

The Path to a Cure: Understanding the Safety & Importance of Research presented by Melissa Petersen, PhD

Wednesday, March 10 | 10:00 - 11:30 AM CT

Have you ever wondered what it's like to participate in a research project? Meet local researchers and discover the safeguards for study participants, local research efforts and how you can make a difference. This interactive discussion will be led by Melissa Petersen, PhD, researcher at UNT-Health Science Center. She will be joined by Gentina Thompson, clinical research coordinator with UT Southwestern Medical Center.

Register today: alznct.news/ImportanceofResearch

Understanding & Responding to Dementia-Related Behavior

presented by Saamia Ahmed, MD

Wednesday, March 24 | 11:00 AM - 12:30 PM CT

As a person's dementia progresses, it is common to see changes in personality and behavior that can be upsetting to caregivers and family members. This program will explore different behaviors and how to decode them for improved quality of life. Dr. Saamia Ahmed, physician and assistant professor at UNT-Health Science Center will offer a medical perspective on behaviors and sleep issues in dementia.

Register today: alznct.news/UARTDMAR24

Dementia Conversations: Driving, Doctor Visits & Legal & Financial Planning

presented by Lauren Walden, MD

Thursday, April 1 | 1:30 - 3:00 PM CT

Conversations with family members who are showing signs of dementia can be challenging and uncomfortable. This workshop offers helpful tips to assist families in having honest and caring conversations with family members about dementia and connects you with helpful resources to enhance quality of life for everyone involved. Lauren Walden, MD, geriatric specialist, will provide an in-depth discussion of the diagnostic process that can lead to better outcomes for the patient and the opportunity to make informed care decisions.

Register today: alznct.news/DCONV040121

