations in grain prices in any one day to five cents for wheat, and other grains in proportion. The little suckers can still do their gambling and the big pools can still creel their suckers. But, more reasonably, fellow citizens, more reasonably! Not so suddenly for those who must buy food.

Maybe President Roosevelt will yet have the Chicago Pit and that New York Exchange hell-hole working under code regulations. He will find all of his great recovery plans much easier to make work, should he wipe out speculations in margins altogether. The grain and stock gambling produces nothing and may wreck everything.

We can not bet our way out of the depression.

By M. E. TRACY

THE object of our recovery program is to help business thru the stabilization of prices, wages and values on a steadily ascending scale. This does not square with the wild, illogical, uncontrolled orgy of gambling that has taken place in the stock market.

Any man can ruin his credit and reputation by playing poker. The same thing is true with respect to our largest commercial and financial interests.

Marginal trading in stock has little to do with the promotion of industry. It does not provide capital for legitimate enterprises, increase earning power, or create confidence. On the other hand, it diverts credit and breeds a dangerous frame of mind.

We have no time to waste on gambling. Our business executives have all they can work up, without knocking off to watch the ticker. The processes of readjustment will lead to enough fluctuation without the demoralizing effect of unintelligent betting.

CONTROL of our great stock and grain exchanges is more essential than control of our manufacturing establishments. They stand forth as monuments to the anarchy of unrestrained freedom. The sweat shop competition, about which we have talked so much, is insignificant compared to their disrupting influence.

We can not hope to make substantial, dependable progress so long as our credit system is exposed to the raids of speculation. Such a set-up is irreconcilable with the purpose we are trying to achieve. The nonsense of tolerating any system by which the value of securities can be changed four or five per cent in an hour should be apparent. So should its effects on the public mind.

Whether measures can be devised to hold such trading within reasonable limits is doubtful. If they can not, we have no choice but to close exchanges until such time as our more important securities have been stabilized.

WHAT have the six or eight million share days to do with the progress of legitimate business? What do they represent except the vagaries of three-card monte or a roulette wheel?

But, and this is the important point, they involve the resources of a nation in trouble by diverting capital and restricting credit, by creating a false sense of value and destroying confidence.

We can not bet our way out of depression, can not make earning power from paper profits, can not create wealth by swapping shares of stock.

This Is Life

HELLO, and howdy-do!

For instance: "I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be TRUE. I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live up to the LIGHT I have. I must stand with anybody that stands RIGHT, stand with him while he is RIGHT . . . and part with him when he goes WRONG."

The above is credited to Abraham Lincoln, and I think it fine. But, as I have seen something of the 'Raw Side' of life, and know how doggone lonely a guy feels (sometimes) when he goes 'WRONG,' I am not willing to absolutely 'kiss him goodby,' when he busts into a bad mess, I have a 'yen' to sorter stick around . . . in case he might need me.

Returning to an Old Set of Values

By C. L. DOUGLAS

YOU won't find upon his wall the sheepskin of a great university, and you won't find him signing after his name the letters used by the doctors of philosophy to denote special knowledge in the wherefores and reasons for human behavior, but many a college professor could learn a lot from this tall business man whose speech still rings with the musical twang of Northern Ireland.

He has a philosophy such as few men are endowed with; only he wouldn't call it that, I'm sure. He would prefer to term it merely common sense.

I always like to drop in at this man's place of business, and even if we talk of just the little, inconsequential things that happen day by day I always come away feeling better for having made the visit.

He has a way about him — a way of juggling issues in the air, turning them over, analyzing them thoroly, and then setting them back again in their rightful places.

WE were talking the other day about the National Recovery Act and the far-reaching changes it was likely to bring about in the social and the economic setup.

He looked out thru the window as tho he could see the fundamentals of the entire plan written somewhere in the hot air above the street. And then:

"The whole thing is impractical," he said. "You can read the act and see that. It's too big, too stupendous to work out successfully, but," he smiled his slow smile and diverted his gaze from the street, "it's going to, and that's the strange part about it all.

"And I'll tell you why," he went on. "It's going to work, not because it is based on economically sound theory, but because it will serve to bring people closer together in a united effort to accomplish some purpose."

THREE or four years ago, he pointed out, people thought in terms of thousands and even hundreds of thousands of dollars; they were riding the crest.

"But now," he said, "most of those same people are thinking in terms of nickels, dimes and quarters . . . and wondering where next month's rent is coming from. People are beginning to find the real values in life, and I mean by that the right to live in peace, happiness and security on moderate means rather than in the uncertainty that comes of the mad scramble to accumulate wealth. And toward that end I believe the N. R. A. will do a lot . . . in stabilizing American life, and in teaching the real values of living."

Douglas

The other day, he said, a customer was lamenting to him the loss of a fortune during the depression. "And the only thing I said," smiled my friend, "was this: 'What did you want with so much money?' Then I told him the story of my father and my uncle.

"IT was years ago, long before I left Ireland," said my friend, "and my uncle, an engineer, had come home from the states on a visit. The night before he left he called my father aside and I chanced to overhear the conversation.

"'Charles,' said my uncle, 'this will be my last visit home; the doctors give me but six months to live.' My father didn't say anything; there followed one of those deep silences that mean so much. And then my uncle spoke again. "I have a lot of money, Charles, a great deal of money.' He hesitated, then added: 'You can have it if you want it.'

"Again my father made no comment. He merely sucked on his pipe and looked out into the moonlight. Then, after long thought, he said: 'John, I've seen many legacies in my day, and I've concluded wealth is a very small thing in life. I hope you will give your money to others . . . my family and I don't want it.' And that was all. Uncle John never returned. Where his fortune went I do not know . . . but I think I gained more from that conversation in the moonlight than I could have from all the legacy."

Nearly 600 Fort Worth employers had secured their "Blue Eagles" at the postoffice today.

The restaurant men adopted 10 points drawn up at yesterday's meeting. Employers will insist that their employes patronize only stores displaying the blue eagle of recovery.

A grievance committee was appointed by the restaurant association president, Ed Winn. On the committee are Tom Smith, Peter Kolius, Ed Bueling, M. Coleman, W. H. Little, Frank Winters, Earl Smith, M. A. Mercer, Estel Davids and J. C. Smith.

Clyde Eastus, United States District Attorney, spoke at the session.

Worth Mills, completing its first week of operation under the textile code, issued its first pay increases yesterday. Employes who have been receiving $9 for a 60-hour week received $12 for 40 hours, the management announced.

Sheet metal workers, meeting last night at 506 1-2 Main Street, voted to patronize only firms which display the Blue Eagle. The union gave non-union workers an invitation to join.

Ten per cent more men will go to work in Fort Worth printing shops next Tuesday, according to an estimate made by Claud Cross, president of the Graphic Arts Association, after members of that group wired President Roosevelt that they were 100 per cent behind the N. R. A. A committee, made up of Oscar Turner, Al Paxton, M. L. McCain, Fred Grant and W. W. Blackmon, was appointed to interpret and direct operation of the code locally.

The Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Union met at the Labor Temple last night to discuss the proposed labor mass meeting scheduled for Marine Park Monday night.

Fort Worth auto storage men met last night and agreed to embrace the N. R. A. plan.

Laundry officials, after a lengthy meeting at the Natatorium Laundry yesterday, delayed until Monday announcement of the local hour and wage plan they will put into effect. The meeting was called by James A. Johnson, head of the Natatorium.

The Rotary Club luncheon at the Texas yesterday turned on the Recovery Act theme with funeral rites and burial being given for "George U. Do-It."

Purpose of the affair was explained by Adams Vera, program director, who said:

"Now that George is dead and buried, Rotarians in the future, when they are called upon to do something, can't say 'Let George do it.' President Roosevelt has decreed that we do our own work."

The funeral was conducted in real style. "George," played by Bill Townsend, was carried down the aisle in a casket to the tune of "A Hot Time In the Old Town Tonight," and the rites were said by Rev. J. K. Thompson of the First Presbyterian Church.

C. Y. Crampton, of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, was speaker following the mock funeral. He stressed the importance of merchants having a Blue Eagle in their windows, warning that failure to do so means that the merchant is advertising that he does not care to stay in business after August 1.

Merchants who have not yet received blank certificates of compliance, necessary to obtain the N. R. A. Blue Eagles, may obtain them by visiting the postoffice, Assistant Postmaster James Rowland said today.

Blanket N.R.A. Agreement Bans Higher Wage Slashes

Workers Receiving Pay in Excess of Minimum Set Should Also Get Raises Under Readjustment Plan, Recovery Board Rules

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Inquiries to the National Recovery Administration regarding specific provisions of President Roosevelt's voluntary re-employment agreements were answered today by official interpretations.

Interpretation No. 1 concerned wages of employes who are receiving more than the minimum wages provided in the blanket agreements. Section 7, relating to this, binds the employer:

"Not to reduce the compensation for employment now in excess of the minimum wages hereby agreed to (notwithstanding that the hours worked in such employment may be hereby reduced) and to increase the pay for such employment by an equitable readjustment of all pay schedules."

No Pay Reductions.

The official interpretation follows:

"Paragraph 7 means, first, that compensation of employes above the minimum wage group (whether now fixed by the hour, day, week, or otherwise) shall not be reduced, either to compensate the employer for increases that he may be required to make in the minimum wage group in order to comply with the agreement, or to turn this reemployment agreement into a mere share-the-work movement without a resulting increase of total purchasing power. This first provision of paragraph 7 is a general statement of what shall not be done.

"The rest of this program is a particular statement of what shall be done, which is that rates of pay for employes above the minimum wage group shall be increased by "equitable readjustments." No hard and fast rule can be laid down for such readjustments, because the variations in rates of pay and hours of work would make the applications of any formula unjust in thousands of cases. We present, however, the following examples of the need for and methods of such readjustments:

Two Examples.

"Example 1. Employes now working 40 hours per week in factories. When hours are reduced to 35, the present rate per hour if increased one-seventh would provide the same compensation for a normal week's work as before.

"Example 2. Employes now working 60 hours per week in factories. When hours are reduced to 35, a rate per hour if increased one-seventh might be insufficient to provide proper compensation. But, to increase the rate by five-sevenths, in order to provide the same compensation for 35 hours as previously earned in 60, might impose an inequitable burden on the employer. The 60-hour week might have been in effect because of a rush of business, altho a 40-hour week might have been normal practice at the same hourly wage. Seasonal or temporary increases in hours now in effect, or recent increases in wages, are proper factors to be taken into consideration in making equitable readjustments.

Equitable Readjustment.

"The policy governing the readjustment of wages of all employers in what may be termed the higher wage groups requires, not a fixed role, but "equitable readjustment" in view of long standing differentials in pay schedules; with due regard for the fact that payrolls are being heavily increased, and that employes will receive benefits from shorter hours, from the re-employment of other workers, and from stabilized employment which may increase their yearly earnings.

"The foregoing examples indicate the necessity of dealing with this problem of 'equitable readjustment' of the higher rates of pay, on the basis of consideration of the varying circumstances and conditions of the thousands of enterprises and employments involved. Any attempt to define a national standard would be productive of widespread injustice. The National Recovery Administration will, thru local agencies, observe carefully the manner in which employers comply with their agreement to make 'equitable readjustments,' and will take from time to time and announce from Washington such action as may be necessary to correct clear cases of unfairness and to aid conscientious employers in carrying out in good faith the terms of the agreement.

Opportunity for Survey.

"When an employer signs an agreement and certifies his compliance and also joins in the submission of a code of fair competition before September 1, 1933, his determination of what are 'equitable readjustments' should be accepted, at least prior to September 1, as a prima facie compliance with his agreement, pending action by N. R. A. upon the code submitted, or any other action by N. R. A. taken to insure proper interpretations or applications of agreements. This will afford N. R. A. an opportunity to survey the general results of the re-employment program and to iron out difficulties and misunderstandings over agreements that are of a substantial character."

Interpretation No. 2 concerned Paragraph 14, which reads:

"It is agreed that any person who wishes to do his part in the President's re-employment drive by signing this agreement, but who asserts that some particular provision hereof, because of peculiar circumstances, will create great and unavoidable hardship, may obtain the benefits thereof by signing this agreement and putting it into effect and then, in a petition approved by a representative trade association of his industry, or other representative organization designated by N. R. A, may apply for a stay of such provision pending a summary investigation by N. R. A., if he agrees in such application to abide by the decision of such investigation."

Provides for Stay.

The interpretation follows:

"A person who believes that some particular provision in the agreement, because of peculiar circumstances, will create great and unavoidable hardship, should prepare a petition to N. R. A. asking for a stay of this provision as to him. He should then submit this petition to the trade association of his industry, or if there is none, to the local chamber of commerce or similar representative organization, designed by the N. R. A. for its approval. The written approval of the trade association, or such other organization, will be accepted by N. R. A. as the basis for a temporary stay, without further investigation, pending decision by the N. R. A. The petition must contain a promise to abide by N. R. A.'s decision, so that if N. R. A. decides against the petitioner, he must give effect to the provision which was stayed, from the date of the decision of N. R. A.

"The petition and approval of the trade association or other organization, as prescribed above, should be forwarded to N. R. A. in Washington; and the employer's signed copy of the President's re-employment agreement should be sent to the district office of the Department of Commerce. After complying with these requirements the employer will be entitled to receive and display the Blue Eagle by delivering his certificate of compliance to his post office.

In Case of Hardships.

Paragraph 14 is not intended to provide for group exceptions, but only to meet cases of individual hardship."

Interpretation No. 3 concerned the date of compliance with the President's agreement. It read:

"It is expected that all employers desiring to cooperate with the President's recovery program will sign the agreements promptly and mail them in. It is recognized, however, that it will be physically impossible in many instances to adjust employment conditions and to hire the necessary additional personnel in order to comply with the agreement on August 1. For that reason provision has been made for issuing the Blue Eagle only upon the filing of a certificate of compliance. It should be possible in most cases to make the necessary adjustments and file a certificate of compliance within the first week of August, and such action, taken as promptly as possible, will be regarded as carrying out the agreement in good faith."

Interpretation No. 4 concerned Paragraph 13, which reads:

Code Takes Its Place.

"This agreement shall cease upon approval by the President of a code to which the undersigned is subject; or, if the N. R. A. so elects, upon submission of a code to which the undersigned is subject and substitution of any of its provisions for any of the terms of this agreement."

The interpretation follows:

"All employes are expected to sign the agreement, whether codes have been submitted to the N. R. A. or not (unless such codes have already been approved); but after the President has approved a code, or after the N. R. A. has approved of the substitution of the provisions of a code for agreements in the trade or industry covered, conformity with the code provisions by an employer will be regarded as compliance with his individual agreement."

Interpretation No. 5, concerned Paragraph 9, which pledges the employer:

Regarding Prices.

"Not to increase the price of any merchandise sold after the date hereof over the price on July 1, 1933, by more than is made necessary by actual increases in production, replacement, or invoice costs of merchandise, or by taxes or other costs resulting from action taken pursuant to the agricultural adjustment act, since July 1, 1933, and, in setting such price increases, to give full weight to probable increases in sales volume and to refrain from taking profiteering advantage of the consuming public."

The interpretation reads:

"Where the July 1, 1933 price was a distress price, the employer signing the agreement may take his cost price on that date as the base for such increase in selling price as is permitted by Paragraph 9."

Interpretation No. 6 concerning employments covered by agreement follows:

"The following groups of employment are not intended to be covered by the President's reemployment agreement:

"1. Professional occupations.

"2. Employes of federal, state and local governments and other public institutions and agencies.

3. Agricultural labor.

"4. Domestic servants.

"5. Persons buying goods and selling them independently or persons selling solely on commission, provided however, that persons regularly employed to sell on commission, with a base salary or guaranteed compensation, come within the requirements of the agreement."

FAIL TO AGREE ON WORK HOURS

Merchants Argue Over Time Stores Should Be Closed Here

Merchants today still were in disagreement over hours for opening and closing their doors under the Recovery Act setup here.

At a meeting of the Retail Merchants Association yesterday strong arguments were presented for 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. business hours, but on a vote the hours of 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. carried by a small majority.

Lengthy discussion followed and finally a motion was made and unanimously carried to the effect that the group meeting would be unanimous in approval of the 9-6 plan (54 hours) IF Leonard Brothers would agree to it. Leonard Brothers intends to stand by its present hours of 7 to 7 on week days and 7 to 10 on Saturdays.

Say Long Hours Aid Jobs

Officials of Leonard Brothers, who had no representative at the Retail Merchants' meeting, today issued a statement in which they said that they were in full accord with the President's plan and were displaying the Blue Eagle, but that they believed that the longer hours they propose to stay open would be more in keeping with the N. R. A. plan because much more additional employment would result.

Citing the 40-hour working schedule for employes the store officials said:

"If we reduced our store hours to any such extent as was urged in the resolution adopted by the Retail Merchants, the result would not only be that we would inconvenience a great many of our customers . . . but would result in our employing very, very few additional people, for the reason that so many already work in shifts. Our store hours, therefore, are not changed.

To Work on Shifts

"We will hire additional people and work in shifts.

"Reducing store hours radically would reduce the number of extra people employed and would not be in line with the spirit of the code. Perhaps that's the reason for the code provision for not less than 52 store hours per week.

"Our employees have already received notice of their new hours effective August 1, and we are working day and night on a schedule for each department, in order to work the matter out with the least possible confusion.

"We realize that many other stores have their own peculiarities, just as our store has its peculiarities.

"We certainly do not intend to criticize either the motives or actions of those who feel that their store hours should be shortened. We are merely explaining our position. Their resolution using our name might leave some of our friends and customers under the wrong impression."

Three speakers of the House of Representatives during the past 33 years graduated from the same law college, Cannon, Clark and Longworth.

A man who stays away from the polls because of a day's wages is selling his vote for the day's wages, and the woman who stays away from the polls because she fears her bread will burn, is selling her vote for a loaf of bread."

Referring to the 100-year fight for prohibition, Dr. Landrith declared that in 1826 the American Temperance Association published an appeal to stop drinking.

"Just 100 years ago no one said a word against drinking," he said. "Preachers drank like fish. But we have converted public opinion. Now no church would stand for a preacher drinking.

"It took us 100 years to get prohibition and it will take the wets a million years to get us back to where we were before we got it.

"You women know what to do with wet things, you hang them out to dry. That is what to do with wet politicians."

Denounces Newspapers.

Newspapers were denounced by Dr. Landrith, who urged them to become "newspapers and not booze papers." This remark evoked the loudest applause of the afternoon meeting.

Declaring that 13 States can block the repeal of prohibition, Dr. Landrith pointed out that there are 16 States in the South. "It is a lot easier to stay in than it was to get in," he said, explaining that it took a vote of two-thirds of the States to bring about prohibition and that it only will take one-third to block its repeal.

"I am a Democrat, but not a straight Democrat, because I am a straight man," Dr. Landrith said. "One party is as good as another. You never can improve a party without getting out of it."

$12,000 FOR CITY WELFARE TO BE SOUGHT

Council May Borrow Money To Match $2,000 Monthly Pledged by Chest

FREE LUNCHES GIVEN

Current Welfare Budget to Be Exhausted April 1; $6,000 Remains

Mayor William Bryce Wednesday will ask City Council whether it will appropriate $12,000 more to the city's dwindling welfare relief fund, to match a similar amount the Community Chest will give, he said today.

This appropriation is necessary if the department continues its work thru the fiscal year, ending Sept. 30, Mayor Bryce explained.

The Chest executive committee yesterday voted to give the city $2,000 each month for six months from its emergency welfare fund.

The money will be used to provide groceries for the city's jobless thru the remainder of the fiscal year.

The Chest committee also announced it would furnish free lunches to all school children above the 500 now cared for by the school system.

"This offer is made entirely independent of private sources," Dr. Henry G. Bowden, Chest director, said.

$6,000 Remains

The $6,000 remaining in the city welfare budget will be exhausted April 1, with the fiscal year only half finished, L. L. Manchester, in charge of city relief, said.

Chest officials agreed to give the $12,000 after City Manager George D. Fairtrace had asked for $24,000.

Mayor Bryce said the city must provide an additional $12,000 if welfare needs are to be taken care of. The money probably will be borrowed.

The city welfare department last year disbursed $12,980 in March, $9,246 in April, $6,150 in May, $4,374 in June, $4,378 in July, $4,409 in August and $3,194 in September.

Boy Club Logic.

THE DIRECTOR of field work for the Boys Clubs of America, Mr. Alexander Campbell, told the Panther Boys Club of Fort Worth Friday that "idle hands are worse than idle brains" and proved his assertion by a report of the immigration authorities to the effect that aliens who find work to do with their hands are never found among the lists of those slated for deportation.

There are two excellent authorities for the logic and both of them are maxims of ancient origin.

"An idle mind is the Devil's workship," says one.

"The Devil finds work for idle hands to do," is the other.

They seem to cover the situation very nicely.

If one chooses to remove the direct influence of His Satanic Majesty the situation presents a parallel importance in the matter of cause and effect. Accomplishment is the urge of Civilization. To accomplish there must be an effort which will disclose a result at completion. Idle minds will not show such a product. Idle hands are the weapons of idle brains exactly as busy ones are the tools of active mentalities.

Adolescence may do very well on maxims but the greatest need is example. There is little profit in platitudes by word of mouth in the direction of a youth who, with wide eyes, is watching the actions which belie the pat phraseology.

That is adulthood's greatest obligation to adolescence—and the weakest link in the chain of racial progress.

Youths do not see their natural examples working with brains and hands nearly so much as they see them striving to "get by."

Boys clubs are organized for a very excellent line of endeavor among "under-privileged boys."

The wonder sometimes arises if the term is not slightly ambiguous. Aren't they, instead, "over-privileged" to see and understand too much of the "spread" between the ideals of precept and the illustrations that daily pass, moving-picture-like, before them in the business and social kaleidoscope that is both their entertainment and their routines of existence?

When boy club logic is employed the pity always remains that it should be so concentrated on that element which needs only example for guidance.

OAK CLIFF WRESTLERS DEFEAT Y. M. C. A. TEAM

By winning four of the six matches the Oak Cliff Y. M. C. A. wrestling team defeated the Fort Worth Y. team in a tournament Tuesday night. Julian Christian and Ed Shaw were the Fort Worth winners.

A. A. Lund, Armour & Co. general manager, was elected a member of the Chest executive committee to fill the place of the late John W. Floore.

Full Resolution

The resolution, authorizing the payment of funds to the city welfare department, follows:

"Whereas, the city manager of Fort Worth has brought to the attention of the executive committee of the Fort Worth Community Chest that the amount budgeted to the welfare department of the city for the handling of cases resulting from unemployment is about to become depleted, and that this work will require additional funds if the work is to be continued until the end of the fiscal year, Sept. 30, 1932:

"Therefore be it resolved, that for the purpose of aiding in the relief of the families of the unemployed of the city of Fort Worth, the executive director of the Fort Worth Community Chest is hereby authorized to disburse out of the emergency welfare fund of the Community Chest thru the city welfare department a sum not in excess of $2,000.00 per month as long as there are available funds in said account, payable on the 10th of the months of April, May, June, July, August and September.

"This particular fund is to be used to aid in the welfare relief work of the city of Fort Worth. Accredited accounts and case records shall accompany the monthly requisitions; the money to be used only to pay the bills for relief of the unemployed and no part thereof shall be expended for salaries. The amount of money here provided shall be under the control and be accounted for by City Manager George D. Fairtrace."

MINISTERS TO PRESENT RELIEF PLAN

175 to Explain Emergency Employment Move Sunday to Congregations in City.

One hundred and seventy-five Fort Worth ministers will present the emergency employment plan to Sunday schools and congregations tomorrow.

"We pledge our hearty support and co-operation," declared a resolution introduced by Rev. S. A. Ashburn and unanimously adopted at a meeting of the General Ministers' Association at First Christian Church yesterday afternoon.

Walter B. Scott, general chairman of the campaign committee, presented the matter to the ministers.

Since not all members of the association were present, Scott issued a plea last night that every minister make a personal appeal to his congregation and to his Sunday school.

"It has been shown by investigation that over 7,000 persons in Fort Worth are out of employment, and that of this number 3,000 are out of cash, have no credit and are practically destitute," Scott said. "There are 6,100 families being cared for by the welfare agencies. It is the purpose of the emergency employment committee to relieve these conditions as much as possible.

"Too much stress can not be laid on the necessity—it is very apparent. C. W. Woodman, director of the United States Employment Bureau, and Henry G. Bowden, Community Chest executive director, report a crisis confronts our citizenship. You have but to walk on the streets of Fort Worth and hear the appeals for something to eat by good men, who ask only a chance to work to support themselves and families," Scott said.

Details of the plan, it is hoped by Scott, will be explained by the ministers. A citywide canvass will be conducted seeking pledges from the citizens to make improvements to their stores, factories and homes and to make purchases they have been deferring.

There is a central office for registration of the unemployed, and they will be investigated, classified and given certificates as to qualification, Scott explained.

Rev. Amos T. Lundquist, vice president, presided over yesterday's meeting of the association.

14 GIVEN JOBS, LEAGUE IS TOLD

Fourteen men were provided with employment the past week through efforts of the Job Finders League, members were told last night at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Plans for a larger attendance next Thursday night were made, each one present promising to bring others.

Great impetus will be given to providing work through the campaign soon to be started by the emergency employment committee, said A. D. Roach, principal of Diamond Hill School.

Other depressions have been witnessed by this Nation and they have been overcome, and the present condition gradually will disappear, he declared. Loyalty to this Government as the best in the world was urged and the oppression of communism in Russia was pictured by the speaker.

Determination to put forth one's best efforts each day was stressed by Charles Thompson, who spoke on Salesmanship. He related an experience when he failed to make a sale to a bank president. He happened to notice the pictures of two bird dogs in the banker's office, went to the library and for two days studied about bird dogs. When he returned and directed the conversation into that channel, the executive's interest was aroused and the sale was made.

"Remember that every prospect, whether he is President of the United States or the humblest laborer, is a human being; he has his hobbies and if you will study the approach, know your product, believe in your company and yourself, he can be sold," Thompson said.

John Reagan presided. Julian C. Hyer will speak next Thursday night.

The Chest to the Rescue

CITY MANAGER FAIRTRACE showed considerable ingenuity when he checked up an empty city welfare department budget to the Community Chest. Said Fairtrace in effect: "Our funds will be exhausted April 10. The city has no means of replenishing the fund until the beginning of the next fiscal year Sept. 30. You (the Community Chest) must give us enough from your emergency fund to operate on or else we must get the money from the only source available—further cutting in city employe salaries."

The Chest could do nothing else but meet ae request and has appropriated $2,000 a onth toward this relief. The value of the hest to Fort Worth thus is emphasized. It is "life-saver" in these times of stress. The hest has its critics. That criticism may be onscientious. But it is misdirected. Only ose closely related with its operation can ealize the vast amount of charity work performed.

We occasionally receive complaints to the ffect that those in dire need have been rned away by this or that agency affiliated ith the Chest. Perhaps a mistake is someimes made.

But the demand is so intense great care ust be taken in dealing out relief so that the oney will hold out. Most of the complaints e have checked on were not well founded.

The Chest also has agreed to furnish the nds needed for lunches of needy school chilen. Your Chest dollar is doing a wonderful b. It will continue to do so if you pay your hest subscription promptly.

CHEST TO HELP OTHER AGENCIES PLACE WORKERS

Aid Offered Unemployment Group at Meeting Of Workers

Volunteer workers in the November Community Chest drive probably will meet Monday, to consider a canvass of the city in interest of unemployment relief, their general chairman, A. F. Townsend, said today.

Townsend will present plans of the Emergency Employment Committee before the workers, and ask their help in finding jobs for an estimated 7000 persons in Fort Worth. He was authorized yesterday by the chest executive committee to mobilize the general sales army and take command of the city-wide solicitation.

The figure on the number of unemployed was furnished by C. W. Woodman, U. S. Employment Service director.

To Contact Employers.

The chest campaign organization is available, its duties will consist only in making contacts with employers. After the city has been canvassed, pledge cards will be turned over to the central committee.

The Rochester plan, adopted here, calls for pledges from citizens to spend money for improvements around their premises, at homes, stores or factories, and in buying supplies, which otherwise might be deferred.

Letters Prepared.

In the meantime, Charles G. Cotten, executive secretary of the emergency committee, is preparing letters to be sent to all chest workers and subscribers, asking their full support in the movement.

"Individual responsibility of every Fort Worth citizen," was stressed today by Cotten. "If everyone will deliberately create a job for one man, the problem will be solved," he said.

Jack Rattikin, Bothwell Kane Post, American Legion, commander, addressed Rotary Club members today in interest of the campaign.

Walter B. Scott, general chairman, was to meet with Fort Worth ministers at 2 p. m. today at the First Christian Church. The pastors will be asked to make appeals from their pulpits.

Fifty public school principals yesterday pledged their support in the drive.

250,000 Found Jobs.

The national campaign, with finding work for 1,000,000 men as its goal, had passed the 250,000 mark today, according to a United Press dispatch from New York.

Since the drive began on Feb. 15, a total of 256,914 men have been put to work, the statement from national headquarters showed.

The American Legion, American Federation of Labor and the Association of National Advertisers are sponsoring the movement, under the head of the United Action organization.

The Y. M. C. A. junior cagers of Fort Worth won the unofficial state title Saturday night in Dallas by defeating the Dallas juniors 28-11. The local boys have defeated Waco, San Antonio and Dallas and while there was no organized playoff, they claim the state title.

Byrum Saam, Central High guard, was high point man for the local team Saturday night. He looped in 12 points. Mac Boring also stood out for the winners.

The Unemployment Drive

THE EMERGENCY Employment Committee is inagurating a movement in Fort Worth for the purpose of practical and systematic aid to the local unemployment situation. The immediate effort is to organize a committee of 500 business men who will canvass the property owners, factories, office buildings and homes in an attempt to record the names and addresses of all those who can find a job of work for an unemployed person. Five hundred active workers who are sold on the idea can cover the city in a short time. From the luncheon club memberships and elsewhere the Emergency Unemployment Committee hopes to organize a working force which will uncover and classify every potential job of work in the city.

The need of the moment is for volunteer workers. The committee is hopeful that responses will arrive with sufficient rapidity to permit the completion of the campaign this week.

While the official Cleanup Month is being observed, it may be declared axiomatic that 10,000 days of work can be found in the streets, alleys, back yards, warehouses, barns, garages, vacant lots and front yards of the citizenship of Fort Worth. It easily can be estimated that another 10,000 can be "discovered" in the willingness to help deserving unemployed persons to help themselves.

It is the purpose of this Emergency Committee to develop those conditions and natural urges into activity and permit as many persons out of work, as can be listed, opportunity of earning something. The difference between such an arrangement and subscriptions to and existence by charity is often the difference between self-respect and the absence of any.

There is nothing so important as the message being prepared for Fort Worth's unemployed.

"We know," it says, "that you are only seeking opportunity to earn something to aid in self-support. We are organizing to make contact between you and all the odd jobs that can be located in Fort Worth."

When the volunteer committee of 500 swings into action it is the intent of the Emergency Committee to maintain a permanent contact between the jobs and the persons filling them. The home that has an odd job to be done will explain it to the unemployed person sent by the committee and the duties and terms will be arranged between the two principals. In that manner the minimum of dissatisfaction will be assured.

The effort is a most praiseworthy one. Some measure of practical results is assured. Nearly 100 per cent is possible. It all depends on the spirit of the individual participants. Those who are sincere in wanting to help, those who earnestly seek opportunity to earn something and those who are sufficiently thrifty to take advantage of the existing conditions to make improvements are being given a chance at co-operation that should be mutually appreciated.

Volunteers are being sought for the preliminary organization work because the memberships of the various welfare committees already have put in many days of service. For this work those who have not appeared on the lists of other drives are especially solicited.

It is a community service of the highest order. The needed 500 should be forthcoming immediately so the program may get under way without delay.

Help Fort Worth's jobs and the jobless to get together at the earliest possible moment! It is the finest grade of charity that can be exhibited.

Farmer Will Retire After 49 Rail Years

Gives Up Post

John G. Farmer, general passenger agent here for the Rock Island Railroad, whose retirement will become effective May 1.

John G. Farmer sat Thursday before a glass-topped desk from which had been cleared the pile of letters, papers and memorandums that has claimed his attention each morning for 13 years as general passenger agent of the Rock Island here.

Except for a few items of personal interest, the miscellany concerned with the active management of his office was replaced by a memorandum announcing that, effective May 1, his application for retirement from the the road has been granted. That retirement will end a railroad career just one year short of the half century mark he had set for himself before ill-health intervened.

The physical condition that induced him to relinquish his duties is a result of an attack of flu he suffered about a year ago. Since that time he has been compelled to spend most of his time, by order of his physicians, in the climate of California. He and his wife will leave Fort Worth some time in April to make their home permanently at Santa Monica.

Was Water Boy.

Farmer's career as a railroad man began in 1883, when as a 13-year-old lad, he trudged wearily over the newly-placed ties to carry water to the construction crew building a new line between Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Milwaukee. The next Summer he was at the same job, but by the Fall of 1885 he had shifted to the dispatcher's office at Cedar Rapids as a messenger.

In another year he had entered the passenger department—the branch of service he has been in ever since. By 1893 he was a chief clerk, and five years later he occupied an office that had the legend general passenger agent, upon the door.

When the Rock Island took over the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern in 1902, he became the division passenger agent. During the World War period of Government control of railroads, he was transferred to Des Moines and placed in charge of the passenger department in Iowa. From that position he came to Fort Worth in 1919 as general passenger agent.

Followed Father's Footsteps.

As a boy he drifted naturally into the railroad business, for his father was station agent at West Bend, Wis., where Farmer was born on Oct. 11, 1870. The railroad tradition still holds good in the family, for Farmer's youngest son, J. G. Jr., is in the engineering department of the Pacific Electric at Los Angeles.

His other two sons failed to follow in their father's footsteps, C. R. Farmer, the eldest, is a representative of the Oil and Gas Journal at Chicago. The other, T. G. Farmer, is connected with the National Life Insurance Company at Los Angeles.

A busy railroad executive has little time for outside activities, but if Farmer has a hobby, it has been civic work. For several years he has taken part in many civic and charitable drives here. He has served as member of the board of the Union Gospel Mission, is a deacon in the Broadway Baptist Church, and is a member of the Kiwanis Club. On the wall of his office hangs a certificate of service as past president—1923—of the Lions Club.

Although he will not concede it as a hobby, he has a warm interest in art objects. On a wall of his office hangs a painting of El Capitan, on the Carlsbad Cavern Highway, by the Texas painter, Audley Dean Nichols.

Farmer was married in 1894 to Miss Jessie S. Garton at Los Angeles. Besides the three sons, they have a daughter, Mrs. Lester G. Heilman, who lives at Hermosa Beach, Cal.

BISHOP WILL BE BURIED HERE AS HE REQUESTED

An often-expressed wish will be fulfilled when R. B. Bishop, 65, who succumbed to pneumonia in New York Friday, is buried in Mount Olivet Cemetery Tuesday.

Mr. Bishop, founder of the Reynolds Mortgage Company here, and for many years active in work of the Presbyterian Church, and the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., desired that his funeral be held here and that he be buried in the family plot in Mount Olivet. Services will be held at 11 a. m. at Robertson-Mueller-Harper Funeral Temple.

Ill for many years, Mr. Bishop died suddenly at his New York home only about two years after his retirement from an active business life.

Born near Memphis, Tenn., June 26, 1866, Mr. Bishop came with his parents to Texas in 1869. They settled at Cleburne, where Mr. Bishop's father resided until his death a few years ago. When a young man Mr. Bishop went to Dallas, and later came to Fort Worth as an employe of the Land Mortgage Bank of London. He was connected with that organization about 19 years, then organized the Reynolds company, of which he was vice president and general manager for about 10 years.

In 1916 he moved to New Orleans where he organized the Investors' Mortgage Company of which he was president. Branch offices were established here and in Shreveport. He remained at the head of that company 14 years, until his retirement.

When very young, Mr. Bishop married Miss Nannie Neal, of Ennis. She died shortly afterwards. Several years later he married Miss Julia Belding of Austin. Two years after her death in 1912, he wed Miss Mary Newton Fuston in New York.

For more than a quarter of a century Mr. Bishop was a member of the Knights of Pythias Lodge. He was connected with numerous altruistic movements, and was active in the Presbyterian General Assembly. He was a member of St. Charles Avenue Presbyterian Church at New Orleans at the time of his death. Mr. Bishop also was a member of the board of governors and vice president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America. He was a former district governor of Kiwanis at New Orleans.

Survivors are his widow; four sons, W. R. and H. R. Bishop, New Orleans; J. B. Bishop, Shreveport, La.; S. L. Bishop, Panama City, and a daughter, Mrs. A. B. Purington, Tyler.

Honorary pallbearers will be Dr. J. S. Land, Dr. Roy B. Harrison, Maj. O. W. McNeese, A. J. Winter, Dr. Welch, H. Moylan Feild, Frank J. Matthew Jr., O. B. Adaptability Seen As Big Job Asset

Adaptability is the greatest asset a job seeker can have, Julien C. Hyer, former State Senator, told members of the Job Finders' League at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Hyer told of formerly wealthy people who have adapted themselves to conditions and created jobs for themselves. He advised the league members to consider what the public needs and try to be the first to sell their ideas.

A smile will help change a situation quicker than anything else, he said. He told of several men who had smiled as they asked for jobs repeatedly and finally secured them. He said he believed that any man who showed determination could finally get a job.

Eleven men will be hired by one firm as a result of the circular campaign conducted last week, Gilbert Wilson, executive board chairman, said. One other firm has agreed to take one man and another firm two, he added, on permanent jobs.

THOUSANDS ARE AIDED BY CHEST AGENCIES HERE

44,773 Served Free Meals In First Two Months Of This Year

Fort Worth's Community Chest agencies gave aid to needy persons with generous hands in January and February, reports from 20 of them show. The reports were released today by Dr. Henry G. Bowden, Chest executive director.

During the period, a total of 44,773 free meals were served the needy, and night lodging was furnished 9851 homeless men, women and children.

The report covers general welfare work, including emergency relief, Dr. Bowden explained. It does not include all service rendered, however.

Baldry's Report Impressive.

Capt. E. R. Baldry's Salvation Army service report for the two months perhaps is the most impressive. This Chest agency gave free lodging to 6615 and served free meals to 17,728.

Other items on the Salvation Army report include number articles clothing given 204; families assisted with groceries, etc., 109; number pints milk given, 11,520; permanent employment obtained for 24 and temporary employment for 1365.

Free meals served at Lena Pope Home totaled 17,649. The home cared for 179 children.

The Mexican Presbyterian Mission reported 1492 free lodgings, 823 free meals and 65 families assisted. Free medical attention was given 604, and 23 were found jobs.

Variety of Service.

A variety of service is seen in the Volunteers of America report. Forty-six girls were cared for in the Maternity Home. Free medical attention was given 195; 2470 free meals were served and 851 received free lodging.

From the Wesley Community House, 550 articles of clothing and shoes were furnished; 154 were given medical attention thru clinics and hospitals, and 4200 pints of milk were distributed.

The Used Clothes Depot distributed 4069 articles of clothing.

Free meals furnished by the Red Cross totaled 309, 126 free lodgings were given and 120 families were given groceries rent, light, fuel, medicine, etc.

The Council of Negro Charities reported 1506 days of nursery care and 1644 free meals.

A total of 1920 days of hospital care was furnished by the Fort Worth Children's Hospital.

SATURDAY, MARCH 12, 1932.

YOUTH COUNCIL UNIT MAY BE FORMED HERE

Formation of a local Youth Council, a young people's dry organization, may be the result of the Allied Campaigners' visit to Fort Worth March 19 and 20.

Robert C. Ropp, chairman of Allied Youth, and one of the speakers of the Allied Campaigners, will address a banquet for young people at the First Christian Church at 6 o'clock on the night of March 19. Harold Singer also will speak at the banquet.

Ropp speaks at the general meetings in behalf of the young people, and in many cities addresses groups of young people such as that which will greet him here.

"The report has been circulated that all young people are drinking," Ropp says. "This is a wholesale slander, and we propose to repudiate it. For every boy who carries a hip flask, there are 999 who will not touch liquor. It is unfair to judge the great middle class of American young people by the antics of a few.

"Young people in many cities are rising to express themselves on this question. They are tired of the wholesale slanders that all young people are drunken and dissolute. Not only are they repudiating these charges, but they are asking what active work they can do to further the cause of prohibition."

Singer is a former leader in young people's work in Arizona and Oklahoma. For some time he has been Mid-West secretary of the International Society of Christian Endeavor.

CHEST TO HELP IN RELIEF WORK

3/23/32

Plans to re-mobilize the Community Chest campaign army and set it to work to canvass the city in the Emergency Employment Committee's movement to find work for Fort Worth's 7,000 unemployed were made at a meeting of the chest campaign committee with representatives of the emergency committee yesterday afternoon.

It was estimated that between 400 and 600 volunteer workers will be needed to canvass business and residential sections of Fort Worth in an effort to find jobs for the unemployed. With the chest workers, under the leadership of A. F. Townsend, as a nucleus, other workers will be drawn from service clubs, churches and civic organizations.

In the conference yesterday were Townsend, division leaders of the chest campaign organization, Charles G. Cotten, executive secretary of the Emergency Employment Committee, and Henry G. Bowden, executive director of the chest and member of the latter committee. They spent two hours in planning means by which enough volunteer workers might be gathered together to make the canvass.

Finding and alloting jobs will be under the direction of the Emergency Employment Committee. Members of that committee yesterday were preparing the pledge card which will be used in the canvass of industries and individuals. Cotton reported that numerous inquiries had come to him both from those expecting to help find work and those seeking jobs.

LIST NAMES ON SCHOOL BALLOT

3/22/32

Order of the names of the 11 school board candidates on the April 2 election ballot was announced Tuesday by Ed P. Williams, business manager of the school system.

Names of the incumbents seeking re-election to three of the four posts will appear first in their respective places. The names of the other candidates will be printed upon the ballot in the order in which their applications were filed with Mrs. O. W. Peterson, secretary of the board.

While the place of candidates on the ticket is not prescribed by law, Williams was advised by the school board's attorney that the order mentioned has been established by custom in this district. The ballots will not be printed until shortly before the election date because of the possibility that some of the candidates may withdraw before that time.

According to this arrangement, the order on the ballot will be as follows:

Place 1, Dr. Hugh V. Helbing, Wood W. Graham and Edgar Deen.

Place 2, W. E. Boswell Jr., incumbent; L. A. McWhirter, Mrs. T. G. Dyche and J. W. Knightlinger.

Place 3, Dr. K. H. Beall, incumbent, and George B. Eagle.

Place 4, Ellis H. Boyd, incumbent, and E. E. Long.

None of the candidates will carry on an active campaign. The suggestion has been made, however, that they appear before the voters at a mass meeting prior to the date of election. The suggestion for a mass meeting early next week will be taken up by the Diamond Hill Civic League at a meeting scheduled for Thursday night.

The Women's Good Government League also is considering a plan to invite the candidates to be introduced at a citywide meeting of the voters.

Mrs. Dyche, the only woman candidate in the race, is a member of the Women's Good Government League, but does not have the official backing of that organization, its president, Mrs. C. M. Pearce, said. She explained the league's constitution permits the indorsement only of policies, and not of candidates.

ASK WORKERS FOR JOB DRIVE

4/3/32

An appeal for more workers to enter the campaign to provide jobs for the needy was issued Saturday by A. F. Townsend, chairman, on behalf of the Emergency Employment Committee.

Only 135 have volunteered their services, he reported, whereas 600 workers are needed.

"There are 6,100 families in Fort Worth," Townsend said, "that were cared for in 1931 by the welfare agencies of this community. It is safe to say that at least 7,000 men here are out of employment. Volunteer workers who have made appeals to householders and business organizations of every character have been received courteously and a large number of jobs have been found. To meet the emergency that exists we must have 500 additional volunteers.

"If you have put your card aside, sign it immediately and mail it. This is not a campaign that can be delayed and if you have not received a letter or card, volunteer either by mail, addressing Emergency Employment Committee, P. O. Box 1011, telephone No. 3-2491, or sign the coupon in this newspaper.

"This emergency is as great as that of the World War. The need of this hour and the work proposed for you to do is to provide jobs for men and women, citizens of this city, your neighbors, so that they may be independent rather than dependent.

"This work can not be accomplished successfully and to the credit of the city and its citizens without a keener sense of responsibility and support in this movement than has been evidenced to date. You are therefore earnestly urged to volunteer your services in this work so that it may go on. The committee is confident that the citizenship will respond sufficiently to meet the need. Time is an important factor; therefore, please volunteer your services at once."

Community Chest Report

3-14-32

THE REPORT of the Fort Worth Community Chest, made by its President, Jewell P. Lightfoot, is a most enlightening table of figures on the subject of the organized charity work of a community. The figures are for the year 1931 and record the subscriptions made by Fort Worth citizens in the Fall of 1930 and the expenditures through the Chest by the agency members.

The high points of the report are the subscribed funds, the cost of the chest drive, the administrative expense throughout the year and the total expended for relief direct and through the distributing agencies.

The total amount of funds was $248,627.66.

The cost of the drive was $11,541.88.

The expense of maintaining the Chest for 12 months was $13,678.40.

The collections fell short of the drive subscriptions to the amount of $15,663.80 net—that being the amount reasonably held collectible and which should be available for this year's needs.

Tersely expressed, 90 cents out of each Community Chest dollar went directly for relief. Somewhat as a coincidence, the total operating cost represented a nearly parallel amount to the collection shortage on subscriptions. Out of a 90 per cent collection of subscriptions, the needy received 90 per cent of the money in the form of supplies.

Which seems to prove most convincingly that the Community Chest plan represents the most economical method yet devised of rendering community aid to the unemployed, the sick and the hungry.

Where the money went is given as follows:

The hungry in Fort Worth were given 247,627 meals.

The needy were supplied with 42,898 pieces of clothing.

Lodgings were provided to 128,035 shelterless persons.

Clinic, hospitalization and other health service were furnished for 19,569 patients.

Undernourished children received 148,260 pints of milk.

The character building activities reached 40,988 boys and girls.

A total of 308 babies of unwedded mothers were given cloistered refuge and a chance of life.

Orphans to the number of 1,717 were found homes.

Groceries, fuel, rent, etc., were donated to 2,917 needy families.

Employment—at least of the temporary variety—was found for 4,937 seekers for work.

The figures of expended money and effort should be conclusive proof that the Community Chest plan is sound and practical.

The only flaw to be found in the report of President Lightfoot occurs in the item of uncollected subscriptions. It is to be expected that "depression times" might overtake subscribers, but the percentage shown for the year is disappointingly high.

Fort Worth should receive with commensurate appreciation the story of the Community Chest activities. It is a matter of considerable community pride that nine dimes out of each 10 have gone directly to the hungry, shelterless and sick.

Would that percentage show if those dimes were given out willy nilly?

It seems a certain privilege to say they would not.

First Results of Job Drive Listed

3/26/32

First definite results of the Emergency Employment Committee's campaign to obtain work for the unemployed were reported Monday to the drive headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce.

An executive of a large manufacturing concern reported 15 men put to work Monday morning. The employment was made possible as a result of his firm's decision to co-operate with the campaign, he said. He requested the name of the company not be used.

Further impetus was given the campaign Sunday when ministers made a plea from their pulpits for members of the congregation to lend support.

A. F. Townsend, general chairman of the Community Chest campaign organization, will meet with a committee of the campaign division leaders Tuesday at 4:30 p. m. at the chest office to discuss possible ways of aiding in a proposed citywide canvass in the interest of the movement.

227 TO 187 VOTE FIRST RECORD ON ISSUE IN 12 YEARS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The House of Representatives voted, 227 to 187, Monday against taking up legislation designed to turn back control of liquor to the States.

The vote, putting the members on record for the first time in 12 years on prohibition revision, was on whether to discharge the Judiciary Committee from jurisdiction over the Beck-Linthicum resolution for amendment of the Eighteenth amendment.

It was forced under the liberalized Democratic rules by 145 petitioners after the measure, sponsored by both Democratic and Republican wet blocs, was defeated in committee by 14 to 6. The petitioners numbered 76 Republicans and 69 Democrats.

Two of the foremost Democrats, Representatives Rainey of Illinois and McFuddie of Alabama, the party floor leader and whip respectively, voted in favor of the discharge motion.

Must Stay Rejected.

The roll call showed 114 Democrats and 112 Republicans, with Representative Kvale, of Minnesota, the lone Farmer-Labor member, in opposition to the motion to consider the wet bloc's proposal.

Republicans favoring bringing up the legislation immediately numbered 97, and the Democrats 90. The resolution in question, which now must stay rejected in committee, would in effect put up to the States an amendment for replacing national prohibition with a state control plan. Even if Monday's motion had prevailed, it would be necessary for those favoring the legislation to command a two-thirds majority in both congressional branches before the proposed new amendment could be sent to the States.

The anti-prohibitionists held no hopes of getting such a vote at present, and even if they did it would be necessary for the proposed amendment to be ratified by three-fourths of the States before the change could become effective.

The 187 votes commanded by the antiprohibition forces was larger even than many of them expected. Early estimates of their strength ranged from 160 to 180.

Camera men had sought places to photograph the House during the roll call, but were ruled out by Speaker Garner, who said:

"It is just an ordinary legislative day. There is nothing unusual to demand photographers."

Blanton Recalls Point.

As soon as the House convened Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, raised a point of no quorum, but almost immediately withdrew it when it became evident from the members coming in from the cloakrooms that 218 could be counted.

Representative Linthicum, Democratic sponsor of the bipartisan Beck-Linthicum resolution, opened the 20 minutes' debate. He received an ovation from the antiprohibitionists.

Chairman Sumners of the Judiciary Committee opposed the attempt to take the matter out of his committee with the statement that to do so "would result in a division over the important economic issues of the Nation."

Representative LaGuardia, Republican, New York, said the "people are entitled to know how their Representatives stand on this issue through a record vote."

"Those who oppose such resubmission must do so on the theory that this provision of the Constitution is a finality for all time."

COMMITTEE TO WELCOME DRY GROUP NAMED

FAIR FORECAST NEXT 24 HOURS

The longest March cold spell in the history of the Weather Bureau seemed at an end Monday.

For the first time since March 5 the mercury did not go below freezing Sunday night but stopped at 38 degrees. This followed Sunday's maximum temperature of 60 degrees, the highest in more than a week.

The forecast for the next 24 hours calls for fair and warmer weather.

County Agent Counts was surveying the crop damage Monday but he was unprepared to estimate the amount of fruit or garden crops damaged by last week's cold. He said the farmers would not know definitely until after several days of warm weather.

All of Texas did not escape freezing temperatures Monday morning. Austin, Del Rio, El Paso and Amarillo weather bureaus reported freezes, but skies were generally clear and the weather was warming Monday in all parts of the State.

United States Meteorologist Landis predicted that the temperature will go above 60 degrees this afternoon.

Sunday's temperature climbed from 23 degrees at 6 a. m. to 60 in mid-afternoon. In Amarillo the mercury climbed from 16 to 56 in the afternoon. Beaumont had a maximum of 54 degrees.

San Antonio's 40-year low temperature record for March was shattered Saturday night when the mercury went to 24 degrees. A little snow fell there Saturday afternoon but the skies cleared early in the night. Sunday afternoon the temperature reached 53.

"At its worst, prohibition is immeasurably better than licensed liquor ever was at at its best," Dr. Poling declared. "We believe in America and we believe in the 18th Amendment.

"Indifference to the prohibition question is dry rot from within. Thru this campaign, we are beating an alarm across the nation to prevent the major parties from adopting a wet plank.

Not "Way Out"

"Repeal is not the way out. The American way is to fight our way thru."

Col. Oliver W. Stewart preceded Dr. Poling on the platform at last night's meeting. Cato Sells presided, and Dr. Edwin A. Elliott, TCU economics department head, introduced the speakers.

THE FOR

SIX SPEAKERS TO ASK VOTES FOR DRY CAUSE

National Leaders to Be Here Next Week-End for Rallies

Six national prohibition speakers will be in Fort Worth next Saturday and Sunday in a nation-wide attempt to enlist 2,000,000 voters and swing the next presidential election for the dry cause.

The six speakers represent the Allied Forces for Prohibition.

Mass meetings will be held each afternoon and evening during the two days.

Dr. Daniel A. Polling, radio speaker and president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, is heading the group of speakers.

Group to Carry On.

"A local committee will be formed to carry on after the speakers leave," according to C. C. Hamilton, advance agent.

"Dr. Poling is hopeful that by next June, when the tour ends, more than 2,000,000 voters will have registered their support of the 18th amendment. It will prove a powerful argument when the big national elections come off."

The other speakers will be Col. Raymond Robins, social economist; Oliver W. Stewart, Dr. Ira Landrith and Miss Norma C. Brown, secretary of the Allied Campaigners, all widely known champions of the dry cause, and Robert C. Ropp, chairman of Allied Youth.

Two Will Be Honored.

Luncheons will be given in honor of Dr. Polling, Saturday noon at the First Methodist Church, and Miss Brown, Saturday noon at the Woman's Club.

The national campaign carries the speaker to 587 cities and covers a nine months' period.

Cato Sells, 2016 Windsor Place, is general chairman of the citizens' committee sponsoring the mass meetings.

BELIEVE 3,000 ENROLLED BY DRY FORCE

Although a final count of pledge cards had not been made, leaders who directed the prohibition rallies here Saturday and Sunday were certain Monday that more than 3,000 Fort Worth citizens had been enrolled in the Allied Forces for Prohibition.

The A. F. P. campaigners, headed by Dr. Daniel A. Poling of New York, left a roll of the members here for use of committees which were named to complete the formation of local Allied Citizens and Allied Youth groups, but the pledges and amount contributed to the support of the movement were sent directly to the New York headquarters. No report was made on the latter figures.

Well pleased with the results of the rallies, Cato Sells, general chairman of the committee which arranged them, Monday stated:

"Two red letter days for Fort Worth, Tarrant County and North Texas were experienced Saturday and Sunday through the efforts of Dr. Poling and his party. Everything considered, the meetings were unequaled in the purpose of civic righteousness and social betterment.

"The speakers plowed the ground deep and sowed the seed of fidelity to the Constitution, law enforcement and good citizenship for many years."

J. W. Stitt, attorney, was named chairman of a committee to organize an Allied Citizens for Prohibition group. Other members of the committee are J. B. Baker, Grover C. Cole, Fred B. Porter, A. E. Chambers, Edward L. Bean and Patrick Henry Jr. Sells said a women's group likely will be formed later.

DR. POLING AND HIS PARTY WILL ARRIVE SATURDAY MORNING

Dr. Daniel A. Poling and his party of speakers for the Allied Forces for Prohibition will arrive Saturday morning to open a two-day series of mass meetings.

Accompanying Dr. Poling, chairman of the prohibition movement with headquarters in New York, are Col. Raymond Robins, social economist, and four other speakers.

The speakers will give their views on prohibition and then will ask for enrollment of citizens who want the Eighteenth Amendment upheld. The enrollment movement will be continued after the meetings are held. The work will be carried on through an organization to be formed here as part of a nationwide effort the allied campaigners are making to organize prohibition supporters.

Miss Norma C. Brown, secretary of the Allied Forces; Robert C. Ropp, chairman of Allied Youth, and Harold Singer, executive secretary, are the others who will arrive Saturday.

Oliver W. Stewart, vice chairman of the forces, and Dr. Ira Landrith, lecturer, will arrive Sunday. Four mass meetings have been arranged for Saturday and Sunday at 3 and 8 p. m. All four meetings will be held at Central High School auditorium.

Besides the mass meetings, special occasions have been arranged. Two will be luncheons Saturday at noon and the other a banquet for young people at First Christian Church at 6 p. m. Saturday. Dr. Poling will speak at a luncheon for men Saturday noon at First Methodist Church and Miss Brown will speak to women at the same time at the Woman's Club. Ropp and Singer will be the speakers at the youth banquet.

Colonel Robins and Ropp will speak at the first mass meeting Saturday afternoon and Colonel Robins and Miss Brown will speak Saturday night. Dr. Landrith will speak Sunday afternoon and Dr. Poling and Stewart will address the final meeting Sunday night.

Dr. Poling will speak at 11 a. m. Sunday at the First Baptist Tabernacle, Lipscomb and Morphy Streets. Stewart will appear at the same place at 8 o'clock Sunday night.

Stewart will preach at North Fort Worth Baptist Church at 10:45 a. m. Sunday.

Dr. Landrith will preach Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at Broadway Baptist Church.

The Allied Campaigners began their tour in September and have visited more than 150 cities. They plan to reach 587 cities before the tour ends in June.

In a communication received by Cato Sells, general chairman of arrangements here, Dr. Poling stated:

"I am looking for splendid meetings in Fort Worth. We are having a fine response everywhere. We are enrolling many citizens in support of the Eighteenth Amendment in each city and the work, happily, is going on after the meetings are over. In one place 5,000 were enrolled in two weeks after the rallies were held. Old fires are being rekindled and new reserves called into action. Our goal of 2,000,000 members enrolled by June looks safe."

Dry Speakers

Two speakers for the Allied Forces for Prohibition who will take part in a series of rallies here Saturday and Sunday in the interest of the Eighteenth Amendment. They are Dr. Ira Landrith (above), lecturer and writer, and Oliver W. Stewart, vice chairman of the Allied Forces.

Officers of the Allied Youth group were elected after a banquet for young people Saturday night. Henry was elected chairman. Ed Summers, Miss Annie Hodges, Beverly Howell and Clarence Johnston were named vice chairmen and Miss Mary Crawford, secretary.

In the final meeting Dr. Poling declared that "we believe that prohibition at its worst is immeasurably better than licensed liquor ever was at its best."

Dr. Poling discussed the speakeasy and the racketeer, the Canadian plan of liquor control, beer for prosperity, the Literary Digest poll and the effect of prohibition on American youth. He said speakeasies and racketeering both are older than prohibition, that prohibition did not develop them but uncovered them. The Canadian plan of governmental control of liquor is threatened by illicit manufacture and sale, he said.

The speaker denied beer would bring back prosperity, declaring "no nation ever drank itself prosperous." Legalized beer would create less than 500,000 jobs and jeopardize the jobs of 400,000 employes of soft drink establishments, he said. He said the Literary Digest poll represented a maximum wet and minimum dry vote. He denied prohibition has corrupted young people. He criticized wet leaders for "offering young people upon the altar of repeal."

Prohibition, Dr. Poling said, is "liberty with law." He asked the entire audience to stand, raise right hands and repeat the pledge, "God helping me, I will see this through." Dr. Poling was introduced by Prof. Edwin A. Elliott of Texas Christian University. Sells presided. Col. Oliver W. Stewart spoke before Dr. Poling.

Colonel Stewart said the wets are not working so much for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment as for the breaking down of the law supporting it. If the liquor traffic comes back it will be over the wreck and ruin of the Constitution, he said. Rev. James K. Thompson led the invocation and Rev. C. O. Shugart pronounced the benediction.

Dr. Poling spoke Sunday afternoon in Denton and left Sunday night for Tulsa, Okla. Dr. Ira Landrith spoke at a mass meeting Sunday afternoon at Central High. He urged women to vote and preserve prohibition. Newspapers were criticized by the speaker, who was applauded. He suggested they become "newspapers and not booze papers." He reminded that the support of only 13 States is needed to prevent the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Dr. Poling spoke Sunday morning at the First Baptist Tabernacle, Dr. Landrith spoke at Broadway Baptist Church and Colonel Stewart addressed the morning congregation at North Fort Worth Baptist Church.

CHURCH BASEBALL LOOPS NAME OFFICERS

The second meeting of the Church Athletic Association was held at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night. There were four leagues formed and about 20 teams entered. Officers were elected as follows: C. E. Bateman, president; A. J. Messersmith, vice president; Thomas R. High, secretary; T. M. Pressley, treasurer; J. B. Riley, supervisor; R. Paul Fowler, director. Few rule changes were made.

CAPTAINS ARE APPOINTED BY FOUR MAJORS

Leaders in Emergency Drive to Complete Organization Today; Will Canvass City.

Division and team leaders of the Emergency Employment Committee's work-finding drive are certain that their campaign, scheduled to be started Wednesday noon, will result in hundreds of men being returned to work, they indicated yesterday in a conference at Chamber of Commerce headquarters.

Four of the five majors, who will lead the movement in designated districts of the city's business section, yesterday had named five team captains each.

In a luncheon meeting at noon today at The Blackstone the leaders will complete their organization, marshaling individual workers into teams of two persons each. Each captain will head five teams.

At tomorrow's luncheon meeting for all workers, almost 250, at First Methodist Church, the drive will be launched.

Leaders Organize.

Leaders of four of the five proposed divisions organized at yesterday's conference as follows:

Dr. Abe Greines, major; E. C. Tays, J. O. Shannon, Rev. John O'Keefe, Rev. Jesse Garrett and C. D. Little, captains.

Clyde A. Penry, major; O. K. Shannon, A. J. Fulkerson, E. F. Springer, D. H. B. Todd and W. G. Hazen.

Gaylord J. Stone, major; D. E. Montrief, A. D. Rhea, J. G. Maben, N. S. Longabaugh and Msgr. Robert M. Nolan.

Lewis D. Fox, major; W. O. Gatton, E. P. Haltom, H. Lawson Hetherwick, E. J. Hosey and Homer W. Ladd.

Will Solocit Employers.

Team members will solicit each firm head and employer for jobs for the city's unemployed. Workers will ask business men and home owners to sign pledges promising to give work at business or at home.

Jack H. Hott, Chamber of Commerce manager, explained to leaders yesterday that a similar campaign carried on in Rochester, N. Y., had proved successful beyond all expectations, business men and residents agreeing to spend more than $6,000,000, instead of the goal of $3,000,000, in giving employment.

Hott called attention to the recent report of C. W. Woodman, federal labor bureau director, who said 7,000 Fort Worth wage-earners are out of work and that the condition of 4,000 of them is critical.

Pledges turned in at chamber headquarters by workers will be "cleared" through employment agencies here without delay, Hott said. Charles G. Cotten will serve as secretary of the employment committee and Craig Laine, adjutant of Bothwell Kane Post, American Legion, will be his assistant. Their headquarters will be in the Chamber of Commerce.

Fort Worth's major offensive against unemployment was launched by more than 200 workers at a luncheon in the First Methodist Church at noon Wednesday. After final organization by the five majors had been completed, the workers set out under the leadership of A. F. Townsend, campaign chairman, to obtain pledges from business men to provide work.

Inspirational addresses were delivered by Rabbi Harry A. Merfeld and Walter B. Scott, general chairman of the Emergency Employment Committee.

Workers were provided with pledge cards. When the prospective employer has signed a card, it will be turned over by the worker to Charles G. Cotten at the Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the committee. He will work chiefly through Government employment channels in filling the jobs.

The drive will be conducted through Friday, by which time it is hoped a large amount of employment will have been provided for the 7,000 jobless in the city.

Speakers at the luncheon pointed out the seriousness of the local situation and stressed the need of doing something about it right now. Just providing temporary work will not settle the problem, workers were told.

Residences will not be visited. Business offices in the downtown area and other sections have been divided into five divisions and assigned to the following majors: Dr. Abe Greines, Charles H. Thompson, Lewis D. Fox, Gaylord J. Stone and Clyde A. Penry.

Job Finders Will Get Assignments

Majors of the Emergency Employment Committee's drive to find work for the city's jobless will be assigned the territory they are to cover at a meeting today at 3 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce.

The drive will be started Wednesday with a luncheon at First Methodist Church, A. F. Townsend, general chairman, announced. Each of the five majors will have an organization of five captains and 50 volunteer workers, divided into two teams.

The entire city is to be canvassed in the hope of finding jobs for as many of the 7,000 unemployed as possible.

FINAL PLANS OF JOB HUNT MADE

Assignments of Campaign Being Made By Group

All set for the opening bugle, majors and captains in the campaign against unemployment met to make final team assignments today noon at a luncheon at The Blackstone. The canvass for jobs will start tomorrow, after a luncheon at the First Methodist Church.

About 250 volunteer workers will attend the meeting to receive definite instructions.

Dr. Harry A. Merfeld will deliver the principal address before the workers start the canvass, and A. F. Townsend, campaign chairman, will preside.

No Campaign Fund

Workers will be asked to pay their own luncheon fee, since no campaign funds are available, Townsend said.

Jobs for 7000 idle men is the goal of the campaign. Property owners will be asked to join in the clean-up, paint-up and repair movement, with each creating a job for at least one man.

Four of the five zone majors had named their captains today. The fifth major, out of the city, was due back here late today.

Leaders and their captains follow:

In District One

District 1, Major Abe Greines; captains, J. O. Shannon, E. C. Tays, Rev. John O'Keefe, C. D. Little and Rev. Jesse Garrett.

District 3, Major Lewis D .Fox; captains, E. P. Haltom, W. O. Gatton, E. J. Hosey, H .L. Hetherwick and Homer W. Ladd.

District 4, Major Gaylord J. Stone; captains, A. D. Rhea, J. G. Maben, D. E. Montrief, Msgr. Robert M. Nolan and N. S. Longabaugh.

District 5, Major Clyde Penry; captains, A. J. Fulkerson, O. K. Shannon, D. H. B. Todd, W. G. Hazen and E. F. Springer.

C. H. (Charlie) Thompson is major of District 2. His captain appointments were to be made today.

WILL URGE NEW SCHOOL LEADER

Election of George Thompson Jr., as president of the Board of Education to replace Ellis H. Boyd, will be urged by a delegation before the board this afternoon in the first board meeting since the election April 2.

The group, with Claude Spratling, attorney, as its spokesman, also will protest institution of the proposed 12-month school plan and will ask the board to proceed with the school expansion program mapped by George D. Strayer, Columbia University expert.

Spratling said last night that the delegation opposes the re-election of Boyd because the latter has been reported in favor of the 12-month plan.

"We feel," said Spratling, "that the Strayer plan is being side-tracked by this year-around school proposal which will cost taxpayers $700,000 a year more."

Fort Worth schools are operating now under a $219,186 deficit, the board will be informed by Ed P. Williams, school business manager.

Williams yesterday completed a statement of receipts and disbursements to present to the board after its reorganization today.

Four trustees, two of whom were re-elected recently, will take the oath of office. President Boyd and W. E. Boswell were re-elected and Dr. Hugh V. Helbing and George B. Eagle are new members. Thompson, Simon W. Freese and Mrs. O. W. Peterson, secretary, will hold office another year.

APPEAL ISSUED IN JOBS DRIVE

As workers prepared Saturday to begin the citywide emergency employment campaign at noon Wednesday, Walter B. Scott, chairman of the Emergency Employment Committee, took final steps to pave the way for success in the drive.

In letters addressed to all pastors of the city and in a public statement, he appealed for the co-operation of those who have jobs within their hands to meet the workers half way when they begin their canvass Wednesday.

Ultimate success of the campaign will depend not on the 250 men who have volunteered to make the canvass for jobs but on business and professional men and contractors who can create or discover work for the unemployed, Scott explained.

Leaders of the drive will meet Monday afternoon to perfect plans.

The entire force of volunteer workers will meet for a rally luncheon at First Methodist Church at noon Wednesday before going into the field. Rabbi Harry A. Merfeld will speak.

Pastors of the city will act on Scott's appeal at services today.

In his public appeal, Scott said:

"Measures for unemployment relief and effective social work are most essential under present conditions. The situation is critical and gets worse every day. There is no need to stress this. It is apparent to all. All kinds of suggestions creep into the minds of both men and women who are idle and we all know that 'idleness is the devil's workshop.'

"The Emergency Relief Committee can perform its full duty, the chairman, majors, captains and each volunteer worker can all do their duty and perform it well, and yet, in the end, if the people to whom the appeal is made do not respond and do their part, relief will not be forthcoming and the condition will become intolerable.

"The unfortunate neighbor is only unfortunate for a short period if all the citizenship will take seriously the need for providing additional jobs for both men and women. Your aid is expected."

JOBS CAMPAIGN WORKERS ARE ENCOURAGED

H. Hott, manager of the chamber, explained.

"The main idea is to do the work thoroughly," he said.

Fort Worth will not be content to allow 7,000 persons to be without work, 4,000 of them in serious need, Rabbi Harry A. Merfeld said at the luncheon. He urged the campaigners to realize the seriousness of their undertaking and the service they can perform for their fellow citizens by intensive efforts.

MORE THAN 200 OPEN JOB HUNT

Merfeld Encourages Teams To Help Unemployed

More than 200 enthusiastic volunteer job-hunters launched into a three-day campaign in the business and industrial districts today in an attempt to find jobs for Fort Worth's 7000 unemployed men and women.

"You are the mouthpiece of 7000 human beings here who are crying for an opportunity to sell an honest day's labor for an honest day's wage," Dr. Harry A. Merfeld told the job-hunters at a rally-luncheon today at the First Methodist Church.

Walter B. Scott, general counsel of the Emergency Employment Committee, presided in the absence of A. F. Townsend, campaign chairman, who was at Austin.

Not Charity Work.

In pointing out the emergency in Fort Worth, Dr. Merfeld told the workers they were engaged in rehabilitation and not charity work.

"The worst thing about the slump has been a loss of pride and self-respect on the part of worthy men who have been unable to find productive labor," Dr. Merfeld said.

"Destroy a man's pride and you have killed his soul. When you find work for these thousands of idle men in Fort Worth, you will have given them a chance to provide for themselves and their families. It will restore their pride and make them independent again."

To Rush Work.

Leaders in the drive hope to complete the canvass in three days. Signed pledge cards will be turned over to Charles G. Cotten, executive secretary, at the Chamber of Commerce.

Majors in the campaign are Clyde Penry, Gaylord J. Stone, C. H. (Charlie) Thompson, Lewis D. Fox, and Dr. Abe Greines.

City Manager George D. Fairtrace will have charge of city employes and Supt. W. M. Green, city schools.

'Y' Boxers to Meet Dallas Tonight

The Dallas-Fort Worth Y. M. C. A. boxing teams will clash on a 30-round program at 8 o'clock tonight at an outdoor arena at Magnolia and Lipscomb. A small admission fee will be made and the proceeds will go to the Olympic fund. Van Zant Smith and Bob McNeimer will serve as Fort Worth's judges and a picked Dallas man will referee.

After a few changes in matching the lineup stands as follows (with Dallas boxers first): T. Beaupre and J. Wallace (heavyweight), Jack Abdo and Oliver Ball (middleweight), Floyd Gunn and Nolan McKean (welterweight), Harold Anible and Rufus Strickland (welterweight), T. Waters and Milton Coffey (lightweight), Joe Leak and Lewis Whitehurst (featherweight), "Red" Gowdy and Neil Crotty (bantamweight), R. Moore and L. D. Sherman (bantamweight), N. Lyles and Jasper Stewart (bantamweight), and Edwin Harton and M. Peters (flyweight). Neither team will have any easy time of it, judging from the last meet four weeks ago in Dallas, which resulted in two K. O.'s and toe to toe battles. "Tex" Ray Smith will second the Fort Worth boxers. Three T. C. U. students are on the card.

CAMPAIGN TO FIND JOBS IS INAUGURATED

'You Are Mouthpieces of 7,000 Human Beings,' Rabbi Tells Workers.

"You are the mouthpieces of 7,000 human beings looking to you to sell what they have to sell—an honest day's work at an honest day's wage," Rabbi Harry A. Merfeld told teams at a luncheon at First Methodist Church yesterday, inaugurating the campaign for work.

"Ask for each job as though you were seeking it for yourself. This move is more than economic or materialistic—it is an investment in flesh and blood, in souls."

Picturing the unemployed as disheartened, weary, humiliated, Dr. Merfeld urged that breadwinners be provided employment so the cornerstones of homes may be relaid.

Walter B. Scott, emergency employment committee chairman, presided.

"All these men and women, many of whom have been unemployed for months, are asking is an opportunity to earn a livelihood," Scott said. "Fort Worth can not fail to respond."

Campaign pleas were explained by Jack H. Hott. At the close of the general meeting, each of the five teams held conferences, presided over by their majors.

Workers last night were asked to follow instructions on the outside of envelopes by Charles G. Cotten of the trades extension department of the Chamber of Commerce, since there have been some changes in original territory assignments.

As soon as the territory is covered, it would help the campaign if there was no delay in returning a report, he said.

CAMPAIGN TO FIND WORK IS MAPPED

250 to Canvass Fort Worth Wednesday, Thursday to Get Jobs for Unemployed.

A whirlwind campaign, to be completed in two days, will be waged by 250 volunteers in the emergency employment canvass beginning Wednesday immediately after a luncheon at First Methodist Church.

Dr. Harry A. Merfeld will deliver the principal address, presenting the challenge of the economic situation. A. F. Townsend, "general" of the campaign, and his majors will make brief addresses.

Plans for the canvass were made yesterday by General Townsend and his aides at The Texas.

Pledges of work about homes, stores and offices will be sought to provide jobs for Fort Worth's 7,000 unemployed. The canvass will be confined to the business district, which has been divided into five districts with a major in charge of each.

The other two majors — Superintendent Green and City Manager Fairtrace—will conduct the campaign among employes of the schools and the city, respectively.

Each major assigned to the business section will divide his district into five zones with a captain in charge of 10 lieutenants in each zone. The lieutenants will work in pairs in obtaining pledges.

General Townsend, the majors and captains will confer Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce.

Maj. Abe Greines will be in command of District 1, the North Side and the Fort Worth National Bank building.

District Two — assigned to Maj. Charlie Thompson — consists of the territory west of Main and north of West Seventh Streets, excepting the Fort Worth National Bank, Sinclair and Petroleum Buildings; and Arlington Heights, west of Van Zandt Viaduct to the Clear Fork on the south and the West Fork on the north.

Maj. Lewis D. Fox will have charge of District three, west of Main and South Main and south of West Seventh Street with the Clear Fork as the western boundary.

To Maj. Gaylord Stone is allotted District Four, east of Main, north of East Seventh to the Trinity River, besides Riverside and the Sinclair Building.

District Five—in charge of Maj. Clyde Penry—consists of Main and South Main Streets south of East Seventh Street, as well as the Petroleum Building.

Each worker will pay for his plate at the rally Wednesday, the plan being to make the campaign self-financing. Luncheon charge will be 50 cents.

PLEDGE $35,000 TO AID JOBLESS

Two Hundred Promise Work For City's Unemployed

Pledges totaling more than $35,000 in expenditures for building, remodeling and improvements in Fort Worth had been reported today in the city's campaign against unemployment.

Volunteer workers in the five divisions had turned in more than 200 pledge cards, with a large part of the business and industrial districts yet to be covered.

District 4, under the leadership of Major Gaylord J. Stone, continued to lead in the canvass. Stone gives most of the credit to his captains, Msgr. Robert M. Nolan, J. G. Mahen, B. E. Montrief and N. S. Longabaugh.

One for $12,500

Heading the list of pledges is one for $12,500 signed by Dr. Holman Taylor. The sum covers a residence planned by Dr. Taylor.

Reconditioning pipe lines of the Illinois Pipe Line Company and the Marathon Oil Company calls for an expenditure of $10,000.

Wages totaling $1,000 will be paid workmen to unload grain cars at the Katy Elevator. Pangburn Company signed a $900 pledge card, and Ralston-Purina Company, $500.

Several Days Needed

Several days next week probably will be needed to complete the canvass, A. F. Townsend, campaign chairman, said.

Job seekers have been asked to register at the U. S. Employment Bureau, 247 W. 13th Street, the YMCA and at the YWCA. Contact between employe and employer is to be made by the Emergency Employment Committee, of which Charles G. Cotten is executive secretary.

Headquarters is at the Chamber of Commerce.

WORKERS TO CONTINUE FOR $75,000 GOAL

Places for Educated Men Are Particularly Wanted; Position for Woman, 40.

With a substantial pledge from R. E. Harding, the campaign against unemployment yesterday afternoon passed the $40,000 mark in jobs promised by employers interviewed by more than 200 workers of the Emergency Unemployment Committee.

After a day's rest today, the campaigners will start out again Monday morning to obtain as many more pledge signers as possible. It is expected a total of at least $75,000 will be obtained before the workers consider they have covered their territory thoroughly, Walter B. Scott, committee chaiman said.

WANTED: 25,000 TO PLEDGE $10 EACH TO MAKE JOBS.

An appeal for 25,000 persons to pledge $10 each in the next three to six months to alleviate unemployment in Fort Worth was issued last night by Walter B. Scott, chairman of the employment drive here.

"This much money not only would yield much material benefit to the pledgers in the work furnished but also would go far toward removing an unfortunate situation," Scott declared. "This giving of work can not be done only by the few but must come from the many."

Scott obtained the pledge from Harding. He also is working on several other prospects who are likely to make similar pledges.

With approximately half of the schools heard from, Supt. W. M. Green reported more than $8,000 had been pledged by teachers and other employes.

Unusual Pledge Received.

Charles G. Cotten, drive secretary, has interviewed a number of persons at the Chamber of Commerce and has started putting them in touch with prospective employers.

One unusual pledge he received was from a woman who wants a woman companion 40 years or older, who speaks German. A dairyman wants a milker. Few office workers have been called for so far, although one business man wanted a manager and an accountant.

Workers report they have been received in the best of spirit by the hundreds of persons they have interviewed. Several employers told them they are having unnecessary work done now simply to retain employes that otherwise would have to be let out.

There still is an urgent demand for jobs for men of special educational qualifications, such as office workers, Cotten reported.

Additional Pledges.

Among additional pledges received late yesterday were those signed by the following: O. C. Armstrong, 2315

$35,000 IN JOBS PROMISED HERE

Pledges to provide work for unemployed in Fort Worth passed the $35,000 mark Saturday morning.

That estimate was made by Charles G. Cotten, secretary of the Emergency Unemployment Committee, with headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce. This does not include weekly building permits, he explained, as the 192 jobs required are for work over and above the normal amount required. The campaign will continue next week.

Among pledge cards received Saturday were those signed by Oscar Jackson, 1064 West Magnolia Avenue; G. J. Jarrell, 2631 Hemphill Street; J. C. Rohmer, 3055 Wabash Street; and the following from persons in the Texas National Bank Building: Dr. T. J. Williams, L. B. Weinman, Dr. E. L. Myrick, Jeff Hall, W. D. Nicholson, U. M. Simon and Mrs. B. D. Barker.

Many more cards were received by Superintendent W. M. Green from teachers and other employes of the public schools.

With 23 schools heard from, there had been more than $7,800 pledged, Green reported Saturday noon.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Officials of the United Action Campaign to put a million jobless persons back to work reported Saturday that the total reemployed since the drive started stands at 510,673.

$12,500 JOB PLEDGE TOPS CANVASS LIST

Second Biggest Outlay for Reconditioning Pipelines; Response Is Encouraging.

With one pledge of $12,500 and another of $10,000 as the topnotchers, the emergency employment workers yesterday obtained an impressive number of promises to relieve Fort Worth's jobless.

The largest contemplated expenditure is a residence to be built by Dr. Holman Taylor. Second biggest outlay is for reconditioning pipe lines of the Illinois Pipe Line Company and the Marathon Oil Company.

Fifteen men will be placed at work in unloading grain cars at the Katy Elevator, with an estimated $1,000 for wages. Pangburn Company announced intended expenditures of $900 and Ralston-Purina Company $500.

Response Encouraging.

Although many did not approximate the amount to be spent, the total is advanced well into six figures, Charles G. Cotten, executive secretary, said.

Response met by the teams is highly encouraging, A. F. Townsend, in command of the canvass, was advised by the fire majors whose forces are covering the business district.

Some of the 200 volunteer workers in the job-finding campaign almost have completed the territory allotted them. Others still will be busy next week, the most important element not being speed, but thoroughness, leaders emphasized.

Pledges Received.

Pledges turned in up to last night include:

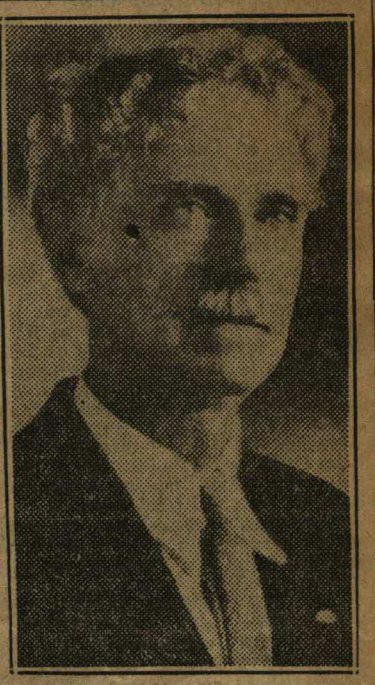
Y. M. C. A. DORMITORY CLUB HAS STAG PARTY

The Dormitory Club of the Y. M. C. A. held a stag party at Lake Worth Y Lodge from 6 to 10 o'clock last night. Baseball, picnic supper and bridge were entertainment features. Committee in charge was composed of Gary Sickles, Ed Shaw and Boyd Sickafoosh.

Lecturer



Capt. H. W. MacDonald, cousin of Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and world traveler, who lectured at the Y. M. C. A. last night on World Conditions.

MACDONALD'S COUSIN SPEAKS

World brotherhood is what is needed to solve petty problems and squabbles, Capt. H. W. MacDonald, traveler and cousin of Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, told his audience at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Captain MacDonald related conditions in India and Africa that indicated in these continents there is a band of fellowship between the upper classes. The priests and educated class have recognition for the work of each other.

Tokens are exchanged and visits are paid by each group. In this way a religious brotherhood has sprung up that is found all through the East, the speaker said.

Captain MacDonald, born on a British merchant ship as it entered the port of Philadelphia, was 11 months old when the vessel sank in a storm off Long Island. His wooden cradle kept afloat and saved his life.

During the Spanish-American War, he was a cub reporter with Richard Harding Davis in Cuba. After the war, a wanderlust siezed him and he determined to visit the East and find out for himself the why of the mysteries of the Orient.

Skilled Workers Will Register at YMCA Desk

Registration of the unemployed in the skilled worker and white-collared class was resumed today at the YMCA, under auspices of the Job Finders' Club.

Cooperating with the central Emergency Employment Committee, the club discontinued registration during the brief period the work was done at the Chamber of Commerce. A notice was posted at the CofC yesterday, informing job seekers of the change.

Under the present arrangement, laborers are requested to register at the U. S. Employment Bureau, 247 West 13th Street; skilled and clerical workers at the YMCA, and women at the YWCA.

Rabbi Harry Merfeld addressed the Job Finders last night at their weekly meeting.

Widow Collapses After Three Weeks Illness Of Church and YMCA Leader Ends With Attack of Paralysis

Judge Raymond H. Buck, 62, associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals for 18 years, and prominent lodge and churchman, died early today at his residence, 2316 Sixth Avenue.

Death came at the end of a three weeks' illness. He died of a stroke of paralysis.

JUDGE BUCK

His widow, Mrs. Eula Buck, had collapsed at the home and was seriously ill, friends said.

A lawyer and judge here for 40 years, he had also held national positions with the Knights of Pythias Lodge and the National Council of the YMCA.

The Fort Worth-Tarrant County Bar Association held a special meeting at 9 a. m. in the 48th District Court room to draw up memorial resolutions.

All Tarrant County courts will be adjourned the day of the funeral, it was announced at the meeting. The date has not been set.

Judge Buck came here 40 years ago to begin the practice of law from his birthplace in Waco, where his father was a lawyer and editor.

He served as district judge for 10 years before becoming justice of the appellate court.

He was a member of the National Council of the YMCA for six years, having retired three years ago.

He was on the building and executive committee instrumental in getting the present $300,000 YMCA building here. He was a YMCA director for 15 years.

Judge Buck was a member of the Queen City Lodge No. 21 of the Knights of Pythias for 35 years, holding every chair in the lodge.

He was grand chancellor of Texas and the Texas representative on the Supreme Council.

He organized the Buck Bible Class at the Broadway Baptist Church for young business men, 10 years ago.

Survivors are his widow; three children, Raymond E. Buck, 2001 Park Place; Mrs. Roy J. Loveless, 2213 Hawthorne, and Miss Eula Buck, a teacher in the schools here, and a nephew, Judge Hal S. Lattimore.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Robertson-Mueller-Harper Funeral Home.

The body is at the home, 2316 Sixth Avenue, but will be moved to the church at 9:30 a. m. Thursday so friends may view it before the funeral. The Buck home has been closed to visitors because of the illness of Mrs. Buck. Her condition was improved Wednesday but relatives still are doubtful if she will be able to attend the funeral.

Judge Buck died Tuesday morning when he was stricken with a brain hemorrhage. He had been ill about 10 days. Relatives attributed his breakdown to overwork.

Judge Buck had requested that his funeral be held from the Tarrant County courthouse, the building he had labored in for more than a quarter of a century, but members of the family decided on the church because of the inaccessibility of the appellate courtroom which is on the third floor of the courthouse. Mrs. Swan Richardson, Stephenville, the late jurist's favorite musician, will play a violin solo at the funeral.

Survivors are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Adine Loveless and Miss Eula Buck, and a son, Raymond E. Buck, all of Fort Worth; two brothers, H. D. Buck, El Paso, and O. H. Buck, Kokomo, Ind.; three sisters, Mrs. Ermine Lattimore, Austin, and Misses Miriam and Nellie Buck, Waco, and two grandsons, Raymond E. Buck Jr. and Roy J. Body in State.

The body will lie in state at the church from 9:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m.

Out of respect to Judge Buck, the Court of Civil Appeals will be adjourned until Monday.

Cases set for Saturday will be heard Monday and motions set for Friday were postponed one week.

PLEDGE $60,000 IN JOBS DRIVE

With almost $60,000 pledged, workers are approaching the first goal of the emergency employment canvass.

Minimum objective has been set at $75,000 by Walter B. Scott, general chairman of the campaign, and A. F. Townsend, directing the canvass.

Great impetus was given yesterday with the report of $12,583 in pledges from 370 school teachers. The school canvass was in charge of Superintendent Green.

The educators' cards represent more than half the number of individual pledges, estimated at above 600 by Charles G. Cotten, executive secretary.

A number of the jobfinders have not turned in their cards and a substantial amount is believed included in those pledges.

The 200 volunteer workers will enter today upon the close of a week's activities. Some will be able to complete their alloted territory this afternoon.

Executives of some of the larger concerns are yet to be interviewed.

That 25,000 persons pledge $10 each was suggested by Scott, who pointed out that not only would this go far to aid the 7,000 unemployed but would stimulate business.

The Drive for Jobs.

FORT WORTH citizens are to be congratulated for the community attitude toward the drive now in progress for the relief of the local unemployed. Such activities have been known to take on too much of mere gesture. At other times they too greatly resemble a game of some sort.

But Fort Worthians generally have responded to the present teamwork in the spirit which prompted the idea and the industry which motivates the workers.

To date there has been a total of more than $60,000 worth of "jobs" found for the lengthy list of the unemployed with which contact already had been made. There is very much more of work yet to do before the city is covered.

The proposition has become an extremely practical one of supply and demand. Those signing the cards have certain lines of work to be done. Persons registered in the "unemployed" lists are given the names and addresses and the work classification. The person applying for the job makes the necessary terms with the person who wants the work done. That such contacts may be made permanent in proportion to the quality of the service performed may easily be taken for granted.

The total of the subscriptions for jobs is immaterial. What it should represent is, on the one hand, those citizens who combine the cause with their work-to-be-done and, on the other, those unemployed who are eager to secure all the employment possible of whatever nature.

The movement has proved to be much more than a civic movement. It is getting jobs done. It is giving deserving persons some employment. It is putting much needed money in circulation.

It is one of the best things Fort Worthians have done.

OVER $15,000 ADDED TO JOB DRIVE TOTAL

Fort Worth Yet Less Than 50 Per Cent Covered, Says Townsend at Conference.

More than $15,000 was added yesterday to pledges in the emergency employment canvass, bringing the campaign total to $105,957.

"The city has been less than 50 per cent covered," declared A. F. Townsend, head of the canvass, in appealing to the majors yesterday at a midday conference to urge their captains and team workers to complete the survey.

Decrying a tendency by some persons to "soft pedal" unemployment conditions, Townsend said the situation in Fort Worth is part of the nationwide status and that no apology was needed here unless it was for the inadequate provision so far made to meet the conditions.

A pledge of $4,400 by A. M. Pate, 1400 Frey Avenue, for general carpentry work, was the afternoon's largest card. Mrs. A. L. Martin, Fort Worth National Bank Building, will expend $4,000 for construction. Tarrant County Building and Loan Association plans to spend $2,500 in carpentry, wiring, plumbing and paper-hanging.

One man will spend $150 to clear land. He stipulates the worker must be "handy with an ax."

Final report of the public school force shows $13,293 pledged, Superintendent Green said.

Of the $105,957 in pledges, approximately $17,000 is for work in progress before the canvass began or for work completed in the recent past, leaving $89,000 in jobs available, Walter B. Scott, general chairman, pointed out.

Those making pledges yesterday included Southwestern Casket Company; R. L. Carlock, Fort Worth National Building; J. W. Stitt, Fort Worth National Building; William D. Cecil, 2525 Rogers Avenue; Capt. Charles Muller; Aubrey G. Alexander, Burk Burnett Building; Elam Dudley, 2504 Fifth Avenue; Texas Central Building and Loan Association, and Cecil Wells, 2214 North Houston

$90,000 IS PLEDGED IN JOB CANVASS

$32,000 Reported Tuesday; W. T. Waggoner Promises Minimum of $20,000.

Nearly $32,000 in pledges reported yesterday brought the total in promises of work past $90,000 in the emergency employment canvass.

Sixty-three of the 101 teams have made no report of their activities this week, Charles G. Cotten, executive secretary, pointed out.

While many of the unreported teams have been at work, Cotten thinks it likely that many others have not been in the field.

"There are hundreds of opportunities for employment that have never been contacted," he said. "There are thousands of dollars' worth of work that should be done but which, in my opinion, will not be done unless there is a definite follow-through."

Nearly 500 men have been placed at work as the result of the hundreds of pledges already turned in, Walter B. Scott, general chairman, said.

A $20,000 pledge by W. T. Waggoner was made yesterday. Frank Fillingim, 2300 Fairmount Avenue, will spend $5,000 in repairing a building on Railroad Avenue. J. G. Clark Company, Burk Burnett Building, will expend $1,000 in construction.

Pledges from Armour & Company, Swift & Company and the Fort Worth Stockyards Company aggregated $3,719.50.

Of the $90,038.63 reported thus far, $15,187.50 includes work completed in the last three months or already in progress when the survey began. The amount of new work available, therefore, is not quite $75,000.

In pledging $20,000 Waggoner said it was likely he would spend much more than that in the next few months for labor.

"It is my personal opinion," he said, "that if the legislation now pending to legalize the holding of agricultural fairs and legitimate contests, including race meets where options on horses can be legally purchased, was made effective, this very wonderful agricultural and livestock territory would begin to come into its own."

HEADQUARTERS FOR SOUTH OPENED HERE BY COLLEEN FIRM.

Coming of a new industry to Fort Worth was announced yesterday as the job-finders speeded their campaign to success.

Mrs. Emma L. Stone made known the establishment of headquarters for the South of the Colleen Art Linen Company, a business she founded 12 years ago in California.

Already she has employed 25 expert needle workers and by Fall her force will number 200, she believes. Her wares are handmade handkerchiefs, towels and children's dresses, fashioned from imported French linen.

Her office is at 1920 Hurley Avenue.

Church Members To Care for Own

A number of church members out of work will be provided with employment by other members of the congregations.

This will be one of the tangible benefits produced by an appeal from Fort Worth pulpits Sunday on behalf of the emergency employment canvass, several pastors reported yesterday to R. E. Squires, secretary, Fort Worth General Ministers' Association.

The canvass of the business section under the leadership of A. F. Townsend will close Thursday. Majors and captains who have not yet reported are urged by the general chairman to utilize the next few days in covering the allotted territory.

A $20,000 pledge by W. T. Waggoner was made yesterday. Frank Fillingim, 2300 Fairmount Avenue, will spend $5,000 in repairing a building on Railroad Avenue. J. G. Clark Company, Burk Burnett Building, will expend $1,000 in construction.

Pledges from Armour & Company, Swift & Company and the Fort Worth Stockyards Company aggregated $3,719.50.

Of the $90,038.63 reported thus far, $15,187.50 includes work completed in the last three months or already in progress when the survey began. The amount of new work available, therefore, is not quite $75,000.

In pledging $20,000 Waggoner said it was likely he would spend much more than that in the next few months for labor.

"It is my personal opinion," he said, "that if the legislation now pending to legalize the holding of agricultural fairs and legitimate contests, including race meets where options on horses can be legally purchased, was made effective, this very wonderful agricultural and livestock territory would begin to come into its own."

HEADQUARTERS FOR SOUTH OPENED HERE BY COLLEEN FIRM.

Coming of a new industry to Fort Worth was announced yesterday as the job-finders speeded their campaign to success.

Mrs. Emma L. Stone made known the establishment of headquarters for the South of the Colleen Art Linen Company, a business she founded 12 years ago in California.

Already she has employed 25 expert needle workers and by Fall her force will number 200, she believes. Her wares are handmade handkerchiefs, towels and children's dresses, fashioned from imported French linen.

Her office is at 1920 Hurley Avenue.

Church Members To Care for Own

A number of church members out of work will be provided with employment by other members of the congregations.

This will be one of the tangible benefits produced by an appeal from Fort Worth pulpits Sunday on behalf of the emergency employment canvass, several pastors reported yesterday to R. E. Squires, secretary, Fort Worth General Ministers' Association.

The canvass of the business section under the leadership of A. F. Townsend will close Thursday. Majors and captains who have not yet reported are urged by the general chairman to utilize the next few days in covering the allotted territory.

Judge R. H. Buck, Associate Justice of Second Civil Appeals Court, Dies

Judge R. H. Buck, 62, associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, Second Supreme Judicial District, died Tuesday at 5 a. m. at his home, 2316 Sixth Avenue. He had been ill about 10 days and suffered a brain hemorrhage Monday night.

Judge Buck was completing his third consecutive term as associate justice and had intended running for a fourth.

Born in Waco on July 8, 1869, he would have celebrated his sixty-third birthday as he entered the Democratic primary for his fourth race, opposed for the first time since his election to the bench.

Judge Buck was seated on the appellate bench on Nov. 4, 1914, about two months ahead of the time he ordinarily would have taken office due to the fact his predecessor, Judge Ocie Speer, resigned on Nov. 3. Judge Buck automatically assumed the place because of his election in the primaries.

Prior to his election Judge Buck had served two terms as judge of the Forty-eighth District Court.

Educated in Waco.

Judge Buck was the son of G. J. Buck, who practiced law in Waco for a number of years after his return from four years' service with the Confederate Army. Judge Buck was educated in the Waco public school, Belton Male Academy at Baylor and in the University of Texas.

To help pay for his education he taught school, worked on a farm for $15 a month and worked on Waco newspapers, serving in various capacities from office boy to editor. In 1891 he married Miss Eula Blackmore and they moved to Fort Worth. In 1893 he was named superintendent of schools in Parker County and moved to Weatherford. He served in that capacity two years, returning here in 1895 to become superintendent of Tarrant County schools, a place he held for two terms.

Later he practiced law as the junior member of the firm of Randle & Buck. From 1900 to 1904 he served as assistant county attorney under Judge O. S. Lattimore, his brother-in-law, and now judge in the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin. Afterward he served eight years as judge of Forty-eighth District Court.

Apparently Was Improved.

Judge Buck was elected president of the Association of Appellate Judges of Texas in 1930 and presided at the association's convention here last year.

He complained of feeling ill about 10 days ago and he and Mrs. Buck went to Mineral Wells for several days. He seemed to be improving until Monday afternoon when he suffered another attack brought on by high blood pressure.

Judge Buck was a member of the Broadway Baptist Church and organized the Buck Bible Class of which he was teacher for many years.

Judge Buck was Past Grand Chancellor, Knights of Pythias of Texas, and Past Supreme Representative.

A called meeting of the Fort Worth and Tarrant County Bar Association was held Tuesday morning in the Forty-eighth District Courtroom, where Judge Buck formerly presided as judge. R. B. Young Jr., association president, appointed floral arrangements and resolutions committees for Judge Buck's funeral. Brandon Stone Jr., Homa S. Hill, Allen Crowley and James Floyd were named on the floral committee and W. P.

Man Member of Church For 50 Years on Sunday

E. J. White Has Been First Methodist Steward for 46 Years.

E. J. White will have been a member of First Methodist Church for 50 years when the pastor pronounces benediction after 11 o'clock services Sunday morning. He will have been a member of the board of stewards for 46 years and treasurer of the church for 16.

White's long association with the first church began when he came to Fort Worth from Tennessee 50 years ago to open a dry goods business. He went to the church the first Sunday he was here and transferred his membership on the second.

First Methodist Church then was holding services in a tiny frame structure at the corner of Fourth and Jones Streets. St. Paul's, the Northern Methodist Church, now merged with the First, was located then at Tenth and Houston Streets. In 1887, a year after White became a steward, the frame building was replaced with a brick and in 1907 the church was moved to Seventh and Taylor Streets on the site vacated last year when First Methodist moved into its new $1,000,000 quarters.

White was president of the Y. M. C. A. board for 10 years and his association with that organization gave him a three-fold interest in the Seventh Street site. The "Y" bought the lot for $5,500 during his term as president. During his term as chairman of the church stewards First Methodist later purchased it for $18,000. He still was on the church board when the lot sold three years ago for $360,000.

White thinks that the value of religion has gone up during the last 50 years as sharply as those of real estate.

White has been steward while a parade of 20 pastors has moved in and out of the church pulpit. Four of the 20, Rev. H. A. Boaz, 1906; Rev. E. D. Mouzon, 1897-1901; Rev. H. M. Dobbs, 1914-1916, and Rev. Sam R. Hay, 1909, since have become bishops.

White came to Fort Worth from the University of Tennessee where he was a classmate of William Gibbs McAdoo. His dry goods business led him to association with Washer Brothers, in which establishment he now is vice president.

McLean, B. F. Bouldin, Chief Justice T. H. Conner of the Court of Civil Appeals, W. D. Smith and R. M. Rowland on the resolutions committee.

The association passed a resolution asking that all courts be closed on the day of Judge Buck's funeral. The Civil Appeals Court will be closed until after the funeral. The two other justices can proceed with the court work if necessary as two members are a quorum. It is customary, however, for the Governor to appoint a justice to serve until the expiration of the present term, which in this instance will be Jan. 1. A new justice will be elected in the July and August primaries.

Funeral services for Judge Buck will be delayed pending arrival of his brother, H. D. Buck, El Paso. Pending completion of arrangements the body is at the home.

Judge Buck is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eula Blackmore Buck; two daughters, Mrs. Adine Lovelace and Miss Eula Buck, and a son, Raymond E. Buck, all of Fort Worth; one other brother, O. H. Buck, Kokomo, Ind., and three sisters, Mrs. Ermine Lattimore, Austin, and Misses Miriam and Nellie Buck, Waco. District Judge Hal S. Lattimore of Fort Worth is a nephew.

FUNERAL HELD FOR JUDGE BUCK

Rev. W. R. White Pays Tribute as Life Reviewed Before Crowd at Church.

Friends in this and other States of R. H. Buck, associate justice of the Second Court of Civil Appeals, yesterday honored the memory of the veteran jurist at funeral services.

His life as a factor in the development of Texas and as a medium in the improvement of his fellow men was reviewed briefly by Rev. W. R. White before a gathering that filled to capacity Broadway Baptist Church.

"Judge Buck has left in this community, this State and in the Southwest a deposit of good that is imperishable," said the pastor.

Burial services were conducted in Greenwood Cemetery by goups of the Fort Worth and Tarrant County Bar Association and the Knights of Pythias.

The Buck Bible Class, which Judge Buck founded and which he taught for many years, attended the services in a group. Members of the bar association and the Knights of Pythias also occupied special sections of the auditorium.

Six members of the Buck Bible Class bore his body to its final resting place. They were Horace McKim, Martin Geary, A. B. Spain Jr., Robert Ball, Wilmot Marshall and R. D. Evans.

Judge Buck served three terms on the appellate bench. Previously he had occupied the district court bench for two terms, and before that he had served as assistant district attorney and county superintendent of schools.

He was a past grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias in Texas.

For six years he was a member of the National Council of Y. M. C. A. and was a director of the Fort Worth "Y" many years. He was born and educated at Waco.

Among out-of-city friends who attended the services were J. Edward Hickman, William Pharner Leslie and O. C. Funderburk of the appellate bench at Eastland, and Judge W. A. Owens, Covington, Tenn., of the Tennessee Court of Civil Appeals.

Judge Buck died early Tuesday at his home, 2316 Sixth Avenue, after a 10-day illness. Death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

Tarrant County Courthouse was closed during services yesterday and district and county courts recessed for the entire day.

Give a Job

WORKERS in the city's drive for employment have issued an appeal for 25,000 persons who will agree to spend $10 each in order to give work to some needy person. The appeal should be speedily answered. There may not be 25,000 homeowners or individuals in the city who have work to be done, but certainly there should be $250,000 worth of work available. This sum, ordinarily small as construction totals go, would provide work for hundreds of men, many who have been without for weeks and months. And a day's work even for a man who has been without is important.

Citizens who have work that needs to be done have an excellent opportunity to benefit themselves and the unemployed at the same time. Prices for all materials are lower than for years past. Labor is abundant; wage scales on such work are not observed. The men will take the jobs at a flat figure. The buyer benefits in the saving and at the same time has the satisfaction of aiding the needy.

Look your own situation over. See if the house doesn't need painting, the roof repairing, the fence fixing or there isn't some work to be done that will give a day's work or two days' work to some man or men. It may not be much, but whatever it is it will help at this time.

The jobless are not floaters or beggars. They are citizens of Fort Worth, men who have lived here for years, who have spent their money when they made it with Fort Worth people, who have paid taxes and contributed their proportionate share to the making of this city. Through conditions beyond their control they have found themselves without work and without jobs. They are not seeking charity. They are seeking work—any kind of job that will provide money for food and shelter for their families. It is the duty of this city to help them to the limit and if a thorough effort is made to find work, the city will be surprised at the amount that can be uncovered in odd jobs and the number that can be aided temporarily at least.

Give a job.

TELEGRAM—EVENING

JOB WORKERS URGED TO MAKE NEW EFFORTS

No appreciable gain in the $110,000 total of pledges to provide work for the unemployed was reported Friday at headquarters of the Emergency Employment Committee at the Chamber of Commerce.

A. F. Townsend, drive chairman, sent a letter to the 126 canvassers who have not turned in pledge cards, urging them to renew their efforts. Cards have been received from only 76 of the workers. It was pointed out that canvassers have been reporting in some cases work already completed. This is an incorrect method, as the pledge cards specifically refer to work to be done, work that could be put off except that the signer desires to help the jobless now.

Many of the jobs pledged will be available for anywhere from one to four months.

"Your co-operation," Townsend wrote, "will be appreciated more than I can say in speeding up the work, which has appeared altogether too slow, I am sure, to a great number of our distressed citizens."

The following campaigners in the district of Maj. Abe Greines have turned in pledge cards and made reports: W. G. Clarkson, Drew S. Clifton, Sterling P. Clark, George M. Clark, W. D. Cecil, Grover C. Cole, O. C. Armstrong, Edward H. Ailes, A. T. Barrett Jr., C. B. Williams, A. C. Barlow, Edward Baker, C. M. Butcher, Roscoe Carnrike, Ralph S. Bishop, Clay J. Berry, N. L. Bryan and J. D. Buckalew.

Pledge cards have been returned by the following workers in the division of Maj. Lewis D. Fox: Ernest Lasker, R. T. Locke, Mrs. Lois Hoskins, Mrs. Violet Kirby, Capt. J. O. Kidd, Howard F. Higby, Daniel Levy, Joe Gans, Giles Gale and W. C. Guthrie.

Workers in the division of Clyde A. Penry who reported, follow: E. S. Wodruff, E. P. White, Dr. B. A. Weideman, Erwin Willis, W. M. Whitley, William H. Wiesehahn, Dr. Nealie E. Ross, Sam Salt, J. W. Shugart, Rev. James Thompson, J. W. Shelton, Judge P. J. Small, W. D. Smith, S. Scott Teel, H. C. Vandervoort, R. A. Smothers.

Additional cards with pledges to provide work have been received from the following:

W. C. Miller, Gulf Pipe Line Company; Fred O. Oberwetter, Gulf Production Company; M. F. Gildart, 1213 West Bewick; Barney B. Holland 825 North Main; H. H. Hillman, 1017 Mulkey; Mrs. H. L. REPORT BY JOB HUNTERS URGED

Townsend Asks Volunteers To Speed Canvass

Press 4/22

An urgent appeal for workers in the job finding canvass to redouble their efforts was issued today by A. F. Townsend, campaign chairman in the employment drive in Fort Worth.

With reports in from less than 50 per cent of the teams, Townsend mailed letters today to 125 volunteers, urging their cooperation in speeding the canvass for jobs.

"The work has appeared altogether too slow, I am sure, to a great many of our distressed citizens," Townsend wrote.

"Won't you, therefore, let nothing prevent your getting in touch with your team mate, complete your assignment and get the pledges back to headquarters as soon as possible."

The work pledge total today stood at slightly over $110,000. It represents the efforts of 40 teams out of the entire 101 teams which took the field 10 days ago.

While campaign leaders had hoped to complete the canvass within a few days, they plan to carry on until reports of some nature are received from each of the 200 workers.

ORDER ARRIVES FOR FREE FLOUR

2250 More Barrels Will Be Ground Here

Press 4/22

Universal Mills, with a government order to grind 2250 barrels of Farm Board wheat into flour, will make its first delivery to the Red Cross commissary Monday, it was announced.

Meanwhile at the commissary, welfare workers were preparing for another heavy call for the free flour as the end of the first two-weeks' period drew near. To date, 5000 bags have been delivered to the commissary or by direct requisition from Bewley Mills.

This leaves 39,000 of the 24½-pound sacks of flour available for needy families in Fort Worth and Tarrant County. Bewley Mills was authorized to grind 3250 barrels, and Universal the remainder of the 5500 allotted to the county.

According to the Red Cross regulations, families of 5 and under are allowed one of the small sacks of flour every two weeks during the 90-day period. Families of more than 5 are entitled to additional requisitions at 10-day intervals.

In some cases where less than three are in the family, the flour is issued every three weeks.

Dr. W. R. White Asked to Fill Houston Church Pulpit

The congregation of the First Baptist Church in Houston has extended an invitation to Dr. W. R. White, pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church, to become its pastor.

Dr. White received the call by long distance telephone last night.

"I appreciate the call. But my personal attitude is that I have no thought of leaving here," Dr. White said. "They just put it up to me and asked me to pray over it."

No definite time was given him in which to answer the call.

Dr. White became pastor of the church here the latter part of August. Before that time, he was secretary to the Texas Baptist convention. During his pastorate here, he has been popular at local affairs and has been a speaker at several of the weekly luncheon clubs.

REV. W. R. WHITE RECEIVES CALL TO HOUSTON

Rev. W. R. White, pastor of Broadway Baptist Church, has received a call to become pastor of First Baptist Church of Houston. He received the call by telephone Wednesday night.

"I can not say right now what action I shall take," he said Thursday. "I have not seriously considered the question. I have been very happy in my work here."

He said that several members of the Houston congregation came to see him, but he was surprised to learn that the whole church had united in making the call.

Rev. Mr. White explained he values the chance for service offered to him in the Broadway church. It is one of the most important churches in the South, he said, and he has enjoyed his work there since he accepted a call in August.

No definite time limit was placed on the call. The Houston church has a new $1,000,000 plant in the center of the city, and has about 500 more members than the Broadway congregation has.

Rev. Mr. White was secretary of the Texas Baptist Convention before he accepted the Fort Worth pastorate. He has spoken before various luncheon clubs and other civic organizations and has taken a leading part in community life.

Final reports also are expected soon from Majs. George D. Fairtrace, Charlie Thompson, Gaylord J. Stone and Lewis D. Fox, according to A. F. Townsend, drive chairman.

ROTARY ASKED TO HELP FIND EMPLOYMENT

Stressing the urgent need for more workers to help the emergency employment committee find work for the jobless, A. F. Townsend, chairman of the campaign, appealed to the Rotary Club at its Friday luncheon to help in this movement.

Other clubs and all persons who have received a letter from this committee should realize it is imperative that the drive against unemployment should get started at once in earnest, Townsend declared.

His speech followed a meeting he had at the Chamber of Commerce with Jack H. Hott, manager; Ralph E. Squires, chairman of the speakers' bureau for the campaign, and Charles G. Cotten, of the chamber staff, who is helping in the drive.

It was decided to have girls in the chamber office call this afternoon those of the 1,585 prospective workers to whom letters were sent the first of the week. So far there have been 127 replies to the letters, with 112 declaring themselves willing to help. But it was decided that a direct telephone call would impress upon the prospective workers the urgency of the call for workers.

One firm will hire 11 men permanently due to the circular campaign of the Job Finders' League last week, Gilbert Wilson, executive board chairman, said at a meeting Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. Building. Three other jobs were obtained in the same way, he explained.

Julien C. Hyer stressed adaptability as an important asset in getting work.

Anyone having work for league members is asked to call the Y. M. C. A.

NEW EGG PLANT EMPLOYS 33 PERSONS

Thirty-three persons were put to work Tuesday by the Fort Worth Poultry and Egg Company in the new egg powder plant. A. F. Townsend, chairman of the Emergency Employment Committee, announced. This gave the company all the help desired, according to John B. Collier, president.

Pastors of a number of Fort Worth churches are working on a plan for each church to take care of its own unemployed members so far as it can, Ralph E. Squires, secretary of the General Ministers Association, said Tuesday.

Appeals were made Sunday from pulpits and in church bulletins and it is planned to continue efforts to provide work.

The Job Finders Club will hear talks by Jack Rattikin and Henry G. Bowden at its weekly meeting at 7 p. m. Thursday at the Y. M. C. A.

Thursday will end the campaign of the Emergency Employment Committee to obtain pledges of work. All reports are to be turned in to Charles G. Cotten at the Chamber of Commerce by then.

From 100 to 200 men line up each day at the United States Employment Service office at 247 West Thirteenth Street looking for work. The number of men far outnumber the jobs.

Anyone with work to be done is requested to call 3-1015.

Truck farmers in previous years have obtained day laborers through the United States office, but so far there have been no calls for these day by day laborers, although it is time for such calls.

Persons having jobs to offer also are requested to notify the Y. M. C. A. or Y. W. C. A., where names of workers are kept on file.

H. S. LATTIMORE ASKS BUCK POST

Ninety-sixth District Judge Announces His Candidacy for Civil Appeals Position.

Hal S. Lattimore, judge of the Ninety-sixth District Court, Saturday announced his candidacy for associate justice of the Second Court of Civil Appeals to fill a vacancy created by the recent death of Judge R. H. Buck.

His announcement follows:

To the Sovereign Voters of the Second Judicial District of Texas:

The termination, by his death, of the notable career of Judge Buck makes it necessary that the people select his successor in the coming primaries for the Court of Civil Appeals of this district. I seek this nomination. Only the respect I have for his memory has withheld my announcing thus long.

My neighbors and friends in Tarrant County, where I was born and reared, know my qualifications. To those in the appellate district who do not know me I can say I have been twice honored by serving two terms as district judge of the Ninety-sixth District, and feel that this experience, added to the previous years spent in practicing law, will enable me to give you the real service of one who desires to write into the body of our judicial law that which will reflect credit upon the court, the writer and the great profession to whose impartial judgment his opinions must look for approval. If promoted to this place I shall do my best to deserve this honor.

During these years on the bench more than 6,000 cases have come before me, ranging over the entire field of civil litigation, involving homes, property, reputation and liberty, some of them where the amount in controversy ran into the millions. Of the judgments rendered by me more than 99 per cent of them stand today unchanged and uncriticized by the higher courts. He who would be a worthy servant of his people to sit in an appellate court to tell the lower courts what to do ought to have had sufficient experience in handling the lower courts to know what to tell them. If elected I intend to throw all the vigor of this, the prime of my life, into the task in the hope that I may co-operate with these other excellent judges on that court, to the end that we may eliminate the necessity of sending any of your business to other districts for adjudication, and thus secure for all the early trial and quick determination of the rights of litigants, which is the safeguard of the innocent and the weak, as it is also the nemesis of the wicked and unscrupulous.

If it be not immodest, may I say that I believe I can contribute to clarifying and construing our judicial law so that it will be strong and harmonious, and the observance of which will be the easier because its pronouncements ring true, and thus bring order out of confusion.

I must say this: I have a heavy docket here, and must do my duty by it. There are 12 counties in this district, and my desire would be to meet the people who do not know me personally and let them judge further by actual sight and hearing as to whether they want me to have this place. What time I can spare I shall have to go afield outside my own county, and will ask my home folk to accept this as my reasonable explanation of why I shall make scant campaign among them. Will you who know me probably better than I know myself, let your friends everywhere know what you think of me, of my qualification, of my fitness? What I am in regard to honors and reputation, you have made me. My eternal gratitude is yours. My pledge to you and the people of this district, upon your faith in my past performance, is that I shall devote myself unstintingly and unswervingly to the discharge of the duties of this high office. I shall do my best.

Candidate

Judge Hal S. Lattimore of the Ninety-sixth District Court, who is a candidate for associate justice of the Second Court of Civil Appeals.

Visitor Tells of Meeting Tiger in Jungle Haunts

When you meet a healthy tiger in his jungle haunts, a tiger fully equipped with teeth, claws and appetite, it is important, says Harry W. White—who has had the experience—to make no false moves.

White was lucky—plenty lucky, he said yesterday. The particular tiger he encountered in Southern India apparently was not hungry. Anyway, after White, armed with only a light shotgun which no tiger respects at all, had stared this tiger fixedly in the eye for two eternities, the animal turned and vanished in the jungle evening.

White, of Indianapolis, who as a member of the Y. M. C. A. international committee has traveled in 25 foreign countries, spoke yesterday before the Rotary Club at The Texas and again with T. M. Elliott, Kansas City, also on the international committee staff, at the Y. M. C. A. late yesterday afternoon.

Should Require Oath.

White went to India the first time when 24, just out of the University of Nebraska. His home at that time was Gainesville, later Fort Worth for a short time. He went to India as an organizer of "Y" clubs.

White thinks there should be an oath administered to Americans leaving for other lands, in which they would pledge themselves to abide by the laws of the country they are going to and to look for no aid from their own government if they wilfully violate a law.

Americans, he said, forget easily that in a foreign country they are representing the American people as a whole and giving those with whom they come in contact a favorable or unfavorable impression of all Americans.

Before the Y. M. C. A. group yesterday White and Elliott described the work of the "Y" in both India and China. Elliott for years directed Y. M. C. A. organization work in Southeast China.

Must Look Eastward.

Receiving no reply when he asked whether a member of the group could name three prominent Chinese, Elliott declared that any gathering of men in China would contain several who could name a dozen leaders of the United States.

"We have been looking the wrong way in getting ready for our foreign relations," said Elliott. "The European era closed in 1492. Our dealings in the future will be with the millions of Asiatic races. Yet, in only three universities of this Nation can courses in the Chinese language or history be obtained."

White, before the same group, recounted the efforts of Gandhi toward social and industrial revolution in India. The Indian leader, he said, is a saint among his people, with a far greater following in numbers than any other living person. Gandhi, he said, is a man of remarkable intelligence and character.

Boy Scout Activity.

THE Boy Scouts are operating under the first year of a 10-year plan which has for its objective 50,000 troops of a minimum of 26 scouts each by Dec. 31, 1942. The total at the beginning of the present year consisted of 28,800 troops containing 868,000 scouts in good standing. The estimate is set for a minimum of 1,500,000 active scouts as a result of the 10-year expansion plan.

The activity marks the beginning of the twenty-second year of the organization's existence. The first group of Boy Scouts are now men 34 years of age. Many of them have sons who are active Boy Scouts this year. In a few more years the Boy Scout fathers of Boy Scout sons will be a factor in human affairs.

Boy Scouts are among the most valuable of social assets. They take to the Scout Code with a seriousness of intent and a loyalty to the oath that never cease to be surprising to those who can not remember distinctly the human nature reactions of their own boyhood. The really surprising feature of scout statistics is the extremely small loss during the probation period. The recruits to the idea have shown Scoutdom to be on a steady increase since the first troop was formed. When more are waiting to join than there are losses by the age limit the condition of the whole is a healthy one.

Between the Boy Scouts and the units of the National Boys' Clubs movement the future of the race appears well provided for. Pride in good deeds, thrift, industry, manliness, health and independence of spirit are elementals which can not lower the racial standards even though the activities prove to be the "gestures" charged by the adult pessimists.

It is better to be the Boy Scouts and Boy Club members one sees in daily practice of the Code, even though it all fails to remain through adolescence, than never to have been Code practitioners. It is entirely reasonable to assume that much of it proves adhesive or there would be a falling off in membership through the years.

In the meantime there are many thousands of men more than 34 years old who would like mightily to know how much of the Boy Scout would have clung to them if they had been fortunate enough to be Boy Scouts instead of being unfortunate in being too old.

And, whereas, the country has been flooded and the general public surfeited with wet propaganda upon the subject, while information in opposition to such a proposal has in great measure been withheld or suppressed, and the public has therefore been misled.

Be it resolved by the General Ministers Association of Fort Worth that if the Chamber of Commerce approves such a movement we invite them to a public discussion, the times and places to be agreed upon, each side to select its own speaker.

45 Boys Will Leave Monday For Y. M. C. A. Encampment

Forty-five boys will leave the Y. M. A. C. building Monday afternoon for the first session of Camp Holland, near Weatherford.

They will return June 20, when the second session will be started. This year, the seventh consecutive camp season, has resulted in the addition of seven new screened cabins, new tennis courts and an arbor to the camp grounds.

Boys who will attend the first session are: Roy Browning, Brownloe White, Dee Finley, Jack Higgins, Wiley Alliston, Mickey Schmidt, William Leach, Weil Barber, Tod Crowley, Barkley Meadows, Frank Thompson, Robert Maddox, Dick Thomsen, Amon Carter Jr., Eddie Purnell, David Belew, Steve Carra, John Graves III, Jimmy Jure, Floyd Kelly, Tommy Hubbell, James Mimms, David Farnsworth, Wayne Templeton, Barney Holland, Bill Marcross, Jim Haden, Lee Housewright, Glen Walden, Lester Hall, Stanley Blount, Bill Everman, Jimmie Schottman, Fred Cruseman, Joseph Ashley, George Stroud, Rex Howard, Irad Cochman, Glenn Camp, Lawrence Schenk, Dayton Blevens, Raymond Kearby, Chester Beckwith, John Veatch and Hubert Crane.

C. G. Fairchild, director of the camp, will be assisted by a staff of 10. Swimming, archery, horseback riding, craftwork, nature study, photography, boxing and wrestling will be taught.

A stunt night will be held once each period, at which parents will be guests and the annual camp carnival will be held June 26. The committee in charge of the camp is composed of W. L. Pier, W. G. Clarkson, Will F. Collins and Dr. Rex Howard.

Y M C A Camp Has Carnival Tonight

Any cyclonic outbursts of laughter ringing out over Camp Holland near Weatherford tonight will mean guests at the "Y" boys' carnival may have recognized themselves.

Boys encamped at the Y. M. C. A. camp on Lake Holland will stage the carnival to raise funds to pay for seven new cabins recently erected on the camp grounds. They will inject the spice of impersonations (take-offs, for the most part on Weatherford friends of the camp), just for the fun of it.

Fifty-six boys, all from Fort Worth, were busy with hammer and nails, paint brushes and carving knives yesterday in preparation for the carnival. They were cutting, carving and painting souvenirs, tacking up booths, raising tents and rehearsing their lines for intercabin stunt competition.

Each cabin group—eight boys—will have from one to three sideshow attractions on the grounds and all will participate in the show under the big tent. Boxing matches, archery exhibitions, fencing and swimming exhibitions will follow each other in rapid succession after 7 p. m.

Parents and friends of the boys in camp and all citizens of Weatherford have been invited to attend.

Workers Club Not to Meet in Summer; Miss Gladney Chosen Vice President.

Dr. Henry G. Bowden, Community Chest executive secretary, last night was elected president of the Fort Worth Social Workers Club at its adjourned sessions until next Fall. Dr. Bowden succeeds A. J. Fulkerson.

Miss Edna Gladney was chosen vice president; Miss Velma De Puy, secretary, and L. L. Manchester, treasurer.

W. N. McCaslin and Mrs. W. H. Davidson were elected members of the club executive committee.

Society was indicted by Prof. Paul Baker, formerly of the sociological department of Texas Christian University, for its neglect of delinquent children. Professor Baker pointed to flaws in the social scheme responsible for the development of criminals.

"If every criminal over 21 were stood against a wall and shot," said the speaker, "in 10 years there would be just as many criminals, who would be just as vicious as there are today."

Criminals, he argued, are not born but are developed through youthful experience. Any child can be made into a good citizen or into a criminal by the experiences through which he passes. Gangs, formed for the convenience and enjoyment of boys, often become bands of criminals as gang members clash with forces of law and organization.

Truancy, continued Professor Baker, should be eliminated if the tendency toward crime is to be curbed. Provision should be made for every child to attend school until graduated. Children removed from the school room soon lose interest entirely in their studies.

"It is encouraging," said Professor Baker, "to notice that newspaper venders on the street corners more and more are adults instead of children."

Training schools, he said, are far from being institutions of correction. Boys sent to these schools appear to become schooled and calloused in the arts of crime. The speaker quoted the head of such an institution in Texas as saying that a youth should not be placed in a training school as long as there is any other place to send him.

Retiring club officers, in addition to Fulkerson, are Baker, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Van Tuyl, secretary, and Miss Ruth Crosby, treasurer. Mrs. E. R. Baldry and Dr. A. H. Flickwir are retiring members of the board.

HAMMOND TO URGE UTILITY CONTROL HERE

Councilman Drafts Ordinance Creating Department of Public Service

A REGULATORY MOVE

Muny Ownership Exponent To Recommend Vickery as Head of New Branch

Dr. W. J. Hammond, city councilman and municipal ownership proponent, today drafted an ordinance to create a new branch of city government, a Department of Public Service, with new regulatory authority over Fort Worth's gas, electric, water, transportation and communication utilities.

He will lay the proposal before City Council Wednesday, and ask its adoption within the next few weeks, Dr. Hammond said.

The new department, to be headed by a Director of Public Service, would answer only to City Council, differing from a similar department of public utilities which was under the city manager before it was abolished in October, 1932.

Recommends Vickery

Dr. Ham[illegible] recommend that City Utility Engineer Al B. Vickery, who was formerly supervisor of public utilities, head the new government branch with one or two associates. The Council will fix salaries.

The Hammond ordinance outlines the following functions of the new department:

1. The director would act as an agent and advisor for the City Council on all matters revelant to the operation of utilities.

2. He would have access to and full authority to inspect, examine and verify utility company accounts and all other records.

3. He would keep cumulative records on new construction, reclamation, extensions, and maintenance of utilities available for City Council, and keep current records from which the Council could "properly regulate the rates, tolls, fares and charges, consistency of service and quality of products and service sold."

Would Rule on Service

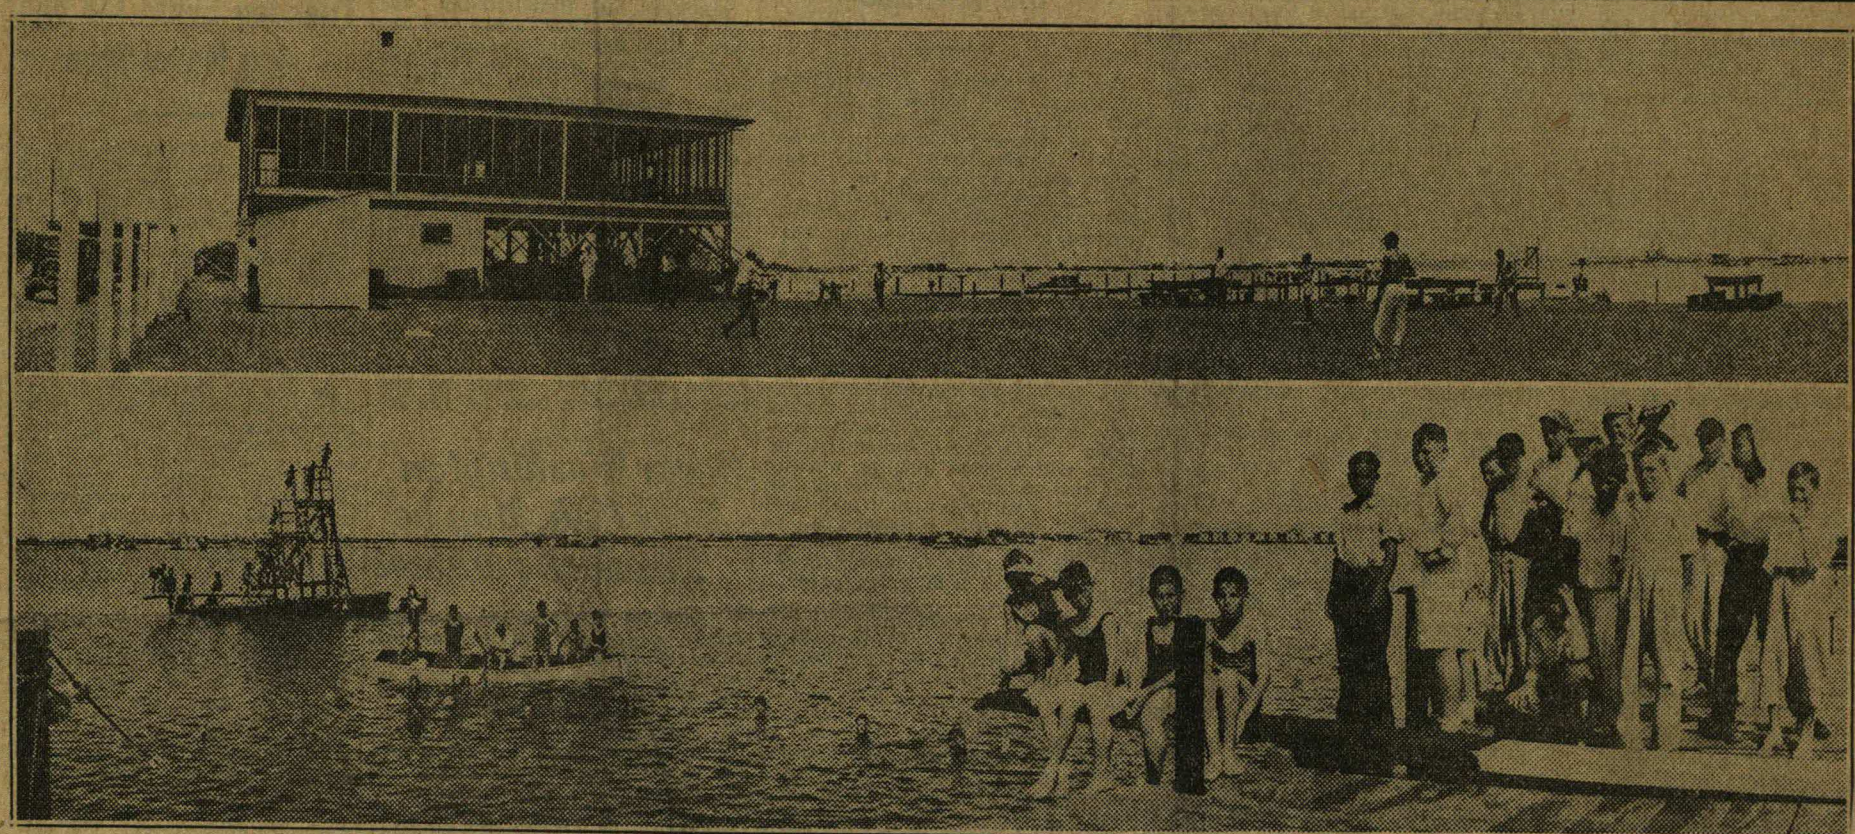
Y.M.C.A. Camp on Offats Bayou Furnishes Unusual Recreation Facilities

Where Island Boys Find Directed Outdoor Athletics



Facilities for recreation for island youths abound at the Y. M. C. A. boys camp down the island on the south shore of Offats Bayou. —Photos by Verkin
Camp scenes above show the airy camp building, the playing grounds and tables for picnic lunches, and a good view of the swimming pier and diving platform. Near t foreground a group of youths are shown boating which runs swimming a close second as the leading outdoor diversion.

AQUATIC SPORTS ARE SUPERVISED

Not Confined Exclusively to Boys

Galveston youths, living as they do on an island surrounded by water, should have little difficulty in finding an "ole swimming hole," to their liking anywhere along the extensive shore where the land meets the water. But to local youths, who are members of the Y. M. C. A., their pet swimming hole is in Offats Bayou, adjoining the Young Men's Christian Association's down-the-island camp for boys.

For nearer than any other spot this body of bayou water more completely typifies the traditional swimming hole boys so often hear their fathers mention when summer's heat kindles natural urge of all boys to go swimming and fathers to reminisce.

At the island camp swimming forms one of the chief diversions. It is not confined to boy members of the Y, and for this reason it is becoming more extensively regarded as ye old swimming hole by numerous Galvestonians.

Here the youths are thrown together in groups which tends to enliven activity incident to a swim. Water games, swimming races, the old "follow the leader" game, diving contests and the always familiar stunt of seeing who can stay under the water the longest are some of the feats practiced diligently by the numerous frequenters of the Y's splendid swimming spot.

The swimming advantages are only part of the privileges of the camp maintained by the Y.

COMFORTABLE HOUSE.

The comfortable housing facilities of the camp building, the cool and not too distant location of the camp, and equipment for other athletic sports, such as boating, baseball, horseshoe pitching, crouquet and other games abound. All of these entertainment advantages are rapidly giving the camp the name of "Galveston's pleasure rendezvous for boys."

The camp is not confined exclusively to boys, although originally arranged for the purpose of providing island youths with a place to find recreation.

Local organizations and clubs and visiting delegations have at various times used the camp, according to E. W. Conway, general secretary of the Y, who was instrumental in the realization of the pleasure ground.

Only just recently a group of boys from Navasota, here for an outing and sightseeing tour, remained at the camp overnight.

A large group of Methodist preachers were tendered the use of the camp a short time ago. Local concerns frequently arrange to secure the camp to give outings for their employes while the facilities are often used by local clubs and organizations. Sunday school classes, Boy Scouts, and local newsboys are others who have used the camp.

The camp building is a raised structure, with locker rooms and a store in the basement or ground floor and a large screened-in room for recreation and sleeping above. At the store soda water, ice cream and candy are available.

The swimming pier extends from the camp building far out into the bayou to a sufficient depth to permit all sorts of diving. A springboard is located at the end of the pier which is also used by the boys for resting and sunning.

One of the numerous improvements made since last summer provides a more comfortable swimming and diving float which is supported by oil barrels donated to the camp by local concerns. Last year only eight barrels supported the float. Six were added this year and help keep the float up to the desired level. The float measures approximately 30 by 40 feet and is one of the most popular items of equipment at the camp. Impromptu swimming races from the pier to the floating platform and back engender a spirit of rivalry conducive to development in the art of swimming.

The float has springboards at various heights on which the youths constantly practice diving. The boards are arranged from heights of four, six and ten feet. The float is anchored about 150 feet off shore.

SAFETY ADVANTAGES.

Officials of the Y. M. C. A. are proud indeed of the safety advantages prevailing at the camp.

In the first place, they pointed out, there is no undertow in Offats Bayou; no large waves to buffet the swimmers. No oil, seaweed or stinging nettles are found in the water adjacent to the camp which assures the youths of a pleasant, clean swim. All "Y" boy members must swim 75 feet at the "Y" pool before they are permitted to swim at camp.

In connection with the use of the camp by women and young girls J. H. Henry of Dallas, state Y. M. C. A. secretary praised the local "Y" for its work following a visit here during which he inspected the camp.

"The Galveston Y. M. C. A.," Mr. Henry said, "is a leader in a movement to provide ladies and their children with supervised recreation combined with boys' camp development."

Mr. Conway explained that women and girls are being taught to swim at the camp by competent instructors. "It is difficult," he said, "for ladies and girls to learn the art of swimming in the gulf because of the waves. The smooth surface of the bayou affords a splendid place to learn to swim."

The camp has become known as the "Y family camp." The camp privileges are open to any group of boys with a recognized leader in addition to boy members of the "Y." Further, the camp may be used by adults.

No charge is made for the boy members of the "Y" or boy groups under 17 years of age. In order to allow this gratis privilege to Galveston boys a plan of financing was devised. Memberships in the "Y" are not necessary for use of the camp, although "Y" members of their families who bring friends are responsible for them, officials said. Those over 17 years of age are extended the use of the camp on payment of nominal sums which range in accordance to the type membership held in the Y. M. C. A.

OVERNIGHT PARTIES.

The camp may be secured for overnight parties by adult groups by giving two days' notice.

Boy members of the "Y" use the camp on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Trucks leave the "Y" at 9:10 a. m. on these days and return at 5:30 p. m., except Saturdays, when the hours for departure to and from the camp are 9 and 11:30 a. m.

Sixty-seven boys reported at the camp for the first officials boys' day, Tuesday, June 7.

Four new boats were purchased by the camp since last season. Only one boat was maintained last year, but interest in rowing among the boys prompted officials to secure more of the rowboats.

During the past winter the camp grounds were leveled off to insure a better playing field for the boys.

Three picnic tables and two fireplaces were added to the camp equipment for the particular benefit of adult camping parties.

50 Youths to Receive Outing Awards Today

BY BESS STEPHENSON,
Staff Correspondent.

WEATHERFORD, June 19. — Awards will be presented to 23 boys tomorrow at Camp Holland, Summer Fort Worth Y. M. C. A. camp near here. The youths are among the 50 who will complete a two-week outing and will be rewarded for their efficiency in swimming, athletics and camp crafts.

The activity awards for athletics will go to Kermit Hynds, Jimmie Haden, Irad Cochran, Glen Walton, Bob Maddox, Frank Agee, George Stroud, Gene Camp, Milton Coffey, Gene Brooks and Roy Browning and for aquatics to Stroud, Laurence Schenck, Amon G. Many of the boys will be staying on in camp, but some will go back to their homes in Fort Worth, lifesaving emblems on their chests and the memories of good times in their heads.

Camp Holland, with a new tennis court and seven new cabins, offers a more alluring haven this year than ever before to young city boys who like to swim, fish, hunt and rough it for two or three weeks every Summer.

Under the guidance of the "Y" staff, and G. A. Holland, Weatherford banker, father to the campers, the boys have spent two weeks toughening their muscles, browning their skin, making new friends and enjoying the thrills of out-of-door sports. They have organized boxing and archery teams and have polished their swimming strokes. They have played baseball and tennis and have lounged during hot afternoons in shaded hammocks and on cool cots.

They have peeled potatoes and cooked bacon over the open fire, and have gone hunting before breakfast for squirrels and rabbits.

Saturday night they invited their parents and friends and all Weatherford to camp for an open-air carnival. The tennis court was covered with a big tent and booths were set up at every cabin. The boys sold souvenirs —pictures of the camp, Popeye dolls, pictures of Holland on watermelons— which they had made in their workshop. They dived expertly, fenced like old gallants of the courts, and shot arrows at the bullseye like Indian braves.

Proceeds of the carnival will be used in paying for the new cabins.

Camp Holland will be open for six weeks. Other boys will be coming out tomorrow night to begin a two or four-week outing.

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED FOR DRY RALLY

The largest assembly ever gathered here by prohibition forces is anticipated by dry leaders for the rally to be held Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Texas Christian University Stadium under the auspices of the General Ministers' Association and the Allied Forces for Prohibition.

Plans for the meeting were completed Wednesday at a called meeting of the ministers' association. Leaders of the A. F. The resolution cited eight claims of the wets as "false" and quoted statements from Government authorities which were intended to prove their contentions. It was concluded with a pledge which read, "furthermore, we will not support any candidate who, himself, is wet in practice or in principle, because every man who drinks aids in the violation of the law."

Ministers Group Takes Stand for Prohibition

Morning Star 7/14/32

Association Adopts Resolution Declaring Wet Propaganda False.

Members of the General Ministers Association in a called meeting yesterday morning sounded their battle cry in the predicted clash over prohibition, adopting a resolution charging voters to take a definite stand against repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The association laid plans for a mass meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday in Texas Christian University stadium.

Rev. S. H. Frazier, retiring president of the association and pastor of Connell Memorial Bapist Church, called the meeting and turned the chairmanship over to Rev. W. H. Coleman, new president and pastor of Polytechnic Methodist Church.

The resolution follows:

"Inasmuch as organized liquor forces of this country are seeking to dominate and control the politics, both national and state, therefore it becomes the solemn duty of every patriot to enter the war 100 per cent for the protection of home, society and particularly is it the God-given duty of every minister of the Gospel, as a watchman on the wall, to lift his voice in protest against the most destructive curse, the liquor traffic, that ever blighted the souls and lives of men, women, boys and girls.

"While we, as ministers, recognize that the liquor issue is pre-eminently a moral question, yet, because of the false propaganda that has been flooding the country, it has been forced upon us to consider the liquor issue as an economic question.

"The false wet propaganda has charged that the prohibition enforcement has increased taxes by costing the Government billions of dollars.

"In answer to this false propaganda we call attention to the official statement of Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition under the Department of Justice, whose testimony before the congressional committee is as follows:

"'Total cost of enforcement, 1920 to 1931, $284,156,524; collections from fines and penalties and revenue from taxes on lawful and distilled and fermented liquors, $548,588,784. The net is a balance in favor of the Government of $264,432,260.'

"False wet propaganda No. 2. It has been charged that prohibition has caused an enormous economic loss.

"In answer we cite the statement of the National Industrial Conference Board, the highest authority in the economic world, its findings as published Feb. 26, 1932, said the following:

"'Total national wealth in 1914 was $192,000,000,000; in 1931 it was $329,700,000,000.'

"False wet propaganda No. 3. The wets say, 'repealing prohibition would put 1,000,000 men at work.'

"In reply we cite the high authority of the Bureau of Business Research College of the City of New York, which said the following:

"'Department of Commerce reported to the Senate Jan. 11, 1932, fn 1914 only 86,000 men employed in the manufacture of liquor. Increased employment in the brewery industry would take that much away from the soft drink trade and there would be no net gain in total employes of all industries.'

"False wet propaganda No. 4. The wets say that 'beer will bring prosperity.'

"In reply we cite the verdict of political economists, among them the outstanding economist, Prof. Thomas Nixon Carver, head professor of political economy, Harvard University, who recently said the following:

"'To encourage the return of the saloon or even let up our efforts to control the drink trade will injure every legitimate industry in two ways: The average worker will have fewer dollars to spend for the products of industry; second, the liquor trade will get more of these dollars which ought to go for useful industries.'

"False wet propanga No. 5. The wets say that 'Beer taxed 3 cents a bottle would produce $1,000,000,000 a year revenue.'

"In reply we cite these self evident figures: To reap this fabulous revenue would require a consumption of 12½ gallons of beer daily by every family in States permitting beer.

False propaganda No. 6. Wets say 'Repealing prohibition would permit the Government to levy an internal revenue tax on liquor amounting to $2,000,000,000 a year.'

"In reply we cite the records of the Treasury Department of the United States Government, which show:

"'The highest liquor tax ever received was $488,000,000, which included a special war tax in 1919. Average year's liquor tax was less than 10 per cent of what wets promise.

"Therefore, the wets are 90 per cent false in their claims of raising taxes.

"False wet propaganda No. 7. Wets say 'Prohibition has lost billions of dollars in taxes to the Government.'

"In reply we give the records of the United States Treasury, which show 'in the first decade of prohibition, although cost of government increased as the country increased, the Government paid off billions of indebtedness and reduced income taxes.'

"False wet propaganda No. 8. Wets say 'Prohibition has increased drinking.'

"In reply we cite the testimony of Col. Woodcock, before the committee of the House of Representatives, Jan. 21, 1932, at which time he testified the following:

"'The Government measured the amount of hops, corn sugar, rye and barley raised and imported, subtracted the amounts used in known legal enterprises and reported the amount of raw material left would make less than a third of the former liquor consumption.'

"Also we cite in reply to the charge that drinking has been increased that high authority, Prof. Irving Fisher, Yale University, in which he says drinking has decreased under prohibition 'by 70 per cent.'

"While recognizing the evils of bootlegging, yet it must not be forgotten that the bootlegger, the illicit still and the speakeasy thrived in the days of the saloon. For example, 40 years ago in 1890, according to the federal licenses, there were 4,000 speakeasies in Philadelphia and 8,000 in New York and in answer to the false wet propaganda that there are 30,000 speakeasies in New York at the present time, recent surveys of the Department of Justice report that there are fewer than 6,000.

"In the days of the open saloon there was one saloon for every 333 persons, including men, women and children; white and black, young and old, or, one saloon for every 65 families.

"To the 2,000,000 new voters that become of age every year and who never saw an open saloon—the young men and young women who vote the first time this year were only 9 when the saloons were closed—we call their attention to the government statistics that the year before the Eighteenth Amendment went into effect, the stupendous, staggering amount of 2,005,000,000 gallons of liquor were consumed in this country.

"It should be borne in mind that there is a powerful organized group which includes many millionaires known as the Association Against Prohibition which has subsidized the wet press and has flooded the country with its false propaganda for the sole and evident purpose to make still other millions out of the wholesale liquor and beer business.

"We urge all who stand for prohibition to go to the polls on Saturday, July 23, and there to vote for none but candidates who can be depended on to stand for the maintenance and enforcement of dry legislation, and to vote against the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"The main battle front is in our National Congress. A dry majority in Congress is essential to the maintenance and enforcement of dry legislation. Therefore, we urge prohibitionists to special effort to see to it that none but dry candidates are sent to our National Congress, men who will work for and vote for the maintenance of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Furthermore, we will not support any candidate who, himself, is wet in practice or in principle, because every man who drinks aids in the violation of the law."

DRY CANDIDATE LISTS SELECTED BY ALVIN MOODY

Erskine Williams Is Given Support Along With B. D. Sartin

A list of dry candidates for congressman-at-large was published and their election advocated today by Alvin S. Moody, chairman of the Anti-Tammay Democrats of Texas and vice chairman of the Allied Campaigners of Houston.

Moody said his list was prepared because "so many friends of prohibition in Texas are in need of sound information on the standing of numerous candidates for congressman-at-large." The names presented, he said, were "suggestions."

Williams Recommended.

For Place No. 1, Moody recommends W. Erskine Williams of Fort Worth, and E. G. Senter as the strongest candidates for the "dry" forces. He suggested George B. Terrell and Sherman Nelson as weaker candidates. Moody asked "dry" forces to center their votes on Williams.

Choice for Place No. 2 was B. D. Sartin. Moody urged united support for him. Moody said it would be better to "center our support on Sartin rather than the veteran Cyclone Davis" and expressed regret at being unable to advocate Mrs. Phebe K. Warner for election.

For Sterling Strong.

For position No. 3 Moody said several candidates, Sterling P. Strong, Mrs. Fred Real, A. H. King and Julian Hyer, all deserved the support of dry voters. He urged, however, that dry forces unite to elect Strong.

In concluding his statement, Moody "urged" all "our dry friends to take care to determine the stand of candidates on the liquor question" in the district races and "be sure that only drys are returned to Congress from Texas."

A Deserved Promotion

TWO TARRANT COUNTY citizens are offering for the office of Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at Fort Worth.

Both are respected members of the local bar and worthy of the serious consideration of the citizens of this county at the coming primary elections.

One of these, Judge Hal S. Lattimore, has been actively engaged in the practice of law for the past 18 years and during the last eight years has served on the District Bench of Tarrant County.

The other is C. C. Gumm, a practicing attorney for the past 20 years and war-time manager of the Chamber of Commerce who was instrumental in obtaining the location of Camp Bowie at Fort Worth.

The average voter is inclined to view with indifference the importance of selecting men who are capable, experienced and efficient to the bench of this state.

The Court of Civil Appeals at Fort Worth is an important public office, and all of the cases which are appealed in this district usually, sooner or later, come before this court for review. The fact that this court is somewhat obscure does not relieve the average citizen from the obligation of selecting the most competent man available to discharge the duties thereof.

Judge Lattimore is committed to a definite program of economy, industry and efficiency, and by reason of his eight years of trial court experience The Press believes him to be qualified to serve as associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals.

This indorsement carries with it no reflection upon the ability of Mr. Gumm. On the contrary, his legal and business experience makes him a logical candidate for the position.

Judge Lattimore, however, has proven his merits as a public officer during his four terms on the district bench, and because of his excellent record there we believe he is entitled to the promotion he seeks to the Court of Civil Appeals.

DRY WARRIORS PARADE TODAY

Young people of Fort Worth lined up with their dry elders today to outdo the demonstration staged downtown yesterday by advocates of prohibition repeal.

Plans for a parade and temperance rally tonight recalled days of the open saloon when wearers of the white ribbon joined hands with church workers to outlaw the liquor traffic.

Sponsored by the General Ministers Association and the Allied Forces for Prohibition, a rally in TCU Stadium at 8 p. m. will be preceded by a parade of young people thru the business district and to TCU Hill.

Old Songs Revived

Rev. E. H. Lightfoot, pastor of Hemphill Heights Methodist Church, is in charge of the parade. Clarence Johnson, president of the Baptist Young People's Union, will be parade marshal.

The dry advocates have revived pre-Volstead battlesongs for the bands to play in the parade and the assembly to sing at the stadium rally.

Among the old favorites to be heard are The World Is Going Dry, The Fight Is On, Work for Law Enforcement, and The Brewer's Big Horse.

Temperance Will Win Again, and We're Going to Hang John Barleycorn to a Sour Apple Tree are two new songs, recently written for the occasion.

Mass Singing

The parade will form at the Recreation Building at 6 p. m. At 6:30 the line of cars will move off toward the business district.

Rev. L. N. D. Wells, pastor of the East Dallas Christian Church, will be the principal speaker at the TCU meeting. He will be introduced by Dr. W. H. Coleman, General Ministers Association president.

J. R. Edwards, lay leader of the Central Texas Methodist Conference, is rally chairman. E. L. Carnett will lead the mass singing.

Instructions to young voters will will be given by Cato Sells.

Others on the parade steering committee are John Brooks, Epworth League president; Miss Marion Pemberton, Christian Endeavor president; Patrick Henry Jr., president of the Allied Youth in Tarrant County; Dr. W. R. White, L. O. Leet, E. E. Bean, F. B. Porter, C. O. Shugart, C. E. Matthews, Dr. Tom Brabham, John Caylor, Patrick Henry Sr., and Drude Milligan.

PASTOR TO SPEAK ON CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

Because of the nearness of the first Democratic primary and the wide interest in governmental matters, Rev. W. R. White, pastor of Broadway Baptist Church, will preach this morning at 11 o'clock on Christian citizenship.

"It is hoped that this timely subject will be of interest both to politicians and voters," Rev. Mr. White said. "It is my belief that the good citizen will have an interest in governmental affairs and that he will express that interest by being amenable to the laws himself, interested in legislation and active in his support of law enforcement."

DRY RALLY TO DRAW VISITORS

Delegations from practically every town in Tarrant County and several nearby cities are expected here for the prohibition rally tonight at 8 o'clock in the Texas Christian University Stadium.

Several of the visiting groups likely will arrive in time to participate in a dry parade to be staged at 6 o'clock, according to Clarence Johnston, parade marshal. The paraders are asked to meet at the Recreation Building at 5:30 o'clock.

Singing the temperance songs of 12 years ago to the accompaniment of a half dozen church orchestras, the marchers will move north on Main Street to the courthouse, south on Houston to South Main, along that street to Magnolia Avenue, west on Magnolia to Eighth Avenue and thence to the stadium. Several hundred automobiles and a number of floats are signed up for the parade.

At the stadium the entire group will be led in a number of new temperance songs as well as the old battle hymns of the dry forces. E. L. Carnett will lead the singing.

The principal address will be delivered by Rev. L. N. D. Wells of Dallas. He will be introduced by Rev. William H. Coleman, president of the General Ministers Association. The meeting is sponsored jointly by the ministers association and the Allied Forces for Prohibition. J. R. Edwards, layman's leader of the Central Texas Methodist Conference, will preside.

Cato Sells will discuss the vote of the dry forces in the coming elections and introduce resolutions dealing with issues in the political campaign.

Rev. James K. Thompson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will give the invocation, and the benediction will be pronounced by E. E. Bean, a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist. Rev. W. R. White, pastor of Broadway Baptist Church, is program chairman.

CRUSADERS' STATE SLATE ANNOUNCED

Plans Also Are Completed for Repeal Parade to Be Held Monday Afternoon.

Plans were made for a "repeal parade" to be held Monday and a state slate was announced Saturday by the Crusaders, national organization for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The parade, which will start at 3 p. m. from in front of the Recreation Building, will be preceded at noon by a luncheon in honor of 18 professors who are members of the Prohibition Research Committee. They are making a tour of the country and were in El Paso Saturday. Fort Worth is their only other Texas stop and for that reason the parade here will be of statewide interest, according to Wilbur D. Bacon, San Antonio, state director of the Crusaders.

"Because we believe that a change in the prohibition laws represents the only legislative act that can be undertaken by the National Congress or State Legislature to relieve the unemployment and the tax crisis confronting our Nation, we urge that you vote for and help elect those candidates listed as favoring a change," Bacon said.

Supported by Women.

"The slate named today also has the support of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform and the Federal Dispensary and Tax Reduction League."

Bacon said the following candidates are wets and are in sympathy with the Crusaders' movement for repeal: Congressman-at-large, Place No. 1, Lawrence Westbrook, Ida M. Darden, Chesley W. Jurney and W. Seldon Reed; Place No. 2, Joseph W. Bailey Jr. and L. J. Sulak; Place No. 3, Monte Warner, W. E. (Bill) Lea, Joe Burkett, William Sasse and Douglas W. McGregor; for district Congressman, Walter J. Reid, Mrs. Florence G. Rodgers, W. A. Fred Cook, Joe E. Eagle, James P. Buchanan, Albert Baskin, Richard M. Kleberg and Dan M. Jackson.

The following are listed by Bacon as dry and those who favor repeal and the Crusaders' movement are advised by him to scratch these names off: Congressman-at-large, Place No. 1, Mrs. Alex L. Adams and George B. Terrell; Place No. 2, C. H. Davis, W. H. Hawkins and B. D. Sartin; Place No. 3, Sterling P. Strong and Mrs. Fred Real; district Congressman, Hatton W. Summers, Clay Stone Briggs, Daniel E. Garrett, Merton L. Harris, Fritz G. Lanham, Thurman Barrett and E. Ewing Thomason.

Dallas Group to Attend.

Mrs. Rodgers and a group of Dallas women will attend the luncheon and take part in the parade. Mrs. Franklyn E. Wolfe and Miss Frances McKenna will help the Dallas visitors conduct registration booths Monday and Tuesday at The Texas, the Blackstone, The Worth and The Westbrook. Persons desiring to join the movement will be signed up by them.

Walter P. Luck, commander of the Fort Worth post of the Crusaders, will preside at the luncheon.

Only automobiles will be in the parade. Cars will assemble at 2:30. The line of march will be up Main Street to the Courthouse, over to Houston and down that street to Twelfth

DRYS TO OUTDO WETS IN PARADE

Friends of Prohibition To Turn Out En Masse

Militant drys of Fort Worth were prepared today to meet their wet opponents on even terms in the controversy over repeal of the 18th Amendment.

Today's repeal demonstration will be followed by a similar parade by advocates of continued prohibition and a rally at TCU stadium tomorrow night.

In Charge

Rev. E. H. Lightfoot, in charge of the parade which dry organizations will stage in Fort Worth at 6 o'clock tonight preceding a mass meeting at the T. C. U. stadium.

DRYS ARE TO MARCH TONIGHT

Old temperance battlesongs, more or less dormant for 12 years, will ring out at 6 o'clock tonight when exponents of the dry cause, following three bands and half a dozen small church orchestras, begin their downtown parade.

The parade, sponsored by young people of churches in Tarrant County, will lead up to a mass meeting at Texas Christian University Stadium at 8 p. m. At the stadium again, it will be the once famous martial music of temperance leaders which will soar toward the moonlit sky.

"Work for Law Enforcement," "The World Is Going Dry," "The Brewer's Big Horses" and "The Fight Is On" — those will be among the old favorites. Two new temperance songs, however, have been written especially for the occasion — "We're Going to Hang John Barleycorn on a Sour Apple Tree" and "Temperance Will Win Again."

Young people from almost every church in Fort Worth and from Handley, Arlington, Grapevine, Kennedale, Mansfield and other outlying communities will participate in the parade tonight. They will lead the line of march in temperance floats, and will be followed by several hundred cars of adult drys, Rev. E. H. Lightfoot, parade committeeman, said yesterday.

The line of march will begin at Recreation Building. Paraders will move north on Main Street to the Courthouse, return by Houston Street to South Main and out to Magnolia Avenue. At Magnolia the column will turn west to Eighth Avenue and thence to the stadium.

The mass meeting is being sponsored by the General Ministers' Association of Fort Worth and the local Allied Forces for Prohibition. Rev. L. N. D. Ellis, Dallas pastor, will deliver the principal address. J. R. Edwards, lay leader of Central Texas Methodist Conference, will be chairman.

Clarence Johnson, president of Fort Worth Baptist Young People, will be parade marshal.

Instructions for voting will be given at the mass meeting by Cato Sells. Rev. Mr. Wells will be introduced by Rev. W. H. Coleman, president of the ministers' association. Invocation will be by Rev. James K. Thompson and benediction by E. E. Bean of the First Church of Christ, Scientist. Dr. W. R. White is chairman of the program committee.

DRY FORCES OF TARRANT MEET

Militant and strong in numbers despite the rain, dry forces of Tarrant County mobilized last night to defeat wet candidates for Congress in the Democratic primary Saturday.

From a long column of automobiles that moved in a dry parade over downtown streets around 7 o'clock and from the rostrum in T. C. U. auditorium an hour later, the prohibitionists aimed a broadside at advocates of repeal.

The parade began at Rio Grande Avenue, moved north on Main Street and back south on Houston, the two ends meeting for a moment at the South Main Street underpass. Speakers at the rally later said 285 cars were counted in the parade—a figure which gave rise to numerous comparisons with the wet parade on Monday.

One other aspect of the parade also brought comparisons from Rev. J. Leslie Finnell, who made the offertory address at the mass meeting.

"I am told that this Diogenes group," he said, "were met immediately by the police and escorted with every courtesy and dispatch through the streets of our city. The police kept us waiting for 45 minutes without protection. We never had a police escort."

Cato Sells Denounces Press.

Rev. L. N. D. Wells, pastor of the East Dallas Christian Church, principal speaker of the evening, said that he was "glad to see that Fort Worth police know where they're needed most," adding that "there's no real necessity for policemen in a dry parade."

The parade led to Texas Christian University Stadium, where the drys would have held the mass meeting but for rain that already had muddied the ground and soaked the open air benches. After a well-sprinkled trumpeter had dallied with the tune "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More" for some 20 minutes, the group moved in a body to the chapel.

Rev. W. R. White, pastor of Broadway Baptist Church, opened the meeting, and turned the chair over to J. R. Edwards, Central Texas Methodist Conference lay leader. Dean Colby D. Hall led invocation and E. L. Carnett led the housefull of prohibitionists in lusty singing of temperance songs and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Cato Sells was the first speaker. Ringing down a denunciation of a wet press—as did every other speaker of the evening—Sells urged his listeners to seek out trustworthy information about candidates for Congress.

Change of Only 16.

"The fate of prohibition for the next 20 years is likely to be determined in congressional elections this year," he said. "As far as Texas is concerned, it is not the election in November, but the election five days from now that counts. A change of 16 Congressmen from dry to wet would give America over to the insidious forces of the wets."

Sells reminded the group that in this district there is "one very wet and one very dry candidate for Congress," and that the drys must be culled from the wets in the three races for Congressman-at-Large. He dropped the same hint with regard to the office of county Democratic chairman.

Rev. Mr. Wells took up in orderly succession all the arguments brought forward by repealists and slashed them with the knife of prohibition reasoning. He answered the arguments of prohibition failure, demoralization of youth, "beer and prosperity" and beer for taxation. He, too, charged that the wet forces had "poisoned the wells of information"—the newspapers.

"Remember," he said, "that if the Government is to get its revenue from this shameful traffic, we must furnish the boys and the girls to drink $1,000 worth of booze for every $100 the Government will get."

Automobiles in the parade also answered wet slogans with dry ones. Their banners shouted "Bread not beer" and "Jobs not Jags."

Committee Plans Y. W. C. A. Fall Activities

The policies and plans for the Fall activities of the various departments of the Y. W. C. A. are being considered by a committee composed of Misses Grace Richardson, Lillian Preston, Janet Straiton, Velma Farris, Inez Gilbert, Eloise Lindsey, Julia Williams and Jacque Hampton.

Among the projects the committee is studying and which have been requested for the Fall program include citizenship, current events, contract bridge, book reviewing, ballroom dancing, business English, public speaking, journalism, Spanish, psychology and various sports.

The sponsorship plan, inaugurated last year, will be continued, the committee has decided. This plan places the success of each project on an individual sponsor. A dramatic art club is being contemplated, provided a sufficient enrollment is obtained and a suitable rehearsal stage is available. A complete health education and physical training program is being outlined by Miss Preston, director of that department.

Attention Called To Dry Attitudes

Calling attention of dry voters of Tarrant County to the prohibition attitudes of candidates for four congressional places, Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth, district president of the W. C. T. U., said yesterday that her organization will support only those "personally and politically dry."

Candidates with W. C. T. U. indorsement are: Congressman-at-Large, Place No. 1, W. Erskine Williams, Fort Worth, ("Places his convictions on moral issues always above questions of expediency"); George B. Terrell, Alto, ("Votes dry"); E. G. Senter, Arlington, ("Dry").

Congressman-at-Large, Place No. 2: Mrs. Alex L. Adams, San Antonio, ("For Eighteenth Amendment and law enforcement but favors resubmission if majority gotes that way"); Pink Parrish, Lubbock, ("Always voted for prohibition and still contends it's been successful").

Congressman-at-Large, Place No. 3: Sterling P. Strong, Dallas, ("Life-long militant dry"); Mrs. Fred Real, Kerrville, ("Favors submission but not repeal"); A. H. King, Throckmorton, ("Dry"); and Julien C. Hyer, Fort Worth, ("Dry").

Congressman, Twelfth District, Fritz Lanham, Fort Worth.

WELFARE WORK WAR-TIME JOB, BAKER SAYS

Former Secretary of War To Head National Social Service Body

By United Press.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 1.—The mobilization of welfare and relief work for next year was described today by Newton D. Baker as a "war-time" emergency job.

The former secretary of war was appointed chairman of a national citizens' committee for welfare and relief mobilization for 1932 to direct the work of caring for the country's needy.

In an exclusive interview with the United Press, Baker said he believed the fortunes of our civilization are closely knit with the salvaging of the recreative and ameliorative work which has been maintained by community funds and private welfare agencies.

Two Tasks.

"The national citizens committee now has two primary jobs," Baker said.

"First, to make our people realize that the $300,000,000 voted by the federal government does not do the whole job. It will help enormously, but it will not take the place of the community funds.

"Second, that social work other than relief, particularly all the character building and character preserving work, must not be scrapped.

"This work is not a luxury of the rich, it is more than something set up to salve the consciences of those who have made money. It is an essential reconciliation of our industrial system to the needs of humanity.

Must Be Preserved.

"This expert work must not be lost. It is more than charity. It is a bulwark against character starvation. This is at least as important as the menace of physical starvation.

"The people must be fed. Tax funds, federal and state, will have to bear a large part of that. But even for relief, tax funds will have to have important assistance from the community funds.

"And not even for this year must social work other than relief be scrapped. To permit the forces of social work to be scattered and demoralized would be a national disaster."

BIG SPLASH IS DUE AT 'Y' POOL

Families of Members Will Be Guests

Officers of the YMCA today were preparing for the big splash of the season Saturday night at their indoor swimming pool.

The occasion is visitors' night. Wives, sweethearts and children of members will be guests at the pool.

C. P. Penrose, activity manager, announced the innovation. It is in line with recent privileges offered women and others outside the organization.

Woman's swimming and diving classes are held at the "Y" pool each Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning, under the direction of Jack Allphin.

"Women are taking part in everything these days, and YMCA activities are not to be excepted," said Ralph Squires, secretary.

Started May 15 with 10 members, the swimming class for women has grown to 35. All were novices at the outset, but have learned most of the ABC's of the aquatic art at their triweekly lessons.

On Tuesday and Thursday nights, the "Y" instructor conducts a class of 40 YWCA girls. He expects at least six of these to pass the Red Cross tests soon.

"Women make very good and apt pupils, once you get them accustomed to the water," Allphin said. "If they make up their minds to learn, they either do it or bust a hamstring trying."

SATURDAY FAMILY NIGHT AT Y POOL

Jack Allphin, swimming instructor, will be in charge of the swimming and will also give instructions.

GALVESTON, BEAUMONT 'Y' NETTERS VICTORIOUS

GALVESTON, Aug. 20.—Galveston and Beaumont walked away with honors here Saturday in the annual state Y. M. C. A. tennis championships, Henry Clifton of Beaumont capturing the senior singles title and the senior doubles and junior singles going to Galveston entries. George Juneman and Herbert Cartwright repeated the doubles victory of a year ago, while Shirley Forsgard was the junior singles winner.

Clifton beat a fellow townsman, Walter Walton, for the senior singles title, after the Galveston entry, William Boening, had defaulted to Walton in the semifinals, with the play standing 2-6, 6-1, 4-4. Boening defaulted because of a cramp in his leg.

Juneman and Cartwright defeated McKinley and Walker of Beaumont for the senior doubles crown, 4-6, 6-0, 6-0, while Forsgard won the junior singles over Kyle Alford of Beaumont, 6-3, 6-3.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON ENDED AT BOYS CAMP

The Fort Worth Y. M. C. A. boys' camp at Holland's Lake, near Weatherford, closed its most successful season recently, 190 boys and leaders having attended the various periods from June 3 to July 19, according to a report prepared and announced Friday by W. L. Pier, chairman of the boys' committee for the Y. M. C. A.

The financial report of the camp stated that the camp this year lacked only $14.67 of being self-supporting.

Improvements this year included seven new screened cabins, a water system and showers and a new cook stove. A new entrance to the camp was provided by Mrs. C. B. Whitehead. G. A. Holland, who owns the campsite, built the boys a brush arbor, providing shade for handcraft classes. A new tennis court was built and Kenneth Pier, one of the councillors, constructed an aquarium.

Expressions of appreciation were extended to Holland, F. C. Cruseman, Dr. Rex Howard, R. M. Harris, W. P. Camp, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson Jr., Jack Allphin, M. O. Boring, W. G. Clarkson, Dr. Phil Simmons, A. Browning, Jack Roe and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Reeder for their special efforts in behalf of the camp.

YOUNG MEN SHOULD STAY HOME

Star T 9-3-32

REPORTS from federal sources in Washington are that fully 300,000 young men and boys are wandering aimlessly about the country this Summer, "bumming" without the slightest notion of what is ahead of them. Uprooted by the depression, many of these youngsters originally set out in the hope that they could find work in the next town, or if not there in the next town after that. In almost every case they were disappointed; now they are simply wanderers, homeless and penniless, constituting an ever growing problem.

It is vitally important that young men this Summer be made to see that it is better for them and everyone else that they stay at home. The chances are 100 to 1 they will not better themselves by going away, unless they have a very definite promise of a permanent job. On the other hand, the chances are 100 to 1 that when a job opens for them it will be at home.

There is a permanent army of panhandlers, vagrants who do not wish to work. Its existence is a sufficient tax on the public, without having added to it these young recruits whose social and moral deterioration is to be deplored.

EGRAM—SUNDAY

Y. M. C. A. SLICES BUDGET $2,500

Salaries Are Cut and Two Minor Staff Members Are Dismissed by Board.

The first step in reduction of overhead and operating expenses of the Young Men's Christian Association was taken by the association's board of directors yesterday afternoon when they met in a called session and sliced $2,500 from the budget.

It was indicated that the reductions would become effective immediately. The action of the directors provided for reductions in salaries for all members of the staff from the general secretary down and ordered the dismissal of two minor staff members.

The salary reductions amounted to $1,400 and the other $1,100 saving was made in reducing support of the local association's state and national Y. M. C. A. council memberships. Discontinuance of the memberships of Ralph E. Squires, general secretary, in the Fort Worth Club and in the Rotary Club, both of which memberships are supported by the association, also was discussed.

The meeting yesterday was the second the directors have held in two days and other sessions are planned for next week. Judge Hal S. Lattimore, president, presided over yesterday's meeting.

Four of the executive members of the "Y" staff were in Houston yesterday attending a Y. M. C. A. conference. They are: General Secretary Squires; C. P. Penrose, membership secretary; C. G. Fairchild, boys' work secretary, and R. Paul Fowler, physical director. B. B. Longacre is business secretary.

The "Y" is a member of the Community Chest and is budgeted for about $23,000 support for this fiscal year. The directors took their action for several reasons, among which, it is understood, was the objection of chest officials to a gradually increasing indebtedness which likely would call for a request for an increase in appropriation next year instead of the desired reduction, and the urgent need for payments on the Y. M. C. A. building debt.

The directors hope to have all of their problems ironed out within the next week or 10 days so that all of their attention can be given to the annual "Y" membership campaign, scheduled for Sept. 26-30.

School Intermediate Girls Quartet.

Workers in the annual Y. M. C. A. membership roundup will meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. Building to plan for the drive, which will start at a dinner Monday night and continue through Friday.

MINISTERS ARE WARNED OF 'IRON FIST'

Italy will come to grief under the leadership of Benito Mussolini because of his iron-fisted policies, members of the General Ministers Association were told Monday by Rev. B. M. Jackson, pastor of College Avenue Baptist Church, at the monthly meeting of the Association at First Christian Church.

"The price of leadership is love and tenderness, faith in the people and consecration to a worthwhile task," Rev. Mr. Jackson said. "Mussolini, in my opinion, will lose out because there is nothing of love and tenderness in him. He rules with an iron hand."

The speaker cited that only men who had faith in God have made successful leaders. He urged the ministers to pay the price of real leadership in the work of the church.

Rev. W. H. Coleman, association president, announced committees for the year. In response to a request of Henry G. Bowden, executive secretary of the Community Chest, the ministers set Sunday, Oct. 30, as "Chest Sunday" in the churches.

Supt. Sam Mayfield of the Union Gospel Mission invited the pastors to attend a reception Saturday night for Evangelist Billy Sunday who will speak here Sunday. The ministers voted to observe next week as a Week of Prayer.

The committees for the year are:

Program—Rev. W. R. White, chairman; Revs. E. H. Lightfoot, D. F. McConnell, J. Leslie Finnell, C. M. Stubblefield and Amos T. Lundquist.

Representative, Council of Social Agencies—Rev. J. K. Thompson.

Pre-Easter Plans—Rev. L. D. Anderson, chairman; Revs. C. E. Matthews, A. E. Anderson, A. W. Hall and S. T. McKinney.

RED TRIANGLE'S ROUNDUP STARTS

Y.M.C.A. Cowboys Hunt 400 Mavericks in Drive

Cowboys of the Red Triangle Ranch, YMCA, were combing the canyons of downtown Fort Worth today for 400 "mavericks" in the annual roundup of the organization.

The cowboys were told to rope in the "mavericks" and put the Red Triangle brand on them at the opening of the campaign last night at a dinner at the "Y" building. The drive will last for four days.

Principal speakers last night were Judge Hal Lattimore, president of the local association; H. G. Parr, campaign chairman; Homer Tomlinson, associate director; John Henry, state secretary of Dallas; Dr. H. G. Bowden, secretary of the Community Chest. The invocation was given by Rev. W. H. Coleman of the Poly Methodist Church.

Music was furnished by a quartet made up of Jesse Martin, D. G. Griffin, A. J. Wiley and R. A. Dogg.

'Big Herd' Sought in 'Y' Roundup

With 33 "mavericks" corraled and branded as a result of their first day's efforts, workers in the annual membership roundup of the Y. M. C. A., Wednesday morning set out in quest of "the big herd." The second report on new members was to be made after a luncheon Wednesday at noon at the Y.

H. G. Parr, "big boss" of the roundup, complimented the workers on their results for the first report Tuesday noon and set a goal of 100 additional members for the second report. The goal for the campaign, which will be concluded Friday with a barbecue and victory celebration, is 400.

Others on Tuesday's report program were John Henry, Dallas, state Y. M. C. A. secretary; Homer Tomlinson, Rev. James K. Thompson and R. E. Squires, general secretary of the Y. The O. K. Ranch group, led by I. B. White, took the lead in the team contest with 108½ points. Dewitt Morgan and his Bar-B-Q Ranch "hands" were next with 99 points. Y.M.C.A. ANNUAL DRIVE IS BEGUN

The opening gun was fired in the Y. M. C. A.'s annual roundup to corral 400 members at a dinner at the Y. M. C. A. Building last night.

H. G. Parr, "big boss" in the present drive, was the first maverick to be branded. He paid for a $25 membership and was enrolled as the first new member secured this year by the 100 workers who will participate.

"The Y. M. C. A. will never be a self-supporting institution as long as it is an aid to the community and does a correct amount of character building," Judge Hal S. Lattimore told the assembled workers. Lattimore, president of the board of the organization, told of many instances where the "Y" had been successful in aiding young men.

"The Nation is no stronger than the characters at its head," Parr said. "We need more character building institutions such as the Y. M. C. A. in the Nation today. When old and experienced financiers go 'haywire,' what can we expect from the young men here? They need the 'Y' more now than ever before."

Other speakers were Dr. H. G. Bowden, executive secretary of the Fort Worth Community Chest; John Henry, state Y. M. C. A. secretary, and Homer Tomlinson, associate big boss, who was in charge of last year's drive. Dr. Bowden declared character building institutions such as the Y. M. C. A. were as necessary to the Nation as were agencies that fed the starving. This year, the institutions will need help as never before, he added.

Reports on the drive will be made at luncheons to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Building each day at 12:10 o'clock. The first report luncheon will be held today. Workers are divided into ranches and each group is headed by a foreman.

The four section leaders and their divisions are: A. E. Rankin, OOO Ranch; I. B. White, O. K. Ranch; DeWitt Morgan, Barbecue Ranch; and Bill Gatton, Three D Ranch.

SPEED URGED IN YMCA DRIVE

"It will be a reflection upon the City of Fort Worth if this round-up fails," Lynn Squires told workers in the Y. M. C. A.'s annual membership drive at a luncheon at the Y building yesterday.

"In time of need I have noticed we start cutting down on expenses where it will hurt us most," he said. "If we reduce the operating expenses of this institution, it will be a blot on the credit of the community.

"It is due our citizenship is not as well sold on the Y as it should be. All of you workers are salesmen, selling the community an institution which will insure its future or make for its downfall if neglected," he said.

Thirty-two new members were reported at the roundup, making a total of 65 secured in the drive. Workers have two more days to go to secure the goal of 400 set by the executive board of the institution.

"History will repeat itself," John Henry, state secretary, said. "Last year we reported very few new members on the first two days of the drive, but we were strong at the finish. I am confident we will surpass the goal set for us when we make the final report Friday night."

I. B. White's O. K. Ranch continued to set the pace in the division contest. It won the contest flag again yesterday with a total of 168 points. H. A. Meierding's team won the team contest with 92 points, and Glenn Rothell, member of the same team, was high individual with 40½ points.

The final report luncheon will be held at 12:10 o'clock today. Final reports on the drive will be made at a barbecue tomorrow night.

'Y' WRANGLERS START AFTER MAVERICKS

With irons heated in a sizzling rally Monday night at the Y. M. C. A., wranglers in the annual Y membership roundup Monday set forth in search of mavericks to brand.

The 100 workers in the drive to corral 400 new members were to make their first reports after a luncheon Tuesday noon. Three other reports will be made this week, two at luncheons Wednesday and Thursday and the final one at a victory rally Friday night when a "chuck wagon" barbecue will be held.

Speakers at the Monday night meeting reviewed the work of the Y here in the last 20 years and urged the necessity of interesting a greater number of individuals in its welfare if the association is to continue a high standard of service in the future.

"The Y. M. C. A. never will be a self-supporting institution as long as it really fills a place in the community," Judge Hal S. Lattimore, Y president, declared.

H. G. Parr, campaign "range boss," asserted that "we need more character building institutions such as the Y. M. C. A., in the Nation today. The Nation is no stronger than the characters at its head."

Other speakers included Henry G. Bowden, executive secretary of the Community Chest; John Henry, Dallas, state Y. M. C. A. secretary, and Homer Tomlinson, associate "range boss." Bowden said that institutions such as the Y are as necessary as agencies to feed the starving.

The workers are divided into four "ranches." The "ranches" and "ranch bosses" are, 000 Ranch, A. E. Rankin; O. K. Ranch, I. B. White; Bar-B-Q Ranch, Dewitt Morgan, and Three D Ranch, Bill Gatton. Special music was provided at the dinner by the Chamber of Commerce Quartet composed of District Attorney Jesse Martin, A. J. Wiley, D. G. Griffin and Robert Dodd.

33 MEMBERS IN 'Y' DRIVE

Thirty-three new members were tabulated in the Y. M. C. A.'s four-day membership drive at the first report luncheon at the "Y" building yesterday.

"Big Boss" H. G. Parr expressed himself as well satisfied with the result of the first half-day's work. He urged drive workers to secure the application of an additional 100 men before the report luncheon at 12:10 o'clock today.

"We have started off on the right foot," he said. "If we can keep up the good work, we will go well over our mark. Thirty-three new members secured with only six hours work is mighty good."

"Now we have the ball rolling, the problem will be to keep our pace up," John Henry, state secretary, said. "We ought to double our number of workers at the luncheon tomorrow. All team captains should keep their groups working, for we are doing one of the greatest works in the city."

Rev. James K. Thompson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, said the invocation. Homer Tomlinson, "associate big boss," led a singsong.

I. B. White's O. K. Ranch was leading the contest with a total of 108½ points. Points are given for number of members secured, amount of cash collected and number of workers present at the luncheons. DeWitt Morgan's Barbecue Ranch was second with 99 points, Bill Gatton's Magnolia Ranch third with 78, and A. E. Rankin's 000 Ranch fourth with 56 points.

Individual high score went to Charles Butcher, with 41 points. Lynn Shoup's division of the 000 Ranch was high division with 62½ points. Leaders were presented with flags which will be placed at their seats at the luncheon tables.

Y. M. C. A. Member Drive Ends Today

Still more than 250 members short of their goal, 100 workers in the Y. M. C. A. membership drive pledged themselves to finish with more than the 400 quota at a luncheon at the "Y" yesterday.

Tonight the final report will be given at a barbecue at the "Y" building at 6:15 o'clock. Memberships secured already total 122. Ralph Squires, secretary, said yesterday.

Homer Tomlinson, who presided in the absence of H. G. Parr, "big boss" of the drive, visualized success tomorrow night if all present would agree to interview 10 men. One hundred workers agreed to call on 20 prospects apiece before tonight.

At the close of the luncheon a tribute was paid Judge R. H. Buck, who died recently. Tomlinson told of Judge Buck's work in last year's drive.

High division yesterday was Bill Gatton's Magnolia Ranch with a total of 169 points. B. B. Longacre was high individual with 55 points and H. A. Meierding's team continued to lead other teams with a score of 131½.

Reports Will Be Made on 'Y' Drive

Final reports of 100 workers in the Y. M. C. A. membership drive will be made at a barbecue at 6:15 o'clock tonight at headquarters. Memberships secured passed the 122 mark Friday morning, Ralph Squires, secretary, reported.

H. G. Parr, "big boss" of the drive, will preside. Among those present will be Jerry Reed, the first paid assistant secretary and also the second general secretary of the organization.

Workers will turn in their cards. Lists of prospects who are likely to buy memberships later also will be reported.

W. T. Ladd, who was president of the Y. M. C. A. for years, spoke at the Thursday luncheon. The high division Thursday was Bill Gatton's Magnolia Ranch and B. B. Longacre was high individual. H. A. Meierding's team continued in the lead.

A tribute was paid at the luncheon to the late Judge R. H. Buck, who was one of the leaders in last year's campaign.

'Y' Roundup Is 300 Short of Its Goal

Still more than 300 short of their goal, leaders of the Y. M. C. A. membership roundup Thursday appealed to Fort Worth citizens to enroll in the Y or purchase a membership for one or more deserving boys when campaign workers call on them.

Although only 65 "mavericks" had been rounded up and "branded" Thursday morning after two full days of work, the "ranch" bosses expressed confidence that success will reward their efforts when the final report is made Friday night.

The third report of workers was to be made after a luncheon Thursday noon at the Y. The O. K. Ranch group, led by I. B. White, still is leading in the division contest, winning the flag award again Wednesday with 168 points. The team award went to the team headed by H. A. Meierding with 92 points and individual honors were won by Glenn Rothell, a member of Meierding's team, with 40½ points.

Lynn Squires was the speaker at Wednesday's luncheon. "Big Boss" H. G. Parr urged the workers to "speed up and show the doubters that it can be done."

Experienced Men To Coach YMCA Athletic Activities

The physical department of the Y. M. C. A. has secured experienced members as coaches for the various physical activities this Fall.

The volley ball groups are headed by Johnny Roberts, coach of the San Antonio 1931-32 national champions. The swimming team is now headed by Bill Jarvis, the national backstroke champion of the A. A. U. in 1927. The fencing class and team will be coached again this year by Jose Vilardel, graduate of the University of Spain. Wrestling instruction will be given by Bill Christian.

The junior basket ball team and classes will be led by Otho Tiner, now finishing his physical education course at T. C. U. 'Y' ROUND-UP ENDS TODAY

122 'Mavericks' Herded In Member Drive

"Ranch bosses" and "cowhands" of the YMCA scoured highlands and bottoms today in the final day of their membership drive.

The roundup is set for 6:30 p. m. at the "Y" building. Workers will be served a barbecue dinner, with Big Boss Harry G. Parr presiding.

Yesterday's 37 new members sent the campaign total to 122, and 278 "mavericks" are yet to be branded before the campaign goal of 400 is reached. At the first report luncheon, 33 new members were turned in, and 32 were reported the second day.

White's O. K. Ranch is leading in points, with Gatton's Magnolia Ranch in second place.

Homer Tomlinson, the Big Boss of last year's drive, presided yesterday. A brief memorial service honoring the late Judge R. H. Buck was held. Judge Buck was one of the leaders in past membership drives.

240 Are Added In Y.M.C.A. Drive

M

Two hundred and forty new members were enrolled in the Y. M. C. A. —their cash payments for dues totaling $1,572.35—when the annual four-day roundup was concluded last night.

Although still 160 short of their goal of 400, "foremen" and "cowboys" who conducted the roundup expressed themselves as gratified with the result at their final report dinner.

G. A. Wilson was the individual star of the campaign, reporting 39 of the 118 new memberships received in the final day of the drive. The W. O. Gatton "ranch" was the group winner.

H. G. Parr, "big boss" of the round-up, and the four ranch foremen expressed the belief that "good effects of the campaign will extend much farther than actual memberships obtained."

"Your contacts with business men of this city as you have conducted the campaign will be of even more lasting benefit to the Y. M. C. A.," Foreman I. W. White said, "than the members you have enlisted."

It was tentatively agreed that the campaign would last longer next year and that it would be conducted with the football rather than the ranch motif.

Other speakers were Ralph Squires, Y. M. C. A. secretary; State Secretary John Henry, Dallas; Foremen Gatton and Dewitt Morgan, Cowboy Cecil Rotsch, Cowboy Wilson, Harold Nowlin, chairman of the membership campaign, and Publicity Boss Paul Rathgeber.

DINNER TO OPEN MUSIC DRIVE

10-3-32

The Fort Worth Civic Music Association will open its second annual membership campaign with a dinner at the Fort Worth Club on Monday, Oct. 10, at 6:30 p. m. The dinner will be attended by the officers and directors with the 50 campaign captains and their assistant workers, as well as a number of out-of-town chairmen who will solicit members in their respective communities.

"Our plans for the campaign are fairly well completed," said Thomas S. With 1,500 members this year we hope to have as many as five concerts and with the privilege of attending the six concerts already announced in Dallas we will give our members the greatest musical bargain ever offered. All present members are urged to send in their checks for dues at once so the campaign week may be spent in securing new members."

Organization Had Start In London In 1844.

A drive of 100,000 new members, honoring the memory of Sir George Williams, YMCA founder, had been launched thruout the world today by leaders in the youth movement, according to word received here from national headquarters in New York.

The organization celebrates today the 111th birthday of the man who established the first YMCA in London in 1844.

Fort Worth's part in the membership drive was completed recently in a four-day campaign in which 240 new members were signed.

NEGRO Y. M. C. A. WILL HONOR FOUNDER TONIGHT

The local negro Y. M. C. A. will hold a Founder's Day program at St. Andrew's Methodist Church, Rosedale and South Main Streets, at 8 o'clock tonight, celebrating the one hundred eleventh birthday anniversary of Sir George Williams, the founder of their organization. A report of the branch's membership will be made. R. E. Squires, secretary of the Central Y. M. C. A., will speak and all officers of the branch and of affiliated clubs for adults and boys will be installed.

A Man Named Williams.

10-11-32

ONE HUNDRED ELEVEN years ago today a stork delivery was made to an English farmhouse. It was a boy and its parents named it George Williams. If the law of probabilities is trustworthy there have been an easy 1,000,000 George Williamses deposited on various doorsteps by the same stork during that stretch of years and for an equal number of previous ones, but so far as is known, this is the only George Williams whose birthday is receiving nationwide observance—or ever has been so dignified.

On June 6, 1844, the George Williams of this particular distinction gathered 11 young men friends together and started the first Young Men's Christian Association.

For that act he was knighted by Queen Victoria in 1894 at which time he was privileged to know that the movement had spread throughout civilization.

The Y. M. C. A. of the world is observing this particular birthday especially because of the inspiration to be derived from the personality of the founder of the order and the material and spiritual values accumulated behind the progress of it. George Williams was a clerk in a London draper's establishment with a salary of 35 pounds a year. In America alone today the 1,450 units of the organization represent, at the conservative estimate of $25,000 each in average house and equipment investment, a contribution of $36,000,000 to the civic values of one city for approximately each two counties of the Nation. The volume of material worth and the breadth of its distribution easily justifies the observance of the birthday of the draper's clerk.

The personnel of the Y. M. C. A. is an army. It is representative of the democracy of the areas in which it has constructed units. It must have been successful to be the material entity represented by its property holdings. They could not have arrived without a cause sufficient to produce the money from the community interests. That it has produced the money and has engaged the interest of the army which uses it as a contonment amply demonstrates the justice in remembering the humble draper's clerk from whose brain the idea emerged.

An interesting thought for the day would be the wonder how many have grasped the helping hands the brain child of George Williams has extended to civilization in 88 years.

Directors Hike Budget To $285,826.68 for 1933 Relief Work

DRIVE OPENS NOV. 28

Two Reductions Are Made In Character-Building Organizations

A campaign goal of $285,826.68 was set by the Community Chest board of directors today, following final adoption of the 1933 budget yesterday. The drive for funds will start November 28 and last thru December 7.

The budget total ofr the 26 chest agencies exceeds last year's quota by $8,046.21. A campaign army raised $277,280.47 last fall.

In announcing the new budget total, President Jewel P. Lightfoot said the increase is apportioned among the strictly relief and welfare agencies.

YMCA Reduced.

A reduction of $375.54 was made in appropriations for the YMCA and the Negro YMCA. Budgets of other character building organizations will remain the same as last year, Lightfoot said.

All budget requests were pared to a minimum, according to the president. The chest will depend entirely on government assistance for anticipated emergency family relief. Further aid from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is "directly dependent" on the success of the local campaign, it was explained.

A special fund of $40,000 for unemployment relief and lunches for needy school children is included.

Many Negroes Here Own Homes, Have Money in Banks

From the cabin in the cotton, about which radio tenors croon, to home owning, culture loving, money-in-the bank citizens has been the road of progress taken by many of the 38,500 negroes who call Fort Worth home.

Six hundred are rich enough to meet the $500 minimum account rule which applies at the Fraternal Bank and Trust Company. Statistics show that 1,500 of them own their homes, and countless others are making payments on residential property.

The residential section, the aristocratic heart of the vast, sprawling East Side region, flowers into elegance in blocks on East Terrell Avenue, New York, Humboldt and Pulaski.

Here, they say, are the finest negro homes in Texas.

There are few big negro businesses in Fort Worth, largely because negroes have not developed the bitter clannishness that is evident in other cities in Texas. But, while negroes from Houston, San Antonio or Dallas are boasting of big business, Fort Worth's colored citizens will be thinking up bragging words for their homes, their schools and their culture.

One other negro in Fort Worth has a comparable bank account to William McDonald, bank president, and approximately a dozen have savings which run into formidable figures. What makes the residential section unusual, however, is the number of negroes, less rich than that, but still prosperous enough to build brick bungalows, nice frame houses, and—occasionally—two-story colonial dwellings.

In some of these homes are as many as four servants, including butler chauffeur and maid. Society is divided into at least seven levels. At the "upper topmost" there is the "upmost exclusive." A dozen negro families—bank clerks, undertakers, newspaper editors and other professional men—make up that enviable caste.

Not all of the substantial citizenry, however, can be lumped in the white collar class. A bootblack owns a corner house on one of the paved streets and has an account in McDonald's bank. A journeyman barber owns a home on New York Avenue, which, if located in a white residential section, would be worth $7,500.

One of the first citizens is Harve Means, who owns a barber shop with a white clientele and who has cut the hair of three generations of West Texans. Beginning at Colorado City when it was a West Texas cow camp, he has worked up a trade that's provided him with a home, good automobile and bank account.

Undertakers are prosperous because every negro, whether he lives in a jerry-built shanty or in McDonald block on Terrell Avenue, has a burial policy.

There is approximately one club of some kind for every 50 negroes in Fort Worth. Women's clubs, of which the oldest are the Alphin Charity and Art Club (1915) and the Inquirers Club are banded into a federation.

The Inquirers Club spent one recent season studying French. Negro literature of all kinds, from that of white Julia Peterkin, whom they don't like, to black Dubois and Countee Cullen, whom they do like, is studied by members. Once they spent an evening on Oscar Wilde.

Of the 4,200 negro children of school age, about 90 per cent enroll in school some time during the year. Terrell High School usually graduates about 100, and of that 100 25 to 40 per cent go away to college. A 1929 graduate, Gerald Boyd, who will receive his degree from the University of Iowa next June, is gaining wide attention in the North for his art work.

The premier musician is Monet Harrison Fowler, president of the Texas Association of Negro Musicians, who is studying voice this season in New York. Her husband, S. H. Fowler, is Y. M. C. A. secretary.

Your Chest Dollar Builds As Well As Feeds Thruout City

Educational, Recreational and Character Building Phases of Organizations Shown

Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles on the work of the affiliated Community Chest agencies, both welfare and character building. It is intended to show where chest contributions go.

Funds to make possible the educational, recreational and character building activities of numerous Community Chest agencies constitute a large part of the $285,826 to be raised in the forthcoming campaign.

Heading the list of these institutions, not classed as welfare agencies, are the Young Men's Christian Association and the Boy Scouts. In the same category are the Camp Fire Girls, the Young Women's Christian Association and the Panther Boys' Club.

The latter organization, however, approaches the class of relief and direct welfare agencies.

Necessary Activity.

Chest officials base their emphasis of the need for the continuance of character building activities on present conditions.

A reduction or shutting off of these activities would demoralize young people, they point out. Unless the character building institutions are maintained, Fort Worth must pay for broken lives, anti-social activities, expensive delinquency and penal cure, say the social service workers.

Behind the YMCA lies the objective of developing "the right kind" of leadership, according to Ralph E. Squires, executive secretary.

The "Y" program is four-fold—physical, mental, spiritual and social development. This year, more than 600 boys and men have taken part in the institution's physical program.

Three Departments.

A gymnasium, 40 by 60 feet, and a swimming pool, 20 by 60 feet, in the "Y" building, 512 Lamar, are in use almost constantly.

Three main deaprtments are maintained. Paul Fowler is the physical director, and C. G. Fairchild heads the Boys' Department. Night classes and informal debates, discussion groups and lectures feature the educational department activities.

An appropriation of $27,361.52, including $1,284 for the Negro YMCA, has been alloted the "Y" for 1933.

Similar to the YMCA in its scope is the YWCA, with headquarters at 608 W. Fourth Street. Approximately 2000 girls and women, including the Girl Reserves, participated in the YWCA program here this year, according to Miss Grace E. Richardson, executive secretary.

Five YW Departments.

More than 400 used the "YW" gymnasium, 1000 took part in activities of the Senior Business Women's Club and the Beta Alpha Rho, and 300 were contacted by the employment department. The building has accommodations for 20 working girls.

The five YWCA departments are employment, Girl Reserves, health education, residence and business girls. Participation does not require membership. The institution's budget allowance for 1933 is $13,946.

Girls and women, ranging in age from 10 years up, are eligible for membership in the Camp Fire Girls' groups. In Fort Worth, there are 273 active members. Miss Ruth Teichman is executive secretary.

An educational and recreational program, based on the seven crafts, is given in the quest for camp honors. The crafts are Home, Hand, Health, Nature, Camp, Citizenship and Business.

200 Attend Camp.

Activities are sponsored by church groups, school groups and neighborhood groups. During recent summer months, 200 girls took part in Camp Fire outings at Camp Civitan on Lake Worth.

"Camp Fire supplies, thru the symbolism and the ritual, a means of articulation to the adolescent girl when she is reaching out from the family group toward her individual development," says Miss Teichman.

Annual dues are 50 cents a member. The Camp Fire budget allowance for next year is $4,566.

Exactly 1933 boys were connected with the Boy Scout movement in Fort Worth during the 12-month period ending Sept. 1. Working with these boys were 400 volunteer adult members, including scout masters, assistants and troop committeemen.

Moral Training.

A. J. Fulkerson is the Scout executive for the Fort Worth Area Council, W. F. Nobles is assistant executive.

"The Scout program is essentially moral training for the sake of efficient citizenship," Fulkerson explained. "It gives definite embodiment to the ideas of the school and supplements the efforts of the home and church."

Weekly meetings are held for each of the 62 troops. During the past summer, 336 boys and Scout leaders attended the four camp periods at Worth Ranch. The chest will contribute $15,691.98 to the Boy Scouts next year.

The Panther Boys Club at 600 E. Weatherford is a social center for street urchins, newsboys and homeless boys. Its program is built around the underprivileged boy and his needs.

Work Out Dues.

Housed in the basement of the Weatherford Street Methodist Church, the club facilities include two gymnasiums, a pool room, a library, dormitory and kitchen. Dues range from 25 cents a year for the "Peewees" to $1.50 for seniors. A majority of the boys work out their membership dues.

At present, the roll lists 800 members. Approximately 2000 boys have been influenced by the club this year, Drew S. Clifton, secretary, estimates. Clifton is assisted by Miss Martha Justice, office secretary.

An appropriation of $13,000 has been allowed for the club next year.

DALLAS 'Y' WRESTLERS WIN MOST OF BOUTS

The Dallas Y. M. C. A. wrestling team won five of the six bouts with the Fort Worth Y. M. C. A. team here Saturday night. All of the Dallas victories were on time advantages while Fort Worth's one win was by a fall.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER

CHEST 'DOLLAR' SUPERVISION PRAISED

Under the scrutiny of more than 100 Fort Worth civic and business leaders, the Community Chest "dollar" is the most carefully supervised of any fund in the city, President Jewel P. Lightfoot of the chest declared Wednesday.

Lightfoot explained how money donated for chest purposes is administered for welfare and character-training work.

Preparation of an accurate budget by executives and directors of the 26 participating agencies is the first step before any agency can be apportioned even a cent of chest funds, Lightfoot pointed out. The budget, prepared in detail to show even money to be spent for stamps, must receive the approval of the agency board.

Then, Lightfoot continued, the chest budget committee, headed this year by R. W. Fender, examines each separate budget. After paring the budget, the committee offers agency executives a hearing on items reduced. When this work is ended, the compiled tentative budget draft goes to the chest executive committee with the budget group's recommendations.

Approval of the chest board of directors of 52 members is the final action required before the budget is announced as the new Community Chest goal.

The annual budget of an agency is apportioned in monthly allotments, Lightfoot explained. Before a payment is issued, service reports, showing actual service that has been rendered by the agency in the past month, are studied by Dr. Henry G. Bowden, chest executive director, who reckons the sum probably to be needed by the agency in the next month.

If an emergency situation arises, the chest emergency committee has authority to advance money to provide for the unforeseen need, Lightfoot stated.

As money is contributed in the progress of the budget campaign, an auditing committee checks each contribution carefully.

Y. Q. McCammon will head the auditing committee for the coming Community Chest campaign.

H. R. Hoffman will be vice chairman, U. S. McGee, cashier, and other members of the committee will be S. W. Fisher, E. H. Mendelhall, Jack Barton, L. B. Clark, L. W. Davis, O. M. Sharpe, J. K. O'Dowd, Leon Jordan and L. C. Mersfelder.

United Drys Tighten Lines to Fight Repeal

Dr. Selecman President, Dr. W. R. White Secretary; Ferguson for Modification.

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, Dec. 7.—The United Forces for Prohibition tightened their lines today for a fight against repeal, electing Dr. Charles C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist University, as their state president.

Even as they were taking this action, James E. Ferguson, speaking apparently for his wife, Governor-elect Miriam A. Ferguson, intimated to interviewers here that the new state administration probably would favor liberalization of state prohibition laws.

Dr. Selecman was elected by the state steering committee of the United Forces. Other officers chosen were Dr. H. K. Taylor of S. M. U., first vice president; Dr. W. R. White, Fort Worth, executive secretary; Arthur A. Everts, Dallas, treasurer, and William Nehemiah Wiggins, Dallas, recording secretary.

Dr. White, pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church in Fort Worth and for many years a leader in the Baptist General Convention in Texas, will have charge of the United Forces' state headquarters to be opened here within a few days.

A group of 35 vice presidents-at-large was named, including the presidents of several denominational colleges.

Reports were presented showing that the work of getting petitions forwarded to Texas members of Congress was progressing, 8,000 names having been sent from Abilene. The Nazarene churches in West Texas were credited with 3,000 of these. It was indicated that the drys would look to Representative Thomas L. Blanton of the Seventeenth Texas District as their spokesman in Congress, a statement explaining his vote against the proposal to submit repeal to state conventions being read with evident approval.

Blanton's statement suggested that the repeal question be submitted directly to the people in a special election next April, the result to guide Congress in any action on repeal or modification.

Former Governor Ferguson, in an interview here before he and his wife returned to Austin, explained that Mrs. Ferguson stood "squarely on the Democratic platform," which calls for repeal and early modfication. He said he expected prompt modification action by Congress and that such action probably would have its influence on Texas legislation. He seemed anxious, however, not to stress prohibition but to call attention to more pressing economic matters.

The United Forces announced that the same petitions which are being sent to Washington would be presented in Austin when the Legislature convenes next month, in an effort to block any attempts to amend or repeal the Dean law, the Texas prohibition enforcement statute.

The committee of the Texas Federation of Anti-Prohibition Clubs recently named here to draft legislation to repeal the Dean law will meet in Austin next Monday. The committee is headed by John S. Mathis Sr. of Houston.

Fort Worth Pastor Will Be Chief Propagandist.

Rev. W. R. White's job as executive secretary of the United Forces for Prohibition in Texas is understood to include supervision of the whole program of propaganda dissemination and prohibition education planned by the organization.

Although his offices will be in Dallas, he will continue to live in Fort Worth and will relinquish no part of his work as pastor of Broadway Baptist Church, it is said. He will be assisted at prohibition headquarters by a staff of office workers. The United Forces, according to present plans, will be a permanent organization. Rev. Mr. White is in Rock Springs this week conducting revival services.

PASTORS BEGIN NEW FIGHT ON WETS

Renewing their efforts against the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the return of the saloon, members of the General Ministers Association have started an active fight from their pulpits.

Rev. W. H. Coleman, pastor of the Polytechnic Methodist Church, spoke Tuesday night at the Vaughn Boulevard Christian Church on "A Call to Arms to Save Our Loved Ones, Our Homes and Our Country From the Curse of Liquor."

Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will have a number of former saloon keepers testify at his service next Sunday night on the evils of the saloon. Twenty grandmothers will tell how liquor ruined their homes and members of the W. C. T. U. will be represented.

Dr. W. D. Bradfield, Southern Methodist University, will make the main address Sunday night at the First Baptist Church. Pastors in several other local churches are planning to continue the educational programs in their churches.

"It looks as if the wets are renewing their fight to legalize beer in this session of Congress, but I hardly think they will," Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth, militant district W. C. T. U. president, declared Wednesday morning.

"There are other things to be considered besides the liquor question. The wets would monopolize all the time in this session to win their evil purpose if they could, however."

Mrs. Bloodworth left early Wednesday for Dallas, where she said she probably would confer with leaders of the Texas Allied Prohibition Forces. Before leaving she urged her co-workers to continue their prayers and to pray while they worked as long as the present congressional session lasts.

BOWDEN HOPEFUL OVER NEW YEAR

Believes That Fort Worth Will Be Able to Meet Unemployment Ills

Hope that the end of the depression may be near, faith in Fort Worth's ability to handle the unemployment situation, and thanks for assistance given by agencies and individuals in 1932 were conveyed today in a New Year's message by Dr. Henry G. Bowden, director of the Community Chest.

Asserting that Fort Worth is a pattern city for the nation in the field of social service, Dr. Bowden paid tribute to the entire city.

"The year has been a grim one for many of our fellow citizens, and because of this condition, opportunities have not been lacking for high-minded, fine-spirited citizens of our community to demonstrate that the milk of human kindness flows through their veins," he stated.

Social Service Praised

"We desire at this time to express our deep appreciation to the member agencies of the Community Chest. We desire also to pay a justly earned tribute to every other social service agency in Fort Worth.

"The City Welfare Department and the County Welfare Department have had a year of great accomplishment. The Goodfellows and the Santa Pals have just completed a fine piece of work. The Star-Telegram Milk Fund has made history during 1932, for never was the need in this regard greater. The soup kitchens that have been established in Fort Worth have met an emergency and performed a distinct service.

Kind Cooperation

"All of this has been made possible thru the kindly, sympathetic, and whole-hearted cooperation of the citizenship of Fort Worth, a citizenship whose mind and heart have always been attuned to the call that has developed into a cry of those who are in the throes of misery and distress.

"And now, friends, as we go forward into the year 1933, while we front the year with the hope that it may hold in store amelioration of the conditions that have beset us in the past year, yet we cannot with all our optimism, hope that the impression and effect of better times will immediately be felt by those who are now down in the depths. So the New Year presents for each of us a challenge to renew our allegiance to the cause of social service in Fort Worth, to the end that we may efectively renew our endeavors.

"May the New Year bring to all a surcease of trials and tribulations and a renewal of spirit."

CHEST CAMPAIGN WILL BE REOPENED SHORTLY

Subscriptions to the 1933 Community Chest budget yesterday totaled $210,320 as drive leaders resumed plans for continuing the campaign toward its $285,826 goal.

The campaign will be reopened late this week or Monday, it was agreed in a conference of leaders of the movement yesterday. A recess was declared before the holiday period.

A smaller group of workers will check subscriptions already made to determine whether increases may be sought justifiably.

Attending yesterday's conference were Herman Gartner, John P. King, Clarence Kraft, E. A. Landreth, Dan A. Levy, Dr. Harry A Merfeld, Clyde A. Penry, Walter B. Scott, L. F. Swift Jr., A. F. Townsend, James T. Tuohy, Mrs. Edwin T. Phillips, Mrs. G. D. Boesch, John B. Davis, J. B. Thomas, Ben E. Keith, Wesley F. Wright, J. M. Leonard, J. D. Collett, W. O. Gatton, Harry E. Brants, A. A. CHEST DEFICIT MEETING SET

Dulaney Calls Gathering To Discuss Means Of Stretching Fund

The first conference to plan ways of meeting the 1933 deficit of the Fort Worth Community Chest will be held at 3 p. m. Monday at the Chest headquarters, Dr. Harry A. Merfeld, chairman of a committee appointed by President R. O. Dulaney, announced today.

Data from the bureau of information of the Social Service Exchange is being assembled, Dr. Merfeld said. The study will be based on service reports for January and February, and financial statements of the 23 agencies.

"Our purpose," Dr. Merfeld explained, "is to conserve, as far as possible, the funds of the chest, and to eliminate unnecessary expense, while preserving the efficiency of its agencies."

The recent campaign fell $26,000 short of the $238,000, needed to meet budget demands, allowing for no shrinkage in collection of pledges and no funds for lunches to dependent school children, and making no provision for emergency relief to destitute families or transients.

The difference between the actual budget and the $285,000 Chest goal was planned to care for these items, retiring President Jewel P. Lightfoot explained in his recent annual report.

Emergency Chest Methods Related

A supplemental appeal, revision of budgets or change in the fiscal year are the methods that community chests over the Nation are resorting to in order to stretch their incomes to meet the unprecedented needs, a survey conducted by Dr. H. G. Bowden, executive director of the Fort Worth chest, discloses.

Bowden pointed out that in four years of service, the organization has not called on the public to aid with an emergency or supplemental appeal.

Revision of budgets, where resorted to, is being carried out in harmony with the work to be done.

The third course—which Dr. Bowden emphatically declared he opposes—is to change the fiscal year so that the 1934 campaign will take care of the expenditures of the closing part of 1933.

As illustrative of the tremendous calls on the chest agencies, he said that more than 4,000 families and 11,000 transient men were given aid last month—food, hospitalization, clothing and other assistance—and that 29,000 school lunches were provided.

The committee designated to make recommendations as to methods of averting a deficit for the Community Chest will meet at 3 p. m. Monday at the organization headquarters Dr. Harry A. Merfeld, chairman, said yesterday.

IURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1933.

On the committee are Dr. Harry A. Merfeld, chairman; E. A. Landreth, J. M. Leonard, George D. Fairtrace, Justice Hal Lattimore, President R. O. Dulaney and Director Henry G. Bowden.

CHEST WORKERS FACE PAY SLASH

Other Items May Be Cut, Too, Report

Every item in the Fort Worth Community Chest budget, including salaries, is liable to a reduction, probably as high as 20 per cent, E. A. Landreth, member of a special committee to study ways of meeting the 1933 Chest deficit, said today.

Dr. Harry A. Merfeld, chairman, and his committee, will meet at 3 p. m. today for a continuation of the study of agency allotments and possible economy measures.

The following is the committee which will make recommendation to the Chest executive body, following completion of their survey: Dr. Merfeld, Mr. Landreth, City Manager George D. Fairtrace, J. Marvin Leonard, Judge Hal Lattimore, President R. O. Dulaney and Executive Director Henry G. Bowden.

PARTIAL CASH PAYROLLS TO BE MET HERE

Banks Permit Employers To Pay 20 Per Cent In Currency

FOR THIS WEEK-END

Doors to Be Thrown Open Under Regulations Here Friday

At least 20 per cent of Fort Worth payrolls due this week-end can be paid in cash, under arrangements announced by the Fort Worth Clearing House today.

The arrangements are in three steps:

The employer will make affidavit to his own bank of the amount of money he needs to meet his payroll.

The bank will advance him 20 per cent of that amount in cash, drawing in turn upon its balance in the Federal Reserve Bank to replace the cash.

The employer will meet his payroll, presumably by paying 20 per cent in cash and giving his check for the remainder.

In the case of a $40 wage, for instance, the employe would get $8 in cash and $32 by check.

"Please make it very clear that the employe should not come to the bank," said W. L. Pier, president of the Clearing House Association.

Some Payrolls Due.

"All his transactions are between himself and his employer."

Some payrolls are already falling due, he said, citing the labor payrolls of the Armour and Swift Companies at the stockyards.

"We believe," he added, "that this will supply enough cash to Fort Worth workers to meet emergency needs."

Mr. Pier said there had been no change in the plan to open Friday here.

Then the tired banker grinned and said: "Oh, boy, weren't we lucky we didn't open up today with scrip?"

This was in reference to the Treasury order of today against the use of scrip. Fort Worth bankers had all plans ready to go ahead with it in the form of clearing house certificates, Friday. The plates had been engraved.

Mr. Pier said association members discussed the situation until 1:30 a. m. today and almost decided to go ahead and open, as the Dallas banks had decided to do.

Then this morning they were informed by press dispatches of the Woodin order.

Plan Committee.

Dallas banks opened up this morning for business permitted by the Treasury orders.

The local association members today also discussed plans for setting up a clearing house committee to decide what transactions were of an emergency nature and should be permitted.

Houston banks have such a committee, which passes on all requests for cash, instead of leaving it to individual banks.

Otherwise, Mr. Pier said, final plans for the reopening must wait on further word from Washington.

"We ask the public to have patience," he said. "We are doing everything we can. We must act under Washington's orders, and will reopen under as liberal a policy as Washington permits."

PANTHER BOYS OPPOSED TO MERGER PLAN

Willing to Discuss Move With Chest, Board Member Says

The Panther Boys Club does not plan to accept the recommendation of the Community Chest budget revision committee, for a combine of the club with the Y.M.C.A., directors indicated in a meeting last night.

"We do not think such a merger can be worked out," Board Member William D. Morris said today, "tho we are willing to discuss it with the Chest."

Mr. Morris said a meeting probably would be arranged to thresh out the matter the middle of next week. A saving of $6,250 could be realized by the combine, according to the Chest committee report.

"The Y.M.C.A. is all right, but the Panther Boys Club is a separate organization and should stay that way," Mr. Morris said. "We feel that it is impossible to work out a merger."

Awaits Conference.

Judge Hal S. Lattimore, president of the Y.M.C.A. board, and a member of the budget revision committee, planned to take no special action, awaiting a call for a conference from Community Chest officials.

"I am sure," he said, "that the chest, having taken the initiative, will call such a meeting, and if the measure is wise, be able to prove its advantages to the two boards."

Mayor William Bryce, president of the board of Texas Children's Home and Aid Society, and Mrs. Charles F. Scheuber, board president of the Fort Worth Children's Hospital, the two other agencies which the chest would have merged for economy reasons, had nothing definite to say.

"I don't know what our board attitude will be," Mayor Bryce, said.

He, too, expects chest officials to make the first move for a conference.

Y.W.C.A. Meeting.

Directors of the Children's Hospital have a regular meeting scheduled for tomorrow, but absence of members from the city, may delay it.

Mrs. Sam D. Hill, president, and board members of the Y. W. C. A., met at the office today to decide upon their action concerning salary and budget curtailments of $2,531 and the combination of the offices of business and employment secretaries.

"We may go before the chest committee to work out our problem, but we plan no protest, and intend to accept our reductions," Mrs. Hill said following the meeting.

"We hope to be able to work it out so that the combination of offices will not mean the elimination of one of the employes."

One of the largest cuts went to Jewish Charities, a saving that totaled $2,741.56. "We felt we could easily stand it," Dr. Harry A. Merfeld, budget revision committee chairman, said.

A. L. Shuman, board president of the Boy Scouts, scheduled for a $2,382 allotment reduction, said that his organization planned to meet the cut.

The budget revision committee recommended combinations, and salary slashes to save $35,884.

CLUB REFUSES MERGER MOVE

Panther Boys Head Says Matter Is Closed Incident

Directors of the Panther Boys Club, which the Community Chest wants to merge with the Y. M. C. A., will not meet with the chest's budget revision committee to discuss the change.

President J. C. Maxwell of the club said today the matter was closed as far as he was concerned.

The merger and slashes in all agency budgets were suggested by the budget revision committee last week as a means of meeting a chest deficit.

"I see no reason for a meeting with the committee. The suggestion was made and we merely did not accept it," Mr. Maxwell said.

Chest funds were solicited with the club listed as an agency and donors could refuse to pay subscriptions if any agency is abolished, the president continued.

E. A. Landreth of the committee said it could force no agency to meet with it, but believed that the "matter will be worked out in a few days."

Chest Conferences on Budget Are Set

3-23

A schedule for conferences with eight Community Chest agencies on the budget revision plan was announced Thursday after a meeting of the budget revision committee at headquarters.

The Panther Boys Club board has not agreed to confer upon the proposed consolidation of that body with the Y. M. C. A., but Dr. Harry A. Merfeld, committee chairman, said the board will be invited again to a conference.

The Friday schedule follows: 1:30 p. m., Travelers Aid Society; 2, Boy Scouts; 2:30, Catholic Charities; 3, Berachah Home, 3:15, Y. M. C. A.; 3:30, Tuberculosis Society; 3:45, Girls Service League; 4 o'clock, Red Cross.

Dr. Merfeld said most of these agencies have agreed to budget cuts, but some of them would affect them in ways other than those recommended by the committee recently.

The meeting of the Council of Social Agencies and its board, scheduled for Friday afternoon, has been postponed on account of the above schedule.

A letter was sent Thursday to social agencies suggesting that a time for a conference on the budget be set.

WANT FACTS ON YMCA MERGER

M — 3-28-33

Expressing a willingness to be convinced that a consolidation of the Panther Boys Club and the Y. M. C. A. is for the best interest of all concerned, directors of the Y. M. C. A. adjourned with no conclusion reached in the matter after a noon session yesterday.

Judge Hal S. Lattimore, chairman, said it was agreed that the proper course was to wait until after a conference with the budget revision committee of the Community Chest, probably this week.

A combination of activities of the Panther Boys Club and the Y. M. C. A. was suggested recently by the budget revision committee.

The discussion yesterday was pro and con, with Judge Lattimore summing up:

"We are ready and willing to do what is best for Fort Worth."

The board has never considered dispensing with the services of R. E. Squires as general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Lattimore said yesterday afternoon, nor has the matter been discussed privately by board members, as far as he knows.

Judge Lattimore made the following comment on a resolution adopted yesterday by the Fort Worth and Tarrant County Ministers' Association in praise of Squires' work and favoring his retention by the Y. M. C. A.:

"The depletion of our funds is only a part of the failure of the Community Chest to raise its budget in the drive last Fall. We are in no wore condition than any other agency. The recommendation of the Community Chest to all agencies to reduce their budgets to meet this deficiency was made also to the Y. M. C. A.

"Our board of directors and finance committee have met several times, endeavoring to work out a plan to do the Y. M. C. A.'s bit in this emergency. At no time has the matter of Mr. Squires' resignation been discussed in any of these meetings and, so far as I know, has not been discussed privately by any of our directors.

"The appreciation of the Ministers' Association for Mr. Squires is flattering to the Y. M. C. A. and we are grateful therefor."

Three new members of the board—Stanley Thompson, G. J. Post and I. B. White — attended their first meeting.

Meeting of Negro Ministers Is Held

M 3-31

Community problems were discussed last night when the educational committee of the negro Y. M. C. A. sponsored a meeting of negro ministers and teachers at the association building, Fifth and Jones Streets.

C. E. Baker, county juvenile officer, urged the teachers to encourage their pupils to think in terms of the group interest instead of individual interest as a means of making better citizens. Group interest, he said, is necessary in the present civilization.

Associate Justice Hal S. Lattimore of the Second Court of Civil Appeals, president of the Fort Worth Y. M. C. A., enumerated problems that face this community as a result of the economic depression. He said the problem of divorces, of which there were a large number during prosperous times, has dwindled since the depression set in, while the present problem is feeding hungry people. He said more than 1,000,000 meals were provided here by welfare agencies last year.

Rev. T. S. Boone, pastor of Mount Gilead Baptist Church, said the people are becoming more "community minded" by serving God.

Justice Lattimore presented Luther Carter, 17, negro, his employe, with a Y. M. C. A. membership, and S. H. Fowler, secretary, made arrangements to teach the youth to read and write.

R. E. Squires, executive secretary of the Y. M. C. A., spoke. Clyde W. Alcorn presided.

Jerusalem Soon to Dedicate New YMCA Buildings

JERUSALEM, April 20.—The new $1,000,000 plant of the Young Men's Christian Association here, representing a culmination of inter-racial work which began in an obscure bookshop in 1878, soon will be dedicated. The principal feature of the ceremony will be an address by Field Marshal Edmund Lord Allenby.

Because of the intense antagonism in this country between Moslems, Jews and Christians, the Y. M. C. A., with branches in 50 countries, always has regarded Jerusalem as a place of major challenge. Leaders of the association felt that if understanding and good will could bridge these racial gulfs, then the principles could be applied to any community in the world.

The generosity of the late James N. Jarvie of Montclair, N. J., made possible the construction of the new buildings. Temporarily curtailed during the World War, Y. M. C. A. work here was reorganized in 1920 under the leadership of Dr. A. C. Harte, who interested Jarvie in the project.

The new buildings occupy a dominating position in the city. The architectural feature, the Jesus Tower, can be seen from all routes approaching Jerusalem, and from its high elevation may be seen more historic ground than perhaps from any other similar eminence in the world.

Waldo Heinrichs is general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here. His war record includes numerous decorations, won for valor in the air.

The dedication of the Jerusalem Y. M. C. A. coincides with the fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of the international committee of the associations of the United States and Canada.

M'GLONE ANSWERS LAWSUIT TO FORCE TAXING OF Y.M.C.A.

Denver Post - April 1933

Revenue Manager Contends Building Is Not Used to Make Profit.

In an answer filed in the district court Thursday to the suit brought by Leo L. Spears, as a taxpayer, to require placing of the Young Men's Christian Association building on the assessment rolls, Manager of Revenue William F. McGlone contended, thru attorneys for the city, the property is used solely and exclusively for religious worship, for charitable and educational purposes and for schools conducted neither for private nor for corporate profit.

Spears claims there is no justification for tax exemption for the building and it is used principally to conduct a restaurant, hotel for men, gymnasium, poolroom, soda fountain, cigar stand, massage parlor and swimming pool in direct competition with other commercial enterprises.

McGlone says he does not know whether the association has any material income from commercial or other sources. Spears claims the association is deriving a large income from commercial enterprises.

McGlone denies Spears has suffered great injury or has been denied the equal protection of the laws in violation of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

'Y' Board Election Delayed to May 23

5-7-33

The election of seven members of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A., set for today, has been postponed until May 23, and at that time 10 names will appear on the ballot instead of the seven which were on the tiekct originally.

The postponement was decided on Monday at a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. board, and it was a result of a protest lodged by Cecil C. Rotsch, board member, and others. They declared the names of Albert H. Graves, Joe Ingraham and George Saam should have been on the ticket, since this was asked in a petition signed by 43 members of the Y and presented to President Hal S. Lattimore.

When the ballots were mailed out with only seven names—F. B. Porter, W. L. Pier, I. B. White, G. J. Post, whose terms are expiring, and A. L. Talkington, J. R. Edwards and Charles Reichenstein — Rotsch announced he would contest the election.

Judge Lattimore said Saturday the reason only seven names appeared was that 14 of the 43 signers of the petition were not fully informed of its nature.

Some of the board members are in favor of retaining Ralph E. Squires as executive secretary, and others want him removed, it was said after the meeting Monday. This matter probably will be up for action after the election.

FORT WORTH STAR-T

Y.M.C.A. BOARD ELECTION WILL BE CONTESTED

An election by which seven members of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. would be chosen will be contested on the ground of faulty ballots and the resignation of Ralph Squires, executive secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will be asked, Cecil Rotsch, director, said Saturday.

He said he would contest the election—ballots in which were mailed to the membership Saturday and the result of which will be known Tuesday—because 43 members of the Y. M. C. A. petitioned that the names of three persons be included upon the balot and that this was not done.

The seven names upon the ballot are: F. B. Porter, W. L. Pier, I. B. White, G. J. Post, whose terms are expiring, and A. L. Talkington, J. R. Edwards and Charles Reichenstein, who are not now members of the board.

The three persons Rotsch said failed to obtain places on the ballot are Albert Graves, George Saam and Joe Ingraham. Rotsch contends their names should have been included and that, as the matter now stands, the seven candidates have no opposition.

Rotsch's term and those of 13 other directors have not expired and they are not up for re-election at this time.

REVOLT GROWS IN 'Y' RANKS

Prem 5-9

Group Wins Demand to Get Three Names on Ballot; Seek Squires Ouster

A revolt among the Y. M. C. A. membership, with the elimination of Secretary Ralph Squires and a change in the work of the association as its objectives, resulted in a vote yesterday to add three names to the ballot for directors.

Directors who met at the Y. M. C. A. also voted to postpone the election from today to May 23, they said. The names they added to the ballot are Joe Ingraham, George Saam and Albert H. Graves.

The revolting faction is composed mostly of younger men. They feel that the organization should fill a larger need, that its control should be returned to the membership and that Mr. Squires should be transferred or quit, according to Recording Secretary G. A. Wilson.

First public announcement of the rift in the directorate came last week when Cecil Rotsch, a director, announced that he would ask the resignation of Mr. Squires if the board did not order names of three additional men on the ballot.

He charged that members had petitioned to have the three added but that the ballots had been sent out with only the names of seven men nominated by the board, contrary to the constitution and by-laws.

Judge Hal S. Lattimore, president of the board, said afterward that 14 of the 43 signing the petitions had later notified him that they wanted to withdraw their names.

He did nto attend the meeting yesterday but directors who did said they had a quorum and that as it was the regular meeting date, their action would be legal.

Y M C A BOARD ROW EXPLAINED

Lattimore Says Only Seven Names Offered Because 14 Petitioners Changed.

Signing of a petition by 14 members of the Y. M. C. A. who were "not fully informed" was given by Judge Hal Lattimore, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. board, last night as the reason why seven names appear on the ballot for the directorate election Tuesday.

Seven names appear on the ballot directly under the capitalized instructions: "Vote for seven." One faction of the board, with Cecil Rotsch as spokesman, charged yesterday that under rules of the organization three other names were entitled to appear on the ballot.

Because the three names were left off, the election will be contested, Rotsch said, and Ralph Squires, executive secretary of the "Y," will be asked to resign.

Judge Lattimore, chairman of the board, said last night that the omission could be explained satisfactorily and that he might call a meeting of the board Monday night to "smooth out what seems to be friction" before the election Tuesday.

It is true, Judge Lattimore said, that a petition signed by 43 persons and asking that names of the three men be included on the ballot was handed to him this week. The organization's constitution provides that the nominating committee shall propose names of at least seven directors and that others may be added on petition of 25 qualified voters. Out of the list of 43 petition signers, 34 proved to be quailfied voters, Judge Lattimore said.

Preparations were being made to include the names of the three men—Albert Graves, George Saam and Joe Ingraham—on the ballot Friday. In the middle of the afternoon, however, he said, two men interrupted him while he was holding court to present a letter signed by 14 of the men whose names appeared on the first petition.

The letter explained that they had signed the petition "without being fully informed as to its import," and added that since "understanding the situation more fully" they desired that their names be removed.

Removal of the 14 names left but 20 signers to the nominating petition. The ballots were in the mail yesterday, therefore, with but seven nominees listed. The seven were W. L. Pier, F. B. Portr, I. B. White, G. J. Post, Charles Reichenstein, A. L. Talkington and J. R. Edwards.

Judge Lattimore professed to know of no other reason except a desire to "get away from cut and dried elections" which would prompt Rotsch and his group to insist that there be 10 nominations for seven places on the board. He would make no comment on their further threat to seek Squires' resignation.

"Many of the members have told me," he said, "that it seemed ridiculous to go through the formality of an election when there were but seven nominations and seven places to fill. They seemed eager to make a contest out of it. I personally feel that it would do the organization no good to have a fight over such an office as a place on the board of directors."

DIRECTORS OF Y. M. C. A. DELAY VOTE

Board Adds to Ballot Three Names Group Sought to Nominate by Petition.

The Y. M. C. A. board, meeting yesterday noon, adopted a resolution postponing the annual election of seven directors until May 23 and added the names of Albert H. Graves, Joe Ingraham and George Saam to the ballot.

Sanction of the resolution, offered by Andy Price, marked another step in the Y. M. C. A. election row which came to light Saturday when Cecil Rotsch, a member of the board, announced that tomorrow's scheduled vote would be contested on that grounds that the names of Graves, Ingraham and Saam were not included on the ballot.

Rotsch said that a petition was presented May 2 by Harold Mierding to President Hal S. Lattimore, asking that the three names be added to the list, which included: F. B. Porter, W. L. Pier, I. B. White, G. J. Post, whose terms are expiring, and A. L. Talkington, J. R. Edwards and Charles Reichenstein, not now members of the board.

It was claimed that these names were not on ballots mailed members last Friday as provided by Article 2, Section 3, of the by-laws of the association, which read: "Upon the written request of 25 active members of the association, received one week before the time of holding the election, the president shall cause such other names as are designated in the request to be posted immediaetly in the same place as the previous nominations."

Rotsch said the petition of Mierding, which bore 43 names, was turned over to the secretary, Ralph E. Squires, by the president, but that the three names were not included when the ballots were printed.

In a statement Sunday Judge Lattimore said signing of a petition by 14 members who were "not fully informed" was the reason why only seven names appeared on the ballot.

In Saturday's statement Rotsch had said the resignation of Squires would be asked.

After yesterday's board meeting, some directors said they were divided on the retention of Squires, who is elected annually by the group. Some members, it was explained, feel that a change should be made in the secretary's office for the good of the association.

Philosophy of Orient Has Slacked Progress

The philosophy of the Oriental has contributed to the lack of progress and educational training in Egypt, Dr. James K. Quay, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Egypt, said last night in an address before Y. M. C. A. members.

The younger generations of Egypt are becoming more interested in marriage principals, together with a desire to obtain a better government, Dr. Quay said. The usual custom of marriage there, parents selecting mates for their children, is becoming less common, he said.

Dr. Quay also declared that only 2 per cent of the women and 8 per cent of the men of Egypt can read and write. About 90 per cent are Mohammedans, he said.

Dr. Quay will address the Y. M. C. A. members in Houston and will leave shortly to return to Egypt, to resume charge of the Y. M. C. A. ~~three~~

THE FOR

"Y" ELECTION DELAY UNDER FIRE OF GROUP

Charge of "Railroad" Made As Naming of Directors Is Postponed

An election of seven directors for the Y. M. C. A., scheduled for May 23, has been delayed indefinitely, Judge Hal Lattimore, president of the board, said today.

The delay was voted Monday at a meeting at which a faction opposed to Executive Secretary Ralph Squires charged the board was using "steam roller" tactics in postponing the election.

The election, previously set for May 9 was delayed until May 23, after the anti-Squires faction claimed three candidates submitted to a nominating committee had been refused places on the ballot. The candidates are Joe Ingraham, George Saam and Albert Graves.

Three Names Added

Board member Cecil Rotsch protested holding the first election when he received a ballot without the three names on it.

"There was some argument over again postponing the election, but after an hour and a half the majority of those present decided it would be for the best interest of the organization to delay the vote again," Judge Lattimore said.

Judge Lattimore said the election would be held according to the rules of the organization, and that the three names submitted by the group of members would be on the ballot, in addition to the seven suggested by the nominating committee.

The election will be held as soon as some board members have had a chance to "cool off," Judge Lattimore added.

Claims that the board is using "steam-roller" tactics in calling off the election were made by H. A. Meierding, a Y. M. C. A. member who circulated the petition to get three additional candidates on the ballot.

Eliminated 12

First, the board eliminated 12 names because the ones who signed were not church members, altho some of them had taken a pledge which allows them active membership, Mr. Meierding said.

Later, 14 members were persuaded to withdraw their names, bringing the number below the legal amount needed to get the additional names on the ballot, he added.

As the petition was filed on the last day allowed by the constitution, "we should at least have been allowed the privilege of getting some more names after those were stricken off," he continued.

The ballots then were mailed, bearing only the seven names picked by directors, but were not sent to the entire membership, he claims.

Then Delayed

After a regular meeting of directors last week, in which it was voted to send the ballot to all the membership and add the three names, the special meeting was called Monday noon and the election delayed indefinitely, he said.

He said the group with which he is in sympathy wants to get members on the board who are interested in the Y. M. C. A. rather than big business men who "do not have time to watch it or attend board meetings."

Y. M. C. A. Election Date Is Uncertain

Following a controversy between two groups in the Y. M. C. A., Judge Hal S. Lattimore, president of the "Y," announced yesterday no date is set for electing seven directors.

It was indicated yesterday the election may be postponed until a date is set at the regular board meeting early in June. Judge Lattimore said he has not decided to call a special meeting of the board.

School Bells Ring Again for Nearly 1,000 Unemployed

School bells will ring again this week for nearly 1,000 unemployed men and women in Fort Worth.

Enrollment in the free vocational Summer schools, which open their doors Monday morning, is expected to reach that figure before the week closes. Enrollment cards of some of the "students" reveal they have been unemployed from two to four years. Some who are going back to the class rooms were denied the opportunity of study in early years.

Commercial subjects are expected to be the most popular but many are taking advantage of subjects seldom offered to the general public. One such course is in nutrition in health and diseases and was taught last year by Miss Lucile Bunting to nurses only. In the free vocational classes at Peter Smith School, 702 West Second Street. Miss Bunting will teach the course to a class consisting mainly of housewives. The course includes care and training of children, infant feeding, invalid care, meal planning, canning and preserving.

Morning classes in clothing also will be taught at the Peter Smith School.

Landscape gardening is expected to draw a full class of men and will include tree surgery. It also will be at the Peter Smith School.

Commercial classes will include advertising, show card writing, commercial art and mechanical drawing and salesmanship.

Those in charge of the work were surprised to find that the enrollment of negroes has more than equaled that of white persons. More than 500 negroes already have enrolled for work at the Guinn School and the Terrell High School. The negroes have enrolled mostly for commercial subjects and cooking.

Besides those subjects already mentioned, classes in machine calculation, business English and commercial arithmetic will be taught at Peter Smith School.

At the North Side High School will be taught bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, commercial arithmetic and business English.

The Vocational Trade School at 540 Grant Street will offer printing, automobile mechanics, electricity and air conditioning.

The classes, beginning Monday, will be held from 8 a. m. until noon for six days a week. The school will last for nine weeks, ending early in August.

RELIEF HELD UP BY BOND DELAY

Fort Worth is losing more than $2,000 in R. F. C. relief money every day because the Legislature has not passed the resolution calling for a vote by citizens Aug. 26 on a proposal for a $20,000,000 bond issue to supplement federal aid.

Jewel P. Lightfoot, chairman of the R. F. C. relief committee for Tarrant County, announced recently that approximately $70,000 R. F. C. money was spent in this county in April to aid the needy. That is at the rate of more than $2,000 a day.

Lightfoot returned Saturday from Austin where he conferred with officials on what is to be done. He explained that as soon as the Legislature passes the resolution and the vote is ordered, the R. F. C. will resume providing funds. These amount to approximately $50,000 a day in Texas. He expressed the opinion that the House did not realize the seriousness of the situation.

Henry G. Bowden, executive director of the Community Chest, said Saturday something must be done to get this R. F. C. money again or the relief work in this city will break down.

Y. M. C. A. Board Election Is Postponed Until Next Year

There will be no election to fill places on the Y. M. C. A. board of directors until May of next year, it was decided at a board session yesterday afternoon.

Seven of the 21 places were to have been filled at balloting last month, but after a controversy had arisen, a quorum of the board met the day before the election date and decided on a postponement.

Yesterday's decision to defer the balloting until next year came after a motion to hold the election next month had been rejected. The postponement carried by two votes.

The differences arose some weeks ago when a petition asking that three names be placed on the ballot—in addition to the seven named by the nominating committee—had been presented.

The additional names were not printed, however, when 14 signers of the petition said they had not been "fully informed," Judge Hal S. Lattimore, board chairman, declared. Withdrawal of these signatures left the petition with insufficient signatures, it was explained.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. who were displeased at the action in leaving the three names off expressed their intention of seeking the resignation of Ralph Squires, executive secretary.

The board will meet June 26 to elect officers.

MEETING OF MINISTERS POSTPONED TO FRIDAY

Because of special meetings scheduled for Monday by two congregations, the General Ministers Association will postpone its regular meeting until 10 a. m. Friday, Rev. W. H. Coleman, president, announced Saturday.

Monnig Defends Report on Vice

Rev. S. H. Frazier's charge that the report of the councilmanic committee which investigated vice here was an effort to whitewash the "whole matter," was denied last night by Councilman Monnig, a member of the committee.

Monnig will recommend refusal of the request of members of the General Ministers Association that the testimony be turned over to its committee of 10.

He declared that the council can not honorably make public the testimony adduced at the hearings conducted by the committee as witnesses were assured their statements would be guarded.

"I would not recommend that the report be turned over to anyone but City Manager Fairtrace and Police Chief Lewis," Monnig said. "If it is turned over to the committee of ten

POLICE PROBE AGAIN CLOSED TO PUBLIC

Will Decide Today on Future Committee Sessions

City Council's police investigating committee was to meet behind closed doors at 2 p. m. today with a half dozen witnesses called for questioning.

Sam J. Callaway, chairman, said the committee would decide today whether future sessions shall be open or closed to the public. Until now, both public and closed chamber sessions have been held.

The committee probably will complete its work early next week, Mr. Callaway said. Other members are William Monnig and J. Roby Penn.

SENATE BILL SEEKS BEER REFERENDUM

Resolution by Poage of Waco Would Amend Texas Constitution to Get Brew.

Election Urged in November; Majority of Upper House Members Sign Proposal.

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, April 12.—A resolution, sponsored by Senator W. R. Poage of Waco, proposing a constitutional amendment which would authorize manufacture and sale of 3.2 per cent beer in Texas, was offered in the Senate today. The resolution would provide for a referendum on Nov. 7 next, providing a two-thirds majority of each house of the Legislature favored it. Poage declared, however, he was willing to amend the resolution to move the submission date to July 22.

Beer advocates in the House succeeded in having a bill pending there to legalize beer placed on the table subject to call, making it possible for them to get the proposal on the floor for debate and a vote on 24 hours' notice.

Representative John M. Mathis of Houston, one of the sponsors of the House bill, said it was likely the bill would be brought up on next Monday.

Twenty other Senators signed the Poage resolution. That is a majority in the upper branch of the Legislature. Some Senators had contended they did not believe it would be constitutional to legalize manufacture and sale of beer by statute. Texas has constitutional prohibition.

Senators signing the resolution with Poage were Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls, Wilbourn B. Collie of Eastland, Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, Walter Woodward of Coleman, J. W. E. H. Beck of DeKalk, Will D. Pace of Tyler, John S. Redditt of Lufkin, W. R. Cousins of Beaumont, Julian P. Greer of Elkhart, Nat Patton of Crockett, Joe M. Moore of Greenville, H. Grady Woodruff of Decatur, George C. Purl of Dallas, Cecil Murphy of Gainesville, Clint C. Small of Amarillo, Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth, Roy Sanderford of Belton, Miss Margie Neal of Carthage, John W. Hornsby of Austin and Will M. Martin of Hillsboro.

Poage said that even should the Legislature pass a bill to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer that it could not become effective before August, or 90 days after adjournment of the Legislature, because it would be unable to muster a two-thirds majority vote to make it effective immediately upon approval of the Governor.

The constitutional amendment would cal bank amounting to more than $10,000 over a period of 15 months, Rev. Mr. Frazier said. "These facts were not presented as testimony but were revealed in response to a subpoena duces tecum."

Rev. Mr. Frazier said that "I really wish I did not know all that I do know about our city. You are not to believe any paper which said that only a few gambling places were uncovered in the investigation. Those newspaper reports were not true. The reports that there were only one or two instances of petty graft also did not have a word of truth in them. The whole report of the council committee was an effort to whitewash the whole affair. Why at one time the safest place in the city to secure liquor was near the police station. If you could not get it there, a policeman would tell you a convenient place and it was even known that a uniformed officer went after liquor and delivered it to the customer. We simply have a white elephant on our hands. We've got practically the same police force."

Rev. Jesse Garrett reminded the ministers that "before this investigation I remarked that Fort Worth would never be cleaned up as long as it had the present city manager and I still maintain that. If the present City Council won't fire him then we need to go to work and get a council that will do it. There are hell-holes all over this city. We should demand that the city manager be fired and that a police chief that will really reorganize the department be put in charge."

Rev. C. O. Shugart, pastor of Central Methodist Church, arose to say that "I'm all het up this morning. Somebody burglarized my car yesterday for the fourth time. They took a mighty good spare tire."

Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of First Baptist Church, interposed to ask him: "Do you think it is retaliation?"

"Hardly that," Rev. Mr. Shugart replied. He then made the motion that the council committee's evidence be turned over to the association committee.

Rev. Mr. Frazier said he had been harassed by black cat calls and other methods of attempting to embarrass me."

Rev. Mr. Norris called the ministers' attention to a full page advertisement in The Star-Telegram favoring legalization of beer and said "the name of the man who paid for this ad is known in Austin and we intend to investigate him. He has registered in Austin as representing other interests than that which he really represents and that is a violation of the law." The ministers then voted to indorse a resolution from the United Forces for Prohibition requesting the Legislature to investigate lobbyists. It was addressed to Speaker Coke Stevenson and Lieutenant Governor Witt.

"We ought to help save Oklahoma and Arkansas from legal beer, too," Rev. Mr. Coleman said. "They have been saying Louisiana is getting rich from legal beer, but one of our bankers who recently returned reported that there is only one bank open in New Orleans."

On a motion by Rev. T. W. Brabham, president of Texas Woman's College, the ministers voted to send a message of "support, sympathy and prayer" in recognition of President's Day, which will be observed Saturday. Dr. L. R. Scarborough, president of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, said "that does not mean we are indorsing his whisky plan, does it?"

Rev. Mr. Coleman replied that it did not. Rev. Mr. Norris spoke up and said "the President settled that question when he let it be known that Texas could settle its whisky and beer problem for itself." His suggestion that a citywide prayer meeting for women be held to "defeat liquor" was accepted.

Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth, district W. C. T. U. president, urged the ministers to co-operate with the W. C. T. U. campaign. Miss Berdie Lawrence, another W. C. T. U. worker, also spoke. Revs. Frazier, LaPrade and Dr. Scarborough were named on a committee to meet with the United Forces committee here Tuesday. Revs. J. K. Thompson, L. D. Anderson, Shugart, Norris and McKinney were named on a nominating committee. The association will elect officers at its next meeting.

Rev. S. X. Swimme asked that the ministers aid him in providing pastoral service for the Tarrant County Home. The matter was referred to a committee.

It was voted to hold a citywide religious survey in May.

MINISTERS CHARGE WHITEWASH AIM OF CRIME INVESTIGATORS

Charging that the recent report of the City Council's crime investigation committee was "an effort to whitewash the whole matter," members of the General Ministers Association, meeting Monday morning at First Christian Church, voted to ask the council committee to turn over records of evidence taken to the association's committee of 10.

Rev. S. H. Frazier, a member of the committee of 10 who sat with the council committee during the investigation, declared that "all that is being done as a result of the investigation is quietly to remove a few of those who were involved." He said that the written testimony presented in the investigation "more than substantiates the charges brought by the ministers."

He charged that the city manager had failed to insist upon enforcement of the law and "was entirely passive to the situation, allowing all of the crime in the city, prostitution, gambling and liquor violations, to be handled by a vice squad of three men, while more than 100 policemen spent their time on a traffic squad marking overparked automobiles."

Rev. W. H. Coleman, association president, interrupted a moment to ask the speaker how the vice squad "handled the situation." Rev. Mr. Frazier replied with a severe criticism of the squad.

Repeating an assertion previously made that "I did not take an oath to keep testimony secret but have not divulged a word which was given in testimony," Rev. Mr. Frazier said he would tell the ministers one thing which he witnessed that would give them an idea of what had been going on in the city.

"One man who was employed for $150 a month and a $25 monthly expense account for a car was found to have deposits to his credit in a lobe self-enacting and beer would be sold under the same regulations and same taxes as imposed by the Federal Government until the Legislature changed those regulations. The State would collect a tax equal to the levy placed by the Federal Government.

Poage said he did not believe that some Senators who signed his resolution would vote against a bill proposing legalization of manufacture and sale of beer.

MINISTERS TO KEEP PRESENT PRESIDENT

Departing from the customary procedure of "passing around" the presidency of the General Ministers Association among the four major denominations of the city, the nominating committee Saturday will renominate Rev. W. H. Coleman, who has served as president for the last year.

Confirmation of the choice of the nominating committee is expected to be made at a meeting of the association at 10 a. m. Saturday at First Christian Church.

Although refusing to say definitely what names will appear on the slate, members of the nominating committee Thursday confirmed rumors of Rev. Mr. Coleman's nomination with the statement that it wouldn't be "wise to swap horses in the middle of the stream." Ralph Squires, secretary-treasurer of the organization, probably will be re-elected also. A new man will be elected to fill the less important office of vice president.

It has been customary for the association to select its president from the Presbyterian, Christian, Baptist and Methodist denominations in turn. This year's president was to have been selected from among the Christian ministers of the city. At the insistence of Rev. L. D. Anderson, pastor of First Christian Church, and others, the nominating committee this year will not pass the nomination on to the Christian denomination but will place the name of Rev. Mr. Coleman before the association for re-election.

The customary changing of presidents was considered unwise in view of the fact that the organization will continue next year many phases of the work begun this year under the present leadership.

PASTORS DENY RESPONSIBILITY FOR STATEMENT

Say Report of Frazier And Cooke on Fairtrace Was Personal

The General Ministerial Association today denied responsibility for the recommendation of a representative that City Council ask City Manager George D. Fairtrace for his resignation.

The recommendation was made Wednesday.

Remarks of Councilman William Monnig about the recommendations and report resulted in a $100,000 damage suit against him, filed yesterday by Clay Cooke, attorney.

The ministers met at First Christian Church yesterday afternoon and today issued the following statement:

"Our attention has been called to recent statements appearing in our Fort Worth daily newspapers concerning recommendations offered by Rev. S. H. Frazier and Clay Cooke to the City Council on the recent council investigation of the police department. We wish to state:

"First: Rev. S. H. Frazier was a representative of the General Ministerial Association appointed by the president of the association to sit in on the investigation and agreed to by the court.

"Second, the recommendation of Rev. S. H. Frazier and Clay Cooke referred to in the press came from these two gentlemen and not from the ministers' association. Mr. Frazier stated to the ministers' association that their reason for making this recommendation to the City Council at that time was due to their belief that otherwise the City Council would have deferred any statement to the public concerning the investigation until after the election on April 4, and they believe it would have been unjust and unfair for this report to have been withheld from the public until after the election. Evidently, the report coming from the investigating committee to the mayor, as published in the daily papers, justified their decision.

"Mr. Frazier also states that he and Mr. Cooke were not under oath, but having agreed to not divulge any of the evidence given in the investigation, they have strictly kept that promise."

DRY FORCES PLAN FIGHT IN PRECINCTS

County Will Be Divided Into Four Districts and Each Voting Box Organized.

A campaign against legalizing 3.2 beer and repeal of the prohibition amendment will be waged in each Tarrant County voting precinct and carried to every doorstep in the city, the Allied Forces for Prohibition decided at the First Christian Church last night when a skeleton county organization was announced.

The county will be divided into four districts, each presided over by a chairman who will be responsible for forming groups in each of the precincts. Boundaries of the districts will be the Texas and Pacific Railway and a line projected through Main Street. The districts will be named for points of the compass and chairmen will be: Northwest, Rev. M. H. Applewhite; northeast, Rev. Jesse Garrett; southeast, Rev. B. J. Cauthen, and southwest, Rev. Earl H. Lightfoot.

Rev. Tom W. Brabham, chairman, announced committees as follows: Speakers, Rev. S. H. Frazier, chairman; Mrs. Raymond Buckley, Patrick Henry and J. C. Hyer; publicity, Rev. C. O. Shugart, chairman; Prof. J. W. Willard, Rev. K. T. Melugin, Mrs. Jesse Garrett and Mrs. S. R. Hoyt; finance, Harry Keeton, chairman; J. B. Baker, J. C. Cole, E. E. Bean, W. L. George and A. E. Chambers.

J. W. Stitt, Rev. C. R. Bullock and Rev. W. H. Coleman were named to select a permanent meeting place for the forces.

PREACHERS HIT AT RACING BILL

Charge Measure Illegal And Unconstitutional; Will Go to Courts

Fort Worth ministers today dropped their fight to prevent passage of the race horse rider in the Senate, following its passage yesterday in the House, but were holding their fire for a battle on its constitutionality and legality.

Rev. W. H. Coleman, president of the Fort Worth Ministerial Association, said he was sure the bill would pass in the Senate and that his group would do nothing further to prevent it.

"After it is passed, we are going to fight to prove it is unconstitutional and illegal, and we will prove that the speaker of the House, Coke Stevenson, used unfair methods in overruling all objections to the bill in the House."

Reverend Coleman was asked what steps would be taken to prove the measure's unconstitutionality, but declined to say. However, he said that if the bill, passed yesterday in the form of a rider, is an old bill, it has been killed and cannot be revived. If it is a new measure, it did not go thru proper channels, he maintains.

"The House took unfair advantage and resorted to an unfair method in reviving a bill which already had been killed," he continued.

"Everybody knew that the bill could not pass on its own merits and would only be voted if tacked onto a bill that had to be passed, such as the appropriation bill. It was downright subterfuge in resorting to such a method to get the bill thru."

SESSION FOR DRY FORCES IS SCHEDULED

Mass Meeting Will Be Held Thursday Night at First Christian Church.

United Forces for Prohibition in Tarrant County, ready to "push the battle for prohibition to the utmost," will hold a mass meeting at First Christian Church Thursday night, it was announced yesterday by President Tom W. Brabham of Texas Woman's College, who is withdrawing his resignation as county chairman.

The county will be divided into four districts for the dry campaign and four district chairmen will be selected at the meeting Thursday night. Each chairman will be charged with the responsibility of perfecting an organization within his territory, President Brabham said.

Direct contact with every qualified voter in the county to "place information in their hands which will cause them to vote to keep Tarrant County and Texas dry," will be a part of the prohibition campaign.

President Brabham withdrew his resignation as chairman of the United Forces after a conference with the executive committee yesterday morning.

"The members of the executive committee have discussed the matter with me," Rev. Mr. Brabham said, "and I find that by rearranging my schedule I can withdraw my resignation and assist in pushing the battle for prohibition in Tarrant County to the utmost.

"Plans for organizing the county into four districts were outlined in a conference Saturday morning with J. W. Stitt, chairman of the executive committee," he continued. "The county organization plans to make direct contact with each qualified voter in the county. We believe, when information is placed in the hands of the people, that they will vote to keep Tarrant County and Texas dry."

Controversy to Be Renewed At Board Meet June 26

Controversy over election of seven Y. M. C. A. directors is to flare up again when the board meets June 26 to elect officers, G. A. Wilson, recording secretary of the board, said today.

Mr. Wilson will contest the election of officers on the grounds such a move would be illegal since the election of seven directors has been postponed until May, 1934. Mr. Wilson also holds delay of the election of directors violates the organization's constitution and by-laws.

The controversy started when the names of three nominees were left off the directors' ballot after 44 members had signed a petition for their inclusion. The board ruled that when a number of signers withdrew the petition did not carry sufficient names to place the names on the ballot.

Armed with figures showing that 19 per cent of Fort Worth's boy high school graduates of the last three years are unemployed, Carl A. Gardner, chairman of the Kiwanis Club committee on vocational guidance, was ready yesterday to begin a drive to find jobs for unemployed youth.

Aided by C. G. Fairchild, director of the Y. M. C. A. Hi-Y department, Gardner completed a survey of 841 high school graduates, conducting vocational and personality tests to determine special aptitudes of each boy.

Gardner's committee will appeal to business heads to aid in providing jobs for the unemployed boys. Tests applied in determining boys' fitness for various kinds of employment were developed and proved in Columbia and Stanford Universities and have already been shown to be extremely valuable, Gardner said yesterday. Results of the tests will show to prospective employers the aptitudes of boys they may assign to work.

The survey completed by Gardner and Fairchild revealed that the 841 boys included 281 who are in college, 18 in business or vocational schools and 78 taking post-graduate high school courses. A total of 78 of the boys are employed full time and 55 are employed part time. There are 165 boys whose time is unoccupied.

Committeemen aiding Gardner are Judge Frank P. Culver Jr., Oliver Millican, C. P. Penrose, Dr. Joseph F. McVeigh and E. C. Lowdon.

WILL ASK YMCA MEMBERS TO END DISPUTE

E 6-25-33

Members of the Y. M. C. A. board who seek replacement or transfer of Ralph E. Squires, secretary, will petition for a general membership settlement of the dispute over the election to fill seven of the 21 places on the board. If the board does not heed the petition for the meeting of the membership, a mandamus action may be filed in district court, said the several board members led by Cecil C. Rotsch.

This Rotsch group protested also the election of officers of the Y. M. C. A. Monday noon. The officers named were Judge Hal S. Lattimore, president; F. B. Porter, vice president; Gilbert A. Wilson, recording secretary, and Dr. W. J. Danforth, treasurer. All four already were serving in these same positions, and simply were re-elected for another year.

The protest that the election of officers should not be held at this time was made by Rotsch, Wilson, E. O. Gillam and Floyd E. Wolfe. They contended that a section of the by-laws provides that the officers shall not be elected until after the election to fill vacancies on the board of directors.

The board election, scheduled for several weeks ago, was postponed after the Rotsch faction, opposed to Ralph E. Squires' continuing as secretary, claimed that names of three candidates had been left off the ticket. The board election was put off until next year.

The question of the secretarial place was not discussed at the election on Monday, it being agreed that the officers shall study the matter and make recommendations as to the men composing the house staff. The secretary is included in this staff.

Y. M. C. A. FIGHT ENDS IN LOVE FEAST

Membership Adjourns When Told That Resignation of Secretary Is Accepted.

From a snarly beginning in which they were ready to demand an election of new directors on Aug. 16, members of the Y. M. C. A. worked themselves around to an adjournment last night that sounded like the final course of a love feast.

They had before them the news that the directors had met in special session at noon yesterday and accepted the resignation of Ralph Squires, general secretary. It was to ask for just such action, as well as to demand the resignation of those directors who voted to postpone this year's election to 1934, that last night's membership meeting was called by petition.

When the meeting was called to order, three directors who had been most active in seeking the removal of Squires and whose efforts were indirectly responsible for postponement of the election in May, asked the group present to adjourn without action.

"I drew up the petition to hold this meeting," Director E. O. Gillam said, "but since it was signed, the board has not only been working diligently, but has been getting results. Our last three meetings have been the most harmonious we have ever had. Have confidence that we will continue to work to the best interests of the Y. M. C. A. Give us 30 days more time."

Rotsch Urges Recess.

Second to ask that the group adjourn and meet again in 30 days if the directors had in any way failed them was Director Cecil Rotsch.

"Within the last 30 days," he said, "your board of directors has come to agree that a change in the Y. M. C. A. personnel is for the best. The board is working along lines which you favor. Don't adjourn this meeting—recess it for 30 days. Then if you are not satisfied that the board is following a new policy, meet again."

President Hal S. Lattimore of the board of directors pleaded for even greater confidence in the board than that.

"You don't have to recess your meeting," he said. "The constitution gives me the right to call the membership together. I will call a meeting at any time any one of you asks for it. If you recess for a definite period and say to the world that you're putting your board of directors on trial, it will create a wrong feeling toward this organization."

Director Gilbert Wilson, who classed himself with Rotsch and Gillam and called the three of them "bolsheviks," added his testimony that the board is now harmonious and ready to follow a policy that will be popular with every member of the "Y."

High Tribute to Squires.

After that, Joe Johnson, who made the original motion for an election Aug. 16 and subsequent motions for a 30-day recess, withdrew them all. Gillam paid high tribute to the spiritual leadership of Squires and moved that an All-Y. M. C. A. banquet be held in his honor on Sept. 1.

Just when Squires' resignation becomes effective was not clear yesterday. At the directors' meeting, Gillam, mentioning the fact that Squires had [illegible]

Y. M. C. A. directors will not act immediately to choose a new general secretary, it was said today after they accepted the resignation of Ralph E. Squires last night.

Mr. Squires, who has held the position for nearly 11 years, will become assistant secretary of the state organization.

The meeting of directors last night was forced by members, who had called it by petition to present a motion that a new board of directors be elected August 16.

Resolutions of confidence in the present board were adopted before the meeting was over, however, as well as a resolution praising the work done by Mr. Squires.

A dinner probably will be tendered Mr. Squires when his resignation becomes effective Sept. 1. He will remain on duty at the "Y" until he goes to the state organization.

SQUIRES WILL QUIT SEPT. 1

Ralph E. Squires has resigned as general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. effective Sept 1, it was learned Tuesday afternoon.

Formal announcement will be made at a meeting of the membership and the directors of the "Y" tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

Squires is expected to take a position with the State Y. M. C. A. in Dallas after leaving here on Sept. 1.

Friends Greatest Memory, Says Resigned 'Y' Chief

Ralph Squires Looks Back Thru 11 Years As Secretary Of Local Institution; He'll Be State Assistant

Press 7/27/33

Ralph E. Squires, resigned general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., today swung back in his chair in his office at the beautiful stone "Y" building, and looked along the trail of the 11 years he has spent in the post he will soon leave for the assistant superintendency of the Texas state organization.

Mr. Squires, fiftyish, blue eyed, grey haired and kindly, is recalled by many boys active in the Y. M. C. A. who have grown into successful men. During his regime the "Y" moved from the tiny brick building behind the old postoffice, to the new structure which he helped to build.

Star-T E 7/19/33

"Those boys will be a lasting memory," said Mr. Squires, who has 30 years of Y. M. C. A. work behind him.

"The man who built this chair I am sitting in took pride in making a fine, strong and good chair and it brought him joy," he explained. "The Y. M. C. A. man derives the same satisfaction working with people."

Pleasant Associations

"To watch boys, closely connected with me at the 'Y,' grow thru their boyhood and high school days, marry and make good at their jobs is the romance and pleasure of my work," he added.

"My work and associations in Fort Worth have been the most pleasant of my life," Mr. Squires said. "The past two years, due to the necessity of cutting expenses at the 'Y', have been the hardest I have ever spent, however."

Coming to Fort Worth November 1, 1922, with 20 years of Y. M. C. A. experience, Mr. Squires aided in the campaign to raise funds for the present "Y" building. The $300,000 structure was erected in 1925. The building site was donated by Mrs. Winfield Scott.

Sold Old Building

Soon after moving from the building back of the old postoffice, the new building began to fill up. The second year, rooms on all three floors were filled to capacity. Also it fell to Mr. Squires lot to close and sell the old building. The Salvation Army has occupied it since.

Interest gained in Y. M. C. A. activities during his college days at the University of Minnesota prompted Mr. Squires to make it his life work. After graduating in 1902 he became a member of the Minnesota state Y. M. C. A. committee. Sent to Winona, Minn., to fill a vacancy temporarily Mr. Squires remained there more than nine years. For the next 10 years he was secretary of the St. Joseph, Mo., "Y".

Sticking at one Y. M. C. A. has appealed to Mr. Squires since some 25 years ago a worker spoke to him on the "Cumulative Value of Long, Continuous Administrations," he said.

Mr. Squires' son, Reuel, is following in his father's footsteps. He graduated two years ago from the Y. M. C. A. college at Chicago and is now boys' secretary at Danville, Ill.

For the past five years Mr. Squires has been secretary of the Ministerial Alliance and has been active in civic interests and campaigns. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club.

Mr. Squires resigned his position here to become assistant state Y. M. C. A. secretary. Detail of his move have not been arranged as John Henry, Dallas, state secretary, is in the north.

PRESENT STAFF TO OPERATE Y. M. C. A.

Present staff members of the Y. M. C. A. will continue to operate the institution and no successor to Ralph Squires, general secretary, will be appointed at this time, Judge Hal Lattimore, the president, said Wednesday. Squires' resignation was accepted Tuesday. He is to become assistant state secretary for the Y. M. C. A., although the date for him to assume his duties has not been fixed.

Announcement that Squires had resigned and that his resignation had been accepted was made at a meeting of association members Tuesday night. Action had been taken on the resignation by the directors in session earlier in the day, it was stated.

It was expected that a movement would have been made by the membership to ask the resignation of the directors who had been responsible in the association's election being postponed until 1934. It was planned to hold an election Aug. 16 to choose new directors.

Plans were changed, however, when it was learned that the resignation of Squires had been accepted.

Lattimore was absent at the directors' meeting and F. B. Porter, vice president, was chairman. Several of the directors commended Squires for the services he has rendered the institution. Lattimore Wednesday said Squires had done much for the association and said that it was under Squires' administration that the Y. M. C. A. building was constructed.

Squires has been connected with the "Y" here since 1922.

RADIO CONTINUITY WRITER FOUND DEAD

Body of Frank Reed, 36, Discovered by Maid

Frank Reed, 36, radio continuity writer for WBAP, was found dead in bed today in his room at the Y. M. C. A.

His death was discovered when a maid complained that she could not get into his room. B. B. Longacre, a secretary, opened the room and found Reed dead in bed.

Justice of the Peace Walter Prichard was called. In turn, he called Dr. Burke Brewster, county health officer. Dr. Brewster said the man had died of acute alcoholism. That was the verdict of the justice.

In Reed's clothing were found several personal letters from Arthur Brisbane, Hearst newspaper executive and columnist.

Reed had been here about six months. He formerly worked with the Chicago Tribune.

Officials of the Gause-Ware Funeral Home were attempting at noon today to get in touch with a city school teacher who is said to be a cousin of Reed.

WBAP WRITER IS FOUND DEAD

7/3/33 — Telegram Evening

Frank Reed, about 40, continuity writer at Radio Station WBAP and former secretary to the general manager of the Hearst newspapers in New York, was found dead in his room at the Y. M. C. A. Monday morning. A verdict of "death from acute alcoholism" was returned by Justice Prichard.

Reed had been in the employe of the radio station since coming here last February. His body was discovered by B. B. Longacre, business manager of the Y. M. C. A. He is thought to have died about midnight.

Reed had had wide experience as an employe of Hearst newspapers, having served as secretary to several general managers of various papers and as production manager. He was employed in the advertising dispatch department of the Chicago Daily News prior to his coming to Fort Worth.

A cousin, Mrs. Whitt Gunn of 2429 College Avenue, Monday morning was making an effort to communicate with Reed's wife, from whom he has been separated for several years. She is Mrs. Charlotte Capouilliez and is thought to be living in New York City. Reed's full name at one time was Frank Reed Capouilliez, but he had dropped the surname since his marriage because of the difficulty in pronouncing and spelling it. A son, Neilson, and a daughter, Delma, also survive him.

Funeral services probably will be held Tuesday at Meridian, where Reed's mother was buried several years ago shortly after she came to Texas from New York.

Justice Prichard returned a verdict of "death from acute alcoholism" after the body was discovered early yesterday by B. B. Longacre, Y. M. C. A. business manager.

Mr. Reed, who was Frank Reed Capouilliez until he dropped the difficult last name, is survived by his widow, from whom he had been separated for several years; a son, Neilson, and a daughter, Delma. Y.M.C.A. DEATH IS MADE ISSUE

Tragedy Focuses Attention On Move to Retire Secretary

The death yesterday in the Y. M. C. A. of a 36-year-old dormitory resident, due to alcoholism, is expected to bring a dispute within the organization "to a head" in the near future, directors said today.

An investigation was made yesterday by members of the house committee and some of the directors and the incident was reported to other directors, Chairman E. O. Gilliam of the committee said today. Asked what the board intended to do, Mr. Gilliam said:

"The Y. M. C. A. board of directors is better informed now than ever before and something will be done. I am sure that the board is alive now to the situation and will correct it."

He said that the committee members and directors "regret very much that the incident occurred but if it had to occur we are glad it happened now when this matter was being agitated."

Mr. Gilliam is among those on the board who are now petitioning for an election of directors, recently postponed for a year, and asking that General Secretary Ralph Squires resign or be retired.

culated among members. One, requesting a retroactive resignation by Mr. Squires, asks the directors arrange, "in a manner satisfactory to the parties concerned for the transfer or leave of absence of our present general secretary, or that the present officer be requested to resign effectiv January 1, 1933.

"The reason for this request, as is apparent to so many of our members, is that our present general secretary is incompetent to fill this position. The result of this incompetency has led to the present run-down condition and lack of harmony in our 'Y'."

Another petition asks an election to fill the places of seven directors whose terms expired in May. Following a controversy about voting on candidates additional to those nominated by the board, the election was delayed a year.

The body of the resident was found yesterday in his room. Justice Walter Prichard returned a verdict of acute alcoholism.

The victim had been living at the Y. M. C. A. since February and the investigators found more than 100 empty bottles and four half-gallon jars in his room, a member of the house committee said.

Other Y. M. C. A. officials said today that the board had been told previously that there was heavy drinking in the dormitory but that Mr. Squires had denied the claim.

'Y' MEMBERSHIP TO DECIDE ON SQUIRES

Dissension within the ranks of the Y. M. C. A., smoldering since postponement of the directorate election early in May, is expected to reach a head at a called meeting of the "Y" membership at headquarters at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

The question of retaining the services of Ralph E. Squires, general secretary, or granting him leave of absence until he reaches the retirement age, will be tackled directly by the membership. It was on this question that the board split in May with the result that election of new directors was postponed for a year.

Purposes of the meeting Tuesday, as outlined in the petition of call are: "(1)) To declare vacant those offices of members whose term of office expired in May; (2) also to declare vacant the offices of those directors who voted to postpone the election to 1934 in direct contradiction to the constitution and by-laws of the Y. M. C. A.; (3) to appoint a special committee to hold election of directors, and (4) to determine whether the services of Mr. Ralph E. Squires shall be retained and if so, for what length of time and for what compensation."

Leaders of the membership faction favoring some change in the management of the Y. M. C. A. said Saturday their group would have been glad to leave the problem to the board of directors, but that that group had been "namby-pamby" and entirely too slow to act.

President Hal S. Lattimore of the board said he had not been apprised of the meeting plans for Tuesday. He knew nothing, except by rumor, he said, of the petition of call.

Witness Says Man Was Drunk in 'Y'

Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death recently of a resident of the Y. M. C. A. in whose room approximately 150 whisky bottles were found has disclosed that the man was seen to enter the lobby under the influence of liquor and no report was made of the occurrence, Justice Hal S. Lattimore, president of the board, said yesterday.

A witness at the inquiry which Lattimore is holding told of seeing the man enter in an inebriated condition the night before his body was found. Death was due to "acute alcoholism," according to the verdict of Justice Prichard.

The witness told of seeing a man aid the intoxicated roomer but declined to tell who had given the assistance.

In view of the numerous bottles found in a drawer in the room after the death occurred, Justice Lattimore said the inquiry will seek to determine whether the man entered the lobby on other occasions in like condition. No report of any such occurrence was made by attaches of the Y. M. C. A.

As to general conditions, Lattimore said his investigation has revealed no roomer, other than the one who died, who has drunk liquor on the premises or has had intoxicants in his possession.

Ralph Squires, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is expected to return today from a two-weeks' vacation in Minnesota.

The next board meeting is set for next month.

Y. M. C. A. BOARD MEETING ASKED

Three petitions were being circulated yesterday by members of the Y. M. C. A. asking that a special meeting of the board be held July 18 at 8 p. m. to vacate posts of seven members and formulate the policy of the organization with reference to the employment of Ralph E. Squires, general secretary.

Seven directors were scheduled to be voted on May 9, but no election was held and the old directors are still serving. The election, President Hal S. Lattimore announced, would be deferred a year.

The petition said that it would be the purpose of the meeting to receive the resignation of members of the board whose terms expired in May, to select a date for holding the annual election and to name a committee to conduct the voting.

It will also be determined at the meeting whether Squires will be retained, the time his services are to be discontinued if the board takes this action, and the amount of his compensation.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. engaged in circulating the petitions said only 21 names were required to force an election and that 60 had been obtained.

The petitions will be presented to Lattimore, Squires and the directors Friday.

"57 VARIETIES"

"Born" in the gay nineties the "57" is today known in every household to stand for the H. J. Heinz Company and its line of famous products

Among the many successful and now famous firms which were founded very soon after the Civil War is the H. J. Heinz Company. In 1869, H. J. Heinz, then a young man, began the business which bears his name. Today, with more than 11,000 employes, 25 factories, 91 sales branches and warehouses, 253 receiving stations, and over 200 foreign agencies, the symbol "57 Varieties" is known the nation over and throughout the world as a synonym for fine food products and a fine and never-diminishing reputation for solid achievement and service.

It is interesting, in retrospect, to chronicle that the famous "57 Varieties" slogan was originated in 1896, towards the close of the nineteenth century. In the gay nineties, in fact, advertising had taken firm root as an essential business tool. Slogans flowered indiscriminately; many which originated in that period became household words.

Mr. H. J. Heinz found time to devote considerable thought to the advertising his flourishing business required. Some time in 1896, while riding on an elevated train in New York City, the car cards on the train held his thoughtful attention. One of these cards, Mr. Heinz later related, spoke of the number of styles which a shoe company offered. This induced Mr. Heinz to count up the number of varieties he was then producing. He was able to add to "57." Thus, on that unpremeditated ride, was conceived the now world-famous slogan "57 Varieties."

Of course, Heinz today is a producer of many more than the "57 Varieties" H. J. Heinz was able to count in 1896—but the "57" has become an honored and historic symbol and stands for Heinz and all the products which bear the Heinz label.

The small and humble business which H. J. Heinz began in 1869 became and has remained one of the greatest food-packing companies in the world. The Heinz Company has always been in the forefront in the development and adoption of modern and approved methods in all phases of its ramified operations. We are, of course, proud to say that Heinz uses National Anhydrous Ammonia for its refrigeration requirements.

AMMONITORIALS

Well! We have an editorial column at last. Since the beginning of the "Diamond," in July 1931, we have frequently felt the urge to talk to our readers but each issue would "fill up" so quickly that no space was left for the editor's comments. But all that is now of the past. The new format —and we hope you have noticed it by now—gives us our long sought opportunity.

In the first "Ammonitorial" it seems only natural that we confine ourselves to a few annotations on the vehicle which makes possible this column—the new layout. In making this change it was our desire to make the publication more interesting. We hope for success. Each issue, beginning with this number, will contain a much wider range of information.

We trust that you will find the "new" Diamond to your liking. We will try to make each issue better than the last.

Sometimes we think we know all the ways ice is utilized, but ever so often we hear of a new or novel use. Here is one which we read recently in the Chicago Tribune:

"The ancient physical law that cold contracts, heat expands, was applied successfully today by Dr. Frank Ciafone, of St. John's Hospital of Long Island City, to free Andrew Ellen, 4, who had stuck his finger in the keyhole of a lock on the gate of a playground.

"Andrew pulled and pulled, but only wedged his finger more firmly. At length a physician was called. He got a table on which he set the youngster. He hailed an ice-man, chopped a hunk of ice into pieces and packed it around Andrew's hand. When the imprisoned finger had contracted, Dr. Ciafone took soap shavings and forced them into the lock, allowing Andrew to slide his finger out. The release took twenty minutes, but the finger had been imprisoned for several hours. Beyond a minor abrasion, Andrew was unhurt."

"MEDICAMENTA VERA"

This Latin phrase means "better medicines" and it expresses the dominating principle of a great firm—Parke, Davis and Company

SEVENTY-TWO years could hardly show a greater growth and progress in any business than from Dr. S. P. Duffield's "drug store laboratory" to the great plant of Parke, Davis and Company in Detroit. Although Dr. Duffield remained in the Parke, Davis picture only a few short years it was he who conceived the idea of lifting the manufacturing pharmacy to a new high plane and his drug store was the birthplace of the firm. He it was who persuaded both Parke and Davis to join the enterprise and carry on.

The contrast between the humble beginning and the present home occupied by the company is no greater than the contrast to be found between the different departments of the business. At the main plant a great factory hums, a busy office clicks, and a research laboratory lives in a quiet detachment that is almost mysterious because you know that behind the calm is energy being expended as vigorously in its own way, as in any phase of this active, throbbing, thriving enterprise.

As one looks down a corridor in the laboratory a door on the right might have closed only this morning on scientists upon a quest which may not reach its conclusion for many years. A door on the left might open today, and men step forth to announce another contribution to medicine as beneficial as the isolation of the hormone, adrenalin —a bit more on this later.

The laboratory and most of the fine buildings came after Mr. Parke and Mr. Davis—Parke died in 1898 and Davis had retired from the business two years before that. But the spirit of Dr. Duffield and these two pioneers is still present and one can readily sense that the end is not near —far, far from it—in the fulfilment of their admonition for "Medicamenta Vera." To carry on for "better medicines" and still better medicines, Mr. O. W. Smith, President, and those associated with him, today build plants and laboratories where men quietly work on experiments which some day perhaps will give mankind new ways of stamping out disease, easing pain, or saving life.

During the period which Parke and Davis managed the company, their greatest tangible contribution to the medical world was undoubtedly standardized medicines. They announced the first chemically standardized fluid extract in 1876 and physiologically assayed extract in 1897. Now there are over 1100 preparations

This illustration appeared in one of a series of Parke, Davis advertising messages telling how the worker in medical science, the physician, and the maker of medicines are surrounding you with stronger health defenses year by year which, because they are standardized, can be used by physicians and surgeons throughout the world with precision and certainty. If you want to know how much standardized medicines mean to you, just ask your doctor.

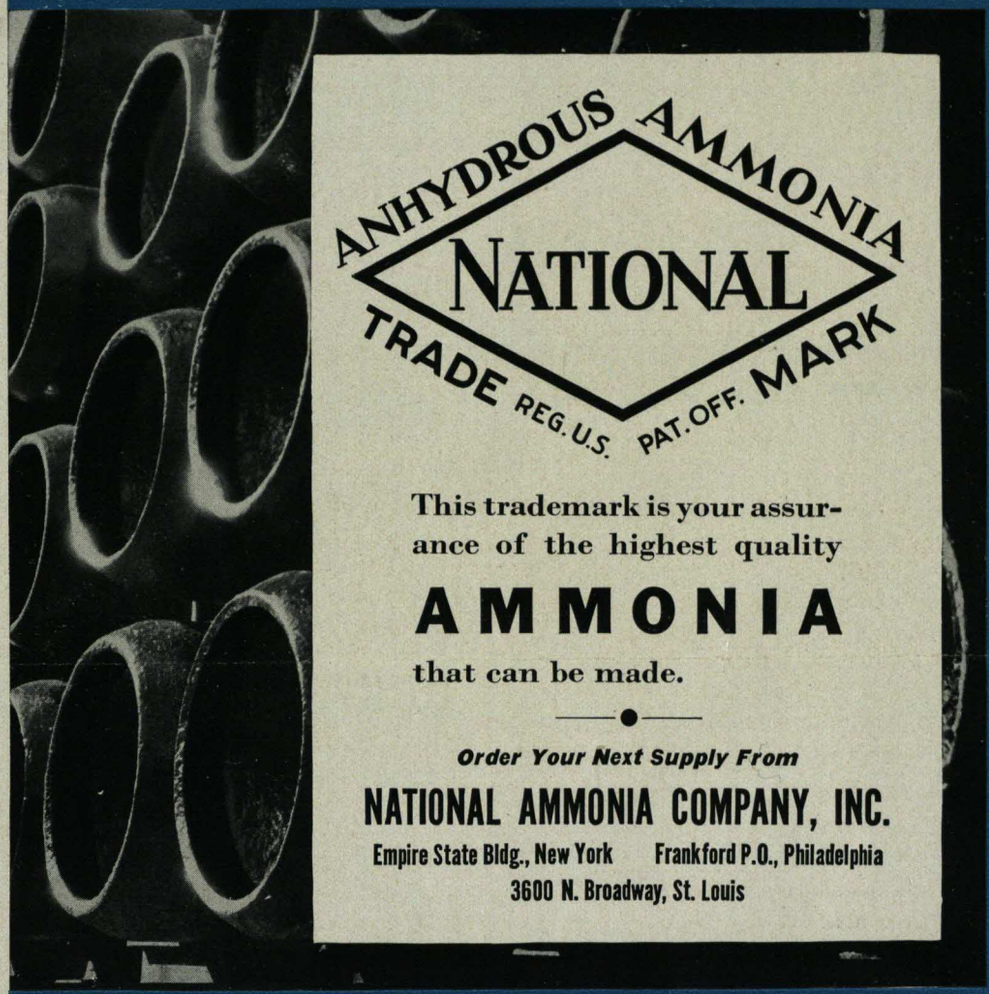
We mentioned that we would write more about adrenalin. Everyone has some glands scattered in their bodies. The different "sets" go by six or seven different names, we believe, and comprise your endocrine system. These glands do the most amazing things, but just what we can't say as we are not doctors. But when one of the glands fails to do its duty, or perhaps does it too well, the "endocrine balance" might be unduly disturbed and the results can be very distressing.

A pair of these glands is in a layer of fat over the kidneys. These particular glands are the suprarenals, sometimes called the adrenals. The extracts of the endocrine glands are designated categorically as hormones, and the hormone of the suprarenal glands is called adrenalin. By the end of the nineteenth century, doctors had learned from their study of the suprarenal glands that there were many situations in which the effects of stimulated suprarenal glands, with their consequent release of adrenalin, would be most beneficial, but it is not easy to stimulate the suprarenals at will.

At this point, it was Dr. Jokichi Takamine, a son of Japan and a member of the research staff of Parke, Davis and Company, who isolated pure adrenalin from the extract. Chemical analysis of it followed.

Adrenalin was the first of the hormones to be isolated and the value of Parke, Davis achievement cannot be over-rated because today adrenalin is one of the most widely employed medicinal agents in the world.

Dr. Takamine was able to end the search for pure adrenalin, which had been carried on by scientists in Europe and America for years, by hitting upon the use of ammonia water to precipitate his crystals of pure adrenalin. We do not know that the ammonia he used—probably only a tiny bit was employed — came from National Ammonia Company. But we do know that Parke, Davis and Company uses "NATIONAL" Ammonia in many ways today. And what excites us most is the fact that sometimes some of it goes into that seemingly reposeful, and therefore mysterious, building which is the Parke, Davis research laboratory.



This is the National Ammonia Company's advertisement which is appearing at present in ice and refrigeration trade papers

AMMONIA FACTS

Almost all hair-waving solutions applied before milady gets her permanent wave contain about 2 per cent of ammonia.

During the early days of repeal a number of producers put their gin in frosted bottles. These were frosted with a solution of ammonia and hydrofluoric acid.

Even though the Government at present is paying farmers not to plant cotton, the Department of Agriculture continues to develop processes to increase cotton productivity. One of these is the discovery of a method of combating cotton-root rot. Ammonia does the job.

There is evidence that ammonia is present in the atmosphere surrounding the sun.

It takes about 1000 cubic feet of hydrogen and 250 cubic feet of nitrogen to make 30 pounds of ammonia.

Three times as much hydrogen as nitrogen is needed by volume to make ammonia, but the nitrogen weighs more than four and one-half times as much as the hydrogen.

If one pound of ammonia is burned in a closed combustion chamber, about 78 cubic feet of nitrogen is formed of which only 11 cubic feet is from the ammonia—the remainder comes from the air.

The amount of hydrogen in 20 gallons of water will make 100 pounds of ammonia.

To synthesize ammonia — that is, to place nitrogen and hydrogen together—pressure of 8 tons per square inch is used —equivalent to the weight of about 100 men standing on a golf ball.

Water is probably the most universally known solvent with regards to the number of substances which will dissolve in it. Next to water comes liquid ammonia.

Many ammonium salts such as ammonium nitrate take on properties of strong acids when dissolved in liquid ammonia.

PEOPLE NEED TO RELAX NOW, LEADER SAYS

Recreation Head Drafts Extensive Program For Summer

seven divisions, playground, athletic, community service, Recreation Hall, golf, aquatic and movies. Each group has a separate program to follow.

Free Movies Appeal

Free movies have the widest appeal, Mr. Evans says. More than 500,000 attendance was recorded at the shows in the parks last year. The movie program embraces 14 shows conducted each week in different locations. And this is the less costly of all recreation groups, too. Expenses of operation are defrayed thru advertisements by local merchants. Operation of the park movies cost the department only $50 last year.

From the participation standpoint, the playgrounds surpass all other departments. Swimming isn't so far behind, while golf is a close third.

The huge play program is handled by a staff of 10 permanent workers, including Mr. Evans. Others active in the department's work are T. B. Heffington, director of athletics and playgrounds; Dick Dixson, boys' work director; Ida Mae Williams, girls' and women's program director; Mabel Lewis, playground and music worker; Mary Mills, pianist and playground worker; Mrs. Marie Rounds, secretary; Clothilde Lunt, assistant athletic director; Smiley Rowland and Wells Howard, golf course managers.

Playground Instructors

Playground instructors will be added to the list of employes in June. Supervisors of play will be placed at Forest, Capps, Hillside, Sycamore, Riverside, Marine, Arnold, Trinity, Trail Drivers, Eighth Ward, Arlington Heights High, Arlington Heights Junior, Buck Sansom and Maddox parks for whites and at Dixie, Harmon Field and Greenway for negroes.

Summary of the seven Recreation Department divisions' activities follow:

PLAYGROUND—Sixteen playgrounds operate with an instructor in charge from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m. and 4 to 8 p. m. Activities include handcraft, dramatics, story-telling, sand-craft, music, games, ring games, clay modeling, athletics, nature study, industrial trips, dancing, health and beauty contests, playground circus, recitals, ukulele contests, doll show, kite tournaments, track events, swimming meets, bicycle races, playground and baseball leagues, marble tournaments, acrobatics, tumbling and park programs.

Other Activities

ATHLETICS FOR ADULT MEN AND WOMEN—Baseball, tennis, roque, archery, volleyball, horseshoe tournaments, swimming meets.

COMMUNITY SERVICE—Equipment and supervision for picnics, socials and entertainments. Band concerts and park programs are also arranged with adult playground talent.

RECREATION HALL—Dancing, music, choral clubs, boxing, wrestling, gym classes, volleyball leagues, indoor baseball, club meetings, band concerts, pageants, square dances and social dances.

GOLF—Tournaments at both courses, free golf instructions once each week for women, free day once each week for women. Last year's participants totaled 95,000.

AQUATIC — Water pageants, band concerts, swimming tourаments, free instructions and one free day each week for children. Attendance was 108,227 last year.

Rift in YMCA Board Due to Widen Monday

Justice Lattimore One of Targets of Group Charging Politics Has Crept in.

Resignation of Ralph Squires as general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association failed to restore harmony among directors and the flame of dissension is expected to blaze anew when the board meets next Monday.

One group of directors is asking a new deal for the local Y. M. C. A., charging that politics has been allowed to creep into the organization and has retarded its usefulness.

Justice Hal S. Lattimore, president of the board, is one of the targets of the group seeking the election of new officers preliminary to establishment of new policies.

Reports that he had been asked to resign at a meeting of the board Saturday were denied last night by Justice Lattimore, who declared that it was not even suggested that he resign. He refused to deny or confirm the report that he had tendered his resignation at the meeting.

Gilbert Wilson, secretary of the board and one of those who demanded Squires' resignation, admitted last night that he had offered his resignation as secretary at the meeting Saturday and said the board took no action. He did not offer to resign as a member of the board.

The rift is expected to broaden when the question of selecting Squires' successor comes up at the meeting next Monday.

Those opposed to Squires will seek the appointment of a local man, but at the same time demand that he be free from politics.

C. G. Fairchild, boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has been mentioned as Squires' successor, but his eligibility for the position is questioned by the anti-Squires faction.

Although informed by Postmaster Moore that the Y. M. C. A. is exempt from the provisions of the National Recovery Act, Justice Lattimore said that the board voted Saturday to operate in accordance with the blanket code in order to support the recovery program.

SQUIRES BLOCKS Y.M.C.A. WORK, SAYS WILSON

General Secretary Assailed For Retaining Post After Quitting

General Secretary Ralph Squires remains in his position at the Y. M. C. A., and is hindering efforts of directors who oppose him to effect policy changes, altho his resignation was effective three weeks ago, Gilbert Wilson, board secretary and a director, said today.

Judge Hal S. Lattimore, president of the board, announced yesterday that C. G. Fairchild, boys work director, had been placed in charge of the Y. M. C. A. temporarily. This Mr. Wilson denied.

Asks Correction.

"I want to make a correction on the report with reference to Mr. Fairchild being appointed acting secretary of the Y. M. C. A." he said.

"Whoever turned in that report erred, for the matter was not discussed Saturday. The matter of removing Mr. Squires was never the whole issue that caused a split among the board members.

"His position as secretary has always been the main hindrance or obstacle to an aggressive program and policy.

"His resignation was accepted and was to take effect about three weeks ago but he is still arbitrarily and without authority assuming that position.

Resignations Tendered.

"Both Judge Hal Lattimore and myself, as president and secretary, respectively, offered our resignations, as did several other members of the board but they likely will not be acted upon until after the election of the new members of the Board of Directors.

"The appointment of an acting general secretary will likely take place next Monday. As regarding the split, I will never be satisfied until a suitable program is instituted and the institution ceases to become a political tool.

New Deal Sought.

"Contrary to statements published by some of the papers, the recent board meetings have been very harmonious and the board is trying to get something constructive accomplished. Our group has put forth a real effort to give the organization a new deal."

The motion accepting Mr. Squires' resignation, made in an open meeting, called for his immediate removal as active secretary, but set out that his pay would continue until Sept. 1.

Following this meeting, Mr. Squires told reporters that he understood he would remain as general secretary until Sept 1.

Today, however, he declined to comment.

7 HURT, TWO MAY DIE AFTER CAR HITS COW

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 20 (AP).—Seven persons were injured, two of them so critically they may die, when their car hit a cow near Holliday about midnight Wednesday night.

They were Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Allen A. Watts and their daughter, Lila Lee, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Gibson, all of Wichita Falls. Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Watts were not expected to recover.

Unemployment Insurance.

AS DISCUSSION of unemployment insurance proceeds, at Washington and elsewhere, it becomes obvious that there is much public misunderstanding of what it means. Some workers seem to think that unemployment insurance will guarantee wages, or else comparable insurance payments; that it will mean a job or else generous payments in lieu of a job.

Nothing in the national proposals or in any of the various large-scale experiments with the plan justifies any such conclusion. In fact, the more the question of unemployment insurance as a substitute for individual savings is examined, the greater do its certainties, or measurable benefits, dwindle.

THE "Y" AND THE PUBLIC

THE Young Men's Christian Association is a semi-public institution, and one in which Fort Worth can legitimately take pride.

Its affairs become of public interest and importance when they either enhance the institution's scope of public service, or threaten to diminish it.

That fact, and that only, has animated The Press in printing statements on both sides of recent debates within the "Y" board of directors.

Quite in the same spirit (tho we enjoy no greater right to offer advice to the "Y" than does any other citizen of Fort Worth) we should like to suggest that the quicker the directors are able to agree harmoniously upon a united program, the more service the "Y" will be able to give.

Since it is a semi-public institution, its effectiveness as a social and religious instrument is properly of importance to the public at large.

Funeral for Girl Killed In Crash Will Be Today

Miss Grace Beauchamp, 20, C. I. A. Student Fatally Hurt Near Denton.

Special to The Star-Telegram.

ARLINGTON, Nov. 23.—Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at Arlington Baptist Church for Miss Grace Beauchamp, 20, C. I. A. student, who was killed late Thursday night when an automobile overturned five miles east of Denton.

Five other persons were hurt. Miss Melba Davis of Dallas left a Denton hospital after receiving treatment Friday, and Miss Virginia Looney of Calvert was under the care of physicians after suffering cuts and bruises. Both are students.

Three Dallas men who were in the auto, W. P. Britton, Grady Martin and Larry Whitman, were taken to a Dallas hospital after the accident.

Denton officers Friday conducted an investigation of the accident. They had reports that the car overturned after another auto had sideswiped it, and that the automobile struck a stretch of gravel and overturned.

The dead girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Beauchamp, was attending her first term at the Denton school.

Concerning He-Men

By MRS. WALTER FERGUSON

THE He-Man's Association, recently launched, is another of those movements to put woman in her proper place. The psychology of the He-Man is worth some study. It is so obviously that of a person who feels inferior. Underneath the swelling chests of these stern men, who are upset about elimination of the word "obey" from the marriage service and about women who have shoved their way into business and the professions, there is a fearful premonition—a premonition that they may not be as wonderful as they have been told.

Mrs. Ferguson

The powerful male is shivering a little in his shoes—the He-Man's Association is merely a symptom of the disease which causes the shivering. One by one the garments of his greatness are being stripped from him. Before long he will stand bared of those traditions which have warned him.

When that day comes, the great He-Man will be no more, and woman will be a sad, disillusioned creature, weeping over her half-gods. All will not be lost, however, for "when the half-gods go, the gods arrive." We can hope then that the He-Man will be replaced by a kind, just, humane, intelligent gentleman who need not worry about his superiority because he will be superior.

He-Men are, in fact, pathetic. Inhibited with bluster, they are like cocks in a barnyard whose only way of calling attention to themselves is by crowing and fighting. Both methods have been worked to death.

The He-Man type is, I think, making his farewell appearance. Mussolini, Hitler and all their lesser satellites represent the remnants of a once great clan.

Their posturings, their pronouncements about the inferiority of women, speak in clarion tones of the fear within their souls. The bully is never great, and most He-Men are bullies who, like the frog in Aesop's fable, are eventually destroyed by their own conceit.

Government Relief Now Lends Protective Hand To 18 Million Americans

earning relatives have been forced to suspend aid. For every relief client taken off relief, at least one new face is added.

Relief totals, large as they are, do not tell the story of unemployment. Month by month, however, the two curves—relief and unemployment—grow closer together as private nest eggs vanish. In time, perhaps in a year, if employment does not make rapid gains, the curves will coincide.

The ratio of relief to population varies as the labor market fluctuates. When industry picks up, relief totals drop. As industry slackens, relief rises. Employment is not sustained sufficiently to permit accumulation by labor of a cash reserve. Loss of a job means re-application for relief.

Study Effect on Morale.

A study of the relief load in 24 typical centers has been made by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers. For 30 days trained fact-finders have gathered data not only on the magnitude of relief, but also on its cost, administration and effect on morale.

The survey reveals that in few localities was the relief load lighter last month than the preceding month, or than a year ago.

Akron and Summit County, Ohio, world rubber center, with a population of 300,000, has 55,000 persons on relief—a gain of 18,000 in a year. In October the load rose 3500. On an average day 61 persons are removed from relief rolls and 200 added. And this despite an increase of 21 million dollars in industrial pay rolls for the year ending November 1.

In Fort Worth and Tarrant County, Texas, 53,360 persons live on public funds today—an increase of 21,827 over 1933. That is 27 per cent of the county's population, or 23 per cent of all native whites and 46 per cent of the negroes and Mexicans. For every person removed from relief in the last month, two and a half persons were added.

Houston Is Bright Spot.

In Harris County, Texas, in which Houston is situated, there are 59,250 on relief, up 1829 from last year. But in January the county had 90,000 persons on relief. The load has steadly decreased since. Nearly three persons are removed from relief for every person added. Houston is a bright spot in a dismal picture.

Ten persons out of every 100 in California are on relief. In San Francisco the number is 68,374—up 8638 in a month and 10,000 in a year.

Cincinnati and Hamilton County, Ohio, list 139,432 individuals on relief—a rise of only 64 persons since October, but up 31,835 from a year ago. The trend is now downward, officials say —95 cases are being removed for every 23 added.

Cleveland and adjacent territory in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, support 262,835, up 17,000 in a month and nearly 85,000 in a year. The Cleveland relief lists exceed the population of any other city in Ohio except Cincinnati—and the trend is upward in December.

El Paso, Texas, has 16,130 persons on relief, of whom 4000 are aliens. The November total was 516 above October's, but the load for 1934 averages 5.67 per cent less than 1933.

In Pittsburgh, including Allegheny County, one out of every five persons is on relief, or a total of 274,933—more persons than live in Delaware. A year ago, altho employment conditions were worse, the relief list was smaller by 41,182 persons. The monthly increase is 5206. Since cool weather arrived 500 new families have been applying for relief daily.

Memphis Rolls Climb.

In Memphis and Shelby County, Tenn., relief rolls include 25,668 individuals, a gain of 779 in a month and 2016 in a year. One person in 12 is on relief.

Birmingham and Jefferson County, in Alabama, have 118,500 on relief, or 24.46 per cent of the population. This represents a gain of 1237 in a month and of 31,297 against a year ago. Relief was at a peak of 139,432 in April during a coal strike. Reductions since then resulted from new employment and a "purging" of relief rolls by Relief Administrator Hopkins.

Twenty per cent of Denver's population is on relief—54,517 persons. The trend is upward. A typical November day saw 210 new applications against 64 a year ago.

In Washington, D. C., 66,700 persons are receiving relief, or one out of seven. About 76 per cent of relief cases are colored. The total is down 2642 from a month ago, but up 28,381 from a year ago.

In Columbus and Franklin County, Ohio, relief rolls support 56,922 individuals, up 3540 in a month and 7790 in a year. And it still is gaining.

Albuquerque reports that in the state of New Mexico 121,210 are receiving assistance, or 30 per cent of the population. Drouth conditions had increased the load in October by more than 90,000 individuals, or 290 per cent above the previous October.

Buffalo's Load Heavier.

Buffalo's relief load rose from October to November by 6937 persons, bringing the total to 111,000 or 20,573 higher than November, 1933. New applications average 4223 a week.

New York City has 751,250 individuals on its rolls, an increase over last year of 350,000, but daily applications in November averaged 244 less than in October. For the first time New York has reached the point where more persons are being taken off relief than are applying to be put on.

Youngstown and Mahoning County, Ohio, support a relief population of 50,000, nearly one-third of the population.

Knox County, Tennessee, including Knoxville, reported a decrease in the load from 27,880 in September to 24,792 in October. For every 11 cases added, 25 are taken off. The load so far in 1934 shows a decrease of 35 per cent from 1933.

San Diego's relief has doubled in 1934. There are 55,364 persons receiving aid out of San Diego County's population of 250,000. The load rises daily. about 300 new cases applying each week against an average of 120 removed.

In Vanderburgh County, Indiana, 30,000 persons are on relief —nearly one-third of the population. In Evansville, particularly, the load is showing some signs of lessening due to local industrial improvement. November totals were slightly under October's.

No records of relief were kept in Oklahoma until FERA took over control last April. From April to October the relief load increased from 556,196 individuals to 745,556. From September to October the increase amounted to 1000 persons.

NEUTRAL ARMY REDUCES FEAR IN SAAR BASIN

Promise of Police Force for Plebiscite Seen as Peace Factor

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press).

VOELKLINGEN, Saar Territory, Dec. 10.—The march of 5,000 foreign soldiers into this rich little territory before Christmas may change the Saar plebiscite from the most dangerous programmed event on the European calendar to a potential force for peace, it was indicated today.

When the League of Nations Council Saturday invited Great Britain, Italy, The Netherlands and Sweden to send soldiers to police the territory until after the result of the Jan. 13 vote is made public, every man and woman in the Saar who wants peace was thankful.

Until the decision to send the international force was made there had been the gravest fear that there was the making of a future war in the plebiscite.

French Troops Ready

France was ready to send soldiers into the Saar — at the League of Nations' order—upon the slightest sign of trouble.

There was fear that Nazi hotheads across the German border, acting against the orders and wishes of the German government, might provide the cause.

Hence soldiers of the international army, when they march in within the next two weeks, will come as protectors of world peace.

The troops will be here during the tense periods. First there is the period, calculated to last three or four days, between the plebiscite vote and the announcement of its result after the ballots have been counted. Second, the period between the League of Nations' decision as to the Saar's fate and consolidation of a new regime.

The 770,000 inhabitants of this 738-square-mile territory who are of voting age will decide:

Have 3 Alternatives

1. Whether to return to German nationality.
2. Whether to remain under League of Nations rule as they have been for 15 years.
3. To become French.

The plebiscite was provided by the Versailles Treaty, which allotted the territory to France for exploitation in compensation for the destruction of French coal mines by the German army in the World War.

In an effort to guarantee real secrecy of balloting the League Governing Commission has divided the territory into 800 voting districts.

Downstairs Peter smoked, several cigarets. He heard Ann's light steps above as she moved about the room. Finally, all was still. He got up then and went upstairs. Ann heard his door open and close. After a little she was asleep.

She slept deeply, restfully, until suddenly she was wide awake. A shriek, a wild yell that shattered the stillness brought her to a sitting position.

CLASH SATURDAY

Stars Fell On Texas

Every Frog Was Star; Breaks Go Both Ways, Broncs Getting Their Share of Bad Ones

STARS fell on Texas Saturday, no fooling. Just like they did the day the Frogs turned the football universe upside down by licking the Rice Owls. In other words, it's pretty hard to pick the outstanding Frog players in the Santa Clara game. Every man who got into the lineup did a corking job.

No use to name 'em over, except maybe to recite that the Coast gents were very high in their praise of Derrell Lester, all-American center, whom they agreed was worth it. Also, the Broncs were asking how come this guy Lawrence never gets his name in the big papers. They wanted to know if he played that way all the time. "Hardest running back we've seen this year, not excepting Grayson of Stanford, who is all-American," they said. "And he can punt and pass and, boy, how he can block and tackle and knock down passes."

SO no use to go into the fine play by every one of the Frogs who got into the fracas. Rather, it might be better to bring up some of the high spots in the game. While the Frogs had some tough breaks, they were no tougher than those encountered by the Broncs. The former fumbled twice to break marches and a couple of long punts barely rolled over the goal line. But the visitors were hurt by breaks, too.

Take, for instance, the only passes they intercepted. That'n McGee, a hefty tackle grabbed. From the minute his big paws hooked onto the ball he was hollerin for help, lookin' around wildly in hopes some Bronc back might show up behind him so he could pass the ball and get rid of it.

HAD the pass been grabbed by almost anybody else, it was a cinch touch. McGee might have gone further had he done more runnin' and less beggin'. As it was he gave everybody heart disease, ran more than 40 yards and had to be overtaken by Sammy Baugh, who had come from a long ways back.

And the only long passes the Broncs could have completed for possible touches were thrown down by men who were right out in the open—just plain muffs. Also, all the Bronc penalties were incurred when they'd hurt. So the Frogs didn't have all the tough breaks.

EARLY in the game, Sobrero received a punt and started right with it. He lateraled wide to his left, Dutton receiving and starting for the Frog goal. Quickly the whole Santa Clara line formed a thick wall of protectors and it was a cinch touch. A groan went up. It was a pretty play and few of the customers know yet how it happened.

Judy Truelson had hit the punt returner and knocked him to his knees before he lateraled. That's the answer. So the ball was called back, of course.

ANOTHER apparent bad break for the Broncs came when they recovered their own partially blocked punt. Sorry no explanation is forthcoming for this one. It was not on fourth down and it looked as if Truelson had partially blocked the punt. It is possible the officials didn't see the partial block, or maybe it wasn't touched by a Frog or blocked at all.

More exciting games have been played, but it was exciting enough. Especially as it was won in the last two minutes with the most dramatic play in football—a field goal. This play is the only one which is preceded by a dramatic pause, in which the crowd has plenty of time to accumulate goose pimples.

AND the Frog victory should guarantee a whale of a crowd next year when they meet the Bronchos in San Francisco.

Horsemen Meet In Attempt To Codify Racing

Tentative Set of Rules To Be Introduced at National Meeting

By THOMAS H. NOONE

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 10.—The first organized move to codify horse racing in the United States under uniform regulations in all states, as is the case with baseball, football, golf and other sports, was started here today.

Prominent racing officials from eight states met at the offices of the New Jersey State Racing Commission to consider a tentative set of rules drafted by William H. Cain of the New Jersey commission.

If a final draft is agreed upon it will be submitted to the January meeting of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners in Miami, Fla., for universal adoption.

Racing men invited to the meeting expressed keen interest and believed that if the states would accept the universal code instead of their own rules, which vary in important respects, a great step forward would be taken to improve racing. Some believed that a national arbiter might be appointed, as in the case of baseball or the movies.

The tentative rules drawn up by Cain, an outstanding trotting horse owner, combine what he believes to be the best features of regulations in New York, Maryland and Kentucky.

Among the many problems that uniform racing rules are expected to solve are the claiming rule; suspensions of jockeys, owners and trainers; sponging, doping and similar malpractices; bookmaking and systems of betting at racetracks and other conditions applied to over-night events.

SCHOOL POLICE DESCRIBED AS KIWANIS LAUREL

New Officers of District Organization Discuss Plans for 1935

Recruiting of new Junior Police forces—juvenile "traffic cops" who watch dangerous crossings near public schools—was one of the major accomplishments of the Texas-Oklahoma district of Kiwanis International, Edd Hisel, district governor, told 200 convention delegates at the Blackstone Hotel today.

Today's meeting was a school of instruction for newly elected officers.

The Oklahoma City man said that 40 junior police clubs had been added since the August district meeting in Galveston.

In a regime which has taken him more than 30,000 miles in one year, he listed as second accomplishment the spirit of cooperation brought about by interclub meetings.

R. M. Bowen, lieutenant governor of Fort Worth, welcomed the visiting delegates. Joe Naylor of San Antonio, district governor-elect, outlined plans for the new year. The convention heard a report from Paul Leonhard, secretary-treasurer.

The 1935 convention of Kiwanis were outlined by Roger Robinson of Raymondville, lieutenant governor-elect.

Loyal L. Nelms of Houston, lieutenant governor-elect, spoke on the work of "The Club President."

New officers last night selected Sherman for the district convention next October.

PACKERS TO MAKE SAUSAGE FOR NEEDY

G. L. Childress, technical adviser on meat packing for the Texas Relief Commission, today entered into a contract with the City Packing Co. and the Bluebonnet Packing Co., to manufacture 10,000 pounds of beef sausage a day for the next 14 days.

The two packing houses will start on the sausage tomorrow. It will be stored here for distribution in this and 10 adjacent counties.

Projects Engineer H. H. Hester said drouth cattle would be used. They will begin arriving here tonight.

The local relief administration today received orders from Austin to begin the distribution of canned meat. Six cans will be issued to each family per month. Single persons will get two cans.

SETTINGS POSTPONED

Assistant District Attorney Bill Parker said today there would be no setting of cases in Criminal District Court this week and it was possible there would be no cases set for next week.

Cases to be set for trial are from the 64 indictments returned last Thursday by Tarrant County grand jury.

E. J. Hosey, father of Judge Geo. E. Hosey told Assistant District Attorney Herbert C. Wade the doctor had ordered Judge Hosey to remain in bed until he recovers from an illness contracted during the week-end.

MISS MARIE McELROY, 16, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Secretary Ickes on Dec. 3 rescinded allotments totaling $3,814,000 on Texas projects on which bond agreements had not been executed by the recipients and returned. There remains, however, in this classification work which will cost $4,433,700, if bonds to secure loans and grants are voted by various municipalities.

Into this type falls the public library here, on which a bond agreement for $485,000 has been executed. Olney lists a $133,000 waterworks.

At a special election Dec. 2, Hardeman County authorized commissioners court to issue 4 per cent bonds for a county hospital to cost about $80,000. The PWA will loan the county $63,000, with $17,000 coming as a grant. Definite construction plans will be announced at an early date.

Holds My FALSE TEETH
Tighter and Longer
I've tried several kinds of powders to hold my false teeth. When I tried FASTEETH I found the one powder that does not thin out or wash away, but "stays put" all day. It gives a most pleasant feeling, a real sense of security and holds and holds and holds. Breath is always pleasant. If anyone with loose-fitting false teeth wants all-day comfort and a real stay-there fit, insist upon FASTEETH at Renfro Drug Co. or any good drug store.

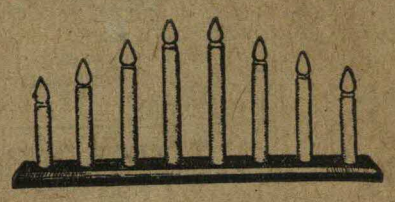
Light Up for Christmas

Bring the real Spirit of Christmas to your home with colored lights. A little planning, a little work and a small investment in colored lamps and other inexpensive decorations will make your home radiate Christmas spirit during the entire holiday season.

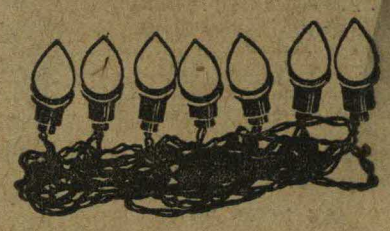
The Fort Worth Star-Telegram and the Electric Club of Fort Worth are sponsoring the Eighth Annual Christmas Light Up Campaign to encourage Fort Worth citizens to decorate their windows, homes and lawn shrubbery with colored lights. The goal is to make Fort Worth one of the most attractively decorated cities during the Christmas holidays.

Three Suggestions for Lighting Your Home



Electric candle sets make attractive Christmas decorations for windows facing the street. The cost is low, but the result is impressive, especially in large homes with numerous windows. These sets also are suitable for placing on mantels or on buffets.

Lighted holly wreaths are another simple decoration that can be placed in windows or on doors to broadcast the message of Christmas cheer.



Strings of colored lights on shrubbery outdoors or on a Christmas tree indoors that is visible to passersby through windows make an attractive Christmas lighting display. A little money for Christmas lights will make a colorful decoration the whole family will appreciate.

Worthwhile suggestions on arranging a Christmas display can be obtained from electrical dealers and contractors. Plan to have a small Christmas display this year, and watch it grow as you add a little equipment each year. If you already have equipment from previous years, put it up early so that it will serve as an incentive to other citizens to Light Up this Christmas.

ARENA TALENT IS ROUNDED UP

First-Rate Wrestling, Boxing to Precede Floor Show, Dancing for Goodfellows.

One of the best programs of wrestling, boxing and floor show events Fort Worth has seen in months is being rounded up for the benefit to be given Dec. 19 at the City Recreation Hall for The Star-Telegram Goodfellow fund, Dewey Pippen, the manager, said Saturday night.

"Nick Santos will meet Bill Miller in a four-round boxing match," Pippen said. "Any of the boxing fans who have seen them in action will predict a good bout.

"But that's not all. Davey Jones, Kid Purser and Billie Parks, all well known to boxing enthusiasts, have offered their services."

Pippen plans to open his program, which will be a 100 per cent Goodfellow benefit, with the boxing and wrestling matches at 8:30 p. m. When the matches have been finished, an orchestra will take its place in the ring, the chairs will be removed from the floor and dancing will be enjoyed until 2 a. m.

All stage workers of the Worth Theater have given their services for the Goodfellows Vaudeville Frolic Friday night at the theater.

During the few remaining days before the benefit, the sponsoring organizations are planning an intensive campaign for sale of tickets, J. J. Hurley, in charge, said Saturday.

Each ticket purchased will entitle the holder to one vote in the selection of "Miss Goodfellow of 1934." In addition to the title will go the Haltom's diamond ring.

Sponsoring organizations and their candidates are: East Fort Worth Lions Club, Miss Inez Mitchell; North Fort Worth Kiwanis Club, Miss Dorothy Hayes Mistrot; South Fort Worth Civic League, Miss Dorothy Truax; Junior Chamber of Commerce, Miss Helen Moody; Riverside Civic League, Miss Juanita Lucille Warren, and Fort Worth Lions Club, Miss Mary Louise Ware.

Powers of Europe, Professing Wish for Peace, Have Chance to Prove It as Balkans Seethe

THE WEEK'S NEWS IN REVIEW

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP).—The powers of Europe have professed their desire for peace. The time has come when they can prove it.

For the Balkans, once more seethe in furor.

The Jugo-Slavs and the Hungarians were at sword's point. Troops of Jugo-Slavia (the kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes) foraged across the Hungarian border. Thousands of Hungarians were driven out of Jugo-Slavia. The fear of war was rampant.

It was an aftermath of the assassination of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia at Marseille.

The Jugo-Slavs charged the Hungarians with harboring Croat revolutionaries who plotted the death of Alexander, a Serb.

Trouble had been smouldering for weeks.

Then, this week, the council of the League of Nations met in special session. The Hungarians protested the expulsion order. The bitter League sessions reflected the hatreds of Southeastern Europe.

At Geneva, the Little Entente (Jugo-Slavia, Rumania and Czecho-Slovakia) stood together.

Eduard Benes, Czech foreign minister, issued this ultimatum:

If any nation strikes at the Little Entente, war will result.

The League, steadily attaining a more powerful voice, sought to quell the crisis.

For Europe recalled 1914.

Then, the incident at Sarajevo threw Europe into war. The powers, ready, seized upon this incident to rationalize war.

The crisis now led directly to this question:

Will the powers try to avert another war?

Admittedly, the Hungarian-Jugo-Slavian situation could serve as another Sarajevo. Its potentialities are vast.

France is allied with the Little Entente. The influence of Italy spreads through Austria to Hungary.

These two powers, observers felt, could control the situation.

If there is to be another "theater of war," the stage will be set within the black lines on the above map—the outline of the Little Entente, promoted and supported by France. Eduard Benes, Czech foreign minister and spokesman for the Little Entente, aroused by threats growing out of Jugo-Slavia's attempts to fix responsibility for the slaying of King Alexander, has announced that if any nation strikes at the Little Entente war will result. Present war-potential tension exists between Jugo-Slavia and Hungary. Hungary and Austria are within the sphere of influence of France's rival Italy and, as the Balkans seethe, the peace of Europe is felt to rest between these two greater powers.

National affairs—

Mum was the word at the White House.

The President, back from Warm Springs, kept his silence.

Did he like his new executive offices? Yes, very much. But that was about all.

He served notice he would make no comment on his legislative plans—work relief, or anything else—until next month.

There was every indication that his aids, too, will refrain from speculation on the congressional program—at the President's request.

Albeit it was learned one of the matters under consideration is a $14,000,000,000 co-ordinated national development of land and water resources, providing work relief.

Industry and business, at a congress in New York called by the National Association of Manufacturers, dissected the New Deal.

In the end, as did the United States Chamber of Commerce recently, the congress decided it best to go along with the Administration.

"It recognizes," the Congress' platform said, "the serious burden of responsibility which the Administration faces, and pledges its support and co-operation in all efforts, both private and public, to help the Government."

The conscientious objector to the ROTC, in land grant colleges, will only object in vain.

The Supreme Court of the United States upheld the authority of the University of California in suspending two students, sons of ministers, who objected to the ROTC training and refused to take it.

The students avowed the ROTC requirement was in violation of the guaranty of religious freedom. They quoted resolutions adopted by California Methodists and refused the training on moral, religious and conscientious grounds.

Awaited with much interest, the Supreme Court decision applied the principle of the land grant act of Congress and upheld the right of Colleges benefitting by this act to enforce ROTC training requirements.

Repeal of prohibition was a year old in midweek.

A survey by the Associated Press showed a return to the Federal Governments and States of more than $500,000,000.

This was exclusive of fees collected by municipalities.

Around the capital:

The arms inquiry was resumed.

The Treasury offering of $900,000,000 in bonds was oversubscribed six times.

And the Republicans kept squabbling over who's going to run the party in the dark-looking years ahead—the conservatives or the Liberals or the progressives?

Out in Detroit, the President's three-man automobile labor board evolved a plan for the election of collective bargaining representatives.

It will be tried first at the General Motors Cadillac plant and works out this way:

Plants will be divided into districts; primaries will be held; then final elections to a bargaining agency, not an agent.

Other foreign affairs.

The trouble spots of Europe change quickly.

Before the Balkans, it was the Saar Basin.

Largely through the mediation of Italy, France and Germany came to a friendly accord over the Saar, a concession of major importance by the French.

France will not oppose the Reich in the January plebescite, in which the Saar will decide whether to return to Germany.

Paris, too, abandoned its insistence that French troops guard the polls in the plebiscite. Instead, British and other troops will do the guarding.

The naval situation, however, still held gloomy.

Due to Japan's insistence for equality with Britain and the United States, the impasse embedded itself only deeper.

The Americans, however, sounded a warning—to Japan.

Norman H. Davis, the United States Ambassador-at-large, said Japan's denunciation of the Washington Treaty and its end would bring insecurity, international suspicion and a costly building race.

There were several questions for the Japanese to ask themselves, but primarily:

Can they afford a naval race with the U. S. and England?

Sergei Kiroff, close friend of Stalin, member of the all-powerful political bureau of the Russian Communist party, was assassinated in Leningrad.

The Soviets dealt back swiftly, severely with their enemies.

Sixty-six "White Guards" were executed for "terroristic actions." Reports from Warsaw and elsewhere said hundreds more were given the same treatment. They were denied in Moscow.

Fascism started its drive in Spain.

A "nationalist" bloc was created to agitate and strive for a corporate State, similar to that built by Mussolini. This bloc will try to unite rightist and monarchist groups, force a dictatorship of the right and seek the return of a monarchy.

This will bring the first united assault on the Spanish republic from the extreme right. The revolution of the leftists recently failed.

The Unietd States will work wi[th] the league to settle the peren[nial] warfare in the Gran Chaco.

Washington notified the leag[ue] the acceptance of the invitat[ion] aid in settling the warfare b[etween] Paraguay and Bolivia.

These countries have unt[il] to reply to the league's [call] peace.

If the State and the counties would plug up half the leaks in all these taxes, the Legislature would not have to worry about where the additional revenue to be needed next biennium is to come from.

The Surest Way.

A WASHINGTON dispatch reports that business and administrative leaders are "moving toward a common front in an effort to consolidate present recovery gains as an answer to prospective left-wing drives in Congress." It would appear that both parties are showing excellent common sense.

A great deal has been said about the radicals who will be at large in the next Congress and a great deal more has been said about the wild and woolly legislation they will try to put through. The thing to remember is that all this is the direct result of economic pressure.

The one sure way of heading off such radicalism is to hasten recovery. Let unemployment approach the par of normal times and profit return in good measure, and the threat of radical legislation will fall of its own weight.

HALF the world apparently can't imagine what the other half needs with a fleet that size.

Reason for Life

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I DON'T know how to say it but somehow it seems to me
That maybe we are stationed
where God wanted us to be;
That the little place I'm filling is the reason for my birth,
And just to do the work I do
He sent me down to earth.

If God had wanted otherwise,
I reckon He'd have made
Me just a little different, of a worse or better grade
And since God knows and understands all things of land and sea
I fancy that He placed me here just where he wanted me.

Sometimes I get to thinking as my labors I review
That I should like a higher place with greater tasks to do,
But I come to the conclusion,
when the envying is stilled
That the post to which God sent me is the post He wanted filled.

So I plod along and struggle in the hope when day is through That I'm really necessary to the things God wants to do.
And there isn't any service I can give which I should scorn
For it may be just the reason
God allowed me to be born.

SUPERVISOR PLANS AID FOOD SURVEY

Do the kiddies in relief families eat spinach?

Miss Gladys Pittenger, case supervisor, will try to learn just what foods are on the tables of indigents by surveying the buying habits of 275 families on relief rolls.

The analysis, requested by Miss Helen Swanson, relief dietitian for the Texas Relief Commission, will be part of a state wide study.

Families chosen for the study must have at least two children under 11 and must have no other source of food but relief grocery orders.

End 'Kidnaped Bride' Probe

Mother of Prospective Bridegroom Asks Clerk To Cancel License

Police today closed their investigation into the purported disappearance of 18-year-old Gertrude Hardtung of Forest Hills who failed to appear Saturday night for her marriage with 20-year-old Dana Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Newman, 200 North Sylvania Avenue.

At the same time Young Mr. Newman announced that the wedding was definitely off.

Government Relief Now Lends Protective Hand To 18 Million Americans

Sweeping Survey by Scripps-Howard Newspapers Shows More Persons on Relief Than Total U. S. Populaton in 1840

EDITOR'S NOTE: The first national survey of the tremendous relief problem attempted in this country is presented herewith by The Press and other Scripps-Howard Newspapers. Trained newspaper investigators working for one month in 24 representative areas from coast to coast found that—

1. The magnitude of relief, both as to the number of persons affected and as to cost, is increasing.

2. The present outlay is inadequate.

3. There is no co-ordinated relief system, but wide variance from city to city in administration, in type, standard and amount of relief per person.

4. There is a moderate amount of administrative inefficiency but relatively little proved political graft.

5. Persons on relief still have a fairly high morale, based on a hope for better times.

6. Most persons desire work relief instead of doles, but business objects to the increased expense.

7. Relief must go on for at least another year, and on a larger scale.

Here is the first of a series in this survey:

By ROBERT S. BROWN
Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—There are more persons on relief in the United States today than the nation's total population in 1840. If all relief clients were moved into one city, its population would exceed that of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles, Cleveland, St. Louis and Washington combined.

Relief is that big. It stretches out its protective arm to more than 18 million men, women and children. And the figure is still rising.

Employment has increased in 1934, yet relief lists have continued to climb. The answer is simple. Many of the unemployed for awhile maintained themselves on their savings, or on the earnings of others. Now the savings have disappeared and wage-

Ruth Included In Major Loop Trade Palaver

National League May Wind Up With Bambino As 1935 Manager

By LAWTON CARVER
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—In all the hoopla preceding major league baseball meetings opening here today Babe Ruth was overlooked until the last minute.

But now the celebrated tourist, at present stopping over at Manila, has boomed into the spotlight as a possibility for the biggest deal of the many expected to take place.

He's thru playing baseball, by his own word, but would manage a club. The American League, so far, has let it rest there. The obvious guess is that a National League club will wind up with him as pilot.

What he might be worth at the gate as a manager and pinch-hitter is what a number of owners have been trying to calculate, weighing the probable cost of obtaining him from the New York Yankees. Some of the more rabid Ruth fans have failed to cut him loose from his present owners before establishing him elsewhere.

The word is also out that the Yankees are in the market for a trade that will give them the difference between their second-place club of last season and another pennant-grabber similar to that of the Ruth era.

Ben Chapman has been mentioned as Yankee bait for a trade, while latest rumors out of the west accompanying Rogers Hornsby here, have Hornsby parting with Infielder Oscar Melillo in a general housecleaning scheduled for the St. Louis Browns.

Promising Heavyweight Mat Star Moves Here

Roland Kirchmeyer, strapping young heavyweight matster, who will meet Joe Greenberg, New York Hebrew, in the semi-final tussle on the Fox wrestling card in the North Main Auditorium Thursday night, has become a resident of Fort Worth.

The 230-pound grappling star lived here when he was a schoolboy and attended Central High when that institution occupied the buildings of the present Jennings Avenue Junior.

Boby Stewart will return to face Juan Humberto in the main event this week. Stewart beat the Mexican week before last when Humberto refused to continue, claiming an injury after a fall from the ring.

Boyhood Pals Occupy Spot In Miami Tournament

By United Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11. — Abe Espinosa and Olin Dutra, who lived across the street from each other as boyhood chums at Monterey, Calif., are just about that close in the Miami Biltmore $12,500 Open.

Espinosa idled today with the lead he took yesterday as half the field completed second rounds. Dutra went out today for his second round regarded as the most likely to move into the top spot.

With a first round sub-par 70 as a starter, the National Open champion could soar to 76 today and still wind up in a tie with Espinosa's 74-72—146.

Tohline After Aggie Position

Texas A&M Needs Capable Successor to Merka

EDITOR'S NOTE: Basketball in the Southwest Conference ranks second in interest only to football. Teams produced by the seven member schools, all except one of which are located in Texas, are comparable to the strongest in the nation. Following is the first of a series of stories dealing with prospects of the various teams for the 1934-35 season.

By ROY J. FORREST
United Press Correspondent.

Texas A.&M. College, second place winner in Southwest basketball last season, tonight will meet Sam Houston State Teachers College at Marquez to open a series of eight games preceding her first conference contest Jan. 5.

The season's prospects are regarded as the most promising since 1923.

Coach John B. Reid, former Baylor University athlete, will begin his sixth year at A.&M. with a squad composed of eight letter men and 13 squadmen, two of whom were members of the varsity last season.

The major pre-conference problem facing Coach Reid is to develop a center to replace Joe Merka, all-Southwest selection who graduated. Reid believes his best prospect is Captain Griffin Breazeale, Crockett, with Max Tohline, Fort Worth, on second call.

Altho Breazeale filled in occasionally for Merka last season, he spent most of his time at forward. He is six feet one-inch tall. Tohline is six feet four, but the team leader is slightly the best jumper.

The Aggies have three other letter men who may be used at center if needed. They are Tommy Hutto, Coahoma; Johnny Davis, Amarillo, and Ellis Stansel, Gueydan, La. Earl Shepherd, forward, was the only man beside Merka, who was lost thru graduation.

Sophomore candidates for forwards are Clyde Jones, Huntington; Paul Evans, Fort Worth; Arlington Helbing, San Angelo, and Jack Crichton, East Point, La.

Lettermen guards are Taylor Wilkins, Franklin, all-conference choice; Monte Carmichael, Lamkin, and Joe Bisbey, Houston. All are over six feet tall. They will be challenged by newcomers who include Ed Lee, Houston, and John Black, Bryan, outstanding defensive men from the freshman squad of last season.

A.&M. hasn't won a championship since 1923.

The schedule:

Dec. 13—Texaco Scotties at College Station.
Dec.15 Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches.
Dec. 17—Sam Houston at Huntsville.

Full Squad Out For First Cage Drill of Frogs

Coach Meyer Willing To Scrap for Best Flock Of Kids in World

Coach Dutch Meyer of the Frogs already was pretty certain he had the best kids in the world on his football team; was willing to argue about it any time, any place, against any arguer. Today he's just about ready to fight anybody who says anything about his boys not being the best.

Meyer didn't expect too big a turnout for basketball practice yesterday. Most of the members of his floor squad had just finished a strenuous three months of football work and rightly might be expected to take at least a day's rest before starting a three or four months' grind on the maple floor.

Everybody Present

But when Meyer showed up in the little gym, where he had called the first meeting, he found all his "main guys" present, accounted for, dressed and rarin' to go. Pretty nice going, that was.

Meyer didn't attempt much work yesterday. He talked to the squad at length and demonstrated some of his ideas of fundamentals which count big in the successful operation of plays.

He told the men that being a green club, composed largely of sophomores, much would depend on the way they worked; that every outfit in the conference loomed up as tough opposition, and any showing the Frogs made would be the result of individual effort to a large extent.

Big Squad Out

Captain Judy Truelson and Granpappy Lester, the only two regulars left from last year's championship quint, were out early, along with the largest squad which ever reported at a T. C. U. gym for basketball.

Squadmen from last year who have had some experience are Bobby Stow, Wilson Groseclose, George Kline, Willis Cannon and Tiny Godwin.

Sophomores are Walter Roach, Willie Walls, Byram Saam, Cotton Harrison, Carsky Markowich, Bruce Scrafford, L. D. Meyer and Bob Wallace, Aubrey Linne, husky guard, is a freshman but will be eligible at midterm.

Real work on the floor will start today.

DID YOU KNOW—

Army's new football captain comes by his militant tactics naturally, for he is the son of Rev. R. P. (Fighting Bob) Shuler, pastor of the Los Angeles Trinity Methodist Church . . . George Pfann, Cornell's great halfback, is an assistant in the attorney general's office . . . Alf Letourner, the French bike-riding ace, smokes long, black cigars to relieve the tedium of the six-day grind . . . Says they help his wind . . . Dizzy Dean will get $15,000 for the use of his likeness in a comic strip . . . Stan Kostka, Minnesota fullback, is running for mayor of Inner Grove, Minn. . . . Andy Kerr, the quiet little strategist who gives Colgate winning football teams, is a double for Rogers . . .

Jock Sutherland, Pittsburgh coach, is probably the only football mentor in the country with a contract that prevents his being fired for losing games . . . Babe Ruth, working on a 40 per cent commission, is the only one of the players now barnstorming through the Orient who got paid for the trip . . . The eye ailment which has sent Jim Browning, wrestling star, into temporary retirement is nothing new . . . It bothered him as long ago as 1926 . . . Contrary to general opinion, hockey players are not big bruisers, the average weight in the National League being 165 pounds . . .

A Boston business man, a wizard at detail, is said to draw up the involved major league baseball schedules each year . . . Roger Bresnahan, onetime Giant catching ace, works for a brewing company . . . A British syndicate may purchase a mount for Steve Donoghue, crack jockey of England, to ride in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap . . . Steve is 52, but he still has all his skill as proved by winning the Grand Prix this year . . . The late John McGraw never ranked Babe Ruth better than third in listing the greatest players he had ever seen . . . Babe Herman uses more bats than any major leaguer . . . He bought 86 last year . . . The boys had better be careful in arguing with Babe Pinelli, the Coast league umpire who will work in the majors next year, for Babe once was a prize fighter . . . Allen Walz, co-captain of N. Y. U.'s grid force, once roomed with Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, at Hun School in Princeton . . . It is Olin Dutra's opinion that Bob Jones, if he returned to competitive play wouldn't be a threat in the open for five years . . . Another of Mr. Dutra's opinions is that the importance of putting is highly exaggerated . . . "You got to get on that green before putting will do you any good," he says . . .

1934 Relief Costs Will Exceed Nation's Pre-War Debt, Survey Discloses

Since May, 1933, Uncle Sam Has Poured Two And A Half Billion Dollars Into Laps of The Needy; 1934 Cost Is Mounting grocery-order basis. Shelter, clothing, feul and medical care follow in that sequence Special discounts are given relief clients by food retailers in about half of the cities surveyed. The discounts bring the price of food to an average of 12 per cent above cost.

Shelter is provided in a haphazard manner.

In Cleveland the relief administration pays a first month's rent, and lets the landlord worry about future payments. In New York City the current monthly budget for shelter is $2,408,748.

Relief Units Make Clothing.

Clothing is both purchased and manufactured by relief units. Where it is bought, bids are required in most instances. Many cities provide materials, relief women fashioning the clothing into garments. Fuel is purchased wholesale.

A lump sum is usually allotted for medical care and prorated among physicians and hospitals.

Cost of relief commodities has advanced steadily in the last 90 days. The rise in 1934 as compared to 1933 was about 15 per cent. Constant revision of family allowances is necessary to keep pace with rising prices.

Each person on direct relief in Akron receives 22 cents a day for food. In nearby Cleveland the allowance is 30 cents, while in New Mexico it is only $3.98 a month.

In October an average Cleveland family on direct relief received $21.01 for food, $1.81 for shelter, 14 cents for fuel, $2.60 for clothing, 53 cents for furniture, six cents for transportation, three cents for medical care and two cents for other commodities.

An average Memphis family received $14.72, or 32 cents less than a year ago. The Denver family received $31 and the Washington family $20.71.

Relief costs in New York City, have more than doubled in 1934 due to more adequate relief, a rent-paying policy, provision for single persons, and an increased load. In October the cost was $17,948,241 as against $7,354,325 a year ago. Of the more recent figure, $4,691,201 went for food The average New Yorker on relief received $9.72 a month.

Cost Is Still Rising.

In San Diego County, California, a family of five receives a minimum of $57.64 monthly, of which $36.20 is for food. While the relief load is now double last year's, the cost is nearly four times as great and still rising.

The average Youngstown family with 4.6 members is granted $22.06 a month. This budget includes 25 cents a week for insurance. In Buffalo and Erie County, New York, the relief allowance per person is slightly under $5 a month.

Relief costs in Birmingham increased 118 per cent from October, 1933, to October, 1934, while the load was increasing only 46 per cent. The increase was due largely to expansion of work relief, which covers 16,159 persons this year against 8828 in 1933. Work relief brings an average of $20 monthly to a family of four and a half persons, while a similar family on direct relief gets only $12.

In Pittsburgh and Allegheny County the October relief bill was $1,804,601 up $56,000 from September and $638,000 higher than October, 1933. Pittsburgh paid $30,677 for shelter in October, landlords being given only enough to cover taxes, water rent and insurance.

El Paso, with an acute problem of alien chiseling, is spending $2,000,000 this year on relief, plus great quantities of meat, pork and clothing shipped in by the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation. The average relief family has received $358. Costs rose from $72,983 in September to $82,396 in October.

Fort Worth Included in Picture.

Fort Worth had a relief bill in October of $213,505, a rise of $35,943 in a month and of $128,517 in a year. The monthly average to one person is $3.63. In addition, the city and Tarrant County have received more than 150 car loads of FSPC commodities. Negro and Mexican families received about one-fourth less than white.

In October Cincinnati and Hamilton County spent $866,180, nearly $100,000 less than in September. The drop was due wholly to a reduced budget of federal and state funds.

Cincinnati was one of the first cities to etsablish a warehouse system of relief. This was discontinued following protests of merchants. Grocery orders and cash relief were inaugurated. Officials estimate the increased cost at 25 per cent. The average cost of relief per individual is $4.08 a month. The average wage of a man on work relief is $9 a week.

In San Francisco, relief costs $1,000,000 a month, of which the state pays one-fourth, the county one-eighth, the city one-tenth and Uncle Sam the rest. Nearly all employables on releif rolls are employed on work projects. Direct relief cost $413,000 in September, while $416,000 was paid out as wages.

In 34 months, Harris County, Texas, including Houston, has had a relief bill of $6,000,000, of which the Federal Government has supplied $4,520,000. Direct relief families get an average of $3.60 a week, plus other supplies. On work relief the family receives $5.40 weekly.

Knoxville Reports Decrease.

Knox County and Knoxville, Tenn., report a decrease of 35 per cent in both the cost and the number on relief since July. This area's report was the most encouraging produced in the Scripps-Howard survey. Due to the operations of the Tennessee Valley Authority, relief costs are decreasing monthly. October's cost of $63,639 was $907 less than September.

Evansville is spending $2,500,000 in 1934 for relief—as much as the annual pay roll of the city's largest industrial plant.

Federal relief poured into Oklahoma in the last 18 months would be enough to run the state government for four years. Since last May the monthly grant from FERA has totaled a million dollars. In November it rose to $1,250,000.

LANDSCAPERS TO WORK AT MODEL HOME

Better Housing Display To Be Opened at 2 P. M. Next Saturday

The Better Housing Campaign's model home on East Lancaster will be complete, even to a beautiful landscaped yard, when it is opened at 2 p. m. Saturday.

D. O. Marshall, engineer, has drawn a plat of the house and grounds to scale and City Forrester Raymond Morrison has drawn plans for landscaping with shrubbery.

A. B. Sammons, house committee chairman, was to confer today with J. B. Baker, Riverside, nurseryman, who will superintend the work and donate shrubs. Relief labor will be used.

The work will start as soon as a picket fence is built in front of the house and steel fence erected at the side and rear. They probably will be completed today.

Materials for these will be donated, as were all other materials in the model hime. Fort Worth craftsmen, both union and non-union, donated the labor for the structure.

The publicity committee, headed by W. B. Corbin, met yesterday at Mr. Corbin's office, 1801 Park Place, and held another meeting today.

It will have someone at the house at all times during the display period, to hand out literature describing the materials used in the house and to tell the public how the pretty, colonial home was transformed from an old shack after its removal to the site on the T.&P. reservation.

Green Says Belated Aid In Recovery Drive Is Effort To Control New Deal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor charged today that business and industry were offering belated co-operation in recovery efforts to gain control of the New Deal.

Referring to the determination of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers to aid in recovery projects, Mr. Green said.

"These are persons who would lose special privilege if balanced economic progress remains our goal. Obviously, they believe there is an advantage to them to propose co-operation in order to gain control."

Mr. Green warned that union workers would not tolerate much longer the stubborn resistance displayed in some industries to the right of wage earners to organize to promote their welfare.

PEACE SOUGHT IN MULLINS FAMILY

Young Father Asked To Aid In Reconciliation

Assistant District Attorney Will R. Parker today was seeking to pour oil on the troubled waters that have tossed the matrimonial ship of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Mullins, the city's youngest married couple.

He advised the young husband and father, 14, to go to the Haltom City home of his 14-year-old wife's parents and ask her to accompany him to Mr. Parker's office for a peace conference.

Mullins, who faces a charge of threatening the life of his wife's father, J. R. Noah, this morning returned a pistol he obtained from a pawnshop Saturday and claimed a suit of clothes he had pawned.

The charge grew out of a quarrel after Mrs. Mullins had taken her three-week-old baby to her parents' home.

SETTLE DANCER'S SUIT OUT OF COURT

Caranas Is Paid $2,500 By Sylvan, Report Says

The $45,000 damage suit filed by Maurice Caranas, dancer, against his former associates, E. L. (Babe) Thomas, Albert Davis and Cecil Lively, in the operation of the Sylvan, Dallas Pike night spot, has been settled out of court, it was learned today. The amount given Caranas was $2500, it was authoritatively said.

The suit, filed Sept. 17 in 17th District Court, alleged the dancer had entered into a contract in June with the three defendants to furnish food and entertainment for the club, but that on July 16 he was forcibly ejected from the place. He estimated his loss from the 25 per cent he was to receive, plus alleged damage to his reputation at $45,000.

In addition, he asked a receiver for the club and sought to have a restraining order issued to prevent the club from engaging in gambling. A hearing was never held on the receivership and injunction sections of his petition. Caranas was represented by Marvin Simpson and the club owners by Sam Sayers.

SPALDING'S VIOLIN THRILLS AUDIENCE

Fort Worth music lovers thrilled at Albert Spalding's violin playing last night at Central High School Auditorium. They encored for 20 minutes after he had finished his program.

After the encores were his most-appreciated numbers. He included those melodious old favorites Schubert's "Hark, Hark the Lark," "Liebesfreud" (Kreisler) and "Waltz in A Flat" (Brahms-Hockstein).

The brilliant moment of the evening came when he played the beautiful Caesar Franck sonata. The eyes of the audience were on the pianist, Andre Benoist, as much as on Mr. Spalding during this rendition. Q'Zella Oliver Jeffus, Fort Worth pianist, who has played the sonata frequently, sat at the piano turning the leaves for Mr. Benoist. She assisted him in other difficult numbers also.

The auditorium was packed for the concert. It was the first of a series to be given here this season by the Civic Music Association.

hows no other way to disco man the way of preparedness by rmament, but this is not simply a European condition. It reaches to the United States. Actual war would create a boom in agriculture and dynamically stimulate industry, but perpetual anticipation of war destroys our foreign markets. It is the cause of a variety of devices intended to create self-sufficiency in an economic sense, all alike directed against foreign commerce.

Thus the dread of war casts a pall over the business outlook of all industrial and commercial countries of the globe. The League of Nations is serviceable in bringing quarreling governments together for conference and in averting particular threats of war, but has not found a formula that reaches the common dread of war. This dread has become in latter years a daemonic possession of governments more devastating than the witchcraft delusions and superstitions of the Middle Ages when the laws of economics were unknown and unheard of. The outlook is not improved by the threat of resumption among the three great naval powers of naval rivalry at this time.

Criminals Unafraid.

AT THE PRESIDENT'S conference on crime, the chief of the Federal Government's activities in this field told the assembled conferees:

"There is only one way to make a lawbreaker obey the statutes of our country, and that is to make him fear punishment.

"If he does not do that, all the investigative police and enforcement agencies in the world can not bring about any degree of freedom from crime.

"Easy paroles, especially of hardened offenders, form a deterrent, not to crime, but to those who all too often give their lives in a brave effort to prevent crime."

In the same newspaper which reported these words of J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Department of Justice's bureau of investigation, there appeared a long list of pardons, "conditional" pardons, and paroles by the Governor of Texas. Similar lists have been appearing from day to day. Hundreds of such clemencies have been issued in the past two years.

It is small wonder that the fear of punishment has almost ceased to exist as a deterrent to crime in Texas.

BACHELOR GIRLS are generally spoken of as being too smart to get married. Bachelor men, however, are remaining the mere anathema they were prior to the Nineteenth Amendment. Somehow or other that law failed to equalize domesticity.

I HAVE BEEN chilled by winds unkind.
I've felt the snow upon my cheek,
But nothing cold that comes to mind
Exceeds the frosty way they speak.
This blighting scorn of what I did:
"Of course, you didn't have a bid!"

I mentioned diamonds once last night.
I thought the suit might help her out.
It seemed to me I had a right
An ace and king to talk about.
Then down my neck an iceberg slid:
"Of course, you didn't have a bid!"

I've sat in drafts; on bleacher seats
I've shivered through a football game
I've felt the icy wind that beats
Upon the poor duck hunter's frame.
But here's the coldest blast of all:

the beginning,
the finish all shared more than ordinarily the nature of the extreme. The homestead his parents chose was on the frontier, where the struggle of the pioneer to win to his dominion the forces of wild nature were occasionally secondary to the battle for life against the marauding wild Indian. Thousands of other Texan youngsters starting in similar circumstances found their lives following a more or less uneventful trail to serene old age. Mr. Waggoner's journey was never placid. There was in him the instinct for great affairs which was not to be denied even in a new country where big things were not standing waiting to be seized upon by the incoming generation.

This destiny led the young Texan to the adventurous business of providing cattle for the markets of the older regions. He drove the cattle trail a thousand miles across desperate country, and took his profits and bought more cattle. At a very youthful age Tom Waggoner was indisputably one of that glittering company of Texas cattle barons whose regime not only romantically colored the early days of the State, but gave direction to its later development.

It was cattle that took the young Tom Waggoner's first energies, and cattle which to the end commanded his principal interest—cattle, and horses, the second necessary wherever the first are to be coped with. In the beginning cattle meant only acquiring a herd; there was land enough and free for use and passage In the end, cattle meant the acquiring of land also, as the plow of the advancing homesteader cut out more and more area from the open range. The Waggoner cattle empire, at first a mobile empire carried on the hoof, became the Waggoner ranch, and grew to number as many acres as a feudal kingdom. And finally cattle meant also oil, springing from the land which the changing circumstances of cattle had annexed to the empire.

For many years Mr. Waggoner had been the possessor of great wealth. Entire oil fields are included in the area of the Waggoner lands. He found uses for this wealth, in philanthropies which leave a towering monument to his memory. And uses, also, in glorifying the first loves of the real cowman—good cattle and good horseflesh. The great racing plant which he built at Arlington Downs, one of the finest in the United States and one which has been conducted on the high plane that has characterized all Waggoner activities, was but a realization of an old cattleman's dream of something to do with money—to show good horses at their best and thereby bring about the breeding of better horses.

And it was an old cattleman's way, also, to continue the simple tastes and quietness of mind that marked the later years of Mr. Waggoner's life. Said to have been master of the greatest fortune west of the Mississippi, he asked no more of life than might content a man of similar great experience and broad humanity but of merely moderate means. He remained to

The boy, a student at Jennings Avenue Junior High School, had a key which, he said, he had found on the street. In the boy's possession were many other keys. He was turned over to juvenile officers.

Most Leaders of Business Refuse Forecast of 1935

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (AP).—Business leaders are viewing the new year with considerable optimism. But one thing is clear—they have not forgotten the lessons in the fickle art of prophecy learned from their efforts to see into the future four or five years ago.

The end of the year is a time for stock taking, and it has become the custom to publish the collected opinions of leading business and financial executives at that time.

The more hopeful business leaders are inclined to weigh their words pretty carefully. Many who were glad to add either a few or many words to the year end comment a few years ago, still remain mute.

One hard-headed capitalist who steadfastly refused to listen to suggestions of stock splitup's and other "new era" schemes of financing in 1929, now finds that business is coming out of the depression and has probably been improved by it.

MISS CONKLIN IN LEAD ROLE

Miss Dorothy Conklin has a leading role in "Mr. Jim Bailey," to be presented tonight in First Methodist Church banquet hall.

MISS CONKLIN.

The curtain will rise promptly at 8:15 o'clock so that the cast and audience may attend the Goodfellow Frolic at the Worth Theater.

Miss Conklin was active in dramatics while at Texas Christian University and had a part in "The Misleading Lady," Footlite Club play presented in November for the Goodfellows Fund.

In "Mr. Jim Bailey" Miss Conklin plays the part of the snobbish mother, sacrificing everything to gain social position for herself and daughter, Gladys, played by Maureen Corder. The cast also includes Misses Sweetie Fielder and Elizabeth Coker and Randolph Duggan, Bates McClellan, Bush Jones, Lloyd Clark, Dee Carpenter and John Sullivan. Sullivan has the butler's role in addition to directing the play.

Patsy Ruth Boggeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boggeman, 1820 Virginia Place, who appeared in an expression recital given Thursday night by Wilma Johnson at the Hebrew Institute.

'Red' Bugaboo Is Pooh-Poohed by the City Manager

City Manager Fairtrace Friday scoffed at Chamber of Commerce Manager Jack Hott's warning that "the Reds will get you if you don't pay the $1,000 national guard deficit."

"Pooh! Pooh!" said the city manager. "And also Pooh!"

Hott warned the City Council Wednesday that the national guard units may be moved to Dallas unless the deficit is paid. He said the military units ought to be retained here as a guard against labor troubles and Communist demonstrations.

"There's not going to be any trouble from that source," said the city manager. "The American people are not brought up that way."

Du Ponts 'Outlaws' to Newton D. Baker

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Pierre S. Du Pont told the Senate Munitions Committee Friday that Newton D. Baker, then Secretary of War, plainly indicated to him in November, 1917, that he considered the Du Pont Powder Company "a species of outlaws" because of the terms the concern had insisted on in building a government powder factory.

"Naturally I resented the remark," Du Pont said as he leaned forward earnestly to explain to the committee details of the preliminary negotiations for construction of the powder plant at Old Hickory, Tenn., which was delayed some months after Baker cancelled the original contract.

AUTO WRECK FATAL TO RAIL MAN AT CLEBURNE

CLEBURNE, Dec. 14. — William Keskeys, 35, an employe of the Santa Fe Railroad here, was killed early Friday morning when the automobile he was driving overturned in loose gravel seven miles north of Cleburne on the Godley road.

Four other persons were in the car. Two of them were injured slightly.

Keskey's body was pinned under the automobile. He is survived by relatives here. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Schools Assured of First $500,000

The Fort Worth school system was assured Friday of receiving immediately the first $500,000 of PWA funds allotted to it for carrying on its $4,167,000 school building program.

Ed P. Williams, school business manager, was notified by PWA authorities at Washington that the requisition for the first installment of funds has been approved. It will be forwarded, the message said, as soon as the first $500,000 block of bonds has been approved at Austin.

The bonds had been signed Friday by George Thompson Jr., president of the Board of Education, and Mrs. Edwin T. Phillips, secretary.

The funds will be used to cover current costs of five buildings now under construction and two others for which contracts have been let. Pending receipt of the funds, the banks have been advancing funds to the contractors to carry on the work.

Crime and Local Responsibility.

ATTORNEY GENERAL CUMMINGS and former Secretary of State Stimson, at the crime conference held in Washington, suggested that a national criminological institute be established to co-ordinate all anti-crime agencies and activities, and to train state and local, as well as federal, law enforcement officers. For many months the Department of Justice has considered organizing such an institute. Its purpose, according to the Attorney General, would be to assemble, digest and make available data on improvements in the administration of criminal justice; to educate state and local groups on how this material may be utilized to improve law enforcement and crime prevention locally; to develop methods of dealing effectively with young delinquents and pre-delinquents; and to train especially qualified officials — federal, state and local — in scientific methods of repressing and preventing crime.

A federal institute of this nature would be able to assist materially in local law enforcement. Few local police units can afford the expense of maintaining experts in ballistics, toxicology and the other sciences bearing on police work. Federal experts on these subjects could be made available to local police forces, whether to clear up a crime or to assist in the prosecution of its perpetrators. The extensive fingerprint records of the Department of Justice have already been of inestimable aid in local law enforcement.

This type of federal agency might check the demand for almost all important law enforcement activities to be taken over from local bodies by the Federal Government. The opponents of such an enlargement of federal police authority insist that in the last analysis the suppression of crime primarily depends upon the attitude of the citizens. These in turn are most closely identified with their local governments, so that an effective local police force can do more to restrain crime in its community than federal operatives could hope to accomplish. In this connection reference is always made to the failure of federal prohibition enforcement.

From this point of view, federal police activities should be confined to those criminal acts which transcend state and local lines, or by their nature defy local suppression. Among such acts are violations of federal statutes, such as the income tax, counterfeiting, smuggling, postal, antitrust, interstate commerce, narcotics, white slave and other laws. More recently the field of federal enforcement has been broadened to include transportation of stolen automobiles across state lines, which was the only federal crime with which Dillinger had been charged, and kidnaping, attacks on federal officials, attempts to rob federal reserve member banks, extortion and racketeering in interstate commerce, crossing state lines to avoid being prosecuted or giving testimony in a criminal case, and taking across state lines stolen money, securities or merchandise valued at more than $5,000. Other recent statutes covered federal court procedure in criminal cases, the distribution of machine guns, and anticrime compacts among the States.

Both the Wickersham commission and Raymond Moley, in his recent report to the President on federal law enforcement, recommended that the prime responsibility for preventing and punishing most local crimes remain in local hands, and that in this field the Federal Government confine itself to assisting local enforcement.

MAN IS ROBBED AND LEFT TIED

Three posing as Good Samaritans offered to take D. F. Sellers, 31, to his home at 2119 East Maddox Avenue early Saturday.

Instead, he told police, they took him to Cobb Park, tied him to a tree and robbed him of $11.50 and about $3.50 worth of groceries. He worked himself loose and walked home, a mile away.

Sellers spent Friday night playing pool in a Weatherford Street establishment. He noticed a man eyeing him closely during the games. Leaving the place about midnight, Sellers walked south on Main Street while waiting for his street car.

At Lancaster Avenue a car with three men drove up beside him. The driver offered him a ride and Sellers accepted.

As the car reached Vickery Boulevard and Belzise Terace, Sellers, who was sitting in the back seat with one of the trio, suggested that they let him out there.

"We'll go another way and take you closer home," said the driver. The man in the back seat drew a pistol.

"We're taking you to Cobb Park," he announced. Sellers recognized him as the man he had seen in the pool room.

The robbers had little to say. They forced him out of the car in Cobb Park, wrapped his arms around a tree trunk and tied his hands with his necktie after discarding a piece of wire with which they had intended to bind him.

During the two hours Sellers remained in the park two automobiles passed on the road a short distance away. Sellers shouted but could atract no attention.

The robbers do not fit the description of the men who earlier Friday night held up two filling stations, getting between $11 and $15.

Hates Football on Screen.

T. R. of Fort Worth wrote this department a letter protesting against showing of shots from football games in newsreels.

The letter:

Dear Sir: How long will it be until they quit showing football games in the newsreels?

We will not go to another movie so long as they are being shown. It is bad enough to know there are people of such moronic sense of fun that they would go to such a game. But when we have to sit through 50,000 feet of it in the films, it is too much.

The newsreels, were it not for the fact they are being spoiled by football, would be by far the best part of the show.

How wonderful it would be to see another show without a singsong, or even a line of music whatever. One tries hard to think of a curse strong enough to pronounce over the man who made "Forty-second Street." It was a delightful show, but look what it started! If Bing and Dick and Lannie must sing, can't they go some place else?

We would even like to see one of those old, old films with Indians chasing white men, with horses and war bonnets and the Indian gal who pined away because the traveling man did not come back. Anything just so there is no singing.

"The Barretts of Wipple Street (or some such street) would hav been good if all the cast had be eliminated except Charles Lau ton. Maybe a horse could b been substituted for the fem lead, but no more than that.

The new motor concern holds an associate Ford dealership, with complete sales, parts and service departments.

In addition to handling a complete line of Ford Motor Company parts and trucks, the company will have a complete Ford setup, including lubrication service and complete, modern shop equipment.

Burks, who heads the concern, has been in the automobile business here constantly since 1917. He has been associated with various companies in several capacities, including sales manager for one Ford dealer.

A resident of Fort Worth for 23 years, Burks has spent 13 years of that time on the North Side. He will head the sales department personally.

The Bradley Burks personnel will include J. Z. Barrington, office manager, who has been associated with Ford dealers here for 10 years; W. P. (Bill) Mercer, service manager, and Roy Wills, used car manager, assisted by Henry Longhurst.

SIX STATES IN FIVE-DAY, 40-HOUR INDUSTRY PACT

BOSTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—A tentative agreement between six States for a maximum five-day, 40-hour week in industry has been reached, it was announced today by Senator Henry Parkman Jr., of Boston, general chairman of the interstate conference on labor compacts.

The States are Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey. The compact must be signed by the commissioners representing these States in the conference, and then ratified by the Legislatures.

FIRST JOBLESS FUND GROWING

Wisconsin Pioneering Field Other States May Enter to Care for Layoffs.

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 15 (AP).—The pioneer unemployment insurance law, enacted by the Wisconsin Legislature in 1931, will make available to most Wisconsin workers by July 1, 1935, a fund of more than $5,000,000 upon which they may draw for limited benefits if they are thrown out of work through no fault of their own.

All the money has been contributed by those employers who provide jobs to 10 or more workers. The employes themselves have made no contribution. The law requires none.

Due to the pressure of economic conditions the date of operation was postponed until July, 1934.

Build Up Reserve.

Beginning that date, employers were given one year to build up reserve funds to which they are contributing at the rate of 2 per cent of their payrolls.

While this medium of insurance is being created it is exempt from any liability for unemployment.

A distinct feature is that there is no pooling of the built up reserves. Each employer is accountable only for his own workers. What he makes in the way of contributions is treated as a separate account and when his reserve equals $75 for each employe he need make no more payments until his own separate fund falls below that amount.

Compensation Schedule.

After next July, if the employer finds it necessary to lay off his helpers who earn less than $1,500 on a yearly basis, he must compensate them as the law requires.

He must pay them one half of their weekly wages in the ratio of one week of unemployment for each four weeks that they have been employed since July 1. But in no case, as the law now reads, can a worker receive more than $100, that is, $10 a week for 10 weeks. And if his yearly compensation is $1,500 or more he may claim no benefits at all.

Wisconsin officials believe the law which they have set up might become the pattern for legislation to be enacted in other States with the help of the incoming national Congress.

Capital Is Called America's 'Worst' Bootlegging 'Spot'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—Washington was termed the country's "worst" bootlegging "spot" tonight by Ammon McClellan, executive director of the League of Distilled Spirits Rectifiers.

Before the Federation of Citizens Associations, McClellan said "the 'the man in the green hat'—yes, and the men in gray, brown, black and even derbies are pedding liquor down the corridors of the Senate and House office buildings and even in the Capitol Building proper."

The "man in the green hat" was a bootlegger who operated around the Capitol during prohibition days. The eventual police disclosure of his mysterious activities caught wide popular fancy.

McClellan, who is also executive director of the Rectifiers Code Authority, said the reason for the "deplorable situation" was that the price "to the retailers is much higher than it should be."

He contended the high prices were caused by excessive taxes.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

His wife, 49 years old.

His sister-in-law, Mrs. Florence Greiger, 42, and her son, Milton, 21.

The party was en route to their home after shopping here.

Police Find Man, Run Over By Car, Lying in Street

An unidentified man of about 21 was found lying in the street at East Fourth and Sylvania Avenue early this morning after two motorists had seen an automobile run over the body.

At City-County Hospital, where the man was taken in a Gause-Ware ambulance, physicians were unable to determine the extent of his injuries. He was delirious and unable to tell authorities his name.

A letter in his pocket was addressed to "Alta Mae" and was signed "Horace."

Oliver Racher, 1200 El Paso, and Barney Schmidt, 220 Bourland Street first saw the man lying on the street and called police. When they returned from telephoning they saw an automobile run over him.

Drive Against 'Murder in the Nursery' Begun

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 —A nationwide drive is under way to "take murder out of the nursery."

It is being sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, which is centering its attack on toy guns, holding that they lead, not only to serious accidents, but to actual crime.

Thus, while the agencies of the Government, state, city and county are concentrating movements to rid the country of its "public enemies" the parents and teachers are trying to do their bit by putting a stop to such childhood games as "cops and robbers," and the like.

Pledges from school children to get rid of their toy weapons once and for all are being asked. An honor roll for all schools which obtain pledges from 75 per cent of their pupils and parents to put a stop to toy gun play has been started to add stimulus to the movement.

2 YOUNG ROBBERS HOLD UP FILLING STATION

Two young robbers held up Charles Gossett, attendant at a Gulf Refining Company filling station at 555 Summit Avenue, early last night and escaped on foot with $10.

They entered the station soon after dusk and ordered Gossett to raise his hands. One of the men, he said, carried a pistol. While he stood with hands raised, the men took the money out of the cash register and fled east on East Tucker Street.

Gossett said both men appeared to be about 20.

Roosevelt Favors Continuing CCC

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—The intention of President Roosevelt to ask Congress to continue the Civilian Conservation Corps for two years more was disclosed today by Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work.

"President Roosevelt is mindful of the benefits that have flowed from this combination of relief and conservation," Fechner wrote in "Happy Days," a CCC publication.

"He has declared that 'this kind of work must go on.' And he has informed me that he intends to ask Congress for a continuance of emergency conservation work for the next two years."

Approximately 350,000 young men, war veterans and experienced woodsmen now are at work in the forest camps of the CCC.

SOCIALIZATION OF LAND JOHN DEWEY'S PLEA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—Socialization of land to "give the unemployed an opportunity to work" was advocated today by Professor John Dewey, president of the People's Lobby, at a conference called by that organization to discuss "Socialization or Chaos."

"Take the measures of the New Deal that are intended to improve present conditions," he said. "You will not find one that is not compromised, prejudiced, yes, nullified by private monopolization of opportunity."

To Take Profit Out of War.

IN THE FORMULATION of legislation suggested by President Roosevelt for taking the profit out of war, recommendations along this line put forward by the War Policies Commission inevitably will be seriously considered. This commission was created by joint resolution of Congress in 1930 to "study and consider amending the Constitution of the United States to provide that private property may be taken by Congress for public use during war, and to remove the profits of war, together with a study of policies to be pursued in the event of war." The commission was composed of Secretary of War Hurley, Secretary of the Navy Adams, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Secretary of Commerce Lamont, Secretary of Labor Doak, Attorney General Mitchell, Senators Reed, Robinson of Arkansas, Vandenberg, Swanson, and Representatives McSwain, Holaday, Hadley and Collins. It submitted its report March 5, 1932, just prior to the end of the Hoover Administration.

The commission's report recommended submission of an amendment giving Congress the power in time of war to prevent profiteering and stabilize prices. Pending the ratification of such an amendment, it recommended legislation empowering the President to stabilize prices, and to adjust executive departments and their personnel. Also recommended were continuation of the existing war laws, a tax of 95 per cent during war on individual and corporate incomes above the previous three-year average. Policy recommendations included abandonment of the cost-plus method of purchase of war materials and supplies, and distribution of the munitions production load over the country. The report emphatically advised Congress not to submit any amendment authorizing confiscation of property in time of war without compensation.

Among the witnesses heard by the commission were Bernard M. Baruch, former chairman of the War Industries Board, and his associate, Hugh S. Johnson, who together had given special study to the problem for some years. Baruch and Johnson were in the group conferring with President Roosevelt on Dec. 11 on how to take the profit out of war.

Before the War Policies Commission, Mr. Baruch proposed a law, to take effect as soon as war or a war emergency had been declared, making it unlawful to buy, sell, or contract for any thing or service at a higher price, rental, wage, commission, rate, etc., than had been in effect before the specified date to be proclaimed by the President. The President would have the power later to adjust any such price, wage, rate, etc., upward or downward. The President would have the power also to license all kinds of business, dealers and manufacturers, and to specify the conditions under which the licenses would be granted and continued. He would be empowered also to determine priorities in filling orders; and to regroup the functions of the executive agencies of the Government.

Baruch declared no constitutional amendment would be necessary for these purposes, despite the injunctions of the Constitution against depriving any person of property without due process of law. He favored a high excess profits tax in wartime, but considered it by itself no adequate substitute for price control. He felt that it was unnecessary to stimulate the production of war necessities in time of war.

Newton D. Baker, who headed the War Department during the participation of the United States in the World War, was skeptical of any uniform price yardstick. Preferring to have wartime price control determined industry by industry, or even plant by plant, according to the special problems of each case, he stressed the point that a price fair to a low-cost business would be unfair to a high-cost one. George N. Peek brought up the argument that certain prices—especially agricultural—might be too low at the date to be fixed by the President for price freezing under Baruch's plan, but Baruch countered by pointing to the proposed presidential power of altering specific prices. President Green of the American Federation of Labor was unenthusiastic about any arrangement for preventing wages from increasing during war.

There was general agreement among the witnesses that Congress had the constitutional power in time of war to commandeer property. Few of the witnesses approved of any wartime confiscation of property without compensation. Most of them admitted that a certain amount of inflation was inevitable in time of war.

The Senate resolution creating the commission now investigating the munitions industry, under the chairmanship of Senator Nye, specifically directed the committee to review the findings of the War Policies Commission, inasmuch as none of these findings had been translated into law. The current committee has not yet found time for this activity.

The Eight Degrees of Charity.

THE CHRISTMAS season, with its appeals to the charitable for relief of human distress, is deemed by the New York Times fit occasion for reprinting the evaluation of charity by a wise philosopher who lived some eight centuries ago. The philosopher was Maimonides, born in Cordoba, Spain, in 1135, died in Egypt in 1204, renowned throughout the then civilized world and revered alike for his person and his writings. There are, he said, eight degrees or steps in the duty of charity:

The first and lowest degree is to give, but with reluctance or regret. This is the gift of the hand, but not of the heart.

The second is to give cheerfully, but not proportionately to the distress of the sufferer.

The third is to give cheerfully and proportionately, but not until solicited.

The fourth is to give cheerfully, proportionately and even unsolicited, but to put it in the poor man's hand, thereby exciting in him the painful emotion of shame.

The fifth is to give charity in such a way that the distressed may receive the bounty, and know their benefactor, without their being known to him. Such was the conduct of some of our ancestors, who used to tie up money in the corners of their cloaks, so that the poor might take it unperceived.

The sixth, which rises still higher, is to know the objects of our bounty but remain unknown to them. Such was the conduct of those of our ancestors who used to convey their charitable gifts into poor people's dwellings, taking care that their own persons and names should remain unknown.

The seventh is still more meritorious, namely, to bestow charity in such a way that the benefactor may not know the relieved persons, nor they the names of their benefactors, as was done by our charitable forefathers during the existence of the temple. For there was in that holy building a place called the Chamber of the Silent, wherein the good deposited secretly whatever their generous hearts suggested, and from which the poor were maintained with equal secrecy.

Lastly, the eighth, and the most meritorious of all, is to anticipate charity by preventing poverty; namely, to assist the reduced fellow man, either by a considerable gift or a sum of money, or by teaching him a trade, or by putting him in the way of business, so that he may earn an honest livelihood and not be forced to the dreadful alternative of holding out his hand for charity . . . This is the highest step and the summit of charity's golden ladder.

Dollars in Search of an Owner.

ONE OF THE ODDEST bits of news to come out of Washington in a long time is the revelation that matured Government securities to the value of at least $20,000,000 are being held by various forgetful citizens, who seem to have overlooked completely the fact that Uncle Sam owes them money.

Some of these bonds date back to the first Government issue of securities, which came out before 1800 and matured more than a century ago. Others represent unredeemed Liberty Bonds and war savings certificates. Their holders are entitled to cash them, and the money is waiting for them.

Some interesting stories doubtless would be uncovered by running down a handful of these unredeemed bonds. Certainly the whole thing is an unusual sidelight on the absent-mindedness of a sizable number of Americans.

'FRONTIER GANDHI' OF INDIA IS SENTENCED

BOMBAY, India, Dec. 15 (AP). — Abdul Ghaffar Khan, dubbed the "Frontier Gandhi" of India because of his activities on the northwest frontier, was sentenced today to two years' imprisonment at hard labor on a charge of sedition.

The attending magistrate held that the Ghaffar Khan stirred up the people by charging that the government had promulgated laws on the northwest frontier for the deliberate purpose of causing trouble and also by declaring that the police did not protect the people but assaulted them.

RAILS CHEERED BY INCREASES

Christmas Rush Starts Ten Days Earlier This Year; Promises to Be Liveliest.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP).—Railway officials today hailed increased freight, express and mail shipments as harbingers of better times ahead.

The annual Christmas rush, they said, started about 10 days earlier than usual and promises to be the liveliest in several years.

Freight engines over the Midwest last week pulled heavier loads to give that department a seasonal boost, too.

An official of the Railway Express said his firm's business was running about 20 per cent ahead of last year and that it was experiencing the sharpest upturn since 1931.

F. C. Francis, manager of mail, baggage and express traffic of the Rock Island, said its "front end business"—mail, express and baggage—was the best since 1929.

"We are very much encouraged about the gains," he said.

The Railway Express particularly noted increases in general merchandise shipments and perishables. One item, considered somewhat of a reflection of good times hereabouts, oyster shipments from Maryland, showed considerable gains.

"Wholesale houses have been shipping goods out in large amounts," Arthur White, express executive, said, "indicating general business is keeping moving."

Freight reports showed that the New York Central last week scored a gain of about 2,500 revenue cars over the same week in 1933. The Baltimore and Ohio topped 1933 for the first time in three or four months and other lines showed corresponding gains.

Even the passenger business, said R. Thomson, passenger traffic manager of the Chicago and Northwestern, gave indication of bettering Christmas records for some years.

Two Roy E's at School Worse Than All Twins

Two boys at W. C. Stripling High School this year cause more confusion that any of the three sets of twins in the school—and they are not even related.

Once in class a teacher, unfamiliar with either boy, called on "Roy." Both boys stood up.

"I mean Roy Snyder," she said. They remained standing.

"Well, then, Roy E. Snyder, please remain standing," said the teacher. Neither boy moved. Then she learned that there was a Roy Estes Snyder and a Roy Edwin Snyder in her class.

BLUFF DALE HIGH

MAY REGISTER PROPAGANDISTS

Chairman of the Committee on Un-American Activities Advances Control Plan.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP).—A new law requiring registration with some federal agency of Americans who are propagandizing the United States for foreigners developed today as a possible result from a House committee's investigation of un-American activities.

Chairman McCormack of the special committee made that suggestion as he announced the list of witnesses to be heard by the committee next week, when it turns from Fascism and Naziism to Communism.

Reports to the committee are that Communistic activities are widespread, even being encountered in the Army and Navy. The committee will study these reports in open session.

Already, too, the committee has heard that the late Ivy Lee and Carl Byoir, publicity man, among others, had done "propaganda" work for foreign countries.

Byoir was described as conducting an advertising and publicity campaign for a German travel agency, keeping it posted on American reactions to the Nazi anti-Jewish campaign. Lee, the committee has been told, did publicity work for Soviet agencies.

"I don't say it was wrong for them to do what they did," McCormack said. "But why shouldn't they be required to register with some federal agency when they undertake these publicity activities for foreigners?"

In the three or four days of hearings next week, McCormack said, the committee will consider broader phases of Communistic activities not "being bogged up with a multiplicity of details."

Where Should the Driver Sit?

THE SUGGESTION that automobile steering wheels be placed on the right side, as a safety measure, made by H. M. Jacklin, professor of automotive engineering at Purdue University, has been approved by the Indiana Automobile Association. The right-hand drive is usual in Europe, and originally was customary in this country. It is now contended that the theory upon which the driver's place was shifted in this country—that it would enable better control in passing other vehicles—is erroneous.

The question seems to be whether safety is furthered most by having the driver so placed that he can judge more accurately the distance between his own and an approaching car or between his car and the curb or ditch. The latter method apparently worked best in the days of horse-drawn vehicles, although it was commonly believed then that the driver was better placed on the right because he could swing the whip with greater freedom. It is possible that shifting the driver's seat in automobiles would mitigate to some extent the present dangerous tendency to drive toward the center of the roadway. Professor Jacklin also thinks that the shift would reduce the number of accidents due to glaring headlights, the driver being farther away from the center of the glare and better able to see directly ahead down the shoulder of the roadway.

Whether driving seats are on the right or left side, there is still the difficulty of gauging the space available, if not on one side then on the other. Drivers have to learn to judge automatically the distances they have to spare for safety, either how far to the right they may go without running off the pavement, or else the width of the car in keeping to the left and yet avoiding collision with cars moving in the opposite direction. Many accidents arise from the fact that many drivers do not make any judgment in overtaking to the left; they simply swing around and leave it to the driver of any car approaching from the opposite direction to keep clear of them.

Highways are more and more dangerous as the number of large trucks using them increases. Even with the left-hand drive, the driver behind such a truck or bus can not see very far to the left in determining whether it is safe to attempt to pass. With the steering wheel on the right side, he could not see at all whether a car, truck or bus were approaching in the other direction. There are driving problems, whichever side the steering wheel is on. They are demonstrated every day in accidents occurring.

FOUR STUDENTS DEAD IN CRASH

CANONSBURG, Pa., Dec. 22 (AP).—Four high school students, coming home from a school Christmas dance, were killed early Saturday as their automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train at a downtown crossing.

The dead:

Kenneth Culp, 18, center and star player on this year's Canonsburg High School football team; William McKee, 17; Fern Harris, 16, and Jean Marshall, 16.

Culp, McKee and the Harris girl were killed instantly as the engine hurled their battered car 200 feet down the tracks. Miss Marshall died two hours later in a Canonsburg hospital.

Through a heavy fog the students were returning in McKee's car.

The train, en route from Pittsburgh to Washington, Pa., struck the car broadside as it started across the tracks at the Center Street crossing in the heart of the town.

$60,000,000 for Army Housing Is Proposed

Secretary of War Dern Urges Raising Personnel to 14,000 Officers and 165,000 Men.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP).—New army housing projects to cost more than $60,000,000 were recommended by Secretary Dern today in his annual report.

Along with this, the Secretary of War defended the record of the army air corps in flying the mail last Winter and urged that army personnel be raised to 14,000 officers and 165,0000 men.

Dern said the expenditure for army housing would fit in with the program planned by the Administration this Winter to reduce unemployment.

The secretary pointed out that the War Department already has drafted detailed plans and specifications for the construction he proposed, thus making a speedy beginning possible.

Dern cited the department's record in expending more than $61,000,000 in building projects during the current year. At the close of the fiscal year, he said, 95 per cent of funds received from PWA had been obligated and 47 per cent actually expended, giving employment to 11,358 men.

"Ever since the World War," Dern reported, "the army has been living under deplorable conditions."

Dern also recommended erection of a war War Department Building in Washington.

Several army fliers lost their lives last Winter while flying the mail and the service was criticized as inefficient. Dern said most of the criticism was "uninformed," but there was justification for some of it.

The experience disclosed some defects, he said, "most of which had developed through no fault of the air corps, but were due to insufficiencies of appropriations."

Dern said he had approved the recommendations of the Baker Aviation Committee for changes to improve the air corps' efficiency, and to raise its strength to at least 2,320 planes.

The regular army's strength is now 11,750 officers and 117,571 men, and the secretary said the increase was necessary to carry out duties now imposed on it.

BODY BLOW AT SPOILS SYSTEM IS EXPECTED

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1934, by The Star-Telegram.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—There's a movement afoot to strike a body blow at the spoils system—and the rumor is that President Roosevelt himself has shown an inclination to help abolish as much political patronage as has been created under his Administration by asking Congress to put all the New Deal agencies under the civil service.

For many months the paradox has been presented of an Administration imbued with a desire to drive the "money changers" from the temples and the exploiters from the realm of finance and business, and, yet, in the national capital itself, no more striking example in all history has been given of a politically chosen personnel.

Thus, out of 11 major pieces of emergency legislation, every single one exempted the appointing officers from the necessity of using the civil service list of eligibles.

Folly of Course Apparent.

Today, however, the folly of this course has become apparent, especially as the New Deal itself surveys its responsibilities and sees more and more centralization of authority over the economic life of the country pushed toward the Federal Government by the spirit of the voters in trusting everything to the discretion of the Chief Executive.

Roosevelt is represented as feeling deeply the enormity of the task being saddled on federal officials, not merely of the regular establishment, but in all the emergency boards and commissions as well. Hence, the question of how to get a trained personnel has come up again and again.

The first move under consideration is the blanketing of postmasters of all classes into the civil service, so that appointments would be made from the top three or four who have passed examinations.

The next step being urged on the President is the amendment of existing laws so that all New Deal agencies will come under the civil service by requiring some sort of noncompetitive examination to determine the fitness and qualifications of those now holding jobs and the assignment of those who are capable of doing particular work to duties in line with their respective abilities.

Seek All-around Ability.

It is natural for the political-minded to insist that civil service shall be postponed till the defeated party's appointees have been driven out and the victorious party has placed its own in office. Something of that kind of stabilization is about to occur. Members of Congress will be relieved of a great annoyance if this new system is put into effect, for the applications for jobs are many times the number of jobs available.

Roosevelt has given encouragement to some of those in the Government who feel that the time has come to think of a trained civil service. Many reforms have already been instituted by the Civil Service Commission in the matter of attracting to the examinations young men of all-around ability but who have not specialized in the particular subjects for which examinations have hitherto been given.

It is significant that some of the New Deal agencies here and there even though not required to appoint from the civil service, have asked the commission to pick out for them postmasters who could be [illegible] governmental activities.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 18,

DR. TOWNSEND THREATENS CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP).—Dr. F. E. Townsend threatened Tuesday to "lick the hide off Congress and send 'em home for good" if his old-age pension plan is not adopted.

Seated cross-legged on a bed in a hotel, the tall, white-haired physician from Long Beach, Cal., outlined the strategy he will use to put across the idea of paying $200 a month to every man and woman over 60 who will agree to quit all remunerative work and spend the money as fast as they get it.

The Townsend plan is the inspiration for some emphatic language these days—pro and con. Dr. Townsend and his supporters say it's the way to solve unemployment and cure the depression. To critics like Dr. Edwin Witte of President Roosevelt's economic security committee, it's on a par with perpetual motion, "utterly impossible."

Will Interview Congress.

As soon as legislators get here for the coming session, Dr. Townsend and his aids will interview them. Then he hopes to form a Townsend Club on Capitol Hill.

There are some details still to be settled before a bill is drafted. At the moment a study is being made, Dr. Townsend disclosed, to determine just how much annual sales transactions amount to. A tax to be decidde by the total amount would be levied to pay the pensions.

At present Dr. Townsend is taking the arbitrary figure of 1,200 billion dollars—based on Federal Reserve Board member bank debits—as the annual total. Twenty-four billion is estimated as the cost of a year's pension, so a 2 per cent tax on all sales is discussed.

Clashing Results.

To a query whether bank clearances are figured in transactions to be taxed, Dr. Townsend replied there was no thought of including them.

Dr. Witte's and Dr. Townsend's figuring produces clashing results. The former, in comparing the plan to perpetual motion and calling it "utterly impossible financially," said it would require more than half the present national income.

"It would require a tax so heavy it couldn't possibly be collected," he said.

But Dr. Townsend says there is widespread support for it, and that Townsend clubs will be organized in every voting district.

By act of the recent Legislature the Governor of Kentucky is vested with power to discharge any appointive official of the State government.

Deaths

Suggs—The body of Dr. L. A. Suggs arrived from Park Place, Ore., at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and the funeral will be held at 3:30 o'clock at Broadway Presbyterian Church. Rev. D. F. McConnell will officiate and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Dr. Suggs, formerly a resident of this city, died on [illegible] 7.

The Drunken Driver Problem.

UTAH apparently has solved the problem, long troubling police traffic authorities, both of determining the fact of intoxication of a driver at the time of arrest and of preserving in full force this determination for use in court. The State merely equipped its highway police with moving picture cameras. Films are made at the time of arrest, with the intoxicated driver as the star performer. It is reported that 49 of the first 52 cases photographed as intoxicated pleaded guilty after one look at the film. The other three, still unconvinced, were convicted when the films were shown to the jury.

Various other methods of dealing with the drunken driver have been evolved in other States. In a number of cities a motor vehicle operator arrested on a charge of drunken driving is carried immediately to the police station and subjected to mental and physical tests by a police surgeon. Among the "signs" noted are the condition of the eyes, the pulse respiration, heart beat, mental attitude, speech and walk of the suspected driver.

Cities writing new ordinances on traffic regulation are putting in carefully-drawn provisions for the drunken driver. The new Seattle traffic code gives policemen the right to seize the car keys of a presumably drunken driver before he has a chance to do damage, and to keep them until the driver is sobered. The ordinance also makes it mandatory for the court to revoke the license of anyone convicted of drunkenness while driving.

HOLIDAY TRIP CRASH HURTS 2

A Christmas holiday trip ended in the hospital Tuesday morning when W. H. Williams, 83, of 1227 Lincoln Avenue, and his son, T. H. Williams, 60, Stinnett, overturned in a ditch near Springtown. At noon both men still were unconscious and their condition was reported to be critical. They are in St. Joseph's Hospital.

The elder Williams has cuts on the head, a fractured arm and leg and possible internal injuries. Physicians have not yet determined the extent of the other's injuries.

The pair left the Lincoln Avenue address for Stinnett where the elder Williams had planned to spend the holidays at his son's home. Near Springtown their automobile skidded on a slippery road and overturned in a ditch. A passing motorist summoned a Shannon ambulance.

The trip to Stinnett was to have been the first in many years for the elder Williams, according to a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Maggie Williams, who lives at the Lincoln Avenue residence.

The automobile in which the men were traveling was laden with gifts for other members of the younger Williams family.

TULSA'S CRIME PROBE WIDENED

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 18 (AP).—Investigation of the slaying of one prominent Tulsa youth and the unexplained death of another was broadened Tuesday to include the many rumors of youthful wrongdoing that flooded the offices of authorities since Phil Kennamer was arrested.

With Kennamer, the 19-year-old son of a federal judge, awaiting trial Jan. 28 on a first degree murder in the slaying of John F. Gorrell, 23, J. Berry King, State's Attorney General, announced the new investigation.

King, who previously promised that "no one will be spared" in the case, said a "quiet but vigorous investigation will be started into new crimes, not directly related, but developed through the inquiry into the Gorrell death.

"Previous work in this case has shown us evidence of the existence of various intrigues and other felonies which at the time, because of pressure of details in this case, we were not able to check thoroughly."

Fingerprints Sought.

Officers Tuesday hunted for fingerprints on an automobile found abandoned here Monday and identified as having been used in three holdups Sunday night. The automobile was stolen in Waco on Dec. 12. The robberies Sunday night netted $48 for two young men.

YEAR BROADENS SHORT WAVE RECEPTION

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP).—The year just ending was one of definite discovery for the average radio listener. He found a fertile field for his particular type of research—the short wave channels.

Long open only to the amateur wireless experts and innumerable types of communication services from police radio down to the shortest of the short wave broadcasters, the space extending far below 200 meters is now affording listener opportunity to tune in Europe, Asia and any place else with ease.

All this hasn't been altogether due to the avidity of the man at the dials, for the engineer is an important factor in the picture. He has improved the receiving equipment, its circuits, tubes and the like.

Just as the broadcast outfit passed into the single control stage, so has the short wave set, except that there is a wave-changing device to switch from one channel to another.

Then, to make it still easier for the listener, the engineer has turned out sets that actually tune all over the dial, in that they incorporate broadcast and short wave equipment back of the single control.

In general, radio continued to show steady improvement, with most of the reception concentration placed on what the research man calls "high fidelity;" that is, a truer copy of the original entertainment signal. This all works toward better tone quality.

At the same time the engineers have been delving further into other fields, such as the ultra-short waves. One of these activities has had to do with facsimile, the transmission of the written, printed or pictured word in a form identical with the original copy.

Television, still in the future stage, didn't give much more of an indication of slipping out of the laboratory than it has in recent

DEPOSITS SHOW INCREASE IN SAVING HERE

A net increase of 3,760 savings accounts and a $680,000 gain in savings deposits this year compared to last year were reported Tuesday by the four banks of the Clearing House Association.

The figures are for Saturday compared with Dec. 15, 1933.

Total savings deposits were $10,620,870 Saturday compared with $9,941,161 on Dec. 15, 1933.

Savings deposits here have increased despite an interest rate in effect for more than a year of 2½ per cent on amounts less than $5,000—an interest rate adopted Sunday by federal officials as a national maximum, in an effort to cause people to withdraw money from banks and invest it. The present maximum is 3 per cent. By order of the Federal Reserve Board and the Deposit Insurance Corporation the rate payable by 13,800 banks on $11,000,000,000 of time and savings deposits will be reduced Feb. 1 to 2½ per cent.

A Fort Worth banker pointed out that although the lower interest rate here has not caused withdrawals in large numbers, the increase in local savings may be partly at-

DEFIANCE, Ohio, Dec. 17 (AP).—The slasher who terrorized Defiance last Summer with his attacks on women was identified today by Chief of Police Karl A. Weaner and Mayor Joe C. Krutch as a 16-year-old youth, Eugene Booher. They said he signed a confession.

The police chief and the mayor said Booher admitted he had stabbed Mrs. C. R. Williams, Miss Rosemary Mansfield, Mrs. Ethel Ansley and Miss Mable Krotz.

He denied, Weaner divulged, clubbing Mrs. Henry Hasch and Miss Kathleen Parret and shooting Mrs. Frank Bentley, Miss Parret's mother.

Officials declared they will attempt to have Booher placed in a state institution for feeble-minded.

None of the attacks caused critical injuries.

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 17.—A young gunman today forced Mrs. Sam Pitman and Mrs. Gideon D. Bell out of Mrs. Pitman's automobile and drove away in it. FARM JOBS TAKEN BY PERSONS IN LOCALITIES

Requests for farm jobs from no less than seven young men from Middle Western States in a single day caused C. W. Woodman, assistant director of the United States Employment Service, yesterday to reiterate that such jobs as arose were given to persons living in the localities.

The applicants were from Wisconsin, Ohio and Kansas. Several days ago there were several applicants from distant States. They said they had not heard that there were farm jobs available in Texas but were just hunting work. Efforts are being made by the federal authorities to make it known that there are no such openings so as to prevent a heavy Winter migration of unemployed into this section.

Hold Negro Leper In Isolated Spot

Securely quarantined and isolated, a 46-year-old negro leper was being held in an unannounced place last night as city and federal health authorities moved to gain him admittance to the government leper colony at Carville, La.

While Dr. A. H. Flickwir, head of the city health and welfare department, and J. R. McClure, United States public health inspector, yesterday sought a place for the negro, he sat disconsolately in a corridor of the Criminal Court Building. Despite explanation of Dr. Flickwir, McClure and Dr. Burke Brewster, county health officer, that the disease is infectious but not contagious, Jailer Ollie Stanley declined to admit the negro to the county jail.

Dr. Brewster, through laboratory tests, learned yesterday that the negro, who had been serving out time for relief chiseling, had leprosy. The negro had been released Sunday.

The negro, a preacher, had accepted welfare money for his wife's support after she had died.

McClure said cases of leprosy are rare in this section of Texas. The last case here, he recalled, was a Mexican, whom he transferred to Carville in 1931.

He pointed out that because of the universal fear of the disease, it was deemed best to keep secret the negro's whereabouts.

The negro said he had lived here for about 25 years and had been treated at various times by physicians.

Smith said assignments to various duties will be announced later.

In making public his list of appointments Smith parked his car across the street from the courthouse and sent for reporters in the press room. The secrecy of his movements, he explained, was occasioned by the hundreds of applications that have been pouring in on him. He sent one of his appointees to the courthouse press room to summon reporters to the automobile.

Smith was seated in the car with his list in hand.

"The insistence of applicants has been so great I have not been able to come to town in my own car," he explained. "Everybody knows it. I haven't been able to sleep or stay at home. I can't go anywhere. I feel sorry for all these people out of work, but I selected the men I thought would be the most efficient and would satisfy the public."

BODY IS FOUND, YOUTH IS HELD

CLAREMORE, Okla., Dec. 19 (AP). The mutilated body of Lon S. Gregory, 48, cafe owner and former cattleman of Claremore and Bartlesville, was found Wednesday in a culvert near Broken Arrow, Okla., several hours after a youth was arrested in Tulsa in Gregory's car.

A dozen gashes, inflicted apparently with some sharp tool, were found on Gregory's head, and the condition of the body and clothing indicated it had been dragged for some distance.

Deputy Sheriff John Evane of Tulsa, who investigated, said it was highly unlikely the injuries could have been caused by an automobile accident.

The youth, when arrested, had blood on his face, and Gregory's car was bloody inside and outside.

Gregory's billfold and checkbook were found in the youth's possession, Sergt. Felix Altaffer of the Tulsa police said.

Convicted Youth Allowed to Spend Holidays at Home

They may spend Christmas at home, just like any other boys, thanks to two understanding district judges.

After that, two boys, 13 and 12 years old, must go to the state training school at Gatesville for indefinite terms ranging upward to their twenty-first birthdays.

The pair were caught Tuesday afternoon in an automobile that had been stolen from C. E. Harling, 1329 Hamilton Street, and were called into juvenile court Wednesday to answer delinquency charges. Both were previous offenders.

The older boy had been paroled and warned that another infraction would mean the reformatory. He pleaded guilty to a charge of car theft Wednesday and was committed by Judge Walter Morris of Sixty-seventh District Court, who paroled him to his parents until after Christmas.

The younger boy was tried before Judge Bruce Young of Forty-eighth District Court on an old delinquency complaint charging him with burglarizing a confectionery at Hattie Street and Missouri Avenue on Oct. 15. He also was paroled until after Christmas.

Parents of both boys attended the trials.

YOUNG BURGLAR IS SLAIN AT PLAY

TULSA, Dec. 19 (AP).—A youthful paroled burglar was shot and fatally wounded in what police described as play with several companions here today.

The dead youth was Carl Pulliam, 17. Police questioned Paul Lumary, 15, and two other youths who were present at the time.

Detective Sergt. Earl Porter quoted Lumary as admitting he fired the fatal shot, explaining he was "just snapping it" and was unaware there was a bullet in the chamber.

Both Pulliam and Lumary, sons of laboring class parents, had pleaded guilty Oct. 23 to charges of second degree burglary and had been given suspended sentences of two years each in the Granite, Okla., reformatory.

The shooting occurred in a vacant house where several boys had gathered and were flourishing pistols. Detective Sergt. Earl Porter said three pistols were taken by officers.

Although there was no apparent connection with the Thanksgiving slaying of 23-year-old John Gorrell by Phil Kennamer, County Attorney Holly Anderson recalled that it was the third death from violence among Tulsa youth in three weeks.

Gorrell was shot to death by Kennamer, who is being held for a murder trial. Ten days later Sidney Born Jr., 19, a witness in the Kennamer case, was found fatally wounded. Police were undecided whether he committed suicide or was murdered.

A bullet from a .38 caliber pistol severed young Pulliam's jugular vein and he died in an ambulance in which he was rushed to a hospital.

Immediately afterward Lumary William Boatman, 14, and Owen Hart, 15, were taken to police headquarters for questioning.

No charges were filed immediately.

Sergeant Porter said that Lumary and the other boys reported they were "just waving the pistols around," and did not know they were loaded.

The States and Liquor Control.

IN TWELVE of the 44 States which have agreed to prohibition repeal, regulation of the legal liquor includes removal of the traffic from private hands. Thus it seems probable that for the first time in this country a full test will be made of the government liquor-store plan, a plan which was only insufficiently tested before prohibition by means of the so-called dispensary system. Maine was the twelfth State to establish a state liquor monopoly, its Legislature enacting a law a short time ago for this purpose.

Nineteen new liquor commissions and three new liquor directors have been added to state governments to help handle the problems raised by repeal, reports State Government, publication of the American Legislators' Association. The new commissions in most instances are small, with three or five members, and their terms in office are long—most frequently six years. Delaware is unique with a one-man "commission."

Determination of license fees varies among the 44 States for both on-premise and off-premise drinking. In Delaware, Indiana, Maryland and Massachusetts, license fees for on-premise consumption depend on the location and the type of establishment. In Colorado location alone determines the size of the fee. In Kentucky, New Mexico and New York, liquor dealers pay larger fees in large cities and smaller fees in less populous centers. Illinois has a flat rate of $50 for all licenses. Colorado, Kentucky, Minnesota and Virginia make license fees of liquor stores selling for off-premise consumption depend upon location. New Mexico and New York use the population basis.

'POTATO, BEAN DRIVE' SPONSORED BY R O T C

Cadets of the R. O. T. C. at North Side Senior High School are sponsoring a "potato and bean drive" this week for the needy of North Side. Candy and fruit have been added to the baskets by members of the Kiwanis Club.

Homes for More At Colony Seen

There is a possibility for homes at Dalworthington Gardens for 25 or 30 families whose annual incomes do not exceed $1,600, John Lee Wallace, disbursing officer for the federal subsistence homestead colony near Arlington, said last night.

A lower-income group is being considered in applications so that the homestead colony can provide homes for those who really need assistance of the Government, he said. Some applications have been turned down because the families had incomes larger than this amount.

Twenty-eight of the 50 applications submitted to Washington have been approved, about half of which are from Tarrant County.

The 78 new houses and two renovated ones are expected to be completed by Jan. 1. Lights will be installed within a week's notice and water pipes will be placed immediately. The gas system has not yet been decided upon.

WARNS U. S. OF DEADLIER WAR

Army Chief of Staff Asserts More Men and Better Equipment Are Required.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP).—A warning to be prepared for war of deadly speed and destruction in the future was sounded today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff.

Visualizing the next war as one fought by highly trained men with faster and deadlier "tools of destruction," MacArthur, in his annual report, recommended that this Nation maintain a moderate-sized, highly efficient force mounted and armed with the latest and most powerful machines and weapons of warfare.

The skeletonized, partially equipped army of today, MacArthur declared, is not strong enough to guarantee the Nation's defense.

Even with full accomplishment of the present program "of military preparation scaled to the minimum level consistent with our country's reasonable security," he declared the United States would rank sixteenth among the world's armies.

Calls for 2,320 Planes.

Men will remain the backbone of the army, MacArthur asserts, but they will need speedy machines to cover the wide front on which wars will be fought; weapons that shoot faster, farther and with more deadly accuracy; and airplanes and other implements of increased mobility and scientific annihiliation.

To meet the menace of "the next war" MacArthur specifically recommended:

Manpower—Regular army of 165,000; National Guard of 210,000; trained enlisted reserve of 120,000; officers reserve of 120,000—instead of the army of 118,750 and National Guard of 175,000 now maintained.

Air Armada—2,320 planes, including a speedy general headquarters air force of 900 planes ready to fly at any minute to the defense of any zone of the frontier.

Tanks Are Out of Date.

Antiaircraft Weapons—"We are woefully behind the times." $11,000,000 is needed to fully equip and modernize guns and equipment for protection of coasts and insular territories.

Tanks—All we have, except 12, he said, date from the World War and are totally unsuited for combat. 1935 appropriations will provide for 64 tanks and combat cars, still far below other nations.

Artillery—Field units are armed with wartime French "75's." New field models have been developed giving greater mobility and flexibility of fire. Appropriations should be made to modernize artillery.

Rifles—The Army now has 80 newly developed semiautomatic rifles of extraordinary efficiency, and provision has been made for 1,500 more. It weighs no more than the present rifle but has a rate of accurately directed fire three times as high, is less fatiguing to fire, and should replace the old models.

Less Than Half Strength.

Ammunition—Important improvements have been made in all small arms types. The range of the normal bullet has been almost doubled, and armor-piercing ammunition made much more efficient. There was, however, he said a serious deficiency in .50 caliber machine guns, the best weapon against tanks and very effective against hostile

MORE COLONIES IN TEXAS SEEN

Expansion of the Federal subsistence homestead plan in Texas is contemplated, B. E. Giesecke, secretary of Texas Rural Communities, Inc., said Saturday upon his return from Washington. This body already has completed a colony at Woodlake in Trinity County and is preparing colonies at Wichita Falls, Mexia, Lubbock and in Nacogdoches County. The Government has provided $1,000,000 for these farms.

Giesecke said Lawrence Westbrook, assistant administrator of the FERA, informed him more than these five colonies probably will be established.

Giescke also conferred with FHA officials relative to obtaining the federal insurance provision on the colonies. If this is obtained, it will be easy to obtain additional funds for building additional colonies, Giescke pointed out.

He also attended a meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of Housing Officials in Washington.

Westbrook told Giesecke he will try to inspect the colony at Woodlake next Saturday.

BY IDA MAE SMITH.

School's out! The doors of Texas Woman's College swung shut at noon Thursday and the mouths of the students swung open with a loud shout that let all know the Christmas holidays were here. With "Merry Christmas greetings" and "I hope you have a grand time at home" and a cheery "see you next Jan. 4," the girls and boys boarded trains, buses and automobiles for home.

Before the students left many parties were held. The Korosophians and Philosophians entertained Tuesday evening for the Susan M. Keys and Adkissonians in the parlors of Ann Waggoner Hall. The program consisted of double piano numbers by Miss Alene Langston, and Robert Mayne, Fort Worth; tap dance by Miss Frances Marcia and Edward Armstrong, Fort Worth; and Henry Alexander, Grapevine, played a violin solo. Each group that was represented, including the faculty, presented an impromptu stunt. The S. M. K.'s and Adkissonians presented their stunt together and won the prize . Miss Princess Martin, Lorraine, and James Axley, Fort Worth, were in charge of the winning stunt; and those who were in it were Misses Margaret Jobe, Sweetwater; Mary Frances Barnes, Rockwall; Ida Mae Smith, Dallas; and Robert Henson, Greenville; Bryan Corley, Anson; Flemming Stuart, Bryans Mill; and James Axley, Fort Worth.

A lighted, silver Christmas tree was revealed and Santa Claus, in the person of James Carter, Weatherford, distributed gifts. Refreshments were served to 200 guests.

The annual Christmas tree ceremony and dinner were held Wednesday evening in the dining room of Ann Waggoner Hall. The decorations were carried out in Christmas colors with a large silver tree. The centerpiece was of tall candles and a festoon at the bottom of it was cedar. At either ends of the buffet table were small green decorated trees, and icicles hung from the lights. Over the double doors was a large electric star. The dormitory girls and the young men of the student body were guests.

Judges Give Little Boy's Mama Back --It's Christmas

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 22 (AP). Jimmy Alfiano, 7, found Santa Claus in the county courthouse today.

A pathetic little figure in shabby overalls, he was peering into doorways when Court Clerk Charles C. Coleman stopped him.

"I'm looking for the judge who sends people to jail," Jimmy said. "My mama's in jail and I want her home for Christmas."

Coleman took him to Judges David Reinhardt and Richard S. Rodney. They remembered the mother —sentenced to three months in the workhouse last month for illegal possession of a gallon of liquor.

"I saw mama yesterday," the boy told the jurists. "She's sick and she cried to come home."

The judges sent for the mother and released her. A few minutes later the boy was in her arms, wild-eyed with joy.

Judges and officials contributed to help the lad buy his mother a Christmas present and sent them home rejoicing.

71 PLANES FOR ARMY BOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP).—The Army Air Corps today prepared to fly into the New Year with an expansion program which the War Department asserts will give the United States an aerial armada rivaling that of any other power.

Announcement by Harry H. Woodring, Assistant Secretary of War, of the award today of a contract for 71 observation planes to the Douglas Aircraft Corporation of Santa Monica, Cal., for $1,655,394, leaves only one more award to complete the War Department's $10,000,000 purchase program for 1934.

With the end of the year contracts will have been awarded for 362 planes, mostly fighting types, for replacement of obsolete or "washed out" planes. The New Year will permit the Air Corps to begin acquisition of more than 800 additional new planes to give the Army an air fleet of 2,320 serviceable machines.

Bombers, under the first contract awarded this year, are now under construction by the Glenn L. Martin Company, Baltimore, and after thorough plant tests will be delivered to the Air Corps on May 23.

In addition to the Martin bombers contracts have already been awarded the Northrop Corporation of Inglewood, Cal., for 110 attack planes to cost $1,896,400, and the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation of Buffalo, N. Y., for 50 two-seater pursuit planes to cost $1,996,700.

More Truth Than Poetry

CHRISTMAS TAPERS.

THE oaks loom dark and silent
The village street along,
The pine tree moans
In undertones
Its deep and sorrowing song.
But by each cottage doorway,
There, twinkle in the breeze
Like flaming hosts
Of tiny ghosts
Stand lighted Christmas trees.

They dot the velvet darkness
With motes of dancing light;
Afar and near
They spread their cheer
Across the frosty night.
They shake their snowy branches
That sway like silver bars
And everywhere
The wintry air
Is filled with tiny stars.

The Spring is bright with beauty
Before the blossoms fade,
And Summer days
With drifting haze
Fill every glen and glade.
But in the Yuletide season
When fled are birds and bees
There come to light
On Christmas night
The softly glowing trees.

Girl, 4, in Jail Not Forgotten by Santa

EL PASO, Dec. 24 (AP).—It's the night before Christmas and little Lucille Cook, 4, is trembling with half suppressed excitement.

She's expecting Santa Claus and Santa Claus—she knows—can go any place. Lucille believes he could even squeeze his huge bulk through the bars of the El Paso County jail where she will spend Christmas Day.

Her mother, Mrs. Lucille Cook, is in jail. Why? Officers said she forged a check to buy her little daughter a pair of shoes.

But to Lucille—the jail is just a place to wait for Santy. And he will come—never fear for that. Already the jolly old gent has dropped in for a momentary visit and when he left, there were some dolls for Lucille.

Of course, if you have no imagination, you will say that the dolls were bought by kindly officers of the sheriff's department—and you will probably be right. But as long as Lucille thinks it was the old saint who brought the toys, it was Santa Claus who did it.

Tomorrow she will wake to find other toys. Yes, Santa Claus can outwit the sharpest guards and penetrate the most perfect prison.

Ask Lucille—she knows.

Christmas Songs

By Aline Michaelis

Only of love are Earth's songs today,
Only of love and peace;
Streams are ice-bound and skies are gray,
Yet have we found release
Now from the prisons where we dwelt,
Prisons of fear and dread,
All the doubts which so long we felt
Now from our thoughts have fled!

Only the wonderful Christ-Child's name
Sounds on all lips again,
Telling the story of how He came
Out of His love for men!
Telling the story that makes this day
Brighter than all the rest;
How in the manger the Christ-Child lay,
Snug on His mother's breast.
Only of love are the day's refrains,
Anthems that will not cease;
Ever are souls where the Christ-Child reigns
Singing of love and peace!

POLICE SEEKING DRIVER OF AUTO

County officers Wednesday were hunting the driver of an automobile that struck and critically injured John Clemmons, 52, Arlington, on Tuesday night.

Clemmons, a cook, is in City-County Hospital with both legs broken. Physicians fear they may have to amputate one of them. The man's condition is said to be critical.

The accident took place as Clemmons was crossing the Fort Worth-Dallas Pike.

Only two other holiday accident victims remained in hospitals Wednesday. They are James B. Robinson Jr., 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Robinson of Riverside, and Johnnie Robinson, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Robinson of Azle, who were burned by firecrackers Tuesday afternoon. The children are cousins.

Those recovering at their homes are: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burch and their daughter, Billie Mae, 12, of 4013 Byers Avenue, injured in a collision in the 4500 block of East Lancaster Avenue; J. B. Smith, 58, of 218 West Broadway, struck by an automobile in the South Main Street underpass; Roy Rainey, 22, of 1558 East Lancaster Avenue, injured in a collision at Sixth and Magnolia Avenues.

2 MORE YOUTHS ARE ARRESTED

Two more 17-year-old youths were held here Wednesday facing robbery charges. A third was arrested last week.

They are Grady Lee Huffman, captured Tuesday morning after a running gun battle with police and who is under indictment in eight charges of robbery and one of kidnaping, and Paul Barker, arrested by Fort Worth officers in Eastland Tuesday night.

Barker is charged in connection with the holdup here on Dec. 16 of John S. Moffett, 2241 Hemphill Street, who was robbed of $10. Other recent holdup victims were to view the youth at the city jail.

Huffman, slightly wounded in the gun battle, was held in the hospital ward of the county jail.

"I could have killed two or three cops," he said as he munched an apple. "And I might have done it, too, if I'd known what they were going to do with me."

He denied he had fired on the officers who, led by Police Inspector Dysart, had chased him by automobile and on foot over a number of streets and finally caught him on a house top at West Fifth and Summit Avenue.

"Sure, I know they might have killed me," he continued. "I'd rather be killed than in the fix I'm in."

He was just trying to get away.

Doctors "On the Spot"

IN THE PALMY DAYS of 1929 three out of five of our families could not afford to pay for medical care. At the same time more than one-third of family doctors failed to make a living wage. In two sentences, here is both the social and the economic problem of modern medicine.

There are not too many doctors. We need all of them—and more. And they need us.

When all families receiving less than $8,000 annual income receive far less than adequate medical care, there is obviously a question of whether the cost of adequate medical care can not be brought down. This is the question which the medical profession is being pressed by public opinion for an answer.

Medicine must be socialized to such an extent that lower costs will result, or it will be socialized to a much greater extent in the form of "government medicine." That it is not inimical to the interests of the science and its practitioners to establish the first sort of socialization is agreed by the greater medical bodies and by many physicians. That the second sort of socialization would be injurious both to the science and its practitioner is agreed by all.

The medical profession is "on the spot." Its leadership is under specific challenge.

80,573 STUDY BY AID OF U. S.

Adult Emergency Education Program in Texas Also Employs 3,208 Teachers.

In all of the Texas schools now fostering an adult emergency education program there is a total enrollment of 80,573 students necessitating the employment of 3,208 teachers, according to a report released yesterday on the present status of the relief program which has been under way only a few months.

The order setting aside the sum of $173,000 per month for taking care of unemployed teachers in Texas, September through January, was issued by Relief Administrator Hopkins last April.

Ten districts comprise the State setup, which is headed by Dr. L. R. Alderman, director of the education division of the national relief program; L. A. Woods, State Superintendent of Education, and George H. Fern, state director of the program.

Multiple objectives of the program are: To give employment, raise the morale of the people, improve standards of living, provide wise use of leisure time, stimulate appreciation of the cultural values of life, improve environment, better health conditions, give avocational training, sell the idea of education as a life process and give service to others.

The difference between the present movement and the CWA education program last year is that the new setup places emphasis upon the educational features, with relief through employment incidental.

After all present obligations are taken care of up until Jan. 31, there still will be a balance of $134,490 with which to employ additional teachers until the end of the program as now indicated. This amount divided by $48, the monthly salary of a teacher, will make possible the employment of 2,800 more instructors.

John Scharbauer, to Be 83 Friday, Is Honored

Friends Pay Respects to Fort Worth, West Texas Ranch Pioneer.

Fifteen oldtime friends of John Scharbauer paid birthday respects yesterday with a loving cup for the Fort Worth and West Texas cattleman, who will be 83 years old Friday.

A familiar figure to stockmen throughout the West Texas territory, Scharbauer has lived in Fort Worth for about 38 years. He is a director of the First National Bank here and at Midland.

Friends who joined in paying tribute to the veteran cattleman were W. E. Connell, J. Lee Johnson Sr., Guy L. Waggoner, Hugh Rogers, T. Z. Hamm, W. O. Shultz, E. B. Spiller, M. C. Ulmer, T. B. Yarbrough, W. C. Stonestreet, Walter B. Scott and Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth; Millard Eidson and Dick Lee, Lovington, N. M., and Clarence Scharbauer, Midland. Scott presented the cup.

Scharbauer came to West Texas in 1880 and moved to Midland in 1887. He now lives most of the time in Fort Worth, spending a few weeks of each year at Midland, where most of his ranch and cattle interests are located. He was born in Indian Fields, N. Y., and when, at the age of 28, he had made what was then the small fortune of $2,000, he moved to Abilene by covered wagon and entered the sheep business. "Uncle John," as he is now widely and af-

HOLIDAY DEATH TOLL IS LARGE

Traffic Accidents Take Most Lives but Fires and Guns Sadden Score of Homes.

By Associated Press.

Christmas holidays were saddened for scores of families yesterday as death halted Yuletide cheer.

Traffic accidents counted the highest toll, but several others were victims of fires, guns and other violence. One person was reported killed in a train wreck and a score injured near Hamilton, Ont.

A mother and three children died at Seladia, Mo., in a blaze blamed on a Christmas tree. Two others were injured in the fire. At Joplin, Mo., another mother and three children perished in flames.

Two lost their lives in a Chicago fire; a 4-year-old girl died in flames in San Diego, Cal., and a farmer burned to death near Madison, Minn.

Gift Kills Boy.

At Shreveport, La., a 11-year-old boy was killed by a rifle he had received as a gift. It discharged accidentally in the hands of a playmate. A six months old baby strangled accidentally in his sleeping suit in Little Rock, Ark., as his parents prepared to welcome St. Nick.

Hunting accidents took lives elsewhere. Three were killed in Alabama gun fights. At least four young persons were drowned when they broke through the ice while at play.

The death list, other than traffic accidents showed: Fires, 11; guns, 11; drownings, 5; stabbings, 2; other causes, 3. Total, 32.

Traffic accidents, on early tabulations, showed the following deaths:

Arkansas (since Sunday), 10; Missouri, 9; Michigan, 18 (since Sunday); Texas, 5; Washington, 5; Oklahoma, 4; Louisiana, 4; Georgia, 3; California, 4; Ohio, 6; Illinois, 4; Massachusetts, 2; Indiana, 2; Florida, North Carolina, Alabama, Kansas, and Idaho, one each. Total, 80.

Many Routine Fatalities.

A prowler was shot to death at Chicago. Three persons died in two Alabama gun fights. A bank looter was slain by possemen in Nebraska. Crowds hunted a negro youth alleged to have shot to death W. B. Southern, chief of police at Ellaville, Ga. Authorities at Port Jefferson, N. Y., sought to dispel the mystery raised by the finding of the body of Mrs. Loretta Wilson, 19, in a thicket. A boy was killed in a Mississippi hunting accident and another in an accidental shooting in Missouri.

Five persons committed suicide on the gala feast day—one in New York, two in Georgia, one in Louisiana and one in Kentucky.

The bodies of three children and a pilot whose plane crashed in ugly weather on the frozen desert were brought to Elko, Nev.

Travel encountered new hazards as freezing weather held on in most Northern States. The fire menace increased.

Three persons suffered burns when flames razed a home at Belding, Mich., and four were injured in a New York blaze caused by a short circuit in a Christmas tree lighting system. Three were hurt in an explosion and fire which levelled a tenement at Newport, R. I.

A severe cold wave moved over the Rocky Mountain region, forcing the thermometer down to 18 below zero at Havre, Mont. Forecasters predicted the invasion would extend over virtually the whole midcontinent before Thursday.

Two Girls Are Drowned.

Two young girls were drowned in the Blue River near Crete, Neb., when they broke through the thin ice while at play. Joe Cawood, owner of a liquor dispensary at Evarts, Ky., was shot to death following an argument over extensions of credit to a customer.

A bomb injured six persons at a feast in Santiago, Cuba. Several were stabbed or hurt by fireworks in Louisiana. An engineer and a brakeman lost their lives in railroad mishaps at Cleveland.

Most of the National enjoyed comparatively temperate weather. Snow gave a seasonal touch to the half dozen Northern States. Light rains fell in several of those to the South.

But Santa's cheeks were nipped as he sped through the Northwest. Helena, Mont., had a minimum of 14 below zero. The mercury dipped to minus 3 at Detroit Lakes, Minn.

A "severe cold wave" was promised the Rocky Mountain region and virtually all the North Central States. Snow and sleet was expected to accompany the bitter invasion as it surged down from Canada. Zero temperatures were scheduled to spread as far south as Missouri and Kansas and to penetrate Michigan and Northern Indiana on the east.

SWING TO WORK RELIEF LIKELY IN MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt, approaching the moment when decisions of tremendous import are to be made public, worked Wednesday on a program which, among other things, is expected to mark a definite swing from the "dole" to work relief.

While the President labored on the message he will deliver—perhaps in person—to Congress on Jan. 3, Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill cocked a wary eye to what, for want of a better term, is generally called "the left." They strove to forestall any rising which might spell a major upset in the Administration's program.

Knowing that suggestions which, added together, would spell $30,000,000,000 more spending are in the air, some legislators are talking again of scrapping the famous "145 rule" under which that number of signatures on a petition can force a bill to the floor. The proposal is that a majority—218—be required.

Budget Plans Closely Watched.

Those leaders who want to leave money alone for the present are weighing the chances of inflationists' agreeing on an expansion program at a round table meeting called for Jan. 16. Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, other legislators, Father Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit, representatives of the Sound Money League, the Committee for the Nation and of farm groups are listed among those to attend. The aim, Thomas said, is an accord on a "rational" inflation plan.

The question what the budget will be and how soon it will balance is attracting wide i[illegible] the reported plan [illegible] on work relief [illegible] servers tha[illegible] bala[illegible]

But, alas, one doubts if the art and science of marriage can be taught, because practice confounds all of its theories and it seems to be one of the things in which people learn nothing from age, nor intelligence, nor experience, nor previous condition of servitude. Every day we see senile grandpas making just as silly marriages as schoolboys. We see men who can command armies and run governments incapable of managing their own wives and children. And we see divorced men and women picking out for their third or fourth wives and husbands just as unsuitable mates as they did the first time.

Probably every man and woman in the world have fashioned a pattern of their prospective husbands and wives long before they ever reach the marrying point. They know exactly what qualities they want in their mates. They even consider their own characteristic needs. The man wants a wife who is good looking, intelligent, well placed socially, domestic, thrifty, a wife who will boost him up the ladder of success.

Fine. But here comes along a little flibberty-gibbet who hasn't two ideas to rub against each other in her head and who is idle and extravagant and can't boil water without scorching it, but there is something about her that sets his blood on fire and makes him feel that life without her is cinders, ashes and dust. And he marries her and spends the remainder of his life regretting it.

Same way with the woman. She, too, has a life-sized portrait of her future husband hanging on the walls of her mind. A strong, fine, dependable man on whom she can lean and who will be faithful to her and give her the tenderness and pity she craves, a man she can be proud of, a man who will be able to provide her with comforts and save her from the hardships of poverty.

U. S. PUT IN LEAGUE, SAYS REP. TINKHAM

Miss Perkins Is Accused of 'Trickery' to Get Nation in World Labor Group.

Congressman Says Country Will Be Involved in the Next European Conflict.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25 (AP).—Representative Tinkham, Republican from Massachusetts, today accused Secretary Perkins of "contemptible trickery" in connection with the passage last session of a resolution through which, he said, "the United States has entered the League of Nations."

In a statement, Tinkham referred to the resolution making the United States a member of the International Labor Organization. He asserted it was rushed through "in the eleventh hour confusion on the eve of adjournment last June," and added:

"This audacious intrigue to have the United States enter the League of Nations by way of one of the organs of the League is to be followed by an attempt to have the United States enter another of its organs, the permanent Court of International Justice of the League of Nations, this subsequently to be followed by a proposal of full membership in the League of Nations.

Fought Measure Last June.

"Thus the independence of the United States will be destroyed, the will of the American people thwarted, and the United States inevitably involved in the next European conflict."

Tinkham fought the measure when it was presented last June in the House. He is a member of the foreign affairs committee, which approved it, he said, without a quorum and without hearings.

Through passage of the labor resolution, he said, this country "finally accepted a part of the Treaty of Versailles, a treaty which has been repeatedly repudiated by the people of the United States."

"The time for this base betrayal of the independence and of the vital interests of the United States was cunningly chosen," he asserted. "This intrigue to entangle the United States in the affairs of Europe was perpetrated at a time when the Seventy-third Congress was bent on winding up the session and going home—and when legislative bedlam was at its height.

No Hearings Held.

"No hearings were held on the resolution by the Senate and House committees reporting the resolution. No witnesses appeared before the committees. A quorum was not present when the committees voted to report the measure. The resolution passed the Senate without debate or explanation and without a roll call. The discussion of the resolution in the House was limited to 40 minutes—and was passed by a margin of four votes, obtained under the lash of the Administration whip.

"All that was presented to the committees or to the House in support of the resolution was a letter from the Secretary of Labor which, among other things, stated: 'The

Child Shotgun Victim Buried With Christmas Doll in Arms

LEVELLAND, Dec. 26 (AP).—Her small Christmas doll cradled in her arms, 11-year-old Martha Beulah Alsup was buried here this afternoon.

In Hockley County jail, charged with murder in her slaying, her father, Ben C. Alsup, 45, wept. He had asked and was denied permission to attend the funeral.

One charge from a 16-gauge shotgun had struck the girl in the head about 2 o'clock this morning at the Alsup's farm home.

Rena Alsup, 14, her sister, told officers, they said, that the tenant farmer-relief worker had aimed the gun at Mrs. Alsup during a quarrel. Rena said she struck the gun and the charge hit Martha Beulah.

At best it was a poor Christmas for the Alsups. The drouth had blighted their crop. Relief work was intended only to keep body and soul together. But Santa Claus had given a little doll to Martha Beulah. It had a blue dress.

Officers said that Mrs. Alsup went to Sheriff C. W. Davis about 8 o'clock last night and that at her request he carried Alsup here from his home 12 miles northwest of Levelland. They settled their differences, Mrs. Alsup begged to have her husband Christmas night with her and the children, and Sheriff Davis consented.

But the bickering broke out again. So, this afternoon, Martha Beulah and her doll with the blue dress were buried in a casket the county welfare agency will pay for.

A different story came from Alsup.

In a statement to County Attorney Weldon Johnson, he denied he had quarrelled with his wife and said discharge of the gun was accidental. He had the gun outside to shoot a cat, he re-entered the house with the gun and as he started to set it down it discharged, the father said.

2 SONS ATTEND AUTO VICTIMS

Two sons of A. F. Felts, Panhandle, fatally injured in an automobile accident near Roanoke Saturday, kept a quiet vigil Thursday at Baptist Hospital as medical science battled against long odds to save two other members of the family injured in the same crash.

Their brother, Max Felts, 20, still is unconscious, and their mother is in a critical condition, suffering from internal injuries and shock. Her son has a fractured skull.

Two other members of the family, Maxine Felts, 20, twin sister of Max, and Kellon Felts, 18, a younger brother, were slightly hurt in the wreck. They were in Denton Thursday visiting friends, leaving at the insistence of their brothers, Morris Felts, 22, and Thurman Felts, 24, so they might get some rest after hours of watching by the bedside of the others. The brothers hurried here from Panhandle after they learned of the tragic end of the family's Christmas trip to their old home at Winnsboro, where the elder Felts was buried Monday.

Another sister, Mrs. Mildred Hite, Hillsboro, also had returned home Thursday for a brief rest. Another brother, Ervin Felts, lives in Boulder City, Nev., but is not expected to come here unless his mother's condition becomes worse.

'Millionaire Straphanger' Dies at 93 in New York

YONKERS, N. Y., Dec. 26 (AP).—John Emory Andrus, 93, reputed to be one of the wealthiest men in the United States, died of pneumonia today at his home. He had been active in business almost to the day of his death.

Known as the "millionaire straphanger," Andrus was one of the financial titans who built up a fortune in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. He was a close associate and contemporary of John D. Rockefeller, and his life resembled the oil millionaire's in many ways.

Andrus built up a huge fortune in oil, industrial and railroad stocks. real estate, chemicals and lumber. His wealth at one time was estimated at $200,000,000, though in his last birthday interview he said he had lost 55 per cent of his income.

He was called the "millionaire straphanger" because he rode in the subway to his New York office. Besides saving time, he said it helped him think.

He earned his first dollar selling fish bait to Horace Greeley, and worked his way through Wesleyan University.

Starting in a small way, he built up a chemical business of international note. From this he branched into other fields.

His philosophy of life was of the shrewd, simple, Yankee type—like that of his favorite political character, the late Calvin Coolidge.

Andrus served terms in Congress and as mayor of Yonkers, and for almost 60 years was a political power in Westchester County.

Despite his immense wealth, he blacked his own shoes—but he gave away many millions in philanthropy

It is understood that 45 per cent of his wealth will go to the Surdna Foundation—his name spelled backward—for various charitable institutions.

Andrus' wife, who was Julia M Dyckman, died on Christmas Eve 25 years ago. He probably will be buried beside her in a $500,000 mausoleum resembling a Greek temple which he built before her death.

U. S. Fleet Next 3 Months to See Much Activity

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Dec. 26 (AP).—Widespread activity the next months for all forces of the United States fleet and plans for an aerial circumnavigation of the Caribbean area and a projected mid-Pacific flight were revealed today in naval operating schedules.

As the first of two epochal cruising flights to be made during the year by the Navy's long-range patrol wing of huge multi-motored flying boats, 36 of those "flying cruisers" will next month attempt a four-week circumnavigation of the entire Caribbean area.

With their operations directed by radio by Rear Admiral Alfred W. Johnson, wing commander, from his flagship, the Wright, squadrons two, three and five will take off from Coco Solo Jan. 21 and return Feb. 17. The Wright will go to the Caribbean to serve as mother ship and the mine sweepers Teal and Lapwing will act as tenders.

Also projected for later in the year is a similar flight to an undisclosed mid-Pacific destination by the 48 patrol flying boats based on Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Man Is Killed by Houston Robber

HOUSTON, Dec. 27.—Harry L. Johnston, 41, died in a hospital early Thursday of bullet wounds received Wednesday night when he was shot by a robber as he sat in his automobile.

Johnston was waiting for his wife who was visiting friends. The robber approached and told Johnston to hand over any money he had. Johnston refused, and grabbed at the bandit's gun. The holdup man fired, the bullet striking Johnston in the chest.

No arrest had been made Thursday morning.

SLEEPING SICKNESS MAY BE PREVENTED BY VACCINATION

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27 (AP).—A promising start toward vaccination against sleeping sickness was announced at the American Association for the Advance of Science on Thursday.

The sleeping sickness vaccine is developing from the same studies in the New York City Health Department which produced the recently announced vaccine for immunizing children against infantile paralysis.

For sleeping sickness, the vaccine has been tried only on animals.

The new experiment was described briefly by Dr. Maurice Brodie of the New York Health Department at a meeting of the medical section of the association. He is working under the direction of Dr. William H. Park.

They took sleeping sickness virus from human patients in the St. Louis outbreak and inoculated mice. thereby producing sleeping sickness in the animals.

As this disease attacks the nerves and the brain, they sought in the brains of the animals for the hoped-for vaccine. They took a 5 per cent solution of the mouse brain and treated it with formalin, which killed the sleeping sickness virus.

This they then injected into 100 healthy mice. It immunized all the animals so that they could not afterward be infected with sleeping sickness. Furthermore, the vaccine itself had not apparent bad effect on the mice.

COUPLE HURT IN CRASH ASK $20,600 DAMAGES

A suit asking $20,600 damages was filed Wednesday in district court by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burch, injured Tuesday in a collision on the Fort Worth-Dallas Pike.

Attorneys said that the suit was filed a day after the accident in order that service could be obtained more easily on Bernard Goldstone, defendant, before his return to his home in Shreveport, La.

Latest Complains.

The latest complaints, filed before Justice of the Peace Faulkner Thursday, charged Barker and Huffman with the robbery of Clarence Lewis, filling station operator, $11 on Dec. 15; Charles Gossett, filling station operator, $10 on Dec. 15; U. M. Lee, filling station operator, $25 on Dec. 16; T. J. Hodnett, Totem store operator, $13 on Dec. 16.

Huffman was charged with the robbery of John S. Moffett, filling station operator, of $10 on Dec. 16, a charge which previously had been filed against Barker.

Both were charged with theft of an automobile from Joe M. Reynolds, 1605 Sunset Terrace, on Dec. 16. It allegedly was this car which Huffman drove in the chase Tuesday morning.

The indictments charging robbery and one charging kidnaping were returned against Eggleston and Huffman last week after Eggleston was arrested in a North Side movie theater.

Life Terms Possible.

Facing the possibility of life terms in the penitentiary, the three youths said that the state reformatory at Gatesville is a breeding place for crime. Association with "warped older boys" sends many youths away from the place with the conviction that crime is their only career, the three said.

Eggles[illegible] went to the reformatory f[illegible]urglary, committed because he "needed money." He went back four years later for the same offense. Huffman was committed to the institution for taking an automobile because "I wanted to get to my aunt's house and didn't have any money."

Barker grinned as he explained that my girl lived in the country and I didn't have a car. I took one.

TRUCKMEN ARE COUNSELED TO JOIN CODE

By International News Service.

AUSTIN, Dec. 27.—Warned that unless they moved immediately to regulate their own industry the Interstate Commerce Commission will chew you up and spit you on the nearest railroad track," truck operators and members of the Texas Motor Transportation Association were urged by F. G. Dorsey, organization president, to enlist "without reservation" under the New Deal and trucking code.

The president's address opened the association's first three-day convention at which leaders hope to work out constructive legislative plans for recommendation to the next regular session. The three-day program includes an address by Senator J. W. E. H. Beck this afternoon and by transportation code authorities here from Washington.

Senator Beck, chairman of the Senate's crime investigating committee, indicated he would reveal the result of the committee's probe into charges that exorbitant fees were collected for minor traffic offenses by truck drivers.

Although both Governor-elect Allred and Attorney General-elect McCraw were listed on the first day's program, Allred was reported ill at Wichita Falls and McCraw's plane was held at Dallas because of weather conditions. He is expected to appear Friday.

Describing the NRA as a "code of ethics," President Dorsey predicted it would enable the legitimate truckmen to eliminate the "chiseler" from the industry and bring about fair wages for labor and a fair profit for industry.

General March at 70 Talks of War

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP).—Gen. Peyton C. March, tall and vigorous, chief of staff during the World War, Thursday celebrated his seventieth birthday, impatient with pacifistic talk.

In his office in the War Department the retired general received high army officials and told reporters it was only a matter of common sense" to build the American army to full national defense strength.

"The situation in Europe," he said, "is so bad that anything can happen at any time. The Saar at present is a tinder box."

On the other hand, March said, there is no cause for alarm in the Far East.

JOBLESS ARE U. S. DANGER, RICHBERG WARNS

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28 (AP).—Donald Richberg said Friday that America faces "internal dissension" unless the unemployed millions are given work.

Voicing a hope that business will "do its part," the president's recovery chief said there are "a large number of business men" who "now favor the dole because it will cost them less than to give men work."

Criticizing this view as "very short-sighted," he said:

"Perhaps it might be cheaper even in a money sense to find work for these idle hands to do than to support the armies necessary to hold them back if once these millions of pleading fingers were turned into threatening claws.

"It isn't always sound business judgment," Richberg said, "to pay the cheapest price for a thing. And it is very often very bad political judgment to buy the cheapest protection of national security.

"We may have some reasonable fears of a foreign foe. But the gravest dangers that threaten America are those of internal dissension."

Richberg spoke at a luncheon opening the Civic Exposition.

He carried to the exposition President Roosevelt's felicitations:

"With due recognition of its value, the President of the United States has directed me to express his appreciation of the vision which has inspired this project, and the characteristic vigor with which the citizens of Cleveland and Ohio have carried it forward."

As one means of reducing the number of unemployed, Richberg suggested the need for better housing and the replacement of obsolete machinery and equipment.

Richberg asserted he was "loathe to agree" with any contenton that private enterprise couldn't put the unemployed to work.

If private enterprise failed to take over the job, however, he continued, "the Government would have to."

Clarence Darrow Views This World With Gloomy Eye

CHICAGO, Dec. 28 (AP).—Clarence Darrow passed gloomy judgment on this world Thursday, concluding with this Darrowism:

"The conditions of today will happen again and again . . . the great mass was born poor and destitute and will go through the world poor and destitute."

He had been asked to tell the National Commercial Teachers' Federation "what's the matter with the world," but he said it would be simpler to say "what isn't the matter."

The noted lawyer offered these criticisms:

"The trouble is that the few who own the world are not interested in changing it.

"Nothing is organized for the benefit of mankind, never has been and it looks now as if it never will.

"It is no indication of brains to have money. If you think it is, look at those who have it.

"All this ballyhoo that prosperity has returned means nothing."

Lynchings in 1934 13 Under 1933 Toll

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Dec. 28 (AP).—Records of Tuskegee Institute Friday showed there were 15 lynchings in the Nation during 1934—all negroes—a decline of 13 from the 28 lynchings recorded for 1933.

The report, released by Dr. R. R. Moton, president of Tuskegee Institute, showed that "eight of the persons lynched were in the hands of the law—three were taken from jails and five from officers of the law outside of jails."

"There were 51 instances in which officers of the law prevented lynchings," Moton's report stated, and seven of these were in Northern and Western States and 44 in Southern States. In 46 of the instances the prisoners were removed or the guards augmented or other precautions taken. A total of 74 persons, 14 white men, 57 negro men and three negro women, were thus saved from death at the hands of mobs."

A Coolidge Ambition

A LITERARY MAN, if he had the entree required for capable presentation of the subject, might make a fortune writing about the secret ambitions of successful men. Many an industrial leader carries locked in his breast the wish that he had became a prospector or a musician; many a general would be a locomotive engineer or a polar explorer if he had followed the dictates of his heart.

But surprising for several reasons is the secret ambition recently attributed to the late President Coolidge. Arthur Hopkins, theatrical producer, says that Mr. Coolidge always wanted to be an actor. Mr. Hopkins says the secret ambition of the President was revealed to him and John Barrymore on an occasion some years ago when the two were guests at a White House luncheon. And Mr. Coolidge, he says, not only wanted to be an actor, but was convinced that he would have been a good one.

Perhaps, at long last, we have the explanation of the somewhat dour New Englander's apparent penchant for dressing up in cowboy costume, complete with hat, chaps and red bandana, or in Indian regalia.

Encephalitis Vaccine Makes Mice Immune

Progress Against Cruel Sleeping Disease Reported to American Association.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27 (AP).—The first step in making a vaccine against encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today.

To date medicine has absolutely no known defense against catching this disease, one of the cruelest of human ills.

The encephalitis experiments were reported by Maurice Brodie, M. D., of the New York City Health Department, during a description of the new infantile paralysis vaccine.

Last year's St. Louis sleeping sickness outbreak furnished the virus, the cause of the disease, from human beings, which the New Yorkers used for their vaccine experiments.

Mice infected with this human virus developed sleeping sickness.

Their brains, containing the virus, were treated with minute amounts of formalin which killed the virus. This virus was then used as a vaccine on 100 healthy mice.

It immunized them all against encephalitis. Most important from the medical point of view, the new vaccine had no apparent ill effects on the mice.

The next steps are further animal experiments to make reasonably sure it may not harm human beings. Then the volunteers, who try it on their own bodies.

Encephalitis, like infantile paralysis, attacks the brain and has numerous "strains" of virus, each working a little differently. A vaccine to be useful must protect against them all.

Indications that a new infantile paralysis vaccine does just this were shown in Dr. Brodie's report. It has produced immunity already against several types of infantile paralysis virus. It must be tried against many more, Dr. Brodie said, before medicine can be sure of its universal protective power.

Already one such test has started, at Bakersfield, Cal., where he said 400 to 500 children have received the New York vaccine. It is sent to Bakersfield in thermos bottles, which keep it at freezing temperature, for freshness.

In New York 35 children have received the vaccine and their blood serum shows in all cases signs of high immunity. Four vaccinated children showed more immunity than three children convalescent from mild attacks of infantile paralysis. In animal tests the vaccine seemed a little better than the disease itself for conferring immunity.

This paralysis vaccine is made from spinal cords instead of brains, but is treated with formalin like the new sleeping sickness vaccine.

Equally effective and possibly a little faster working is infantile paralysis vaccine described at the same meeting by John A. Kolmer, M. D., of Temple University.

The vital difference in the two vaccines is that the Philadelphia virus is living while the New York virus is dead. This offers medicine a two-edged weapon for meeting infantile paralysis attacks.

The Philadelphia vaccine is also made from spinal cords, but treated with sodium ricinoleate, which weakens the virus to the point where they seem to do no harm. It has worked successfully on 25 children. Dr. Kolmer said it is ready for combatting epidemics.

200 Unemployed Make Relief Plea

M'ALESTER, Okla., Dec. 27 (AP). More demands for relief were voiced by Pittsburg County's unemployed here today.

A crowd of about 200 gathered at the courthouse and selected Billy Brown of McAlester as chairman.

Resolutions were adopted asking that Mayor J. C. Tippett replace W. R. Shelton of Muskogee as county relief supervisor, objecting that Shelton was not a local man, and asking that the unemployed be given five days' work a week at 40 cents an hour for six or eight hours a day.

The throng was orderly.

A similar group spent the night at the courthouse a week ago, dispersing only after merchants supplied 330 with groceries, upon the promise of Governor-elect Marland that he would ask the next Legislature to reimburse them.

MANY 1934 BU IN ECLIPSE A

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—This year of finance and business just closing has been marked more by the eclipse of important leaders rather than the rise of new ones, as has been the case in other years of the depression.

There have, though, been several who have shouldered their way above the crowd and many of those who came to the top in the preceding years have held their own, which probably should be considered as a gain in these uncertain times of governmental meddling and experimentation.

As was the case last year, Washington personalities have dominated the stage, entering fields never before open to politicians and governmental bureaucrats. There also has been much shifting about in Washington, with many of last year's key men forgotten men today.

The year's No. 1 eclipse has been Gen. Hugh L. Johnson, who stormed across the business stage for a year as dictator of the NRA and the keeper of its "Blue Eagle." He retired from the NRA and his NRA also has slipped into the background.

The following ex-New Dealers also have gone into eclipse:

Lewis W. Douglas, Arizonan whom the President took out of Congress to run the budget. A leader of the so-called conservative group within the Administration, he resigned and became a junior executive in an agricultural chemical concern.

Prof. O. M. W. Sprague, one-time advisor to the Bank of England and an internationalist, who has dropped far out of sight.

Prof. Irving Fisher, scholarly Yale man, who had a commodity dollar scheme.

In the world of business and finance, the following have either slipped off or been shaken some on their pedestals, or voluntarily taken a back seat:

Ralph C. Holmes, who lost a proxy fight for control of the Texas Corporation, after resigning as board chairman.

Jesse Livermore, the Wall Street plunger, who went into bankruptcy.

Charles S. McCain, who retired as board chairman of the Chase National Bank to head the board of the United Light and Power Company.

Floyd Leslie Carlisle, utilities magnate, who has been unable to effect a truce with the National Government on its power program and who also has run into difficulties in home ground—New York City, with the municipal authorities threatening to put in an electric plant. Up to now he has been rated as the No. 1 man in power, succeeding to the throne once held by Samuel Insull.

Mortimer N. Buckner, who stepped out of the chief executive post of the Clearing House Association. His regime covered the Harriman Bank case—the first time in history of the clearing house a member bank was allowed to go to the wall.

E. L. Cord, the automobile millionaire, who after a sensational expansion into the aviation and ship- fields, has gone abroad to for a time.

Declares Leisure Should Be Used to Make U.S. Literate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP).—The new leisure arising from shorter hours should be used, says a federal education expert, to "make America literate."

Urging that every schoolhouse in America be thrown open for adult classes, Dr. L. R. Alderman, who specializes in education for grownups, said:

"We can make America literate in any one year we want to do it. The man of 70 learns as fast as the boy of 10."

No new machinery is needed, he said, to enable the adult who has won extra hours by a shorter work day, or an extra day through a five-day week, to enrich his life by study.

"All we have to do is to use the machinery we have, the schoolhouses, churches, libraries, playgrounds, gymnasiums, clubs for hobbies and fads. Nor do we need to import talent into any locality. Plenty of unused talent is there."

ARRANGEMENTS FOR CLOSING HOME PROCEED

Arrangements went forward Friday for the closing of Beracah Home Monday, after Thursday's reunion attended by about 40 women, some of whom as unwed mothers were cared for by the institution.

Lack of finances is causing the home to close. Rev. J. T. Upchurch, its founder and manager for 30 years, and others connected with it are hopeful that early next year some plan of refinancing can be found to reopen.

Two religious denominations have bid for the property at Arlington. One would operate the institution as it has been operated. The other would convert it into an orphanage. A committee representing the business board of the home will meet Jan. 15 to consider the future of the organization.

England's Unemployment Insurance.

FOR an average cost of 60 cents a week out of adult wages, England is extending a form of unemployment insurance to 17,000,000 employes representing family connections totaling 34,000,000 persons. Of that weekly payment, 20 cents comes from the pay envelope of the employe, 20 cents from the employer and 20 cents from the government. The insurance is available to those who have contributed regularly for 30 weeks and, upon losing their positions, the insured are given $4.25 a week for men over 21, $3.75 for women in the same classification. The payments graduate down to the boys of 16 who are allowed $1.50 a week and girls of like age who draw a remuneration of $1.25 a week. In the case of juveniles, the family is allowed an additional 50 cents a week for the care of such dependent. The insurance is effective for a term of six months—which may be extended another six months in the cases of those who keep their payments in force and who have not drawn any insurance for a period of five years previous to the present unemployment.

With some additional features of minor nature, that is the working plan of the English unemployment insurance provision. It succeeds a contributory insurance fund which, in 14 years, ran into a deficit of $500,000,000. During that time the government was required to furnish dole to 4,000,000 persons outside the scope of the insurance requirements. The new plan becomes effective Jan. 1 and is said to meet with the approval of the employes, the employers and the government officials who have been striving valiantly with the problem since the Armistice and the return of the veterans. The plan is not operative when the earning capacity exceeds $25 a week.

The information is interesting in the light of the near approach of the Seventy-fourth Congress' certain activities in the various forms of unemployment and old age insurance already formulated and ready to be introduced as bills. England has learned from experience. It yielded to the dole but did so frankly as a matter of expediency, claiming that the dole system is less expensive to distribute and less cumbersome to administer. It is to be noted that the new form of insurance disregards those eligible to the dole and those others who are earners of wages beyond the $25 a week figure.

Three groups are included in the English plan. One is unemployment insurance. The other is unemployment assistance. The third is the dole. The latter corresponds to relief for the unemployables in this country. The insurance plan is predicated on joint contribution of employer and employe and carries a short time limit. The proposition is put squarely

However, she learned that it would take some time to enter the church in Quebec Province. So she said tonight she virtually had decided to defer her plans until after the first of the year, when she returns to her own country.

The honeymooners will go to Quebec tomorrow for the Winter sports, proceeding to a cottage in the Catskills, where they expect to spend New Year's Eve.

There, Mrs. Meador intimated, she will begin her church instruction.

"To be closer to my husband I am willing to change my religion," she said.

The couple intend to make their home at Meador's San Saba, Texas, ranch.

Consent to Estate Offer of $7,000,000

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Dec. 27 (AP).—A representative of Baby Christopher Smith Reynolds today declared his willingness to be content with a $7,000,000 share of his father's $25,000,000 tobacco fortune.

R. C. Vaughn, appointed "next friend" in the litigation over the late Smith Reynolds' millions for the infant son of Libby Holman, former Broadway blues singer and Reynolds' second wife, advised Forsyth Superior Court that he was agreeable to the distribution proposed by Reynolds' brother and sisters.

R. J. Reynolds Jr., the brother, and Mrs. Charles Babcock and Mrs. Henry W. Bagley, the sisters, proposed a distribution of $750,000 to Miss Holman, 37½ per cent of the remainder to Anne Cannon Reynolds II, Reynolds' daughter by his first marriage, a similar amount to themselves and the residue to Christopher.

Mrs. Anne Cannon Reynolds Smith, daughter of a wealthy textile manufacturing family and Reynolds' first wife, has filed opposition to the proposal and paved the way to claim the entire fortune for her 4-year-old daughter by contending the divorce she secured in Reno, Nev., from Reynolds was illegal.

COLLEGES KEEPING OUT STUDENTS, IS CHARGE

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Complicated and widespread efforts to keep students out of college, instead of bringing in as many as possible, are being made by many of the privately endowed colleges, Dr. Robert L. Kelly, executive secretary of the association of American Colleges, disclosed tonight.

Dr. Kelly asserted that colleges are making a careful selection of students and are giving "12 or 15 kinds of tests" to weed out those not worth four years of higher education.

Many colleges, Dr. Kelly said, are now requiring certificates from individuals—often their own alumni—as to the capacity of a student. Oberlin, which he described as "easily one of the best colleges in America," does this.

Dr. Kelly pointed out colleges, such as Princeton, Vassar and Wells College at Aurora, N. Y., only stu[illegible]

A Larger CCC.

THE proposal to increase the Civilian Conservation Corps to 600,000 will be generally welcomed. The idea of tripling the subdivision covering soil erosion will be welcomed by the areas which are the sufferers from dust storms.

An organization of 600,000 young Americans, ages about half way between the end of Boy Scout days and the arrival of citizenship, is a power unit of size and importance viewed from any angle. The training is valuable in two directions—the young men are given a wholesome taste of discipline and they are taught to work with their hands on constructive projects of soil, timber and water. If they were not so engaged they would be 600,000 idle minds for rent cheap as Devil's workshops—borrowing the thought from an ancient copy book maxim. There are easily more than 600,000 young men who are not making so good use of their time and mental capacities as are the members of the CCC.

More than a half million well seasoned by outdoor life and exercise are the ingredients of a national asset that should be worth many times the cost either by return of nearly the old standard of prosperity or an eruption of political Europe. There is no good in averting our gaze from that feature of the CCC benefits. As a matter of fact, the citizenship should cease the senseless practice of refusing to look steadily at any phase of the modern conditions. We practiced that habit for many years in our politics and in our embrace of "rackets." Because we refused to admit that which we saw and face facts that were not beautifully panoplied with our warped idealisms we came a cropper with the entire aggregation. Trying to climb out by the same fallacy recipes which produced our fall is our present silliness of the first importance. War in Europe and in the Far East is more likely than not. One in either locality would demand preparedness if we succeeded in maintaining neutrality or if we did not.

In either event the 600,000 CCC members will never be in the way of the rest of us. They are nearly—if not quite—the best investment made by the New Deal.

Extra Sessions.

IT HAS been evident for weeks that the regular session would be extended or an extra session called shortly following adjournment of the Forty-fourth Legislature. The regular schedule of measures became a jumble early in the deliberative stage of proceedings. Time has been wasted with at least the usual prodigality and controversies have been injected into subjects which could have been disposed of readily had the members concentrated on them. The subjects requiring action are now in the last week of the tentative term of the Legislature and the comparatively few which will squeeze through the mass will have been traded and "log-rolled" into completion."

It would be so easy for the Forty-fourth to get in as much "over-time" as did the Forty-third. There are numerous subjects which could justify the call for an extra session—admitting that the regular session had labored and deliberated with Herculean effort to clean its own Augean bill hopper—which will probably be admitted, if at all, only for the sake of argument. Prohibition and race track repeal are two. The Governor so easily could veto the present Centennial bill and add that to the two for justification for an extra session. If the three could be worked out in 30 days the voters of Texas would register surprise for a public service miracle. It more nearly will require 30 days for each.

The regular session will not be extended—we may rather take that for granted. There should be a few days intervening. The 181 members should go home and then come back. These things must be done in ritualistic fashion. Observation of the verities owes that much to the cost per mile of legislative travel to and fro. We shall be having extra sessions. The Forty-fourth has as much right as the Forty-third, hasn't it?

WE NEVER expected to live to see the day when the sign AAA would be declared the lowest value trade mark of them all. If things keep on as they are stuff marked with three stars will lose its prestige.

Dallas 48, Tarrant 27.

TO DATE, THE 1935 auto traffic death toll of Dallas County is 48. That of Tarrant is 27. The year was 118 days old at the time of the two latest additions to the casualty figures, April 28. The death rates of two of the 3,062 counties of the 48 States is 75 for 118 days or one for each scant 38 hours. If the ratio were maintained throughout the United States the total for the Nation would now be 122,825. Kept up until Dec. 31, we could experience all of the casualties and none of the expense of participation in the threatened World War No. 2. Our total for the year would be 368,954—if the rest of the Nation were keeping step with Dallas and Tarrant Counties to the funeral march of the traffic lanes.

We wish Dallas would please not charge us with unhappy comparison of totals. We are too engaged with our own 27 to gloat over Dallas' 48. It all too easily might be the other way round at the end of the next 118 days. The facts and figures merely fall in with the realization that two counties given largely to metropolitanism in cities and comfort and culture in the outlying portions are staging a massacre of human beings nearly parallel to the records of the ancient Aztecs in the latter's attempts to appease their gods by human sacrifice. In our cases, however, the gods are those of recklessness, carelessness, drunkenness and public indifference We set a sacrificial offering at the rate of two for every three days for the present year. If the Aztecs show a higher rate their history is welcome to all the pride obtainable.

What is that so peculiar to Dallas and Fort Worth which supplies the country-at-large with such a horrific model? The percentage is not even approximately approached by the average of the other 3,060 counties. It must be that a few other counties have higher totals to their discredits, but there must be at least 3,000 which are very much lower. Is it individuality, propinquity, rivalry or something to do with astrology?

Whatever it is it should be stopped by an outraged public. Reports are that a tentative sort of activity is taking place in the Legislature calculated to provide a statute saying "Naughty! Naughty!" to those who drive so carelessly, recklessly or drunkenly that they are killing persons—innocent persons with every right to live—at the rate of one for each night and two days of 1935 to date. Advance notices indicate that the legislators are extremely reluctant and apologetic about even that suggestion of criticism. It might even be that the bill fails to emerge from the jumble of near-adjournment. Charge the legislators with being accessories before or after the fact? Oh, no, no, no! They are all intensely preoccupied persons bowed down with the weight of deliberation on ponderous subjects. Human life is much too cheap to be forced into such select company.

Traffic Toll Facts.

FROM the "traffic safety number" of the Marylander, house journal of the Maryland Casualty Company, comes these striking facts relating to the traffic accident toll:

One person is killed by an automobile every 15 minutes and one person is injured every 37 seconds.

The cost of automobile accidents in the United States is about twice our fire loss and about equal to the entire cost of our public school system.

About 85 per cent of all automobile accidents happen in clear weather.

Excessive speed ranks as the greatest single cause of accidents, accounting for about 25 per cent of accidents. But three out of four accidents are still due to causes other than speed.

The most dangerous driving age is from 20 to 24, this group figuring in double the average number of accidents for all other ages.

The rate of death per accident in the country is three times as great as in the city, due chiefly to speed.

Nearly half of all automobiles have tires rated no better than "poor to fair."

Nearly one-half of all automobile victims are pedestrians.

The most accidents happen daily from 5 to 6 p. m., but more persons are killed between 7 and 8 p. m.

More accidents happen on Saturday than any other day, but the most persons are killed on Sunday.

In the last 10 years 300,000 persons have been killed by automobiles in the United States, six times the number of American soldiers killed in action during the World War.

NEW HOSPITAL PLAN FLAYED BY THOMPSON

City-County Board Chairman Predicts 'Mutiny' Among Physicians

HITS COUNCIL ORDER

Favors Enlargement of the Present Building; 'Good Enough for People'

Dr. W. R. Thompson, chairman of City-County Hospital board, today turned on his fellow city councilmen and flayed them for forcing on the hospital board plans for a new $600,000 charity institution.

He predicted "open mutiny" among the medical profession, which donate services to the present hospital, if their work is increased.

"A new hospital building will increase the demand for physicians' services enormously," he said.

Favors Extension

"The present hospital is good enough for the people who go there. I am in favor of enlarging it, but not abandoning it," he added.

The doctor, who strenuously opposed plans laid before City Council yesterday by Elmer G. Withers, architect, said Mr. Withers was rushing things too much.

"You can read their motives between the lines," he said.

Council passed the plans on to the hospital board, with the recommendation that they be studied and adopted, if suitable. Mr. Withers explained that no obligation was attached to drawing the plans if they were not used.

"I don't proposed to be forced into this thing," Dr. Thompson went on.

Board Members Agree

"The city and county couldn't support a large new hospital, even if it should be built with a federal grant.

"The present hospital does not meet legitimate needs — and no hospital could be built which would meet the full needs of charity cases. One with five times the capacity would be crowded."

Dr. Thompson said most of the board members agreed with him and did not favor a new building. He indicated that the board will choose to let the plans lay without taking action until it becomes known what money will be available for new hospital construction or repair.

B. C. Forbes has long been recognized as one of the outstanding commentators of the day upon topics of business, finance and economics and his daily articles are published by The Star-Telegram as a news feature for that reason. The views expressed, however, are those of Mr. Forbes and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial opinion or policy of this newspaper.—Editor's note.

BY B. C. FORBES.

We hear talk of a possible third party in the coming presidential campaign.

An opposition party has developed at Washington this week, namely, the Nation's business men.

It has become clear at their convention that they are drawn up squarely in opposition to practically every major legislative measure urged upon Congress by President Roosevelt for action at this session. Even on social security proposals, business men, though favoring action, urge that it be held over until further investigation and reflection can be conducted.

Whereas there was a time, months and months ago, when the President declared he was anxious to cooperate with men of affairs in seeking a return to prosperity, he recently has adopted a different tone and emphasized it in his latest radio talk.

For months business men have complained that President Roosevelt had entirely abandoned his expressed desire to work hand-in-hand with them to bring about better times. Then came his "fireside talk" in which he had much to say about the spending of additional billions of taxpayers' money to provide "made" work, but had little to say about co-operating with employers to furnish honest-to-goodness jobs carrying no flavor of charity.

Whereas the employing classes have been largely silent heretofore, they have resolved that the time has come to assert their rights, to express their opinions about politicians almost as frankly as the politicians have expressed opinions about them.

Even President Roosevelt, foremost critic of business, may not find himself longer immune, notwithstanding his exalted office.

So it might be said that battle lines for the 1936 presidential campaign are now being definitely formed.

People buy where they find the best values.

J. S. ROSS, ATTORNEY OF OKLAHOMA CITY, DIES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 12 (AP).—J. S. Ross, 56, Oklahoma City attorney for 25 years, died at his home Wednesday after a brief illness.

He was a brother of the late William B. Ross, Governor of Wyoming, whose widow, Nellie Tayloe Ross, succeeded him.

NUT BEHIND THE WHEEL

SCIENCE SERVICE says tomorrow's motor car will be faster, more streamlined, more powerful, more comfortable, with larger generators, and with improved brakes.

The latter item is the important one, with 38 persons already killed in Tarrant County this year. From the standpoint of public safety we still need an improvement the manufacturers cannot provide. That is the elimination of the nut behind the wheel, responsible for most deaths and injuries.

The Legislature will have to supply that, and from previous sad experience, there is little hope it will set up any machinery for nut-elimination.

POLITICS IN CRIME

DIRECTOR HOOVER of the Justice Department's division of investigation told the Federal Crime Conference that law enforcement officers should get their jobs on merit, and not be "forced to seek office from some political wardheeler."

"In too many communities, the requisites are an ability to vote for the right man, and the pandering instinct necessary to hold a position which can be plucked away . . . upon the displeasure of a political boss."

"Time after time" officers see criminals "walk free . . . because that criminal knows some other equally criminal persons who control enough votes to swing an election. . . . No greater forward step could be taken than . . . utter divorcement of politics from the apprehension, the punishment and detention of criminals."

The Wickersham Commission, a few years ago, reported that the average police chief in large cities holds office two and a half years, and that 75 per cent of American policemen "are not mentally endowed" to perform their duties.

Last month, former Police Commissioner Roche of Buffalo said:-

"I've heard a good deal of talk about the causes of crime. First, it was the war; then it was prohibition, and lately it's poverty. It's not these things. Politics is the foundation of all crime. There are too many corrupt politicians."

REGULATION OF WAR PROFITS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S announced effort to take the profits out of war obviously is one of his most important undertakings since entering the White House. And it is one of the most difficult. It is not a problem that can be solved by the report of his new committee or by one simple piece of congressional legislation.

America operates under a capitalist system. Private profit is the basis of the capitalist system. Profit cannot be taken out of war without socializing the entire economic life of the nation — industry, commerce, agriculture—and putting all of the employed population, including capitalists, on a soldier's wage.

That does not seem to be the President's aim. Altho he uses the phrase take - the - profits-out-of-war, he probably means simply that excessive war profits shall be regulated as part of a larger general plan for more efficient industrial mobilization of the nation for war.

It is unfortunate that the White House announcement yesterday produced such a hostile reaction on Capitol Hill. Several Senators interpreted it as a two-fold move to prevent basic munitions legislation from growing out of the Senate investigation and to recapture political control of the situation from the Republican-Progressive bloc.

Certainly there is glory enough for all in this big job. The best results can be accomplished only thru the maximum efforts and cooperation of both the administration and the Republican Borah-Nye-Vandenberg group which initiated the current investigation.

The Senators need not fear that their valuable inquiry will be sidetracked. The President yesterday gave them deserved credit for making the munitions racket a public issue. The Senate ordered its committee not only to investigate but to recommend legislation, and this should be and will be done.

Probably most of the suspicion in Congress arose from the President's failure to include any member of Congress on his special committee to handle a subject already under congressional consideration, and to his choice of Mr. Baruch and General Johnson as the active members of his committee. General Johnson is very unpopular in Congress.

On the basis of past performance, we are much more confident of the President's ability to convince Congress of his sincerity and leadership in this as in other matters, than we are of the President's ability to teach General Johnson to work either with him or with anyone else.

We are not among those who discount or forget the General's genius and unselfish service in starting NRA in high gear. But in the end he almost wrecked NRA and the administration because he had to be a dictator or nothing. Maybe he will do better this time.

At any rate, all will agree that this vastly important new undertaking requires the utmost cooperation between the administration and Congress, which alone can enact the law.

FULL ARMS FOR FRANCE URGED

PARIS, Dec. 14 (AP).—The Chamber of Deputies today was urged to provide funds to arm France's troops immediately "on full fighting basis."

"One does not face machines with bare breasts," Deputy Marc Rucard said, as he presented the report of the chamber's army committee, recommending an emergency appropriation of 800,000,000 francs (about $52,800,000) for the army.

The report was prepared after the committee heard France's military leaders assert Germany was heavily rearming with the most modern weapons.

Particularly recommended was the development of armored cars and perfected observation machines for the infantry, and apparatus for defense against gas, air and armored machine attacks.

Guy Todd Nam... Co-captain of Grid Rattlers

VERNON, Dec. 26.—Guy Todd, former Crowell High School athlete, has been named co-captain, with Frank Trussell of Belton, of the St. Mary's Rattlers football squad at San Antonio. Todd and Trussell will captain the Rattlers in 1935 when the San Antonians advance into "major collegiate football circles."

Todd proved one of the most valuable performers on the St. Mary's freshman team the past season. He was particularly outstanding in the Westmoreland, Lamar and Sabinal all-star games. Todd, a halfback, ran 41 yards for the Rattlers' lone score against Sabinal.

Todd, weighing 168 pounds, is a crack ball carrier and passer, and is also outstanding as a blocker and defensive performer. He entered Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, in 1931, and was making an impressive showing on the freshman team when an appedicitis operation caused his withdrawal from the institution. He did not re-enter college until he enrolled in St. Mary's in September.

At Crowell Todd set a scoring record of 181 points for a single season, and the mark was not surpassed until Dick Todd, his younger brother, ran through the opposition for 318 points this season. Dick came within a point of tying the record in 1933, however.

Guy Todd received 14 letters while at Crowell High School, four each in football, basket ball and track, and two in baseball until the sport was discontinued. He was twice voted the most valuable football player and twice voted the school's most outstanding athlete.

Another brother, John, who graduated in 1932, received 10 Crowell High letters, four each in football and basket ball and two in track. This trio's (Guy, Dick and John) only "brother act" was in the basket ball and track seasons of 1931, Dick having reached high school at midterm before Guy's graduation.

Another former Crowell player, Bob Oswalt, also made an impressive record as a backfielder at St. Mary's the past season.

Motorist to Go Before Grand Jury

Charles M. Kyser, Fort Worth motorist charged with negligent homicide in connection with the automobile death of an 8-year-old girl in Dallas Tuesday, was to go before the Dallas grand jury Wednesday.

His father, W. R. Kyser, employe of the Federal Reserve Bank, was concerned about his son because of shock resulting from the accident. The younger man was in a train accident seven years ago which left him in a highly nervous condition, his father said.

The victim of Tuesday's tragedy was Helen Isabel Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Richardson of Dallas. She was injured fatally when she was struck by Kyser's automobile. In trying to avoid the accident, he careened into another car. Kyser became hysterical.

He made $750 bond.

E. E. Cooper, formerly with the Dallas Athletic Club health department, has been named supervisor of the new section.

Facilities include an ultra-violet ray lamp with a two-cot radiance capacity; an infra-red ray lamp; a massage table; a heat bath, and two rest cots. A "minute minder" clock rings loudly at the expiration of a time set for exposure beneath the ray lamps.

Vegetable Law Action Ordered

The City Council instructed Wednesday that the city's vegetable ordinance be strictly enforced, but voted to permit the $100 license fee imposed by the measure to be paid in four equal monthly installments.

The license fee is required of wholesale produce dealers and truckers. The measure was attacked by a group of truckers and was defended by wholesale dealers.

Councilman Monnig, who demanded repeal of the measure on the ground it was designed for protection of large wholesale dealers, declined to vote on the motion to have it strictly enforced.

The council granted the request of the Ninth Ward Civic League for installation of a traffic signal light at East Belknap and Elm Streets.

Award of a contract for the outside audit of the city's books for the current fiscal year was referred to the council's purchasing committee.

City Manager Fairtrace was instructed to make a study of traffic conditions at city schools to determine whether hazards to school children can be reduced.

Meeting to Study Birth Control Clinic

Plans will be discussed this morning at the Hotel Texas concerning establishment here of a clinic for the dissemination of birth control information. Mrs. Margaret Sanger, who spoke on the subject at a Town Hall meeting Wednesday, will arrive from Dallas about 10:30 o'clock.

The meeting this morning will be at 11 o'clock instead of at 10 o'clock, and not at the Blackstone Hotel as previously announced, Mrs. Alma Turner Phelps, who called the meeting, said last night.

Mrs. Phelps also said that representatives of various organizations in Fort Worth plan to be at the meeting. She expects about 100 men and women to attend the discussion.

Dr. Suggs Dies at Daughter's Home

News of the death of Dr. L. A. Suggs, past president of the Tarrant County Medical Association and honorary member of the state association, was received by friends here Wednesday. Dr. Suggs died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. W. V. Monger, Park Place, Ore.

Another daughter, Mrs. Catherine Suggs Shive of Manhattan Beach, Cal., arrived here today. The body probably will be received here Saturday by Harveson & Cole Mortuary.

Dr. Suggs was born in Greenhill, Texas, and was educated at Vanderbilt University. After leaving here about two years ago, he practiced at San Angelo. He moved from there to Manhattan Beach and then to Park Place.

The Administration's exact stand on the $2,200,000,000 soldiers' bonus —considered certain to come swiftly to the fore in Congress—is awaited eagerly. There has been much talk of a compromise—under which only needy veterans would be paid.

Not Talking "Deals."

But advocates of full payment are not talking "deals." Back from a 25,000-mile swing around the country, James E. Van Zandt, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, expressed confidence Wednesday that "President Roosevelt will approve a bill for full and immediate payment" but he added: "Of course, if the President should veto the bill, we are assured of far more than a two-thirds majority in both House and Senate to enact the measure without his signature."

The President's message is understood to deal largely with unemployment and social security. A federal-state unemployment insurance plan will be recommended.

Some persons close to the White House believed the President might suggest further study of old age pensions before a decision is reached. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, expressed the belief in Little Rock Tuesday night that Congress would give speedy consideration to both such pensions and health insurance.

Expansion Measures.

The President's ideas on these and other problems are expected to be laid before a meeting of Cabinet officials and other high advisors Thursday.

Among the top problems this new Congress also must tackle are the St. Lawrence seaway treaty, the future of NRA and of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Emergency Relief Administration, all of which expire within six months unless renewed.

Some legislators are coming to Congress intent on pressing for a redistribution of wealth through higher income taxes and other measures.

Among the measures involving expansion of the currency are the proposals of Representative Patman to pay the bonus in new money and the Frazier-Lemke bill providing a maximum of $3,000,000,000 expansion to refinance the mortgages of hard-pressed farmers.

Schooling in Marriage of Small Worth

We Can Educate the Head Then Heart Runs Away Poorest of Choices---Dix.

Many of our colleges and schools are establishing courses in marriage for the purpose of fitting young people for the holy estate. It is a noble experiment, since getting married is the one most important act of our lives and the one which most vitally affects our happiness and prosperity. Compared to marriage, being born is just an accident and dying a mere incident. And so if boys and girls can be taught how to pick out their mates and to live with them in peace and harmony after they get them, it will be truly an education in the humanities.

DOROTHY DIX.

Far more valuable a knowledge of domesticity than book learning. Far more important for a man to be able to speak his wife's language than the dead tongues. Far more important for him to be able to construe his wife's moods than to be able to solve abstruse mathematical problems. And far, far more important for a wife to know the exact longitude and latitude of all her husband's little peculiarities than to have the geography of Europe at her fingertips.

lo-we... ard come... He has a ... eyes and a "wa... gets up and follo... hard life of the poor drunkard's, or the shift... wife.

Oh, it isn't because of norance that we pick out the wrong husbands and wives. It is because our ideals so seldom fire our fancies, and when it comes to a choice between the two we gratify our taste at the expense of our judgment. The trouble is that while we can educate our heads we can not educate our hearts, and not all the teaching in the world is ever going to teach love to be wise.

Equally discouraging is the prospect of teaching youngsters the amenities of domesticity and how to use finesse in dealing with their mates. Marriage is no new thing to them. Ever since their earliest consciousness its workings have been under their eyes. A home is no strange place of whose manners and customs they are ignorant. All of their lives they have lived in them and formed their own habits on their parents'.

They have assisted, as the French say, at their mothers' and fathers' quarrels; they have listened to their fault-finding; they have seen the lack of consideration and kindness with which they treated each other, but not once in a thousand times has this object lesson in how to

Un... stabilize empl... will, of course, accomplish much worth while. If it induces employers to stabilize production more, and thus their working forces, it will perhaps justify itself.

But we must recognize that stabilization in employment for some must inevitably mean stabilization in unemployment for others. If employers must lay aside funds for each permanent employe, they are likely to reduce the numbers of such employes to the rigid minimum. And the greater the degree of contribution to an insurance scheme required of employers, the stronger will be the pressure for the minimum permanent force of employes subject to stabilization.

Texas and Liquor.

TEXAS' peculiar liquor situation, satisfactory to nobody, is emphasized by the announcement of an impending "drive" of federal agents in North Texas. Uncle Sam's men are out to enforce the payment by liquor dealers of the $1,000 special federal license fee. In the southern part of the State this procedure was generally completed last Summer, and the territory "cleared up," insofar as federal enforcement was concerned, by payment of the fee by the many dealers. Now it is North Texas' turn, this territory having opened wide considerably later than did South Texas.

All in all, the Federal Government will collect a sizeable sum in Texas this year, and next, and so on, from the liquor business. In 44 out of the 48 States the state government also will collect considerable sums in dealers' licenses and in taxes on the liquor sold. The state treasury at Austin will get nothing, save for an occasional fine paid by a dealer in the rare instance of an arrest and later conviction by a Texas jury which itself is convinced of the folly and impracticability of prohibition. Moreover, in 44 States the sale of hard liquor is now under state regulation, being required to conform to control measures designed for social welfare, whereas in Texas the traffic, none the less real and perhaps as voluminous as in the legally "wet" States, is under no regulation and subject to no social control.

The legislature which submitted the question of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and also the question of legalizing within the State the sale of beer and light wines, may advance a defense for its failure to submit the whole question of state repeal, which would have made regulation possible. But that failure was plainly an error, and it is one which has had injurious results in the State. It enforced a delay of nearly two years in bringing the liquor traffic under regulation, and thereby prolonged and magnified the evils of the bootlegger and of illicit liquor. The error should be corrected by the Forty-fourth Legislature as speedily as may be. Submission of repeal of the state prohibition amendment is the first step, and the Legislature then should proceed immediately to set up in advance a regulatory code based on common sense and the special knowledge gained of the limits of prohibitory legislation during the farcical regime of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The loss to the state treasury from this delay in legalization under control has been considerable. The loss to the State in social damage from the continuation of an illicit traffic has been more important. Both these losses should be stopped as quickly and decisively as possible.

JEWISH GROUP TO PRESENT 8 ACTS ON STAGE

'Rainbow Revue' Scheduled For Showing Sunday At Little Theater

Eight acts, mingling the humorous with the dramatic, will be unfolded on the Little Theater stage Sunday night when the Jewish Art Theater presents "The Rainbow Revue." Sholom Tanin will direct.

The most ambitious probably will be "Hands and Bread," which brought 18 curtain calls when recently given at the Dallas Little Theater. The act outlines with musical selections the period of peace prior to the outbreak of the World War in 1914, the war, the entry of America, post-war prosperity and finally the crash.

Acts Are Listed.

Other acts include "Yuma-Yuma," with Chaya Rachel Andres, Sama Roback, Fannie Meyer, Selma Reisberg, Aron Statman, Mendel Somer, Nathan Raskin, I. L. Sulsky, Max Blasser and Mr. Tanin in the cast.

Bessie Meyer, Sarah Kleinman, and Loretta Curchak will portray "The Three Seamstresses."

Ed Tankus and Mr. Tanin have the only roles in the one-act play, "Schachne, der Soldat."

"The Tailors," a humorous folk song, will feature Mr. Tanin, Max Blasser, Nathan Raskin and Saul Golden.

"Simche mit der Yidina," another humorous number, is played with Ed Tankus as Simche and Sarah Kleinman portraying his wife.

Mr. Tanin has chosen a humorous sketch for closing, called "Six Brothers." The brothers will be played by I. L. Sulsky, Aron Statman, Ed Tankus, Mendel Somer and Mr. Tanin.

Mrs. May B. Brown will be accompanist for the revue, with the following orchestra: Joe Samuells, W. F. Waters, and David Montgomery.

Camp Girls' Secretary Has Good Record

Miss Ruth Teichmann, executive secretary of the Camp Fire Girls, who has been appointed to a similar position in Minneapolis, will leave an enviable record here.

She came to Fort Worth four years ago and found only 12 Camp Fire organizations. Now there are 40, with five more being organized.

Miss Teichmann is proud of the growth of the organization here, but her "big love" is the Camp Fire camp at Cordova Bend on the Brazos River near Acton, Texas, 37 miles from Fort Worth.

Four years ago the Camp Fire Girls had a two-acre tract of land on Lake Worth with a small camp house. As the organization grew, more room was needed, and last year a 90-acre tract was purchased at Cordova Bend.

The camp has a main lodge with 14 sleeping houses, all built of native stone. "I'll sure hate to leave Fort Worth and that lovely camp. It's one of the finest in the Southwest. We had water for swimming all during the drouth last Summer," Miss Teichmann said.

Miss Teichmann came here from Cleveland after spending a year and a half in field work. She twice has received national honors in recognition of her work here.

She was drafted into Camp Fire work from a planned musical career. A group of girls in Fargo-N. D., came to her one day and announced they had selected her as guardian for their Camp Fire group. She accepted and after spending five years as a volunteer leader, received a call to go to Cleveland as a Camp Fire executive.

She was teaching music at the Fargo Conservatory of Music when she accepted the position in Cleveland.

Several applications are being ...sidered for the position she leaves

Only Woman Can Master Nagging Art

BY HELEN ROWLAND.

Are men naggers?

Capt. Rhoda Milliken of the Women's Bureau of Metropolitan Police at Washington says they are. And she can prove it.

Helen Rowland

Still, I can't believe it! Nagging is a distinctly feminine art.

Men are critical, and love to tell a woman how to do things. Men are masters of the grouch. And no woman can be as unbearable as a man who has wrapped himself up in a cantankerous case of the grumps.

Men know how to sulk, and can steep the household in silent gloom until it seems like a funeral parlor. Or else they are argumentative, and only wait to see which side of a question a woman is on, so that they can take the other side, and start something. Oh yes, in his own way, a man can be just as insufferable and exasperating as a woman.

But nagging is different. Nagging is the art of repetition! Only a woman can go on and on repeating herself, until a man's brain reels and he feels like rushing out of the house and yelling for the police.

They used to torture the ancient martyrs by letting water drip on the victim's forehead, hour after hour, day after day, until he went insane. And similarly, the same wail or the same accusation can ... man's ear-drum, night after ... or morning after morning, ...drives him to drink, insanity ...er woman.

I have known women who went on telling a man the same thing for years. But I have never known a man, on whom nagging made the slightest impression. It is only when she stops talking and goes into the silence, that he begins to wonder if there may not have been something in her argument, after all.

Oh yes, nagging takes time, skill and patience. That's why it is a strictly feminine accomplishment. No man would waste his energy on it.

Probably Germany will treat future Feb. 3's as anniversaries of Der Tag which saw Der Faderland step back into its "place in the sun." Der Tag of July 28, 1914, might be said to be the beginning of an eclipse. It is not so easy to fix a date for the beginning of the disintegration of the Treaty of Versailles unless it be the date of its signing. The signatures were little more than blotted before readjustments began to be made. Now it is wholly defunct.

The Traffic Death Toll.

FOR the year 1935 in Fort Worth there is a record of one death in auto traffic for each 113 hours. The seventh victim, a man of 70, died Sunday. Another accident victim, a little boy, aged 5, is in desperate danger of becoming the eighth victim. Four other persons were injured seriously. The week-end brought disaster to six families and incalculable sorrow to the drivers of the death and injury dealing cars.

The rate is higher than that of 1934—yet there is no public uprising against the lack of system which is taking a greater-than-World War-toll of American lives. We lost more than a whole division of soldiers from the population-at-large of the United States last year. In Tarrant County we sent five victims a month to the slaughter—and we made a home industry of the killing process. They were killed on Fort Worth Streets and the county highways. To be sure—apparently—that we remain within our quota allotments, we gave the subject our personal attention. To date, the only reaction has been registered sorrow from two widely divergent inspirational sources. We haven't done a thing about a remedy.

The Legislature is dreadfully concerned about an appointment of a woman to a vacant judgeship. It hasn't the time to reduce the auto death rate. Repeal of the state liquor law is pressing. It can't possibly practice procrastination for the few hours required to forestall the inevitable question of parents of children and children of aged persons who are being sent to eternity at the rate of one for each 4½ days—"If that had been our legislator's child, would he be displaying more interest in a remedy?" People take such things personally to direct comparisons. They should. A government of a democracy permits it.

If cattle on the ranges, cows in dairy herds, dogs, chickens or cats in domesticity, were being killed at the rate of more than one a week, there would be a powerful drive in Austin for relief from the deadly and expensive ravages of the death-dispensing agency. How much more deadly is a rabies-infected animal than a recklessly or drunkenly driven automobile? Those which take lives are within one category or the other—in part or wholly. Drivers' license requirements could penalize them, adequately For 10 years the State of Texas has, through its chain of legislatures, dodged that issue. During that time the population of one average county-seat town has been wiped out by death, the entire citizenship of Houston, Dallas, San Antonio or Fort Worth would have suffered injury and the equivalents of the tax totals of their counties would have been lost as damaged property and hospital expenses.

That condition would have been per... under no other circumstances than ...uto traffic. It is time to put an ... exception.

Character Is Vital To Recovery, View

Unless the world chooses to pay the price for the restoration of moral and spiritual character, there can be no economic or political recovery, Rev. J. N. R. Score, pastor of First Methodist Church, declared yesterday at a meeting of the Rotary Club at the Hotel Texas.

He defined character as the outer expression of one's inner self, and urged that home and business life was founded upon it.

"You may say that I am not telling you anything you do not know, and ask what you can do about it, but may I point out that there is enough manpower within this room to change the complexion of this city?" Rev. Mr. Score concluded.

The speaker was introduced by Bishop Sam R. Hay, father-in-law of Clay Berry, program chairman.

The musical program was presented by Ed Lally, who introduced Nancy Lee Helms, young vocalist, and Mrs. Aileen Shippee.

HEAVY SOCIAL PROBLEM SEEN

Remaking Attitudes Toward Duty to Neighbor Would Be Real Job, Bowden Says

"The social unconcern resulting from wholesale Government relief must be regarded as alarming if it is the cause for the change of attitude in our citizens who formerly accepted as their personal responsibility their share of the care for the human needs of their own community," Henry G. Bowden, executive director of the Fort Worth Community Chest, said yesterday.

The widespread failure of individuals to contribute generously to private welfare work is bad enough, he continued, but that can be remedied with intensive education and "salesmanship." If, however, it becomes necessary to remake attitudes toward an individual's personal duty to his neighbors, then the social order is confronted with a real job.

It is not the drop in the generosity curve that is alarming so much as the position that makes the individual ungenerous and thoughtless about his neighbors, Bowden declared.

"If the injunction that we are our brother's keeper has lost its significance, then indeed humankind is confronted with a tremendous task.

"There is certainly no time to be lost in our efforts to start building for more hopeful, helpful attitudes of individual responsibility. During the past few decades the Community Chest has made a wonderful beginning in the advancement of ideals and the promotion of social attitudes of personal responsibility. It has recognized that helping folk with their social adjustments continues to be the important function of private welfare organizations and the important adjunct of community stability."

Youth in Collapse Still Unconscious

Walter Caywood, 17, who collapsed in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday morning, had not regained consciousness last night, although attendants at Harris Hospital reported improvement in his condition.

The youth's condition still is critical. His home is at 3509 Avenue L. He is a student at William James Junior High School and is employed on a part-time job at Renfro Drug Store No. 6.

Yesterday morning he went to the Y. M. C. A. and showed three friends a bottle of chloroform, saying he intended to destroy a dog suffering with glass in its stomach. He went to a wash room in the basement and fell when he returned to the head of the stairs a few minutes later.

Later Johnny Goens, 505 Samuels Avenue, found a bottle with about half an ounce of chloroform in it on the floor of a rest room.

Drunken Autoist Remains in Jail

The first man held under a newly-ordered higher city bond for persons arrested for drunkenness in automobiles was fined $1 and costs in Justice of the Peace Hughes' court yesterday and last night was sitting out the first of four days in jail, the penalty for failure to pay a total fine of $13.

The man, 29, was arrested in a car early yesterday in the 300 block of West Seventh Street. He was held in city jail after failure to raise bond of $25. His fine was assessed after introduction of evidence that he was not driving the car.

The city bond requirement was raised from $10 by Corporation Court Judge Boynton Tuesday. The release bond for other persons charged with drunkenness remains at $10.

Man, 49, Jailed After Collision

The recent ruling of Texas Supreme Court that the state moratorium act is unconstitutional was based on the grounds that the Legislature was without power to pass the law, Judge Hal S. Lattimore, above, associate justice of the District Court of Civil Appeals, told the Real Estate Board's luncheon today at the Westbrook Hotel.

Justice Lattimore compared the Texas moratorium act with Minnesota's, which was upheld by that state's Supreme Court and by the U. S. Supreme Court.

"The Texas decision does not rest on the U. S. Constitution, but instead, on the state Constitution which placed restrictions on the Legislature, preventing it from passing legislation impairing obligations of contracts," Justice Lattimore said.

He added that, in his opinion, the national government has no concern with state policy, except to invalidate statutes impairing obligations of contracts.

Y.M.C.A. Is Rendering Real Service To Young Folks in Marriage Series

There Is Nothing We Make So Little Preparation for As Marriage and Nothing Which Should Demand More

By EDITH ALDERMAN GUEDRY
Press Woman's Page Editor

Young people are seeking an intelligent approach to marriage. That was demonstrated Monday night when more than 100 turned out for the opening weekly lecture in a series on "Marriage—Its Happiness and Hazards" at the Y. M. C. A. There were not enough seats in the small auditorium for the crowd. Some were sufficiently interested to stand during the lecture.

Edith Guedry

It was delivered by Jesse E. Martin and was on "Legal and Sociological Aspects of Marriage." Other lectures will take in such subjects as "Biological Aspects of Marriage," "Financial Aspects of Marriage," "Psychological Aspects of Marriage" and "The Parental and Spiritual Aspects of Marriage." They will be discussed by such outstanding leaders in the community as Mrs. L. M. Hogsett, Edwin A. Elliott, Dr. Robert Cochran, Dr. E. W. McDiarmid and Rev. L. D. Anderson.

Each speaker has been asked by Rev. Perry E. Gresham, chairman, to observe only two rules: First, to make the message plain and simple so that young people will have no doubt what is meant; second, to treat in spiritual aspect as much as possible.

* * *

THOUGH the first lecture was free, a charge of $1.50 will be made for the course of five which is to follow. The minimum fee is charged mostly to keep away the morbidly curious.

The young people who attended the opening lecture were not of that type. They seemed in dead earnest to learn how to tackle the problems of marriage.

How commendable it is that many young people today feel that way about it and that an organization like the Y. M. C. A. is presenting leaders who can discuss marriage subjects from an intelligent and helpful angle. There is nothing that we make so little preparation for as marriage and nothing which should demand so much. For what adventure is there that we enter upon that will completely mar or make our happiness?

We may enter it with all the glamour that goes with an eventful ceremony. We may expect that glamour to last always. Unfortunately, it doesn't. Money problems come. Drabness pops up the first week. In-laws may move in. We discover, too, all of a sudden that our partners are human beings with faults and we must make the best of them. We may forget that they are discovering the same about us.

Unless we know how to tactfully and sensibly handle these problems in the beginning, our marriage is headed for the rocks before we know it.

Since the Y. M. C. A. seeks in its course to help young people to sensibly approach these problems, it is rendering a real service to them. Would that even more would take advantage of it.

Who knows? The course might lead to something even better and more permanent. Y. M. C. A.'s and Y. W. C. A.'s have secretaries for everything else. Maybe sometime in the future they will have at least a part-time marriage secretary whom young people could advise with when marriage problems come up. Such a secretary would fill a need for young persons who have no one to whom to turn for wise counsel.

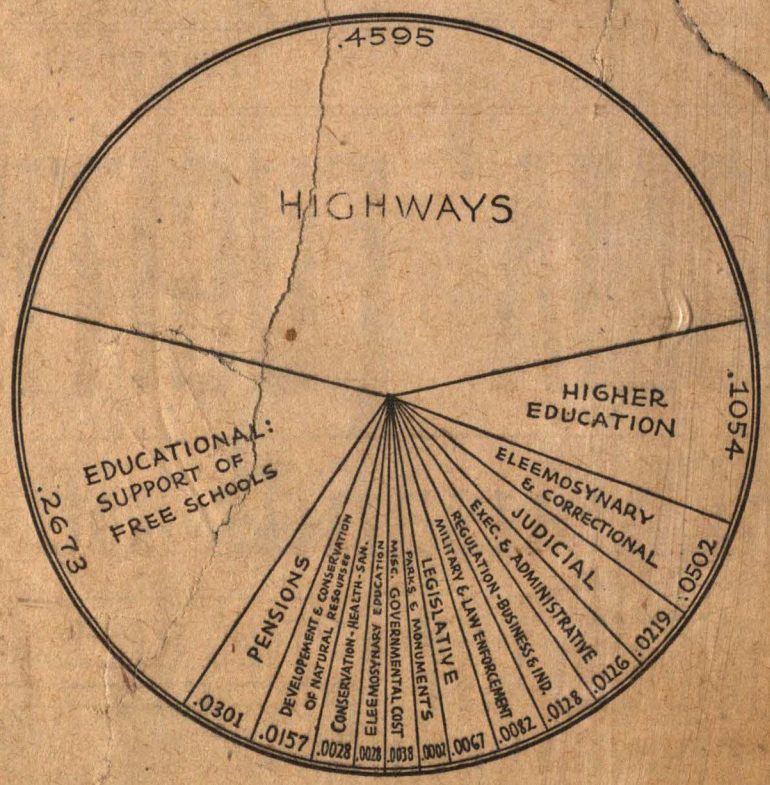
How Tax Dollar Is Spent



What becomes of the state tax dollar the taxpayer drops into the till is shown graphically above. The largest slice, nearly half of it, goes for construction and maintenance of the State's network of highways. The second largest share is spent for education—more than a quarter for free public schools and more than 10 cents for higher education. The exact percentages of expenditures for these and other purposes are shown on the chart, based on state taxes collected in 1933.

TOKIO SEES NO SOVIET CLASH

Further Details Lacking as to the Reported 'Invasion' of Manchoukuo District.

TOKIO, Dec. 23 (AP).—Although further details were lacking concerning the reported Soviet "invasion" of the Tungning district of Manchoukuo—a remote locality with infrequent communciations—officials at Tokio and Hsinking said today they did not believe anything had occurred likely to cause a serious clash.

The war office and the foreign office in Tokio both lacked official information of the alleged incident, in which Soviet infantry troops from Siberia were reported encamped and installing military equipment in Manchoukuan territory.

Neither in Tokio nor in Hsinking were there any evidences that the incident was regarded seriously, and certainly no warlike preparations were being made.

With negotiations for the transfer of the Chinese Eastern Railway to Manchoukuo approaching conclusion, authorities considered the Russo-Japanese and Russo-Manchu lations the most amicable in months.

Officials recalled that there have been several in Soviet parties, various as armed farmers, "O police agents and cupying frontier choukuo claim viets conside tory.

Dallas Man on Way To Wed Is Killed

DECATUR, Dec. 23 (AP).—Lewis C. Crowe, 30, of Dallas, driving toward Vernon to claim his bride for a Christmas wedding, was killed in an automobile accident near here late last night.

Instead of the planned wedding party, a funeral group left here today for Ardmore, Okla., with the body.

In Vernon, Crowe was to have met Mrs. Bertha Bonner, 30. They expected to be married in Marietta, Okla., Christmas Day.

Mrs. Bonner and her father came here today and accompanied the body to Ardmore, Okla., where Crowe's parents live. Burial services will be held there tomorow.

Crowe had obtained the marriage license at Marietta Friday. He was identified by that document found on his body.

His car skidded and overturned on the highway six miles from here, in front of another car. Seven occupants of the second machine, members of farm families living near here, were slightly injured.

BIRTH CONTROL--IT IS BOTH PRAISED AND DENOUNCED ON EVE OF CLINIC DISCUSSION

Medical Association Official Protests Plan; Social Workers Admit Its Need; Pastors See Moral Laxity; Clubwomen For It; Margaret Sanger to Preside at Meeting Here

The salvation of our social system!

An affront on God's plan for the races!

Physicians, pastors, public officials and clubwomen today lauded and denounced birth control, as an old controversy raged anew on the eve of a meeting at which the establishment here of a birth control clinic will be discussed.

Margaret Sanger, noted champion of scientific contraception, will preside at the meeting, at the Blackstone Hotel at 10 a. m. Saturday.

A Texas State Medical Association official protested the plan.

Social workers admitted its need. Pastors foresaw greater moral laxity.

Clubwomen backed Mrs. Sanger.

Dr. Holman Taylor, Texas State Medical Association secretary, vigorously opposed a clinic.

"Anyone desiring birth information can get it from their family doctor, and it's not against the law," said Dr. Taylor.

'Target For Quacks.'

"A birth control clinic would publicize a delicate, personal matter, and would be a target for every quack in the country."

Dr. Taylor agreed with remarks made by Mrs. Sanger at a lecture here Wednesday, that a check in the nation's birth rate is a social necessity.

"There is no problem in medicine more important," the physician said. "However, it can be greatly relieved without a change in the laws by welfare workers sending the proper persons to a good physician."

Time To Be Settled.

Dr. J. H. McLean, who introduced Mrs. Sanger, said: "It is time for this subject to be discussed and settled."

Dr. McLean said he favored "intelligent, scientific, decent birth control," but does not know whether a clinic would be the most desirable method.

"Something should certainly be done along those lines," he added. Mrs. Sanger, he said, has "some very fine ideas."

Education Plea Sounded

School Superintendent W. M. Green: "The subject of birth control is one that should be approached in a sane manner. Education on the subject should precede any steps toward inauguration of a clinic."

Associate Justice Hal Lattimore of the Second Court of Civil Appeals: "From the standpoint of government, birth control is a subject that must be most cautiously approached. Like every other adventure which seeks to cure an abuse of that which, in moderation, is commendable and beneficial, must not be launched without proper safeguards so that the abolition of the abuse will not impair that which is commendable."

County Juvenile Officer C. E. Baker: "Birth control appears a move in the right direction. We are propagating the human race from the wrong strata. An investigation of certain types of delinquency cases will bear out this view."

Mrs. Charles Stephens, president of Fort Worth Branch, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers: "No one should bring into the world more children than they can provide for. If it takes birth control to raise our civilization to a higher level, I favor it."

Sanger Idea Called Feasible

Mrs. H. V. Shank, president of the University Women: "I did not hear Margaret Sanger. The subject for birth control as she presents it in her articles and books seems quite feasible. It is unfortunate that if such a movement or clinic is to be started in Fort Worth that more persons, deeply interested in the welfare of the masses, could not have had the privilege of hearing Mrs. Sanger's message."

Mrs. Cato Sells, 2016 Windsor Pl.: "I think it is an excellent thing. All of these movements that are progressive and for the betterment of humanity, I think, should be encouraged."

Mrs. Robert Hardwicke, Westover Hills: "Birth control is combatting all social evils at their source."

Mrs. John G. Sims Jr., 1509 West Seventh St.: "The women of Fort Worth can do much to bring about a change from 'too many unwanted children to a proper number of wanted ones.' We can establish and work with the proper authorities to bring about a time when the money we contribute to the Community Chest can be shared, at least, in supporting the children already here and in teaching parents how not to have children unless they can give these children a chance."

And Other Views

Mrs. Erschel R. Records, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club: "I have always favored birth control. Fewer and better, is what we want in our civilization today."

Mrs. Alma Turner Phelps, 1206 Dorothy Lane: "It is the only enlightening thing to combat over-population and poverty."

Mrs. Bob Barker, 2249 Sixth Ave.: "I think such an idea will be universally accepted in years to come. To me it is a step in the forward direction."

Dr. Burke Brewster, Tarrant County health officer: — Birth control is one of the most essential things necessary today in the United States. We need it more because the depression has brought into the world thousands of children who have no hope of receiving proper care during their early years.

Birth control, though sterilization, should be applied by law especially to the insane and the habitual criminals.

Rev. Rog Eager, Baptist Pastors' and Laymen's Conference president, believes birth control will do more harm than good.

It has already contributed to moral laxity, and will increase promiscuity with establishment of open clinics, he said.

"Back of a great deal of this birth control agitation is a mercenary desire to profit through it," Reverend Eager declared.

"No Spiritual Background"

"I am one of the opposition," said Rev. Goldman Drury, South Fort Worth Baptist Church. "Birth control is utterly without spiritual background. This agitation has been carried too far."

A clinic, where heads of indigent families could obtain "intelligent birth control information," would solve one great social problem of relief administration, Miss Gladys Pittenger, social case work supervisor for the Tarrant County relief administration, declared.

"Of course, a great many mothers talk to social workers about such things," she said. "They need information and are not financially able to pay for it."

"Many realize it is unfair to bring children into the world and not have money to care for them.

"Many are trying hit-and-miss

STERILIZATION OF TEXAS INSANE URGED BY BOARD OF CONTROL

AUSTIN, Dec. 12 (AP).—Sterilization of Texas insane was proposed Wednesday by the State Board of Control, administrators of eleemosynary institutions, as the only known method for prevention of hereditary types of insanity, imbecility and idiocy.

The board recommended the plan to the Texas Legislature for a study of the "merit and practicability of legally applying sterilization in Texas."

Sterilization of insane was incorporated in a two-point recommendation in the board's annual report for prevention of insanity. The other phase was a mental hygiene program in which services of expert psychiatrists would be made available through public schools and juvenile courts for treatment of incipient and corrective cases.

Sterilization of insane in other States was briefly reviewed by the board in its report, which included a brief of its legality.

In recommending a mental hygiene program, the board stated "statistics show conclusively that large numbers of cases later actually reaching the hospitals for the mentally afflicted were in their incipiency only slightly mentally or socially unadjusted adults or children having correctable behavior problems."

"A small initial state clinic with an educational program," the board stated, "should be begun in the public schools, working through the teachers, parents, children, parent-teacher organizations and also through juvenile courts and probation officers."

GOVERNOR TO FREE BABE LAWRENCE, TARRANT SLAYER

Notorious Southwestern Badman, Serving Life Term for Holdup in Which Deputy Died, Receives Clemency

BROTHER HANGED FOR KILLING HERE

Muskogee Officer Was Murdered Near City As He Was Returning Two Outlaws On Car Theft Charge

One of the Southwest's most notorious criminals, A. B. (Babe) Lawrence, today received the clemency of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, according to wire dispatches.

Lawrence, convicted in Tarrant County and sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary, for a robbery in which a deputy sheriff was killed, will go free July 1, 1936, under the sentence reduction given him by the woman governor.

He was a brother of the equally notorious Bill Lawrence, hanged at Phoenix, Arizona, in February, 1925, after the killing of Policeman Haze Burch there. Babe was with Bill at the time and the two were arrested the following day.

Bill Lawrence took the blame for Burch's death, and also for the killing of Deputy Sheriff Joe Morgan of Muskogee, Okla., slain in 1924 near Fort Worth while he and Deputy John Barger were returning the Lawrence brothers to Oklahoma on car theft charges.

Was Accused in Robbing.

Babe was returned to Fort Worth, where he was charged with robbing Deputy Barger at the time of the killing and escape. It was on this charge that he received the 99-year sentence at his trial here in June of 1925.

Counting overtime, he already has served 16 years and nine months.

In the trial it was brought out that the Muskogee officers were riding in the front seat of their car with the two prisoners in the rear. Bill, testimony disclosed, grabbed Morgan's pistol and killed him. The brothers then robbed Barger and tied him to a tree.

Other clemencies included:

Lee Byrd, Harris County, robbery by assault, 25 years, January, 1926, conditional pardon.

W. D. Strebeck, Harris County, murder, 10 years, August, 1931, conditional pardon.

Murderer's Term Commuted.

J. H. Reynolds, Kaufman County, murder, 10 years, March, 1934, commuted to three years. Reynolds is 63 years old.

Olin Mercer, Ellis County, murder, 35 years, February, 1929, full pardon and restoration of citizenship. He was given a conditional pardon in January, 1934.

Frank Boykins, Taylor County, robbery, five years, May, 1934, conditional pardon.

Van Turman, McLennan and Stephens Counties, theft, five years, January, 1933, conditional pardon.

Members of Rescue Crew Are Lost in Efforts To Save Usworth Seamen

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—All hands were rescued today from the sinking S. S. Usworth in mid-Atlantic. Two men from the rescue ships were lost. The Usworth was awash but still afloat at 1:49 p. m. E. S. T., at 48.20 north, 32.10 west or about 850 miles east of Newfoundland.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—A lifeboat from the Jean Jadot capsized today in the Usworth rescue efforts and two of the Jean Jadot's crew were lost.

Mackay Radio reported a message from the S. S. Black Gull, relaying reports of the mid-Atlantic battle to save the crippled Usworth's crew, which said the lifeboat turned over in high waves.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—A lifeboat from a rescue ship battled towering waves to the side of the sinking steamer Usworth in mid-Atlantic today and took off five of the crippled vessel's crew.

Radio messages from ships which sped to the side of the Usworth cryptically described the drama of the rescue under unfavorable conditions some 800 miles off Newfoundland, where the freighter had been fighting storms for three days.

The steamer Jean Jadot, pulling alongside the sinking freighter, co-operated with another rescue vessel, the Ascania, in launching lifeboats after repeated efforts to put a line aboard the Usworth had failed.

CIGARET CAUSED FIRE

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 14.—A carelessly-thrown cigaret was blamed today for the Hotel Kerns fire which cost the lives of at least 32 and perhaps more guests.

An official report by E. M. Welch of the state fire marshal's office declared there is proof that the blaze started in the apartment of David Monroe, hotel manager who was one of the victims. Mr. Welch also found there was a delay of between 10 and 15 minutes in sounding the alarm to the Lansing fire department.

LOST: A BOY

Not kidnaped by bandits and hidden in a cave to weep and starve and raise a nation to frenzied searching. If that were the case, one hundred thousand people would rise to the rescue if need be. Unfortunately, the losing of this lad is without dramatic excitement, though very sad and very real.

The fact is, his father lost him. Being too busy to sit with him at the fireside ,and answer his trival questions during the years when fathers are the only great heroes of the boys, he let go his hold.

Yes, his mother lost him. Being much engrossed in her teas, dinners and club programs, she let the maid hear the boy say his prayers, and thus her grip slipped, and the boy was lost to his home.

Aye, the church lost him. Being so much occupied with sermons for the wise and elderly who pay the bills, and having good care for dignity, the minister and elders were unmindful of the human feelings of the boy in the pew and made no provision in sermon or song or manly sport for his boyishness. And so the church and many sad-hearted parents are now looking earnestly for the lost boy.

Your children are not your children;
They are the sons and daughters of Life's longing for itself.
They come through you, but not from you,
And though they are with you, yet they belong not to you.
You may give them your love, but not your thoughts
For they have their own thoughts.
You may house their bodies, but not their souls
For their souls dwell in the house of tomorrow
Which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams.
You may strive to be like them, but seek not to make them like you,
For Life goes not backward.
Nor tarries with Yesterday.

Why Should I Be A Member of the Y. M. C. A.?

It offers me an opportunity to invest my leisure time with profit to myself and others.

It enables me to keep physically fit, and enjoy the stimulus of vigorous games and exercises.

It makes possible thorough training for some worthwhile vocation, and developes an appreciation of the arts.

It offers me an opportunity to associate with the finest men and boys in Dallas, and to choose my intimate friends from among them.

It makes right thinking and clean living a manly thing to do, and keeps the character of Jesus before me as the ideal of my life.

It inspires me with a desire to serve, and offers me specific opportunities for the investment of my life in the service of God and my fellow-man.

"Please Cancel My Membership"

"Please cancel my membership in the Y. M. C. A. as I do not have the opportunity to take advantage of it." Sounds natural, yes, you have probably heard that before.

Do you cancel your life insurance because you do not die? Do you cancel your school taxes because you have no children. Does your membership in the "Y" mean that you expect to get dollar for dollar return right this year on your dues? Do you expect the "Y" to be continuously doing something tangible for you and are you going to get out because you cannot see at this moment some personal immediate benefit?

If a man is living in Dallas, he is continuously receiving benefits from the Y. M. C. A. and he is indebted to it for the influence it exerts upon the town in which he lives. The "Y" is not a building, a club, a political party or branch of government. It is an institution for character building for the youth and young men of Dallas.

For some it means health by way of its physical department; for others it means education through instruction and study in its schools; still others enjoy the privileges of a home in its dormitory; while all through its building activities of clubs and religious meetings and leadership training are stimulated to better living.

DALLAS CAN CHECK TOMORROW'S CRIME WAVE TODAY!

"Three out of four crimes in Dallas are committed by boys and young men between the ages of 18 and 25.

"The cost of the average crime is around $2,000. Dallas will do well to foster the agencies that reach into the lives of Dallas youth at its most impressionable age.

"Character building isn't an idealistic term—it's as practical as life insurance and as sound economically."

—WILLIAM McCRAW,
District Attorney.

DALLAS has reached the point where explanation is hardly needed for the inclusion of non-charities with charities in a community fund.

Ideals do count in this practical world . . . .

Character is formative at the age when Chest character-building agencies reach thousands of boys and girls . . . .

75 per cent for charity . . . .

25 per cent for prevention . .

"Those you get first never come to me," is the tribute of the United Charities secretary to the Y. W. C. A. secretary, testifying that training and ideals prevent dependence . . . .

IN A WORLD BUILT FOR GROWN-UP PEOPLE IT IS ONLY JUST THAT THEY IN TURN SHOULD PROVIDE SOMETHING TO ANSWER THE ENERGY OF YOUTH.

HENRY VAN DYKE

Romans, XIV, 6: He that regardeth the day, regardeth it unto the Lord.

It is a good thing to observe Christmas Day. The mere marking of times and seasons, when men agree to stop work and make merry together, is a wise and wholesome custom. It helps one to feel the supremacy of the common life over the individual life. It reminds a man to set his own little watch, now and then, by the great clock of humanity which runs on sun time.

But there is a better thing than the observance of Christmas Day, and that is keeping Christmas.

Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people, and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you, and to think what you owe the world; to put your rights in the background, and your duties in the middle distance, and your chances to do a little more than your duty in the foreground; to see that your fellow men are just as real to you as you are, and try to look behind their faces to their hearts, hungry for joy; to own that probably the only good reason for your existence is not what you are going to get out of life, but to close your book of complaints against the management of the universe, and look around you for a place where you can sow a few seeds of happiness—are you willing to do these things for even a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and the desires of little children; to remember the weakness and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you, and ask yourself whether you love them enough; to bear in mind the things that other people have to bear on their hearts; to try to understand what those who live in the same house with you really want, without waiting for them to tell you; to trim your lamp so that it will give more light and less smoke, and to carry it in front so that your shadow will fall behind you; to make a grave for your ugly thoughts, and a garden for your kindly feelings, with the gate open—are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas?

Are you willing to believe that love is the strongest thing in the world—stronger than hate, stronger than evil, stronger than death—and that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem nineteen hundred years ago is the image and brightness of Eternal Love? Then you can keep Christmas.

And if you keep it for a day, why not always?

But you can never keep it alone.

The Young Men's Christian Association is a volunteer association of men and boys for their mutual development in body, mind and spirit, and for the extension of Christian Character and Ideals. Each local Association is self-governing, but each is a part of a world-wide movement which includes some 8000 or more different associations in 50 different countries, with over a million and a half members. Any young man or boy of good moral character is eligible to membership.

One Transient To Another.

"Say, do you live in this part of the country?"

"Yep. This is my home town."

"Whatsa matter, can't you get anything to do?"

"Oh, yes, a few odd jobs, for a meal or so, and maybe a little work for the Government."

"Seems like a helluva situation, when a man can't find anything to do in his own home town."

"If anything it's worse because you can't approach your friends for help, or assistance. Even us bums got some pride left. I'm thinking of goin' out West, if I can get by the Government officials. I don't mind askin' strangers for help, but my friends here— I finally got so down and out several weeks ago, that I forgot my pride and went to a couple of them. I won't be doing it again, don't you worry. I'd feel better if they had kicked me in the ribs, or slapped my face."

The above is in brief a conversation overhead in the Y building. It presents an attitude on the part of the down-and-outer that is certainly justified. He cannot turn to his friends for help, and when he does, there is such condescension and arrogance in the giving, that under no consideration will he repeat it. At this time of the year, more than any other, I believe we should search our hearts, and discover the real motive and spirit of our giving. If we are actuated by any other intent than to bring happiness to others, then we are not in accord with the spirit and purpose of Christmas. "The gift without the giver is bare."

Y. W. XMAS PARTY WELL ATTENDED.

Saturday night, December 16, saw the last of the year party and dance, sponsored by the Joint Y. M. and Y. W. Social Committee. Approximately forty couples attended and enjoyed the evening immensely. A new orchestra of seven pieces played delightful dance music; the floor in the big gym was smooth; the ladies gracious; the gentlemen gallant; the refreshments refreshing, and all in all the evening was voted a success. January 6 was the tentative date for the next of these affairs and will be at the Y. M. C. A. More news about this next issue of this paper.

STATE SECRETARIES LOCAL VISITORS.

State Secretary John Henry and State Boys' Work Secretary Grover Good dropped in for a social visit with the local staff Monday. Grover was just returning from a trip to West Texas, John was just starting on one in that direction. Both met here unexpectedly. Mrs. Good accompanied her husband on this trip West.

Pioneer Activities.

The Pioneer hike was enjoyed by everyone. Willis's father and Billie Worrell's mother furnished the transportation to and from the camp, so there was no aching feet when the bunch returned Saturday morning. The food could not have been better. Thanks, Wesley, for getting that reduction on the food. The boat ride was really the high spot of the hike. Don't forget, Vincent, we are planning on an all-day tour of the lake in that dory of yours. Jack Ledford kept the bunch in constant uproar with his cracks about the sea hag.

The club met and elected Vincent Davis the new secretary-treasurer. He urges that all members pay their dues as soon as possible, inasmuch as it is planned to use some of this fund in caring for a poor family this Christmas.

Later in gym, it was decided that we should have another league. The captains that were elected were Vincent Davis and Jack Ledford. Teams will be chosen this coming Saturday, December 23.

Don't forget, Pioneers! We are going to help the same family that we did Thanksgiving. Bring your food down, or clothes, or what have you, not later than Saturday. Let's fill the whole barrel.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE CLUB NEWS.

Fellows in the Employment Service Club of the Y. M. C. A. are meeting regularly on Tuesdays at 10 a. m. for discussion of employment possibilities, and on Thursdays for recreation in the gym and pool. There are forty-eight fellows enrolled in this new club but because several are always able to get part-time work each week the attendance at meetings varies considerably.

Mr. Huckabay, president of the club, wrote several of the employers of the city, calling their attention to the club and the desire for cooperating in furnishing employment. Replies from some of the men have already come in, promising to call on the group whenever additional help was needed. Every possible help will be given the employer in finding a man fitted for the job. Don't fail to call on the Employment Service Club when you need an addition to your firm.

"Y" TO PLAY SANTA TO BLDG. RESIDENTS.

All men living in the building will be guests of the "Y" Christmas morning at an 8:30 breakfast. For the fifth consecutive year the fellows who cannot get home for the holidays will assemble around the breakfast table to partake of a real Christmas breakfast, hear a short program and receive presents off a Christmas tree. More than 100 young men reside in the "Y" building.

B. C. CARTER SPEAKER TRI-CLUB MEETING.

B. C. Carter, connected with the N. R. A., brought the members of the Triangle Club an interpretation of the various phases of the Government's effort to lift America out of the rut "by its bootstraps," as he put it. Twenty-five members of the club were in attendance and enjoyed the big broiled steaks as well as the other items on the menu. A singsong followed the meal and President Joe Ingraham introduced the speaker. Most everyone is anxious to thoroughly understand as much as possible about the workings of the N. R. A. and members of the Triangle Club were no exception, giving the speaker their undivided attention during the discourse and followed up by asking several questions. It was apparent there were plenty of interrogations but time did not permit their being voiced. Mr. Carter kindly consented to return at a later meeting of the club and give more time to questions and answers. It is to be hoped he can be with us again.

VOLLEYBALL FANS CONTINUE SCRAP.

The outcome of the second half of the 12 o'Clock League depends on the match Friday between the Turbeville Owls and Post Eagles. The Owls lead by one-game margin while the Athletes and Robins completed their schedule of matches ending in a tie with six wins each. In event the Eagles are successful in taking two straight games Friday from the Owls, all teams will be thrown into a tie with six wins and six losses each. However, the Owls have the advantage of the affair by splitting. The winners are to be banqueted by Defees Robins on February 29 (?). A new league setup is planned for early part of January.

COMRADE PLANS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

You should have been here for the Comrade-Hi-Y dance. Edgar Barlow, Oliver Winters, Bennett Rogers, O. T. Clark Jr., and Frank Keeton presented "The Romance of Cleopatra" in real comic fashion.

Some fine things are being planned for the holidays. Wednesday, December 27, 10:15 a. m., the annual Comrade handball tournament opens. It doesn't matter if you haven't played any before because that is the case with most of the Comrades. This is an opportunity to get acquainted with the game that has no equal, as far as some of the members are concerned. Since awards are planned for the winner and runner-up, there will be a registration fee of 10 cents. This registration must be in by 8 p. m. Tuesday, December 26.

COMRADE P. M. CLASS CHANGED TO 10:15 A.M.

The regular gym classes have been changed from the afternoon to 10:15 a. m. Monday and Friday morning. Come down these mornings and play basketball, or whatever you like, to your heart's content. If there is anything that you would particularly like to do over the holidays, and think that the rest of the Comrades would like it also, call 2-3281 and inform Noel Roberts about it before next Tuesday and it will be scheduled. All Comrades are urged to make the "Y" their stomping grounds during the Christmas vacation.

Last Saturday night the Y representative basketball team defeated the Weatherford College boys, 36 to 18. The game was fast from start to finish. Chappell and Barlow were the high scorers fo the Y club with 8 points each.

Our team plays in the Major City League every Tuesday night and would appreciate a little cheering by some Y members on the sidelines. Frank Cantelmi, the coach, is doing a nice piece of work with the team, and deserves some support.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

We, who claim to be Christians, should be especially thoughtful on the birthday of Christ when we realize that approximately twelve million people are unemployed and that their families and dependents, making a total of about twenty-five million, have very little to be thankful for. Charity will not make them happy long, it will merely serve as a temporary salve, when what is needed is something to clear the blood stream and a drastic antiseptic on the sore, in other words, we need some fundamental changes in our way of caring for the common man. One of the greatest things we can be thankful for today is a leader like President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who is a Christian through and through.

Since we do have the present situation, though, let us be thankful for our own blessings, and kind and thoughtful of those who have none, and as Christians share ours with them.

NEWS NOTES.

Here's the way things stand in the Basketball League:

North Side	1.000
Central	1.000
Stripling	.500
Arlington	.500
Polytechnic	.000
Handley	.000

Poly made a good stand against Stripling Saturday, with only three men. Stripling, you'll have to do better than that. North Side and Central and Arlington are looking the best. Handley is dropping out on us. Come down and support your team.

Christmas Hi-Y Camp.—Those fellows who are really interested in the dynamics of this movement are invited to go with us to Camp Holland Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, December 26, 27, 28. We'll have a swell time together, but that will be only incidental. We are going to the very base of this Hi-Y business and evaluate it and come back either ready to throw it overboard or fight like the dickens for the extension of it and the making of more effective clubs.

Ex Hi-Y Fellowship Dinner.—On Friday evening, December 22, all the old Hi-Y fellows who are at work or at home from college will enjoy a period of fellowship together at the Y at 6:30. If you are one, phone your reservation in to Mr. Fairchild.

YOU'RE GRAND

(From "Night Cruise of 1934")

By Allen Boretz and Walter Samuels

You're grand, you're wonderful,
You're something new to me,
You're grand, you're marvelous,
Oh, what you do to me!
Your smile has something in it, so sincere,
I get a thrill a minute, when you're near.
Your kiss is ecstasy, your arms made to cling.
Since you belong to me,
What more has life to bring?
There's not another like you in the land.
I'll tell the world, you're grand!

TELL ME I'M WRONG

By Al Bryan and Lou Handman

Someone told me things about you,
If I've been a fool to doubt you,
Tell me I'm wrong.
I'll get over feeling lonely,
I'll be happy if you'll only tell me I'm wrong.
'Tho I wear a smile it's to deceive you,
My days and nights are blue,
I've been so worried since we've been apart,
Minutes have seemed a whole year long,
Tell me I'm the one and only one in your heart,
Just tell me I'm wrong.

FRECKLE FACE, YOU'RE BEAUTIFUL

By Cliff Friend and Carmen Lombardo

Freckle face, to think I used to call you freckle face,
And now you glitter in a gown of lace,
You're beautiful, lovely and beautiful.
Freckle face, just like a flower in a sunny place,
You've grown so pretty, and your freckle face is beautiful,
Yes, dear, you're beautiful.
But not so long ago I used to tease you so
Pulled the funny pigtails in your hair
Now I can't conceal the sweet surprise I feel
Finding you a lovely lady fair.
Oh, Freckle face, a work of magic must have taken place,
To give you all that lovely charm and grace,
You're beautiful, my little freckle face.

STAY A LITTLE CLOSER TO ME

By Billy Hill

When the shadows come stealing
Stay a little closer to me.
Let me share each lonely feeling
Stay a little closer to me.
If I should ever lose you, what would I do,
This dreary world would not be worth going through.
Till at last the storms are over,
Stay a little closer to me.

Bing Crosby has become one of the sure fire money makers in the movies. Here he is with Kitty Carlisle in a scene from "She Loves Me Not," his latest production from Hollywood.

BING CROSBY

When a crooner has twins, you just know that he's got to be good.

And of course, there's no crooner quite as good as the one and only Bing Crosby. Christened Harry Lillis Crosby, Jr., his early childhood ambition was to be an actor. This ambition was probably inspired by talented parents, who played and sang in amateur theatricals.

He attended Tacoma (Wash.) and Spokane public schools, Gonzaga high-school, Gonzaga University and Law Schools, finished in 1926. Helped support himself during school days by selling magazines and books, making a cent profit on each book he managed to sell.

His first radio performance took place in 1927 over Station KFI, Los Angeles. In 1928 he joined up with Paul Whiteman and formed the basis of that favorite group of singers known as the Rhythm Boys, playing the key cities of the country including the principal theatres and clubs.

His great popularity on phonograph recordings led to his debut at the Columbia network in 1931. Then came that never to be forgotten Crosby, Colombo mele which set the entertainment world agog for over six months, when Crosby emerged as the most popular singer, crooner, or what have you on the stage or on the radio of the day. Following this sensational triumph, he started on a cross country tour preparatory to making "The Big Broadcast" for Paramount. Since that time his popularity as a screen star is at least equal to that pinnacle of success he achieved over the air.

SIDE LIGHTS: He is boyishly handsome and modest . . . has blue eyes and brown hair . . . stands five feet nine inches and weighs 165 pounds . . . is married to Dixie Lee of Hollywood, whom he credits, together with his parents and Paul Whiteman, as his greatest help.

I ONLY HAVE EYES FOR YOU

(From Warner Bros. Picture "Dames")

By Al. Dubin and Harry Warren

Are the stars out tonight?
I don't know if it's cloudy or bright,
'Cause I only have eyes for you, dear.
The moon may be high,
But I can't see a thing in the sky,
'Cause I only have eyes for you.
I don't know if we're in a garden,
Or on a crowded avenue,
You are here, so am I,
Maybe millions of people go by,
But they all disappear, from view,
And I only have eyes for you.

ALWAYS IN THE DARK

By H. Richman, M. and A. Kaufman and L. d'Acosta

Don't keep me always in the dark!
Why am I always in the dark?—
Are we friends or are we sweethearts?
Please tell me, dear.—
Happy as a lark—
You go on happy as a lark,—
While I'm wond'ring if your kisses can be sincere.—
I'm dreaming that you will care,
I'm hoping that you will share my life, my love!
I'm tired of my despair,
I'll always be sending my pray'r to the Lord above!
Always in the dark!—
I'll keep on living in the dark,—
Till you say that you love me, and you'll be mine!

I'VE GOT A WARM SPOT IN MY HEART FOR YOU

By Johnny Burke and Harold Spina

I've got a warm spot in my heart for you,
I fell completely from the start for you.
What others say wouldn't matter a bit with me;
You've got a way that has made a hit with me.
One word from you is all that I require,
Who cares if I get burned if you're the fire.
I'll always think you're okay,
What ever you say or do,
I've got a warm spot in my heart for you.

THE BETTER TO LOVE YOU, MY DEAR

By M. David, Al Hoffman and Al Goodhart

Why is the moon shining so bright,
Why are your lips more tempting tonight?
I'll tell you why,
The better to love you, my dear.
Paradise seems nearer tonight,
Why are you so much dearer tonight?
I'll tell you why
The better to love you, my dear.
What is this thrill, this magic thrill?
It's such a sweet and grand sensation,
Somehow I feel, it isn't real,
And yet I know it's not imagination.
Why do your eyes, promise so much,
Why is my heart aflame at your touch?
I'll tell you why,
The better to kiss you,
The better to hold you,
The better to love you, my dear.

ROLLIN' HOME

By Billy Hill and Peter De Rose

Rollin' Home—Rollin' Home
To the harbor where storms blow no more.
Shed no tear as I steer—
Toward the lights of the last distant shore
Let me hear once more the song of the seven seas I used to roam
Let me hear once more the bells on the ev'ning breeze
Callin' me home, calling me home.
Breakers sigh
Seem to cry
A sailor's last "Good-Bye"
Rollin' Home.

WHEN YOU WERE A SMILE ON YOUR MOTHER'S LIPS AND A TWINKLE IN YOUR DADDY'S EYE

(From Warner Bros. Picture "Dames")

By Ray Enright and Busby Berkeley

When you were a smile on your Mother's lips and a twinkle in your Daddy's eye,
I loved you then, I loved you when you were a tender sigh.
When I was a babe in my Mother's arms,
I would wake up with a lonely cry,
I cried for you, they never knew,
They thought it was my lullaby.
I gave up ev'ry little toy, I played no game.
I was a lonely little boy until you came.
I waited for you, for I always knew I would meet you in the bye and bye,
When you were a smile on your Mother's lips,
And a twinkle in your Daddy's eye.

I NEVER HAD A CHANCE

By Irving Berlin

I never had a chance,
I thought you cared for me,
But now I see
I never had a chance.
I never had a chance,
Though you never told me so,
Somehow I know I never had a chance.
I knew we'd have to part,
For I could always reach you lips
But I could never reach your heart.
My dream about romance
Ended in a friendly chat,
But more than that
I never had a chance.

I'M WEARIN' MY GREEN FEDORA

By J. Meyer, Al Sherman and Al Lewis

I'm wearin' my green fedora, fedora,
Not Alice, not Annie, not Daisy but fedora.
I usually come to town
In a battered old hat of brown,
But I gotta wear green
When me and my queen go steppin' around.
She's fussy 'bout colors,
She's daffy, I think;
But if she insisted,
I'd even wear pink;
That's why I'm wearin' my green fedora, fedora, fedora,
Fedora is the girl I love!

TALL BUILDINGS

By H. Pease, E. G. Nelson and H. Johnson

Tall buildings make me think of high mountains,
Then I think of green valleys covered with dew.
Green valleys make me think of white blossoms,
Then I think of red robins,
Then I get blue.
I'm blue because I'm lonesome for the mountains and the valleys and the blossoms in the spring,
Blue because they make me long to hear the robin chirp a song,
Blue, for everything.
Tall buildings make me think of high mountains,
When I think of high mountains I think of you.

TAMARA

Tamara is an exotic name, one which might well be the title of a story. The owner of the name is exotic and her life has been a story combining tragedy, danger, adventure and courage.

Tamara is 25 years of age. She was born in Odessa, Russia, on Friday, October 13th. Her father tilled the land and the family lived happily and peacefully in their tiny village. Then came the World War and Russian Revolution. Blood ran freely, the clack of firearms, and rustle of sabres rang in her ears. Tamara and her grandmother hid in a stack of straw. Roving bandits passed and then came a command—"Fire that stack." Matches were struck and with drunken laughs the bandits rode on! Luckily the wet straw refused to burn and Tamara and her grandmother escaped unharmed.

For months Tamara labored in the fields in return for sugar, salt and a few yards of calico. Tamara's father, however, always had a vision of a promised land—the United States, and one morning, the family set forth with hundreds of others and landed on Ellis Island.

Amateur theatricals in an American highschool gave Tamara her first taste for the stage. When she completed school, she hit out for Broadway, and joined up as a jazz chorine. But not for long. She was out of place in a chorus and hot jazz was not her forte. Soon the spotlight was being trained on Tamara as an individual star with an individual Russian style.

Radio soon claimed her for its own. Her rendition of "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," the hit tune of "Roberta," Jerome Kern's latest operetta made her one of the outstanding stars on the boards.

"Crazy Quilt," "Free for All," "New Yorkers," and "Americana," are a few of the shows in which Tamara has played important roles.

Tamara, the exotic Russian star of stage and radio fame.

HANG OUT THE STARS IN INDIANA

By Billy Moll and Harry Woods

Hang out the stars in Indiana
Up in a sky of midnight blue,
Hang out the stars in Indiana
To light my way back home to you.
Have ev'ry robin sing a love song,
A melody just meant for two.
For in my heart there'll be a love song,
A song I long to sing to you.
How could I find the things I sought for,
No wonder they were all denied,
The very happiness I fought for
Was right back by your side.
So wait for me in Indiana,
And when the long, long day is through,
Hang out the stars in Indiana
To light my way back home to you.

IT'S LOVE TIME

By Dorothy Dick and Adrian Levy

Let me look in your eyes divine,
Let my arms be around you,
While the music plays, for it says,
"This is love time,"
Won't you whisper that you'll be mine?
For tonight I have found, dear,
Life can be so sweet, now that it's so complete,
For it's love time for you and me!

I'LL STRING ALONG WITH YOU

(From the Warner Bros. Picture "20 Million Sweethearts")

By Al Dubin and Harry Warren

You may not be an angel,
'Cause angels are so few,
But until the day that one comes along,
I'll string along with you.
I'm looking for an angel
To sing my love song to,
And until the day that one comes along,
I'll sing my song to you.
For ev'ry little fault that you have Say! I've got three or four
The human little faults you do have
Just make me love you more.
You may not be an angel,
But still I'm sure you'll do,
So until the day that one comes along,
I'll string along with you.

COUNTRY BOY

By Richard Jerome and Walter Kent

Betcha goin' fishin', Country Boy,
I know whatcha wishin', Country Boy.
You will soon be sittin' in a shady nook,
Barefeet dangling in the babb'ling brook.
You've been pickin' berries, Country Boy,
Lips a-red with cherries, Country Boy.
When you're thru' with fishin' anybody knows,
You'll go swimmin' in your birthday clo'es.
Hitchin' horses and pitchin' hay,
You just play in the fields all day,
With your trusty little dog and your rusty little knife.
Oh! you lucky little kid, you lead a happy life!
What is that you're sayin' Mm-m-m
You don't call it playin' Mm-m-m
You think it's a pity, you don't live in the city,
Oh! Shame on you! Country Boy.

THE PARTY'S OVER

By M. Drake, B. Oakland and C. Conrad

Day is dawning, the dancing is through,
I'm lonely and blue, the party's over!
Friends and sweethearts, so happy and gay
Have all gone away, the party's over!
You kissed me while dancing and said you'd never roam,
But somebody else took you home.
We were planning a party for two,
It never came true, the party's over.

SANDERSON & CRUMIT

Julia and Frank Crumit called their house at Longmeadow, Massachusetts, "Dunrovin" (done roving) in order to emphasize the fact that they had taken their last bow before an audience.

Julia busied herself with clubs, charities and bridges and Frank got himself a job selling bonds. It was all very delightful.

Then came days of restlessness and yearning for the old days, for both of them. Along came radio and back into the world entertainment came Mr. and Mrs. Crumit as Sanderson and Crumit, the musical comedy stars of yesterday as radio favorites of today. And so, now, they are "still roving."

Frank has been making records longer than anyone in the business. He likes to refashion old numbers like "A Parlor is a Pleasant Place To Sit In," "Go Away, Old Man, Go Away," and "Pretty Little Dear."

"The Gay Caballero," "King of Borneo," and "Abdul, the Bul, Bul, Ameer," are reminiscences of Frank's college days.

Julia first won her laurels when Charles Frohman featured her in "Sunshine Girl." After that came a long line of Frohman shows until the master met his tragic death. Then came "Tangerine," the show in which she co-starred with Crumit. It was love at first sight, for both of them, and life has been pretty nearly perfect ever since.

THE GIRL AT THE IRONING BOARD

(From Warner Bros. Picture "Dames")

By Al Dubin and Harry Warren

But a girl who works in a laundry,
Has a dream lover all of her own,
A lover unseen, whose love she keeps clean with water and soap,
And a washing machine, Oh!
She loves to launder his linen,
Ev'ry collar and shirt is adored.
And she loves all the stitches in his flannel britches,
The girl at the ironing board.

SO HELP ME

By Irving Berlin

Oo, I'm head and heels in love with you,
So help me!
Oo, I'm gonna stick to you like glue,
So help me!
Though you never told me where I stand,
You're a part of ev'rything I've planned.
And Oo, I'm gonna make your dreams come true
So help me!
Oo, I'm gonna make you love me, too,
But darling, maybe I've bitten off much more than I can chew,
And I may need a lot of help,
So help me!

DUST ON THE MOON

By Stanley Adams and Ernesto Lecuona

Dust on the moon, since you are gone, dear,
There's dust on the moon,
And in darkness I croon,
Our little love song that ended too soon,
Mellow beams from above,
Are only shadows without you, my love.
And they never will shine until you are mine
Dust is on the moon.

ANYTHING THAT'S PART OF YOU

By Mort Dixon and Allie Wrubel

Send me your spoon and your napkin,
Send me your coffee cup, too,
I want them here for I love to be near,
Anything that's part of you.
Send me a glove you're not using,
One that your fingers wore thru,
Mail it today, honey, don't throw away,
Anything that's part of you.
Bundle up your worn out shoesies,
Send them parcel post,
Don't you think we'd better enclose,
A little letter to the one who loves you most?
And sweetness, send me the pillow you dream on,
I want to dream on it, too,
I'm happy dear just as long as I'm near,
Anything that's part of you.

WHAT'S GOOD FOR THE GOOSE IS GOOD FOR THE GANDER

By Cliff Friend

What's good for the goose is good for the gander,
If you're on the loose, then I will meander,
But if you're true, then I'll be true,
I'll do anything that you do.
If you run around with another rooster,
Then I'll run around just the way I "useter,"
But if you settle down, then I'll settle down,
I'll do anything that you do.
You're just like the little red hen,
You haven't loved me since I don't know when,
If you keep neckin' with the way you roam,
I'll keep neckin' till the cows come home.
What's good for the goose is good for the gander,
If you raise the deuce then I will meander,
But if you're true, then I'll be true,
I'll do anything that you do.

PLAY TO ME, GYPSY

(The Song I Love)

By Jimmy Kennedy and Karel Vacek

Oh! Play to me Gipsy, the moon's high above,
Oh! Play me your serenade, the song I love.
Oh! Sing to me, gypsy, and when you are gone,
Your song will be haunting me, and ling'ring on,
Beside your caravan, the campfire's bright,
I'll be a vagabond just for tonight.
Oh! Play to me, gypsy, the moon's high above,
Oh! Play me your serenade, the song I love.

I'M DANCING WITH THE GIRL OF MY DREAMS

By Al Lewis and Al Sherman

I'm dancing with the girl of my dreams,
When I'm dancing with you.
I'm gliding on a rainbow it seems,
Watching my love dreams come true.
Pardon me if I should hold you tightly,
After all, in slumberland I've held you nightly,
I'm dancing with the girl of my dreams,
When I'm dancing with you.

BORN TO BE KISSED

(From M-G-M Picture "Born to Be Kissed")
By Howard Dietz and Arthur Schwartz

You were born to be kissed,
Mighty hard to resist;
In your eyes there's a dangerous blue,
Demanding that you be kissed.
You were made to make love to,
Love to me would be fine!
What a wonderful pair we two will be,
Tell me you will be mine!
I was born to be yours,
Say you're happy I'm yours;
I was meant to be, right from the start,
The one that your heart adores.
Oh, it's easy to see
What the future will be!
Wedding bells will insist
You were born to be kissed by me.

OH ME! OH MY! OH YOU!

By Harold Adamson and Burton Lane

(From RKO Picture "Strictly Dynamite")

Oh! Me! Oh! My! Oh! You!
Oh look what love can do,
All the time my heart is beating,
I know it keeps repeating,
Oh Me! Oh My! Oh You!
Oh me! Oh gosh! Oh gee!
You've got me up a tree,
It's a wonder you don't know,
In ev'ry way I show it,
Oh Me! Oh My! Oh You!
Your eyes so sweet and tender,
Speak to me of real romance,
I know that I'd surrender,
If I only had the chance.
My lips, my arms are yours,
As long as life endures,
I'd be yours if you would let me,
And if you come and get me,
Oh Me! Oh My! Oh You!

DICK HIMBER

Smiling red-headed Dick Himber directs his own orchestra nowadays from the Oval Room of the Ritz Carlton Hotel. This is the lad who put a certain finesse into dance music by using harp interludes between the dance numbers. He had a host of imitators so he gave that little trick up and now uses the celeste instead.

Dick was born in Newark, New Jersey, on February 20, 1906. As far back as he can remember he has wanted to be a musician and contrary to the usual stories of misunderstood genius, he had from the first the encouragement of both his parents. He learned to play the violin, vibraphone and celeste, and in his spare time took up sleight-of-hand magic. At present he is considered one of the best amateur magicians, and he has given many performances at private social affairs.

He is a versatile eccentric dancer and has a good voice as he went early into vaudeville. He worked with Sophie Tucker for three years, and with the late Bee Palmer for one. With this training behind him he finally mustered his courage, planned and worked out an act of his own, and took it on vaudeville tour.

He came into contact with Rudy Vallee, and ended up by arranging most of the crooner's numbers.

Dick is five feet, eight inches tall and weighs 170 pounds.

HONEY DEAR

(From Columbia Picture "Social Register")
By E. Heyman, F. Dabney and C. Conrad

Oh! honey dear,
It's funny, dear, but I'm no good
When you are not with me.
Oh! honey dear,
It's sunny, dear, and it's so good
When you just smile at me.
Please don't forsake my heart,
Take my heart, if you should leave me,
'Twould surely break my heart.
Oh! honey dear, no money, dear, would I trade,
For your arms, your lips, your charms.
Honey, dear, all I want are the thrills,
I get when you are near.
I'd be in seventh heaven if I knew
I could stay there just with you.
I'm blue alone, it's you alone that I'm loving,
My honey dear.

CALLING ALL CARS!

By Chas. Newman and James V. Monaco

CALLING ALL CARS! CALLING ALL CARS!
Police stand by I say!—
A well dressed man in a new sedan, just stole my gal away!
CALLING ALL CARS! CALLING ALL CARS!
Patrol each road that's dark!
Sometime tonight in the pale moonlight,
I know they're gonna park!
Hurry up! hurry up! Let those sirens roar!
Pick her up! pick her up! pick her up! and bring her back to me once more, I'm CALLING ALL CARS! CALLING ALL CARS!
Policemen show your stars—
Arrest that man, drivin' with one hand,
That's why I'm CALLING ALL CARS!

I DIDN'T WANT TO LOVE YOU

(From Columbia Picture "Social Register")

By Ned Washington and Con Conrad

I didn't want to love you, but I do,
I didn't want to kiss you, but I did,
I didn't mean to start to meddle with your heart,
Now I die when we're apart,
I didn't want to hold you, but I did.
I didn't want to need you, but I do,
I didn't want to feel
That you had much appeal I didn't want to love you but I do.
Ev'ryone said you were wonderful,
You were wonderful, so I heard.
Honey, they're wrong, you're not wonderful
But you're marvelous, that's the word.
I didn't want to think so much of you,
It's funny how you changed my point of view,
I didn't mean to care or start a new affair
I didn't want to love you, but I do.

WHY DON'T YOU PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH?

By Al Hoffman, Al Goodhart and M. Sigler

You're always tellin' me just what I oughta do,
You're tellin' me it's wrong to look at somebody new.
You're tellin' me, well, I'm tellin' you
Why don't you practice what you preach?
You're always tellin' me to wait until you call;
I wait 'n wait 'n wait, and then you don't call at all;
You're callin' me, well, I'm callin' you
Why don't you practice what you preach?
You tell me I'm your sugar pie, Yeah!
You swear you never tell a lie, Yeah!
You even say you hope to die, Yeah!
Well, how come you say it with your fingers crossed.
You're always askin' me to name that certain day,
And then you change the subject and you think it's O. K.
You're askin' me, well, I'm askin' you,
Why don't you practice what you preach?

TONIGHT IS MINE

(From RKO-Radio Picture "Stingaree")

By Gus Kahn and Frank Harling

There's a moon above me, you have said
"You love me," hold me close,
Tonight is mine.
And although tomorrow means goodbye
And sorrow, love me now,
My love, tonight is mine.
Tho' other moons may find me lonely,
I'll be dreaming only of tonight,
For tonight is mine.

I'M COUNTING ON YOU

By Milton Drake and Ben Oakland

I'm counting on you, to love me forever,
I'm counting on you, you are the one;
You're in ev'ry breath of spring,
In ev'ry song I sing;
You're ev'ry precious thing under the sun.
I'm counting on you to always be near me,
To follow me through the years to be.
To be more than just a friend,
To love me till the end;
I'm counting on you for me.

A LAZY DAY IN THE SUN

By Maurice Sigler, Al Goodhart and Al Hoffman

Give me any old book, a shady nook,
Fishing rod and a hook, a babbling brook,
A lazy day in the sun,
Without a single thing to be done,
Just readin', fishin', dreamin'.
Give me plenty of trees for company,
And the birds in the trees to sing to me,
A lazy day in the sun
Without a single thing to be done,
Just readin', fishin', dreamin'.—
Far away from trolley cars
That rumble down the street—
I just want to be there all alone,
Out there in the countryside
The world right at my feet—
Where no one can reach me on the phone.
Give me any old book, a shady nook
And a fire—to cook the fish I hook,
A lazy day in the sun
Without a single thing to be done,
Just readin', fishin', dreamin'!

BEAUTIFUL TEXAS

By W. Lee O'Daniel

To Beautiful, Beautiful Texas,
Where the beautiful blue bonnets grow,
We're proud of our forefathers,
Who fought at the Alamo.
You can live on the plains or the mountain,
Or down where the seabreezes blow,
And you're still in Beautiful Texas,
The most beautiful place that I know.

YOU'RE SOMETHING TO WRITE HOME ABOUT

By Allen Boretz and Walter G. Samuels

You're something to write home about,
Won't the folks back home be thrilled,
To know that I fulfilled that dream of mine.
You're something to write home about,
But my letters can't express,
My joy and happiness,
You're so divine!
If I should write, day and night,
For a year, maybe two,
In diff'rent ways, this old phrase,
Would keep on coming through, "I love you!"
Oh, you're something to write home about,
Oh, my mother and dad will be awf'lly glad
To hear you're mine.

FACES

(From "Night Cruise of 1934")

By Allen Boretz and Walter Samuels

Faces, old and young and newly made;
Faces, fearing, hoping, unafraid,
Faces passing in a masquerade, slowly.
Faces, like a sea, they fall and rise,
Looking for a pair of friendly eyes;
Seeking, someone who will recognize me.
Night, filled with a magic light;
Never were stars so bright,
Never was I quite so lonely.
Faces, here is what I'm thinking of,
Faces, there's a gentle moon above;
Faces, is there no one who will love me?

I WISH I WERE TWINS

(So I Could Love You Twice as Much)

By E. DeLange, F. Loesser and J. Meyer

I wish that I were twins,
You great big babykins,
So I could love you twice as much as I do.
I'd have four loving arms to embrace you,
Four eyes to idolize you each time I face you.
With two hearts twice as true,
What couldn't four lips do?
When four ears hear you saying,
"I'm yours!"
You great big babykins,
I wish that I were twins,
So I could love you twice as much as I do!

MOON-TIME

By M. Sigler, A. Goodhart and A. Hoffman

Moon-time I wait for you at Moon-time,
Because I know at Moon-time
I'll hear you calling "Oo-oo-oo-oo-oo-oo"
"Oo-oo-oo-oo-oo-oo"
Moon-time will bring us close together
And when we're close together
We'll kiss and whisper "Oo-oo-oo-oo-oo-oo"
I'll hold your hand
And then we'll dream of love.
You'll understand just what I'm thinking of.
For Moon-time is just the opportune time,
To plan a honey-moon-time
And make our dreams come true-oo-oo-oo-oo-oo.

WITHOUT A MAN TO LOVE

(From Liberty Picture "Cheaters")

By Marcy Klauber and Harry Stoddard

Summer nights, the moon, the stars,
The summer breeze, the night birds call,
No good at all, Without a man to love.
What good are dreams and schemes of joy for two,
A garden fair, a cottage small, no good at all,
Without a man to love.
Each day I smile at fate, but fate still seems to frown,
Just like a house of cards, my castles tumble down.
What good are songs of love,
That bring back memories of days beyond recall,
No good at all,
Without a man to love.

AND I STILL DO

By Edgar Leslie and Fred E. Ahlert

I used to call you the "Cream of the Crop,"
And I still do!
I used to say you belong at the top,
And I still do!
You're such an eye-ful,
You're nicer than a sky-ful of June-night moon-light,
That bright-ens the blue
I used to call you my "Moment Supreme,"
And I still do!
I used to meet you in every dream,
And I still do!
To be specific, I'd say you were terrific,
I used to love you,
And I still do!

YES SIR, I LOVE YOUR DAUGHTER

By Herb Magidson and Con Conrad

Yes Sir, I love your daughter,
She's very charming and very fine.
Yes Sir, I love your daughter,
And I'd like to make her mine.
No Sir, I can't support her,
You give her sables and fancy hose.
Yes Sir, I love your daughter,
But, I cannot buy her those.
I'll give her all the simple things,
A little farm and cows and chickens too.
She'll learn to love the simple things,
A little baby chair, we'll be so happy there.
Yes Sir, I love your daughter,
I'd like to sign on the dotted line.
Yes Sir, I love your daughter
And I'd like to make her mine.

WHY NOT?

(From Columbia Picture "Social Register")

By Edward Heyman and Con Conrad

Why not? Life is short and love is fleeting.
Why not? Both our hearts are wildly beating.
Try not to forget how much I worship you.
Why not satisfy romantic hunger?
Why not? We grow older never younger,
Sigh not,
For I swear I care for only you.
Why any hesitation?
One kiss, then hold me near.
There is no mere sensation.
It will last forever dear!
Why not? There's no reason for resistance.
Why not? Not to love is no existence.
Why not, do as Heaven tells us both to do!

NIGHT ON THE DESERT

By Billy Hill

Night on the desert,
You beside me on the burning sands.

Night on the desert.
My dream of love,
Night on the desert.

I WISH I HAD YOU

By C. McCarthy, J. Redmond, N. Simon

I wish I had your eyes,
Looking into my eyes
Ev'ry day in the week, ev'ry week in the year,
I wish I had you.
I wish I had your lips,
Puckered up to my lips
In a lingering kiss, 'twould be permanent bliss
My dreams would come true.
Got a lot on my mind, got my mind on a lot, with a house, garage and all.
And it sure would be fun having something else run around
Besides the garden wall.
I wish I had your charms cuddled up in my arms.
It's a matter of fact but to be exact
I wish I had you.

NEARER MY HEART TO THEE

By Edward Heyman and Dana Suesse

Nearer my heart to thee
Farther thou art from me,
What can the reason be,
Is love to be cold 'ere it is old?
Nearer my heart to thee,
Closer my lips to thee,
That's where I want to be,
But I'm kept away, too far away.
I never can reach you,
I long so for your touch,
Oh, how can I teach you
That I love you so much?
Moonlight will shine no more,
Love is divine no more
Since I can never be
Nearer my heart to thee.

LITTLE MAN—YOU'VE HAD A BUSY DAY

By Maurice Sigler, Al Hoffman and Mabel Wayne

Little man you're crying, I know why you're blue,
Someone took your kiddy car away
Better go to sleep now,
Little man you've had a busy day.
Johnny won your marbles, Tell you what we'll do,
Dad'll get you new ones right away
Better go to sleep now,
Little man you've had a busy day.
You've been playing soldier the battle has been won
The enemy is out of sight.
Come along there, soldier put away your gun
The war is over for tonight.
Time to stop your scheming,
Time your day was through,
Can't you hear the bugle softly say:
"Time you should be dreaming"
Little man you've had a busy day.

YOU COULD'VE KNOCKED ME OVER WITH A FEATHER

By Maurice Sigler, Al Goodhart and Al Hoffman

You could've knocked me over with a feather
The night I saw you with somebody else;
You could've knocked me over with a feather
When they told me that somebody else was holding your hand
And getting their kisses.
I thought we had planned
To be Mister and Missus;
You could've knocked me over with a feather
When you ignored me and passed me right by
To think of all the years we went together,
I don't know whether to laugh or cry;
I really hate to think we're through,
Because I'm still in love with you;
You could've knocked me over with a feather
When I saw you with somebody else.

THE BEAT O' MY HEART

By Johnny Burke and Harold Spina

Tramping feet with traffic meet,
And fill the street with booming and zooming,
In rhythm with the merry
Beat o' my heart.
Birds that sing and bells that ring,
Their voices bring, the rollicky frolicky
Tempo of the dancing beat o' my heart.
It all began the day you smiled at me in such a charming way.
Need I further say, because of you the world is filled with music.
Rumbling trains and roaring planes,
Their noise contains the clickity clackity drumming
From the humming beat o' my heart.
Wireless tow'rs that flash their pow'rs,
Or thunder show'rs that pitter and patter,
Are sounding to the pounding beat o' my heart.
And since you're mine, my love song needs
Another line with word divine,
That your name will rhyme with while I sing in time
With ev'ry thumping bumping beat o' my heart.

Jack Denny's music has long been favored by the young New Yorkers who dance nightly on the roof tops of New York.

HAPPY

By M. Symes, A. Neiburg, J. Levinson

Happy, darling, I'm so happy,
Ev'ry time I hold you, paradise is near.
Happy, tell me are you happy?
Now that I have told you that I love you, dear.
Kiss me, while the music's playing,
While our hearts are swaying,
This is so divine!
Happy, we'll be oh, so happy,
If you'll only tell me you'll be mine.

RED MOON

By L. Brown, J. Traver, Henri De Martini, and M. Kortlander

Just another waltz beneath the red moon,
Just another kiss before we part,
Let me tell my love beneath the red moon,
Dancing with you, sweetheart,
Hold me in your arms, for day is dawning,
Starlight will leave us soon,
Just another waltz before the morning,
Under the red, red moon.
While the violins are playing,
We'll be swaying to and fro
And it seems your eyes are saying
That you love me, love me so.
While the music of the cello,
Sings its haunting melody
You can watch the red moon mellow
And leave the rest to me.

Just another waltz beneath the red moon,
Just another kiss before we part,
Let me tell my love beneath the red moon,
Dancing with you, sweetheart,
Hold me in your arms for day is dawning,
Starlight will leave us soon,
Just another waltz before the morning,
Under the red, red moon.

JACK DENNY

It is a noticeable coincident that most of the big-time orchestra leaders who broadcast from large cities were born in small out of the way towns. Take Jack Denny for example. The young orchestra leader who has until recently played for the exclusive guests of the Waldorf-Astoria in New York was born in the little town of Greencastle, Indiana. Both Jack's mother and father were accomplished pianists and their home was a natural meeting place for musical entertainments. At the age of six, he took his first official piano lessons. However, he was nowhere near being a "little genius." He much preferred a good baseball game and literally ate up stories of "Frank Merriwell" and "Nick Carter."

During his high school days, he formed a dance band, which played for school socials and proms and when he entered De Pauw University, his orchestra rounded out into a really excellent outfit.

Before he was twenty-one, Jack teamed up with a young tenor, Tom Catalano, and were booked for sixty-four weeks on the Middlewest Keith Circuit.

After returning from the war, Jack got a job at a music publishing house doing arrangements and then got the brilliant idea of forming his own orchestra.

He immediately went to work in New York on the Astor Roof. Then a telephone call from Montreal transplanted him from the New York night spot to the Mount Royal Hotel in Canada. Now after five years in Canada, Jack Denny is back in New York practicing his orchestral art on New York's cash customers for dinner and late suppers and heard every Wednesday night on the Conoco program over the National Broadcasting Company hookup.

RAIN IN MY HEART

By Arthur Swanstrom and Louis Alter

Days are gray since you went away,
And there's rain in my heart,
Clouds above me, no one to love me,
There's rain in my heart.
When your face appears,
Through a mist of tears.
My hungry arms call,
Come to me, come to me.
I may smile and try to pretend,
But there's rain in my heart.
All the while I pray for an end
To the pain in my heart.
Bring me back the sunshine,
And let me be happy again.
There's rain, rain, rain in my heart.

N.B.C. calls Lee Wiley the "Songstress of the Blues."

LEE WILEY

Some new sort of a record was created when Lee Wiley arrived in New York from Fort Gibson, Oklahoma, her home town. Less than a month after she arrived in New York, unknown and uncalled for, Lee Wiley found the magic formula that put her on the air, riding over the shoulders of many other older applicants.

Miss Wiley is one-fourth Cherokee Indian and the rest is just plain American. Her mother and father taught in the Oklahoma State Normal College. Her deep, blue tones and her smooth speaking voice brought her up to the top as a star in the little concerts given at Tulsa and Muskogee by the choral choir of which she was a member. One of Lee's thrills on the radio was broadcasting with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in the course of a series terminated by Mr. Roosevelt's inauguration to the presidency. She says that she likes to dress in conservative but striking clothes and an important part of her apparel, while singing is a chiffon handkerchief—a new one for each studio appearance, for she tears each one to shreds during every broadcast.

She doesn't have to worry about her weight and shows a decided preference for steaks and potatoes. She insists that she is not superstitious and likes studio audiences because she feels they create a warmer atmosphere.

MAY THE SUN SHINE BRIGHTER

By Addy Britt and Peter De Rose

May the sun shine brighter from a clear blue sky,
May your cares seem lighter every day,
Tho' your hair turns whiter as the years roll by Sweetheart, I'll love you always;
May we sing together, may we know no fears,
May we cling together thru the years,
We'll turn tears to laughter,
And for ever after,
May the sun shine brighter, my dear.

I'VE GOT LOVE

By John Murray and Phil Baker

I've got no money in the bank, but I've got love,
No claim to wealth or fame or rank, but I've got love.
This I feel, this is real, this I impart;
All that I have, lives in my heart.
I've got a place up in the sun, for I've got love,
The worth while things rolled into one, for I've got love.
The future may not bring another blessed thing,
Still without a kingdom I'm a king, for I've got love.

EASY COME, EASY GO

By Edward Heyman and John W. Green

Easy come, easy go,
That's the way,
If love must have its day
Then as it came, let it go.
No remorse, no regret,
We should part exactly as we met,
Just easy come, easy go.
We never dreamt of romantic dangers
But now that it ends, let's be friends
And not two strangers
Easy come, easy go,
Here we are, So darling "Au revoir"
It's easy come, easy go.

THERE'S A COTTAGE IN KILLARNEY

(From The Warner Bros. Picture "The Key")

By Mort Dixon and Allie Wrubel

There's a cottage in Killarney with a million memories,
I would humbly bend my knees to return there,
To that cottage in Killarney, where the lakes are blue and clear,
And a voice that holds a tear calls to me.
Oh, my sweet Killarney darlin' you're weary and distressed—
But before you grow much older, on my shoulder you'll find rest—
In a cottage in Killarney, where our paths again will meet,
With a smile, we'll face a sweet destiny.

SWEETHEART OF MY CAMP-FIRE DAYS

By Al Sherman, Al Lewis and Jack Scholl

Sweetheart of My Campfire Days,
Ev'ry ember sings your praise.
As the dancing flames keep mounting higher,
I can see your fair face beaming in the fire!
Are you by a campfire, too,
Dreaming as I dream of you?
Till we meet again, let's keep our love ablaze,
Sweetheart of My Campfire Days.

ONE IN LOVE

By Ed. Heyman and Newell Chase

One in love, one who never gets a lot of fun in love, You're the only one that I am thinking of,
And yet you hardly ever think of me.
One in love, one that you prefer to always shun in love,
You're as far away as all the stars above,
And I am just as near as I can be.
I get the loneliest feeling
When I'm on a crowded street,
Nobody's face is appealing,
It's you that I want to meet.
One alone, one who must go on and find the sun alone,
Guess I'll have to end as I've begun, alone,
For I remain the only one in love.

DAMES

(From Warner Bros. Picture "Dames")
By Al Dubin and Harry Warren

What do you go for, go see a show for,
Tell the truth, you go to see those beautiful dames
You spend your dough for bouquets that grow for Those cute and cunning, young and beautiful dames,
Oh! Dames are temporary flames to you,
Dames, you don't recall their names,
Do you? But their caresses and home addresses
Linger in your memory of beautiful Dames.

AS LONG AS I LIVE

(From the Cotton Club Parade)
By Ted Koehler and Harold Arlen

Maybe I can't live to love you as long as I want to.
Life isn't long enough, baby,
But I can love you as long as I live.
Maybe I can't give you diamonds and things like I want to,
But I can promise you, baby,
I'm gonna want to as long as I live.
I never cared but now I'm scared, I won't live long enough,
That's why I wear my rubbers when it rains
And eat an apple ev'ry day
Then see the doctor anyway.
What if I can't live to love you as long as I want to,
'Long as I promise you, baby,
I'm gonna love you as long as I live.

HERE GOES

(From Cotton Club Parade)
By Ted Koehler and Harold Arlen

Here goes, I'm in the throes
Of another love affair,
I may be crazy but I don't care,
Here goes a fool.
This one should be the one
She'll be diff'rent from the rest,
I'll bet the buttons upon my vest
We'll never cool.
There won't be any reason,
Love is never out of season,
We'll break the rule.
I may be crazy, but here I go;
'Cause when you gotta, you gotta go.
So here goes a fool.

WHAT ARE YOUR INTENTIONS?

(From the Warner Bros. Picture
"20 Million Sweethearts")
By Al Dubin and Harry Warren

I will meet you in the moonlight
If you're feeling so inclined,
But what are your intentions,
And what is on your mind?
If you talk about the weather,
I will know it's just a blind,
So what are your intentions,
And what is on your mind?
Lay your cards right on the table, dear,
Do not dodge the issue,
Take off all that polish and veneer,
If you want a guy to kiss you.
Try to be yourself this evening,
Leave the camouflage behind;
Just what are your intentions,
And what is on your mind?

HONEST TO GOODNESS

By Con Conrad, Ben Oakland and Milton Drake

Honest to goodness,
I'm longing for you,
You don't know what I'm going thru.
Honest to goodness,
It's breaking my heart
To think that we're really apart.
You know I'm sorry I hurt you,
So won't you please forgive?
You're my reason to live;
Give me a chance, dear,
To prove I love you,
'Cause honest to goodness I do.

SOUL MATE

By A. Razaf, G. McConnell and P. Denniker

Soul mate, like an evening star,
Shining from afar.
You have come into my life to hide me
From shadows that surround me now.
Soul mate, you were sent for me,
You were meant for me;
Come and take your rightful place beside me.
No one but you will do, somehow;
Why hesitate, the sweetest of moments are passing by,
No one but fate can dare separate us,
For you are my soul mate,
You and I are one,
Life has just begun,
With the magic of your love to guide me,
Please say I'm not too late,
Soul mate.

MY HEART'S AN OPEN BOOK

(From "Caviar")
By H. Church, E. Heyman and L. Randole

What is in my heart you know,
What I feel I must show,
Just take one look,
My heart's an open book.
Ev'ry thought sincere and true,
Ev'ry page filled with you,
Just take a look,
My heart's an open book.
If you like my story then tell me so tonight.
Under heaven's glory an ending I shall write.
Ending with a kiss or two,
And the words, "I love you!"
So take one look,
My heart's an open book.

YOU'RE ONE IN A MILLION

(From "Caviar")
By H. Church, E. Heyman and L. Randole

You're one in a million, as diff'rent as can be,
You're one in a million and just the one for me.
No wonder I love you, you're ideal in ev'ry way.
I keep thinking of you, 'bout a million time a day.
You've made my blue heaven a hundred times more blue,
For all that you've brought me,
A thousand thanks to you.
Just like a magician you made romance appear,
You're one in a million, my dear!

YOU'RE AN ANGEL

(Playing Hookey from Heaven)
By Maurice Sigler, Al Goodhart and Al Hoffman

You're an angel
Playing hookey from heaven.
Ev'ry night at eleven
You come to me with love.
You're an angel
Bringing heavenly kisses,
Now I know just what bliss is,
This is what I call love.
I used to stay up nights and pray
There'd come a day we'd meet;
And now I'm praying night and day
You'll always stay, my sweet.
You're an angel
Playing hookey from heaven.
Ev'ry night at eleven
You come to me with love!

"HEY! SAILOR"

(From Warner Bros. Picture, "Hey! Sailor")
By Irving Kahal and Sammy Fain

Hey! Sailor, you big bad boy in blue,
Just can't keep the girls away from you.
You're right at home in sunny Spain,
Or on an old back porch in Maine,
And in that little grass shack in what you may call it Hawaii.
Hey! Sailor, your brand of love is swell,
You're a navigating beau brummel.
You've loved 'em and you've left 'em
From New York to Japan.
Hey! Sailor, Hey! Sailor,
You big, bad Ladies' man.

OUT FOR NO GOOD

(From Warner Bros. Picture)
"20 Million Sweethearts")
By Al Dubin and Harry Warren

Baby, what are you out for?
Baby, what am I in for?
Is my baby out for no good?
Is my baby got rhythm?
Tell me, is it hot rhythm?
Is my baby out for no good?
Mister Moon, why does he
Wink at every star?
In the park, in the dark,
Why do we park a car?
What's an eight o'clock date for?
What do we stay out late for?
Is my baby out for no good?
'Cause I could do you good
If my baby is out for no good.

WHY DIDN'T I SLEEP LAST NIGHT?

By Milton Drake and Ben Oakland

Why didn't I sleep last night,
Why didn't I dream?
Why didn't I sleep last night,
Why didn't I scheme?
You went away and never told me why,
Our last "good night" must be our last "good-bye."
Though we were apart last night—you kept me awake;
You tortured my heart last night,
I thought it would break—
'Cause you were gone and loving some one new—
Why didn't I sleep last night—
Thinking of you?

MARCELINA

By Bud Green and Sam Stept

My Marcelina flirts with the boys,
A little fun is what she enjoys,
But when she leaves each guy she's still my Marcelina,
My Marcelina goes on the make,
She's gotta have her bread and her cake,
But when she wants her pie she's still my Marcelina.
She puts the neighborhood in a trance,
The moment she goes into her dance,
I guess they love the way she shakes her concertina,
One, two, three, four, the fellows roar,
They all want more,
But there isn't any more
(No, there isn't any more)
From my Marcelina.

RECIPE FOR LOVE

By Milton Pascal and Edgar Fairchild

Take a boy and a girl,
Add a moon and the stirring of breezes,
And behold you've an old fashioned recipe for love.
Mix a hug and a kiss
With a sigh and a couple of squeezes,
That's the spice always nice in a recipe for love.
What a treat, mm mm is it sweet, mm mm it's a dish
That you'll wish
Sev'ral million portions of.
How's your health,
Can you sleep,
Are you cross on account of your liver?
Rest assured,
You'll be cured with this recipe for love.

CHARMING

(From "All the King's Horses")

By Frederick Herendeen and Edward Horan

Charming in ev'rything you say,
Charming in ev'ry little way,
With your smile disarming,
You're so charming;
Charming your personality,
Charming my heart away from me,
It is most alarming,
You're so charming.
Holding your form,
Slender and warm,
Looking in eyes that smile,
Who could adore anyone more,
You make my life worthwhile,
You're charming in ev'rything you do,
Charming, and I'm in love with you
To my strong right arm cling.
You're so charming.

LOVE STANDS BY

By Highie Prince and Harold Mooney

Love stands by since you're gone,
No use denyin', not even tryin'
From now on.
Why should I carry on,
I see no reason,
Love's out of season,
When you're gone.
Must have been a fool to tell ya' you could go,
After you kept tellin' me ya' loved me so,
I was only kiddin', how was I to know
That you'd take me up and really go?
How can I help but cry,
No use of faking
My heart is breaking
While love stands by.

EMALINE

By Mitchell Parish and Frank Perkins

Don't you hear my heart whisper thru your window,
Emaline, It's a lovely night,
Emaline, to meander with me.
Have you told your friends,
Have you told your people, Emaline?
Hurry up and write them a line
'Bout a weddin' to be.
In the church there's an old bell ringer
Just waitin' for the time when I place a ring around your finger,
Makin' you mine.
All I do is pray for the Sunday mornin' sun to shine
When I promenade down the line
Hand in hand with Emaline.

FAIR AND WARMER

(From the Warner Bros. Picture "20 Million Sweethearts")

By Al Dubin and Harry Warren

It's getting fair and warmer,
Just because you're in my arms, my dear,
It's getting fair and warmer,
Pretty soon the cloudy skies will clear.
The wint'ry winds may blow
And bring the ice and snow,
The temp'rature may go
To six below, I know, but
It's always fair and warmer
When I get a little love from you.

SONG SHEET

2. HOME ON THE RANGE

Oh, give me a home,
Where the buffalo roam,
Where the deer and the antelope play,
Where seldom is heardaa discourgging word,
And the skies are not cloudy all day.

How often at night when the heavens are bright,
With the light from the glittering stars,
Have I stood there amazed and I asked as I gazed,
If their glory exceeds that of ours.

1. LONG, LONG TRAIL

There's a long, long trail a winding
Into the land of my dreams,
Where the nightingale is singing
And the white moon beams.
There's a long, long night of waiting
Until my dreams all come true,
'Till the day when I'll be going
Down that long, long trail with you.

3. LET THE REST OF THE WORLD GO BY

With someone like you, a pal good and true,
I'l like to leave it all behind and go and find
Some place that's known to God alone,
Just a spot to call our own.
We'll find perfect peace,
Where joys will never cease
Out there beneath the kindly sky--
We'll build a sweet little nest
Somewhere out in the West
And let the rest of the world go by.

4. HAPPY DAYS

Happy days are here again,
The skies above are clear again,
Let us sing a song of cheer again
Happy days are here again.

Your cares and troubles are gone.
There'll be no more from now on.
Altogether shout it now
There's no one who can doubt it now
Let us tell the world about it now,
Happy days are hereagain!

5. GIT ALONG, LITTLE DOGIES!

As I was a-walking one morning for pleasure,
I spied a cow puncher all riding alone.
His hat was throwed back and his spurs was a-jingling,
And as he approached he was singing this song.

Refrain:

Whoopee ti yi yo! Git along, little dogies;
It's your misfortune and none of my own.
Whoopee ti yi yo! Git along, little dogies.
You know that Wyoming will be your new home.

~~It's early in Spring that we round up~~

GIT ALONG, LITTLE DOGIES CONT'D.

It's early in Spring that we round up the dogies;
We mark them and brand them and bob off their tails,
We round up our horses, lead the chuck wagon,
And then throw the dogies out onto the trail.

6. I'VE BEEN WORKIN' ON THE RAILROAD

Oh, I've been workin' on the railroad,
All the live-long day.
I've been workin' on the railroad,
Just to pass the time away.
Don't you hear the whistle blowing?
Rise up so early in the morning.
Don't you hear the captain shouting;
"Dinah, blow your horn!"

7. OLD FORT WORTH

There's a good old town
Of a great renown.
It's the twon of old Fort Worth,
Where the cowboys play
And the oil men stay,
It's the best town on this earth,
Where the times are good
And it's understood
That a man's a man in worth,
Let the world go wrong,
This is still our song,
It's all right in old Fort Worth!

8. EYES OF TEXAS

The Eyes of Texas are upon you,
All the live-long day.
The eyes of Texas are upon you
You cannot get away!
Do not think you can escape them,
From night 'till early in the morn,
The eyes of Texas are upon you,
'Till Gabriel blows his horn!

9. ROUND HER NEDK SHE WEARS A YELLER RIBBON

'Round her neck whe wears a yeller ribbon,
She wears it in the winter and the summer, sothey say,
If you ask her, "Why the decoration?"
She'll say: "It fur my lover who is fur, fur away,
Fur away, fur away."
If she is milkin' cows or mvoin' hay,
'Round her neck she wears a yeller ribbon,
She wears it fur her lover who is fur, fur away.

10. SMILES

There are smiles that make us happy,
There are smilesthat make us blue,
There aresmiles that steal away the tear drops,
As the sunbeams steal away the dew.
There are smiles that have a tender meaning,
That the eyes of love alone may see,
And the smiles that fill my life with sunshine
Are the smiles that you give to me.

4 For All We Know

For all we know we may never meet again,---
Before you go make this moment sweet again,---
We won't say "goodnight" untill the last minute,
I'll hold out my hand and my heart will be in it,
For all we know this may only be a dream,---
We come and go like a ripple in an a stream,--
So love me tonight, tomorrow may never was made for some,--
Tomorrow may never come, For all we know.

5 Sleepyhead

Sleepy Head, Come on and get out of bed
Ain't you heard the rooster crow? Must have been a week ago,
Good for nothin' Sleepyhead.
Sleepy head, see the sun so bright and red
He's been up and riding high, but you just let the time go by,
Good for nothin' Sleepyhead.
Ev'ry thing you do you do you do tomorrow,
But you have a lot to do today,
Mind me now you're bound to come to sorrow
You're just gonna sleep your Sleepy head away
Sleepy head, I'd take away that bed
But youre such a lazy pup, you'd be standing up
Good for nothing Sleepy Head.

The Breeze

Day after day I'm waiting patiently
And when the salty wind is blowin' from the sea
I pretend that it's the breeze that 's fillin' the sail
That's moving the ship, that's bringin' my honey back to me.
I always keep my window open wide,
I like to let the friendly breeze come right inside
And pretend that it's the breeze that's fillin' the sail
That's moving the ship, that's bringin' my honey back to me.
Mister wind keep blowin' stronger
Cause I must have that gal of mine
Ev'ry day seems so much longer
Don't forget it's daylight saving time
I get so lonesome waiting days and weeks
But every breath of air that lingers on my cheeks,
Seems to whisper that it's the breeze that 's fillin'nthe sail
That's moving tha ship that's bringing my honey back to me

Love In Bloom

Can it be the trees that fill the breeze with rare and magic perfume?
Oh no, it isn't the trees, It's love in bloom
Can it be the spring that seems to bring the stars right into my room?
Oh no it is'nt the spring, It's love in bloom
My heart was a desert, You planted a seed
And this is the flower, This hour of sweet fulfillment
Is it all a dream the joy supreme, That came to us in the gloom
You know it is'nt a dream, it's love in bloom.

With My Eyes Wide Open I'M Dreaming

With My eyes wide open I&m dreaming
Can it be true, I'm holding you close to my heart?
With my eyes wide open I'm dreaming
You're with me now, sharing a vow, never to part,
I'm so afraid to close my eyes, afraid that I&ll find
This lovelythrill is just a silly illusion.
With my eyes wide open I'm dreaming
Do I deserve such a break? Pinch me to prove I'm awake,
I can't believe that you're really mine.

" HOME ON THE RANGE"

OH, GIVE ME A HOME,
WHERE THE BUFFALO ROAM,
WHERE THE DEER AND THE ANTELOPE PLAY,
WHERE SELDOM IS HEARD A DISCOURAGING WORD,
AND THE SKIES ARE NOT CLOUDY ALL DAY.
HOW OFTEN AT NIGHT WHEN THE HEAVENS ARE BRIGHT,
WITH THE LIGHT FROM THE GLITTERING STARS,
HAVE I STOOD THERE AMAZED AND I ASKED AS I GAZED
IF THEIR GLORY EXCEEDS THAT OF OURS.

-7-

"LONG, LONG TRAIL"

THERE'S A LONG, LONG TRAIL A WINDING
INTO THE LAND OF MY DREAMS,

'TILL THE DAY WHEN I'LL BE GOING
DOWN THAT LONG, LONG TRAIL WITH YOU.

DON'T YOU HEAR THE CAPTAIN SHOUTING:
"DINAH, BLOW YOUR HORN!""

"ROUND HER NECK SHE WEARS A YELLER RIBBON"

ROUND HER NECK SHE WEARS A YELLER RIBBON,
SHE WEARS IT IN THE WINTER AND THE SUMMER,
SO THEY SAY,
IF YOU ASK HER, "WHY THE DECORATION?"
SHE'LL SAY: "ITS FUR MY LOVER WHO IS FUR, FUR AWAY,
FUR AWAY, FUR AWAY."
IF SHE IS MILKIN' COWS OR MOWIN HAY,
'ROUND HER NECK SHE WEARS A YELLER RIBBON,
SHE WEARS IT FUR HER LOVER WHO IS FUR, FUR AWAY.

"I ONLY HAVE EYES FOR YOU"

ARE THE STARS OUT TONIGHT?
I DON'T KNOW IF IT'S CLOUDY OR BRIGHT
'CAUSE I ONLY HAVE EYES FOR YOU, DEAR.
THE MOON MAY BE HIGH
BUT I CAN'T SEE A THING IN THE SKY,
'CAUSE I ONLY HAVE EYES FOR YOU.
I DON'T KNOW IF WE'RE IN A GARDEN,
OR ON A CROWDED AVENUE,
YOU ARE HERE, SO AM I ,
MAYBE MILLIONS OF PEOPLE GO BY,
BUT THEY ALL DISAPPEAR, FROM VIEW,
AND I ONLY HAVE EYES FOR YOU

"I NEVER HAD A CHANCE"

I NEVER HAD A CHANCE,
I THOUGHT YOU CARED FOR ME,
BUT NOW I SEE
I NEVER HAD A CHANCE,
I NEVER HAD A CHANCE,
THOUGH YOU NEVER TOLD ME SO,
SOMEHOW I KNOW I NEVER HAD A CHANCE.
I KNEW WE'D HAVE TO PART,
FOR I COUID ALWAYS REACH YOUR LIPS
BUT I COULD NEVER REACH YOUR HEART.
MY DREAM ABOUT ROMANCE
ENDED IN A FRIENDLY CHAT,
BUT MORE THAN THAT
I NEVER HAD A CHANCE.

"WHAT'S GOOD FOR THE GOOSE IS GOOD FOR THE GANDER"

WHAT'S GOOD FOR THE GOOSE IS GOOD FOR THE GANDER,
IF YOU'RE ON THE LOOSE, THEN I WILL MEANDER,
BUT IF YOU'RE TRUE, THEN I'LL BE TRUE,
I'LL DO ANYTHING THAT YOU DO.
IF YOU RUN AROUND WITH ANOTHER ROOSTER,
THEN I'LL RUN AROUND JUST THE WAY I
"USETER,"
BUT IF YOU SETTLE DOWN, THEN I'LL SETTLE DOWN,
I'LL DO ANYTHING THAT YOU DO.
YOU'RE JUST LIKE THE LITTLE RED HEN,
YOU HAVEN'T LOVED ME SINCE I DON'T KNOW
WHEN
IF YOU KEEP NECKIN'WITH THE WAY YOU
ROAM,
I'LL KEEP NECKIN' TILL THE COWS COME HOME.
WHAT'S GOOD FOR THE GOOSE IS GOOD FOR THE GANDER,
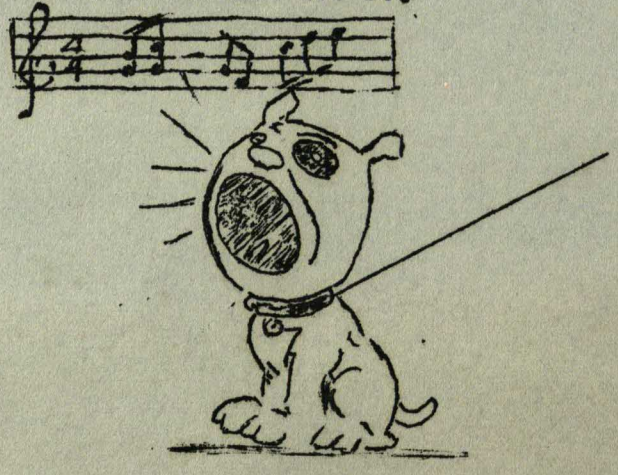
IF YOU RAISE THE DEUCE THEN I WILL MEANDER,
BUT IF YOU'RE TRUE, THEN I'LL BE TRUE,
I'LL DO ANYTHING THAT YOU DO.



"" WHY DON'T YOU PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH?""

YOU'RE ALWAYS TELLIN' ME JUST WHAT I OUGHTA DO, YOU'RE TELLIN' ME IT'S WRONG TO LOOK AT SOMEBODY NEW.
YOU'RE TELLIN' ME, WELL, I'M TELLIN' YOU
WHY DON'T YOU PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH?
YOU'RE ALWAYS TELLIN' ME TO WAIT UNTIL YOU CALL;
I WAIT'N WAIT'N WAIT, AND THEN YOU DON'T CALL AT ALL;
YOU'RE CALLIN' ME, WELL, I'M CALLIN' YOU
WHY DON'T YOU PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH?
YOU TELL ME I'M YOUR SUGAR PIE, Y E A H!
YOU SWEAR YOU NEVER TELL A LIE, Y E A H!
YOU EVEN SAY YOU HOPE TO DIE, Y E A H!
WELL, HOW COME YOU SAY IT WITH YOUR FINGERS CROSSED.
YOU'RE ALWAYS ASKIN' ME TO NAME THAT CERTAIN DAY,
AND THEN YOU CHANGE THE SUBJECT AND YOU THINK IT'S O.K.
YOU'RE ASKIN' ME, WELL, I'M ASKIN' YOU,
WHY DON'T YOU PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH ??

"""TH[illegible] B[illegible] O' MY HEART"""

TRAMPING FEET WITH TRAFFIC MEET,
AND FILL THE STREET WITH BOOMING AND ZOOMING,
IN RHYTHM WITH THE MERRY
BEAT O' MY HEART.
BIRDS THAT SING AND BELLS THAT RING,
THEIR VOICES BRING, THE ROLLICKY FROLICKY
TEMPO OF THE DANCING BEAT O' MY HEART.
IT ALL BEGAN THE DAY YOU SMILED AT ME IN SUCH A CHARMING WAY.
NEED I FURTHER SAY, BECAUSE OF YOU THE WORLD IS FILLED WITH MUSIC.
RUMBLING TRAINS AND ROARING PLANES,
THEIR NOISE CONTAINS THE CLICKITY CLACKITY DRUMMING
FROM THE HUMMING BEAT O' MY HEART.
WIRELESS TOW'RS THAT FLASH THEIR POW'RS,
OR THUNDER SHOW'RS THAT PITTER AND PATTER,
ARE SOUNDING TO THE POUNDING BEAT O' MY HEART.
AND SINCE YOU'RE MINE, MY LOVE SONG NEEDS
ANOTHER LINE WITH WORD DIVINE,
THAT YOUR NAME WILL RHYME WITH WHILE I SING IN TIME
WITH EV'RY THUMPING BUMPING BEAT O' MY HEART.
